The only way in which a fowl is usually made tender enough to eat is to cut it up and cook as fricassee, roast chicken being considered possible only when one wishes to pay the extra price for young birds. It must, however, be the toughest of hens or roosters which does not succumb to the "pot roasting" process if carefully done. Prepare as for roasting and place in a pot deep enough to hold the fowl without crowding one-half pound of suet for three pounds of chicken. Cut up an onion and let it cook till brown, when add the chicken, covering tightly. It should simmer for six hours. Roast quickly for half an hour.

Absolutely Contented.

Mrs. Jenks—Are you perfectly satisfied with your new dress? Mrs. Speitz—Yes, indeed. The man I love best thinks it's beautiful, and the woman I love least has pretended to turn up her nose at it.

A Matter of Business.

Pigment—I saw you at the art exhibition last evening. I suppose you are very fond of paintings? Gamboge—Oh, dear, no; I hate them. I'm an art critic, you know.

Crow Worship.

In the northern part of Japan the cow is worshiped. The bird will fly into the huts of the Ainu at mealtimes and is allowed to help itself to whatever it takes a fancy to in the way of food.

Alaska Dogs.

In Alaska even the dogs are required to wear shoes. This is to protect their feet against the rough mountain ice over which they have to travel.

Chemulpo.

Chemulpo bears the same relation to Korea as Tampa does to Florida. The former is midway down the Korean peninsula on the Yellow sea coast; the latter is midway down Florida on the gulf coast.

Smoking in Korea.

All men and women in Korea, whatever their age or station, smoke tobacco incessantly. The bowls of their pipes are so small that they only hold a pinch or two of tobacco, and the stems are so long that the smoker is unable to apply a match to his own pipe. The cooly carries his pipe thrust down his neck between his coat and his back; the Korean gentleman carries his in his sleeve.

One Consolation.

Patient (feebly)—Doctor, do you think I shall survive the operation? Proud Physician—Well, sir, if you don't, you have the satisfaction of knowing that it cost nearly twice as much as any similar one performed in the city.

The Precise Moment.

Bessie—And when does a young man begin to think about marriage? Tom—About two months after marriage, as a rule.

FOR YOUNG FOLKS

THE OBSTINATE FLAME.

How to Extinguish a "Blower" by Letting Him Blow.

Of course you know what a "blower" is. The meaning that we have in mind is not to be found in the dictionary, but you are doubtless familiar with the term boaster, which is the same thing.

The next time you encounter him tell him that you don't believe he can blow out a candle placed only a foot from his experienced mouth without any other obstacle than his own breath between them.

If he accepts the challenge seat him comfortably at the table, place the lighted candle in front of him and, putting to his lips a large tin funnel, with the center of its mouth opposite and near the flame, tell him to blow through that.

THE FLAME DEFIES THE BLOWER.

He may blow until he becomes black in the face without extinguishing the candle. The harder he blows the more it doesn't go out.

After he has given it up say, "It is easy enough when you know how," put the funnel to your lips and blow out the candle. How? Simply by bringing the rim instead of the center near the flame.

When you blow through a funnel your breath spreads and follows the conical surface, leaving a region of dead calm in the center. Your friend blew all around the flame without touching it, but you extinguish it with a puff.

There are a good many queer things about air currents that would never have been thought of if they had not been found out by experience. This is one of them.—New York World.

Clever Sparrows.

One of the prettiest sights as regards seamen's pets was afforded by six sparrows which were tamed and trained by an old bluejacket on board a coal barge. He had trained them to such a degree that they would march in regular military order, "turning" and "wheeling" as desired by merely moving his hand. On each of their heads he had fastened a small piece of scarlet cloth, cut so as to form a cockscomb, which gave the birds a very saucy appearance as they went through their varied evolutions.

Animal Notes.

Naturalists tell us that sometimes a single beaver will go off and live by himself, leaving the colony to which he belonged. Whether these "bachelor beavers" have been put out of their native towns or leave of their own free wills we do not know.

A gentleman on one of our western ranches found a nest of young rabbits and took them in to his cat, supposing she would make a meal of them, but she surprised everybody concerned by adopting them and bringing them up along with her kittens.

Why They Want a Curl.

Do you wish to know why sister's friends ask you for a curl? Why Uncle Will tosses you up to the ceiling? Why all the grownup people talk with you and ask you questions? If you really want to know, dears, lean right close and you will hear that it is because they love you so and care so much for your good opinion. It is well for you to know how much you are loved. You will wish to be loving to others always, will you not?

Disappointed.

Clarence had been looking forward eagerly to his sixth birthday, and when it came his sister woke him up early in the morning. Clarence lay still a moment and then said in a tone of deep disappointment:

"Pshaw, I aren't a bit bigger!"

Had to Have the Material.

Jack—Mother, may I play making believe I'm entertaining another little boy? Mother—Yes, dear; of course. Jack—All right. Then will you please give me some cake for him?—Philadelphia Ledger.

In the Night.

Do you ever waken sometimes in the night,
When the room's all dark, except the queer, dim light
From the window, and you're turned about in bed,
And you can't tell where the foot is, nor the head?
And you sit up, scared, and look round everywhere,
But the door to mother's room just isn't there.
Oh, it's very bad, I know, because, you see,
It happens often just that way to me.

But then if I lie down again and wait,
Why, by and by just everything comes straight.
The window's where I thought it was—and then,
Right over here, this side, is mother's door.
And then I don't feel frightened any more.
—Youth's Companion.

A Wily Programme.

"Why is your majesty so frequently reported dead?" inquired the Chinese empress' most intimate maid of honor.

"It's a little idea of my own," was the answer. "It enables me to get even with editors who are remiss in the matter of obituary notices instead of waiting until it is too late."—Washington Star.

PSYCHINE

(PRONOUNCED SI-KEEN)

CONSUMPTION

Doctors and specialists despaired of a cure and gave Mr. Weaver but three months to live.

MR. L. WEAVER, GALT.

Who desires to publicly confirm the history of his remarkable recovery, as published quite recently by the daily press of Canada. Mr. Weaver was as bad a case of Consumption as might well be imagined. He was employed for five years in the grinding room of James Warnock & Co's, better known as "The Axe Factory," in Galt. Here he contracted consumption from the steel-laden dust. He persisted with local physicians' treatment for over a year, also consulted a number of lung specialists. They all did their utmost to cure, but declared Mr. Weaver's an incurable case of grinder's consumption giving him but three months to live. Mr. Weaver himself, despaired of a permanent cure, as two of his brothers before him had already died of consumption.

It is but seldom that any remedy receives such strong endorsement as Psychine is receiving daily. Seldom indeed that the cured come forward voluntarily to state their case a second time so that all may be convinced of the truth. The instance herein reported from the busy town of Galt, Ont., is a typical instance of what is occurring in every city, town, hamlet and country-side in this broad Dominion. Scores of people living in Galt were long ago conversant with the facts of this notable case; while to others the publication of it in the daily press came as a revelation.

Scores of people recently called upon Mr. Weaver to see if all that had been published was really true. Medical men evidenced a desire to see the good work wrought with Dr. Slocum's famous remedy, Psychine (Si-keen). Mr. Weaver has also been the recipient of hundreds of letters from all parts of the country enquiring as to his case.

Sad and sorrowful is the first chapter of the story told by the man whose case has excited the interest of Lung Specialists and of medical men and whose cure and complete restoration to health is the talk of Galt and the wonder of the medical profession. Such, in brief, are the opening remarks of the case of Mr. Weaver, of Galt, whose portrait appears above.

Mr. Weaver is to-day a splendid specimen of manhood and the picture of robust health. His lungs give him no more trouble. He is strong and healthy, eats and sleeps well, and feels better than he has for ten years.

Mr. Weaver's Case as given to the press, January 30th, 1904.

Dr. T. A. Slocum:—For five years I worked as a grinder in the James Warnock, better known as the Axe Factory, here. The dust from the grinding did for me what it has done for many others. It gave me "grinder's consumption." I was compelled, of course, to quit work. I persisted with two local physicians, and also consulted a number of lung specialists. Their diagnoses were all alike:—"You have Grinder's Consumption, and may possibly live three months, but you are liable to drop off at any time." This was over two years ago.

I then almost abandoned myself to what seemed my fate, my two brothers having died of consumption a few years previous. I was in an advanced stage of the disease. I was thin and weak, had night sweats, chills and fever, and a terrible cough.

I saw your advertisement of "Psychine," and I determined to try it. Through the kind advice and assistance of REV. MR. KETTLEWELL, Methodist minister in charge here at that time, I procured your treatment. The very first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking six bottles I could walk down town and even work occasionally. Have since then entirely regained my health, and work hard every day. I can eat and sleep well. I feel better to-day than I have for years. I owe my life to Psychine.

Yours truly,
LEVI WEAVER.

Mr. Weaver's second statement after the above was published.

GALT, ONT.

Dr. T. A. Slocum:—The publication of the history of my case in Toronto and Galt papers has caused quite a sensation in this town. There have been scores of people ask me if such were really the case. I have also received by mail numbers of like enquiries. Some people hardly think it possible that I was so near death's door. But I can say for certain that Psychine saved my life and I bless the day I saw Psychine advertised and became convinced of its merits enough to try it. I have spread the good news in three counties, and shall ever continue to praise Psychine. Every word as published January 30th, is true to the facts in the case.

Yours truly,
LEVI WEAVER.

An Encouraging Message

I have a message of hope and good cheer, of encouragement and inspiration to every suffering woman. I have endured the torture due to female troubles and the consequent despondency and mental agony almost to the point of despair, and I have been restored from this condition to a state of vigorous health, and to the happy, exhilarating frame of mind which accompanies physical well-being. This change has been brought about wholly by the use of ORANGE LILY.

In addition, I have had the privilege and pleasure of inducing multitudes of other suffering women to give ORANGE LILY a trial, and have received thousands of enthusiastic acknowledgements of the blessings it has brought to them. The following is a sample:

Truro, N. S., April 5, 1904.

Dear Mrs. Currah,—Your very kind letter was received yesterday. In reply to your question about my health, I am thankful to say that I am very well. As I have never given you a statement of my case you may be interested in it.

For several years I have suffered untold agony. This suffering was continuous, but I would have violent attacks every few weeks, each attack lasting several days. The first Sunday in November, I felt the pain increasing and so did not go to prayers. The rest of the family did go and soon after the forcing down pains seized me and I had to remain on the floor until their return. I was in great pain all night, and was very sick for a whole week.

Then Mrs. L. came to see me and told me of your wonderful medicine. I got my husband to send for it right away, as I was too sick to write myself. (My doctor could do nothing for me.) I have used 5 boxes of ORANGE LILY, have had three months of good rest, and am now well, never better in my life. I have not had the cold pains since. I often ask my husband if it is myself that is going around and doing my own work. I can scarcely believe it. It brings tears of joy to my eyes. I could shout it to all the world. I cannot speak enough in its praise.

Your friend, MRS. E. H. F.

Receiving as I do, dozens of such reports each day, I felt impelled to make known to my suffering sisters the merits of ORANGE LILY. It differs from the other so-called remedies in that it is not taken internally. It is a strictly local treatment, and is applied directly to the affected organs. Its curative elements are absorbed into the congested tissues, expelling the stagnant foreign matter which has been irritating the membrane and oppressing the nerves, and a growing feeling of physical and mental relief is noticeable almost from the start. It is a positive, scientific remedy, and even if you use no more than the Free trial Treatment you will be very materially benefited.

FREE TRIAL OFFER.

I want every reader of this who suffers in any way from painful monthly periods, irregularities, leucorrhœa, inflammation or congestion of the womb, pains in the back, etc., to send me their addresses, and I will forward at once, without charge, 10 days' treatment. If your case is not far advanced it may entirely cure you, and in any event it will do you much good. I am so earnest in making this statement, and so positive that it is true, that I trust every sufferer who reads this notice will take advantage of my offer and get cured at home, without a doctor's bill.

MRS. F. C. CURRAH, WINDSOR, ONT.

A DOG'S TESTIMONY.

It Was In His Own Defense and Was Irresistible.

In one of the Prague district courts recently a foreman named Dastych sued a manufacturer named Weinwert, alleging the latter's dog had bitten him, thereby rendering him for some time unfit for work. The dog was produced in court and the services of a veterinary surgeon were requisitioned as expert evidence. Herr Desensy, in the presence of the judge, did his utmost to irritate the dog, and even struck it, but all to no purpose. The dog remained calm, and finally, finding the proceeding monotonous, crept under a stool. "Quiet as a lamb!" was the finding of the veterinary surgeon; but "Oh, no," said the foreman, "the dog behaves itself because its master is present." So the dog was taken out into the corridor, among the public, this time unmuzzled, and the veterinary again tried his best to irritate the animal. Doggy wagged his tail, offered first one paw and then the other, and, its advances being rudely repelled by the unfeeling veterinary, ran back into court, sat upon its hind legs before the judge, and begged! Not even the hard heart of a judge could resist this appeal, and the animal left the court without a stain upon its character.

FISH FED BY HAND.

Experiments made in a large aquarium have proved that fish may be easily tamed and trained. This is particularly true of blue perch. They soon consent to taking their food—ulva, a green, lettucelike weed—from the hand, and do not at all object to being handled. A huge kelp cod, a splendid specimen of rich blue and green hues, that was kept in the same tank with the perch, readily learned to feed from the hand, and seemed to enjoy being scratched and rubbed.

Sea slugs, too—singular, shell-less things possessing the faculty of secreting a purple fluid which they throw out in self defense—took their regular meal of seaweed from their feeder's fingers without the slightest fear. Sticklebacks, perch, bass and catfish are among the most easily tamed fish, and the story is told of an old fisherman who day after day fed a large horse mackerel in the open sea with pieces of the fish he cleaned. It gradually got into the habit of coming nearer and nearer to where the boat was tethered until, finally convinced that it would not be harmed, it consented to take its daily meal directly from the fisherman's hand.

Tarring and Feathering.

The practice of tarring and feathering, which we regard as essentially American, belongs to Great Britain. To us the honor of inventing or adopting that very disagreeable mode of punishment belongs. Among the laws for the preservation of order when King Richard sailed on his crusade was one that any soldier convicted of theft should have his head shaved, be stripped of his clothes, have melted pitch poured all over him, after this be covered with feathers and so set ashore at the first land that was touched.

WOMAN'S WORLD

BUSY CLUB WOMAN.

A New Yorker Who Is Doctor, Lawyer and Musical Club President.

One of the most unique as well as one of the busiest clubwomen in New York city is Mrs. Albert Wallerstein, president of the Rubinstein club. Mrs. Wallerstein is unique because, besides being an active clubwoman and a member of scores of clubs, she has found time to be a society woman and in addition to all this has studied law, having graduated from the Women's Law school of the class of 1899 and found time to pursue a course in the Women's Medical college, which she entered in 1900. Her first experience as a club president was as president of her class in the medical college. Being a woman of ample means, she took up the study of medicine purely for philanthropic purposes, being actuated by a desire to open a free clinic for women and children.

Mrs. Wallerstein believes that all women should study and accomplish something and re-enforces her belief by setting an example which the majority of women would hardly be able to follow.

In spite of her social and club duties and her studies she has found time to master four languages and to contribute frequently to the leading magazines. Besides being president of the Rubinstein club she is a member of the following organizations: Phalo Woman's Press club, Daughters of the American Revolution, New York city chapter; National Society of New England Women, College Woman's club, Minerva, New Century Study circle, Woman's Republican club, Professional Woman's league, Rainy Day club, Society For Political Study, Vassar Students' Aid society, Euterpe Choral society, New England Glee club and the Woman's Health Protective association. Mrs. Wallerstein is a Catholic and a member of the Dorn family of Worcester, Mass., one of the oldest families in the Bay State.

When she was elected president of the Rubinstein club, which has been in existence seventeen years, she conceived the idea of forming a social club in connection with the choral club, and she has already secured over 150 members. The Rubinstein club holds two councils every year and in addition meets the second Saturday of each month in the myrtle room of the Waldorf-Astoria. The object of the club is entirely musical.—New York Globe.

Children's Eyes.

Parents, teachers and playmates often think children dull when nothing ails them but nearsightedness or difficulty in hearing. Such troubles being corrected, as in most instances they can easily be, the children are found to be among the brightest in their classes. I knew a boy, now a brilliant college professor, who until he was twelve years of age his parents despaired of educating. They deemed him stupid. One day in a jeweler's store, quite by accident, he placed a pair of glasses in front of his eyes and looked around. The world seemed new. He jumped with delight. He had not known how bright the sun is, how green the grass and trees, how lovely the whole earth. This joy on the boy's part was the first hint that his parents, who were more than ordinarily intelligent, had that his trouble was mechanical, not mental. They provided him proper spectacles, whereupon he began to forge ahead in his studies and to display unusual talent.—Twentieth Century Home.

Stair Climbing.

Under no circumstances but that of actual illness or extreme debility should stair climbing become a matter of dread. In every other case it should be attended by a pleasant feeling of exhilaration. The "panting collapse" which many women experience at the top of a flight of stairs is due to the assumption of an incorrect position of the body during the ascent and the employment of wrong muscles for the work. The spine should be kept straight, as in correct standing and breathing poise, and movement should come from the knees and not from the waist and hips. Lift the knees well, hold the chest erect and breathe deeply as you pass from stair to stair. The observance of these rules ought to make the exercise one of real benefit instead of a drudge, for it will be one or the other, since stair climbing is a daily necessity to every woman who has household duties. Then she need never complain that she has not time for physical culture.

Window Transparencies.

Window transparencies are much in favor, and they are easily made. The glass is first cleansed with alcohol, after which the steel engraving or half tone picture which is to be transferred is cleansed with a sponge. With a soft brush apply a paste made of alum and one ounce of nitrate of strontium to the face of the print and to the glass.

Lay the picture face downward and with a dry cloth press until every part of the picture has adhered to the glass and no blisters are left. Then lay the glass away until perfectly dry, which will take several hours.

When dry wet the paper and commence rubbing it off. Several wettings may be necessary before nothing but the outline of the picture remains. Oil with three parts of castor oil and oil of lavender mixed. If too thick add turpentine. Place in a transparency metal frame and hang in the light or set in the window pane.

Substitute For Milk.

Where milk is not to be had or there is but little to use cornstarch may take its place in pudding sauces, white sauce, etc., especially if butter and eggs are used. Mix the cornstarch—two tablespoonfuls—with a little cold water, cook it by adding a pint of hot water, letting it cook thoroughly, then when a little cool beat in an egg thoroughly beaten. Return to the fire for a minute or two, then season with salt, a lump of butter or whatever seasoning you prefer—chopped parsley is good. This makes a white sauce good to serve with boiled onions, warmed over veal, dried beef or salt fish, like codfish or finnan haddie, or, with the addition of sugar and the juice of a lemon and lemon extract, makes a fairly good pudding sauce.

Making Washing Easy.

"Instead of shaving soap over my clothes when they are all ready in the boiler on wash days," says an experienced housewife, "I make a solution of soap and kerosene, which I put into the boiler of water when the latter is hot. I shave half a bar of soap into a quart of water, add two tablespoonfuls of kerosene and set on the stove till the whole is blended. I then pour the solution into the boiler and put the clothes in, slashing them about and up and down for twenty minutes, instead of boiling them. This method obviates the necessity of soaking the clothes and of boiling them."

Wide Hips.

Many women appear to be under the delusion that these are unsightly. As a fact, sculptors, artists and anatomists are unanimous in crediting the ideal female form with pronounced width of hip. When really excessive width is present one may reasonably ask the question whether anything can be done to lessen it. The answer is: If the width be occasioned by superfluous fat the cure is to be found in the gymnasium, but that if the width results from shape of the bones nothing whatever can be done.

Trying Work For Tots.

Many physicians are "down" on beadwork, and they recommend mothers to discourage their little daughters in trying their eyesight over beadwork. Do not hasten the day when your daughter must go to the oculist to have her eyes examined for prescription glasses. The long curriculum of lessons in modern schools, the claims of text books, music lessons and drawing lessons, make quite enough demand on the eyesight of a growing girl without the unnecessary claims of "fancy work."

Bath Sachet.

A French recipe for a bath sachet calls for three pounds of bran to one of powdered orris root, with a pound of starch, a pound and a half of almond meal and twelve ounces of good white soap. Five ounces may be put in each bag, which should be made large enough so that the mixture will have plenty of room to swell and will serve only for one bath.

Staining Floors.

When staining a floor remember to work along the grain of the wood, never across it. A good oak stain is made by putting a couple of ounces each of potash and pearl ash in a quart bottle and filling it with water. Keep well corked. Apply with an old brush, as it will spoil a good one, and take care not to touch the skin with it, for it will cause blisters.

The Clothes Closet.

In the cloak closet—either opening from the hall or sitting room—have hooks low enough that each youngster can hang wraps, hats and bonnets, and if drawers cannot be provided for overshoes, leggings and mittens, have a shelf a foot from the floor for the first named and one two and a half feet high for hand and neckwear.

Painted Walls.

To clean painted walls dissolve two ounces of borax in two quarts of water and add one tablespoonful of ammonia. Use half this quantity to each bucket of water. Do not use soap. Wash a small portion of the paint at a time and rub dry with clean cloths.

The worst feature about games is that they are taken too seriously. Girls do not play for amusement so much as to excel, and their pleasure becomes a task.

Bronzed lamps, chandeliers, etc., should be merely dusted with a feather brush or with a soft cloth, as washing them will take off the bronzing.

Old stockings cut down the seam make excellent cloths for polishing furniture and floors.

The Really Clever Pose.

There is much more intellectual cleverness among the girls of today than there was fifty years ago. A flippant cousin says: "It does not pay for a girl to be clever. Men are afraid of you if you are, and the other girls hate you." But between a pedantic prig and a well educated young woman there is a vast difference. The really clever women are those who disguise their learning and pose as amiable and charming idiots.—London Ladies' Field.

Cut Flowers.

Cut flowers should be placed in the refrigerator overnight. In the morning cut the stems about an inch, and put fresh cool water in the vases. Do not sprinkle them, as a rule, although roses do not seem to be injured that way.

Drippings.

Grease, cooking butter and drippings of any kind that have become "strong" or discolored may be made sweet and white by being clarified with bits of raw potato. Turn all the drippings into a deep kettle which has a perfectly fitting cover and allow them to become heated through. In the meantime slice and peel one medium potato for three pounds of dripping. Slice and throw in and allow it all to cook together until the bits of potato are a deep brown. Strain and set away. When cold a quantity of snow white shortening material will repay the time and trouble.

WHY ANTI-PILL SUCCEEDS.

The primary cause of disease is that the food is not properly digested.

This is because the Gastric Juice is either too weak or too insufficient. The result is that the food-matter ferments and, instead of building up the system, it clogs it and becomes a decomposed mass.

The work of the Gastric Juice is to dissolve the food so that it is changed into blood, bone, muscle, etc.

All efforts to find a substitute for the Gastric Juice have been failures.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt of Lincoln, Neb., feeling convinced that somewhere in the Materia Medica of Nature there must be some means to overcome this difficulty made careful investigations for 20 years.

He came upon the discovery which he gives to the world under the name of Anti-Pill.

ANTI-PILL is a treatment rather than a remedy. It does not simply remove a condition, it takes away the cause.

Its action is not transient; it goes straight to the heart of the trouble and does away with it.

For Deranged Appetite, Fullness and Weight in the Stomach after eating, Dizziness, Headache, Easily Tired, Fagged, Failing Strength, Sleeplessness, Gas in Stomach, Drowsiness and Mental Inactivity, Pain in Back, Hip, or Loins, Backache, Heart Palpitation, Breath Heavy and Offensive, Urine loaded with Sediment, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, and Constipation.

SHE BELIEVES ANTI-PILL IS WONDERFUL.

This is what Mrs. White, 48 Morgan St., Buffalo, says: Two years ago my health began to fail, my head grew dizzy, eyes pained me, stomach was in distress. Everything I ate seemed like lead. I would grow hot and cold alternately, with headache and depression. Although I took doctor's medicine, I felt no better, and got no relief. I was advised to try Anti-Pill, which I did. I soon found that I began to improve and my skin became smooth and clear, when it had been rough and eruptive. My general health improved and I had no more aches or pains. I believe Anti-Pill to be a wonderful medicine.

NO TROUBLE SINCE USING ANTI-PILL.

James Dickinson, proprietor of the Savoy, leading hotel at Niagara Falls, Ont., says: Anti-Pill is the best medicine that ever came my way. It gave me prompt relief from the worst kind of stomach trouble that has bothered me for a long time. Frequently the attacks would be severe and prostrating. I have had no trouble since using Anti-Pill.

6 Sound Reasons

Why Bu-Ju has been so successful

1 Because Bu-Ju has merit and will do what is claimed for it—cure kidney troubles—and it is the only remedy that will do it.

2 Because Bu-Ju cures the disease and not the symptoms. They disappear when the cause is removed.

3 Because Bu-Ju is a tried and approved remedy, with thousands of testimonials back of it.

4 Because Bu-Ju is made by a thoroughly reliable, long-established house.

5 Because Bu-Ju does not claim to be a cure-all, but it does cure disordered kidneys and all troubles arising from them.

6 Because Bu-Ju's best friends are those who have used it and are constantly saying good words for it.

THE INSTITUTE QUESTION.

The correspondence on the subject of the necessity of a new Collegiate Institute building, which has appeared the past day or two in the Examiner, shows plainly that public interest is aroused, and furnishes an encouraging indication that the popular verdict will be in favour of the enterprise. It is perhaps unnecessary to multiply reasons in favour of a new building, for any one or two of the many reasons advanced should justify their erection.

* * *

Apart from the interest of the educational work of an Institute, the credit and good name of Peterborough, and its standing amongst the urban municipalities of the province, should be a deciding influence, and the retention of the industrial and manufacturing position we now hold should be another.

* * *

Peterborough, in very many respects, stands at the head of the towns of the Dominion, and ahead of nearly all towns, and, indeed, of the majority of minor cities. While we lead in many regards, we can, if we will it, lead in all. As pointed out before we are not afraid of comparisons in respect of our churches, our municipal institutions, our commercial importance, our importance as a market centre, our electrical pre-eminence or our manufacturing industries. In all these, wherein we do not lead, we hold a creditable place.

* * *

But when we come to our educational institutions, their equipment and general character, the tongue of the boaster is silent. Without a desire to be pessimistic, but with a sincere desire to influence a remedy for this condition, we feel justified in urging this matter with a little insistence. Indeed, it is the duty of loyalty to the town to urge the question, not for the purpose of merely finding fault, but to incite our citizens to make the improvement that can easily be accomplished.

* * *

It is no secret that a committee of the Board of Education which last autumn made a tour of inspection of several cities and towns in regard to free school books, at the same time kept their eyes open in regard to other matters. A member of the deputation informed the Examiner that he and others, as citizens of no mean town, and proud of Peterborough, felt actually humilated within themselves to note how far many, and most, of the places visited were in advance of Peterborough, or, rather, how far behind these places Peterborough is in regard to general educational advantages, buildings and equipment. No citizen of Peterborough should be called upon to blush, even by himself, at the inferiority of the town in any respect, and, especially, in the prime matter of educational advantages. These are more important now than ever, when the trend of modern educational methods is to the practical, as represented by technical education, domestic science, etc.

* * *

We have no wish to humiliate the people of Peterborough, but for the purpose of showing them where we stand we may furnish some information from an undisputably authentic source, to show what other places, less progressive, and less solid and less fincially able, than this town, have done and are doing in regard to Collegiate Institute buildings.

* * *

It should arouse us to a little wholesome reflection and self-examination to be informed that the only new Collegiate Institute building erected recently was completed last summer in Cobourg, and that in this building provision has been made for technical education which has already been taken up in that town. St. Thomas has expended a very large sum in enlarging its Collegiate Institute and has now one of the best buildings in the province. Large buildings, and most of them of an excellent character, have in recent years been erected at Chatham, Lindsay, Niagara Falls, Ottawa, Owen Sound, Orillia, Sarnia, Stratford, Toronto Junction, Windsor and Woodstock. Besides, new buildings are also being considered by the Educational Boards of Galt, Guelph, Berlin, Collingwood and other places.

* * *

Now, it is worth while to consider how much better able than very many of these places, is Peterborough to build a suitable Collegiate Institute building, and how much more necessary it is in regard to our standing in the municipal community. Taking the customs returns as a basis of ascertaining the relative commercial and industrial importance of towns and cities we find that Peterborough has a grand lead. Out of the sixteen towns and cities mentioned, the customs collections in Peterborough are larger than 12 of them and greater than half a dozen of some of them combined, larger than those of any of the cities of Guelph, Woodstock or Stratford, showing not only the greater enterprise of our merchants, but the larger population and consuming capacity of our people.

* * *

Now, under these circumstances, has not Peterborough reason to feel ashamed and humiliated? This town is better able than most of these places to build and furnish a Collegiate Institute worthy of the town, and one that will be equipped to meet an educational need, urgently prominet in Peterborough, namely, technical education.

* * *

In the beginning of this article it was pointed out that one of the two considerations which should be determining factors in the decision to build a new Institute, was the necessity of retaining our standing and relative pre-eminence as a centre for manufacturing industries. In this connection let us seen what other places are doing in regard to promoting technical training to impart to pupils graduating from their schools, pupils with minds, hands and eyes trained in the rudiments of mechanical skill—a training which will not only give them great positive advantage when they enter upon practical mechanical occupations, but also foster a love of their calling and encourage future study, and therefore future success, and superiority over others not so greatly favoured.

* * *

All industrial centres recognize the importance of technical education as an element of success in mechanical and industrial success. In Berlin it is even proposed to erect a large special building and make extensive provisions for technical education. This policy is declared to be due to the fact that the town is, like Peterborough, a prominent manufacturing centre. In the City of Brantford a separate building was recently erected for technical education, and it is also proposed to erect a new Collegiate Institute building. Stratford, though a city, less in population and commercial and industrial importance than Peterborough, has a very commodious building for Technical Education, in addition to its fine Collegiate Institute accommodation. Kingston has an excellent Collegiate Institute building in which Technical Education has been carried on for two or three years. In addition to the places mentioned, Technical Education, either manual training or domestic science, is carried on in Woodstock, London, Renfrew, a place comparatively in the backwoods, Hamilton, Ingersoll and other places.

* * *

Citing these instances of go-ahead and progressive towns in the matter of education, serves a double purpose — Peterborough has her reputation to establish in these matters, and it shows the importance to be attached to Technical Education. Very few of these towns and cities are superior to Peterborough as a centre for manufacturing industries, and few of them, therefore, have the same need for it. Why should not Peterborough come up to the mark? Why should not our school boys, the children of our merchants, mechanics and workingmen have the same chance of starting well equipped for mechanical pursuits, as well as pupils of towns of half the population of Peterborough, and of not one-tenth of the manufacturing importance.

There are many considerations that have been urged in favour of a favourable response to the bylaw to be submitted to vote on Thursday next, May 5th. Peterborough must not be allowed to lag behind in educational matters. We are well ahead in other respects; let us resolve to take such action as will place us in the lead all along the line.

The Messenger, the official organ of the National Council of Women, has announced that active steps will be taken to notify young women all over Canada that a certain advertisement appearing in various newspapers is a fraud, and inserted for the purpose of enticing unwary girls to St. Louis for improper purposes. The advertisement in question calls for 25 women to work in a palmetry studio at St. Louis, at a salary of $20 per week. Inspector Stark head Staff Inspector Archibald, when appealed to in connection with the matter, pronounced the advertisement as very suspicious looking.

Are you trying to make bricks without straw? Build up your body with food that nourishes but a part of its elements?

A building is built of individual stones or bricks, but mortar or cement is a very necessary part of the building to hold the stones and bricks together. Just imagine what would happen to a building if the contractor, thinking to improve its looks, left out the mortar and cement. This is what the miller does when he makes white flour—he leaves out very essential elements in the building of the human body, for the sake of making his product please the eye. The golden outer coating of the wheat would spoil the spotless whiteness of the flour, so they throw it out and with it the nitrates and phosphates which build muscle and brain, and leave practically nothing but the fat- and heat-producing starch.

you get the whole of the wheat—every element that the body and brain need for thorough nourishment.

Each Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit contains over seven hundred inches of individual shreds, which are rendered light and porous by the process of shredding. The pores readily receive the saliva during the process of mastication, and in the second step of digestion the porous shreds are quickly saturated with the gastric juices of the stomach. Thus digestion is attended with natural results.

THE CONSIDERATION OF A PROBLEMATICAL INDUSTRY.

The Toronto News' Opinion of the Beet Sugar Industry.

(Toronto News.)

Some American observers are showing alarm at the prospects of the beet sugar industry in the United States. It has proved possible to grow beets rich in saccharine qualities and the acreage yield is equal to that in other countries where the industry has succeeded. Neither is the manufacture of the beet juices into sugar much more expensive than in Europe. But the American farmer does not like the minute and laborious work demanded by beet culture, and the mills often find it hard to get sufficient raw material. This difficulty is the more dangerous because it is a peculiarity of the industry that to be profitable the mills must receive a supply of beets very nearly equal to their capacity. This is the great problem with which the American industry is striving. It "remains in the domain of possibilities," according to The New York Sun. That journal hopes for improvements in agricultural machinery which will make the farmer more willing to grow what is admittedly a fairly profitable crop.

The position in Ontario is almost exactly summed up in the complaints of the American makers. The Legislature has very properly decided to continue the $75,000 bounty which it gave last year. The industry is fighting hard for its foothold. It may make good its place among our activities; it certainly at this moment is in need of support, in part from the Government, in part from the general public. It has special difficulties, such as a causeless popular reluctance to believe that a Canadian sugar can be as good as a German or an American sugar. The great trouble however, has been to secure beets enough. The returns to the farmers are far from being small. At Wiarton, a disastrous failure took place; yet in that neighbourhood where proper cultivation was given the farmers recorded an average net profit of $15 per acre. The cultivation of the beets, in addition, has an excellent effect upon the soil. In 1902 the farmers undertook the cultivation of large plots, found the work overwhelming—the shortage of farm labour contributing—and so got a bad impression of the crop. In 1903 the acreage fell off as the price of beets increased, the season being fairly profitable to the farmers, but embarrassing to the factories. One factory received 23,000 tons of beets in 1902 and only 12,000 in 1903. In another locality the farmers made an average of $5 a ton, as against $4 a ton in 1902. This factory needs about 60,000 tons of beets, and to produce this 5,000 acres must be devoted to the crop.

It was expected that it would mean a struggle to establish this industry, which presents a number of peculiarities. There is the close dependence of the factory upon a great number of individual farmers. There is the fact that the plant lies idle for the greater part of the year. There is the need of carrying the sugar when made for months, until the sugar-using season begins. There is the stupid popular prejudice against a home-grown article. Opportunities of friction and failure naturally are numerous. For instance in a number of localities some of the farmers insisted on planting large plots against the advice of the experts from the factories. When the tedious nature of the cultivation developed, and when farm labourers could not be found there was dissatisfaction. In time, of course, factory experts and farmers should shake down into satisfactory relations. That has happened in the case of the cheese factories and creameries. Any new industry, again, must count upon a proportion of loss through the unskilfulness inevitable to beginners. The local capitalists must trust to experts procured abroad, and it is impossible to be absolutely sure as to their qualifications. The Wiarton failure seems to be due to the bad management of men who came with excellent references. Another factory needed and received a thorough reorganization of the technical staff.

All these facts show how necessary it is for the new industry to be able to go through several years of experience and probation. The investment of capital is so heavy and the benefits to the Province in the case of success will be so considerable that the Legislature was justified in granting its bounty of half a cent a pound on all Ontario-made sugar up to a maximum of $75,000. It has done rightly in continuing the bounty. We may hope that the factories and the farmers will learn to work together. Perhaps our agricultural implement men will invent a beet cultivator. The factories ought to be able to train staffs of experts whose recommendations will be their work in this country. The Ontario sugar-users should learn that Ontario sugar is as good as any other sugar. All this will take time and patience. It is a matter of hanging on, of refusing to allow the discouragements of two seasons to discourage us.

The experience of the American industry should guide us in our handling of the situation in Ontario. For one thing, the managers of the Dresden factory, who have been threatening to transfer their enterprise to the United States, might think twice before beginning anew the work of organization in a country which is going through the same experience as is Ontario. For another, it is evident that the key of the whole situation lies in the relations between the farmers and the factory. Organization, mutual understanding and information should increase as experience accumulates. Perhaps the Ontario Agricultural Department could turn its educational machinery into this field, and help forward this understanding. The industry is at exactly the stage which demands firmness, perseverance and public sympathy.

Carpenters Wages Advanced—Building Trades are Active—Good Prospects for Employees.

Mr. W. J. Johnston, the local correspondent to the Labour Gazette, reports on the labour conditions, in this month's issue of that magazine. Mr. Johnston says:

GENERAL CONDITION OF THE LABOUR MARKET

General labour was well employed during March, more particularly in the work of snow and ice removal, so that there were few idle men in this locality during the month, and a decided improvement in consequence over February. A new factory for the manufacture of cement was started, and the American Cereal Co. resumed operations though with a diminished production, after thirteen days' idleness, resulting from fire of February 17. A large staff of men was employed rebuilding the destroyed section. A new planing mill was also started for the manufacture of doors, frames and dressed material. One department of this industry will be devoted to the manufacture of cheese-boxes, employing from eight to twelve men. None of the other branches of employment showed exceptional activity, though traffic on the railways was very heavy owing to the congestion in freights, resulting from the weather blockade. Retailers report business good and improving with the advent of spring weather. Paper maturing on March 4 was fairly well met and business in consequence may be regarded as on a sound basis.

Carpenters wages were advanced from 22 1-2 to 25 cents per hour, and a number of trades that were working shorter hours during the winter returned to their regular hours in March. There was no unrest in the labour market during the month.

Beef and pork on the local market ran from $5.50 to $6.00 and from $6.50 to $7.00 per cwt. respectively. Eggs dropped from 30 to 20 cents per dozen, and butter ranged from 22 to 24 cents per pound. Potatoes were 70 cents per bag, and hay $10.00 per ton. Good apples brought $1.00 per bag. Poultry of all kinds was scarce and dear. Coal dealers in spite of the railway blockade, were able to supply customers, and there were only two occasions on which anything approaching a scarcity was reported.

CONDITION OF LOCAL INDUSTRIES

Agriculture.—Farmers were busy in cutting wood and preparing for spring work. Green wood and tamarac brought $5.00 per cord, and hardwood from $7.50 to $8.00. There was a keen demand for grain, especially oats. Local live stock dealers report business fairly good since the removal of the blockade on the railways.

Lumbering.—Saw Mills have not begun operations and lumber, in consequence, is scarce and expensive.

Manufacturing.—Factories are all fairly busy and running steadily.

CONDITION OF PARTICULAR TRADES

Building Trades.—Bricklayers and masons are generally quiet, though a few were working on some unfinished jobs of last fall. Carpenters, painters and plasterers were fairly well employed. Plumbers had some repairing work and a few stone cutters were busy.

Metal, engineering and Shipbuilding trades.—Iron moulders were fairly busy, and iron workers and helpers very busy. Coremakers' work here is usually done by the moulders, and there are only practically two coremakers in Peterborough. Machinists were well employed. With electrical workers and linemen employment was active. Blacksmiths, boilermakers and sheet metal workers and horse-shoers were busy. The building of a small steamer, for passenger traffic on the Otonabee river during the tourist season, gave employment to shipbuilders. Jewellers report a good month.

Woodworking and furnishing trades.—Piano and furniture shops were active, and upholsterers, varnishers and polishers busy. Carriage and wagon makers, pattern makers and coopers are all fairly busy.

Clothing trades.—Journeymen tailors were generally slack, though a few were beginning to get busy. Boot and shoe workers were very busy owing to the demand for good footwear caused by the weather.

Food and tobacco preparation.—Bakers and confectioners were kept very busy. The former were endeavouring to have the standard weight of a loaf reduced from four pounds to three, and the price from twelve to ten cents. Butchers are busy. Ice cutters have completed their winter's work. Cigarmakers were fairly busy.

Miscellaneous.—Barbers and broommakers were exceptionally busy. Delivery employees, furriers and laundry workers were all busy.

Transport.—Railway traffic is very heavy and employees in consequence very busy in relieving the congestion of freight caused by the recent weather blockade. Livery stables were dull, although carters were kept fairly busy.

DISTRICT NOTES.

The very difficult nature of the country roads caused depression in general business throughout the district, though general stores in most of the smaller villages reported business fair. Grist mills had a good trade amongst farmers. There has been little woodcutting, owing to weather conditions and the supply for next season is limited.

A HUSTLING CONCERN.

Much favourable comment has been caused by the enterprise and pluck shown by many of the Toronto firms, whose places of business were destroyed in the terrible conflagration of April 19th. In no single instance was this more marked than in the case of E. W. GILLETT COMPANY, LIMITED, manufacturers of Royal Yeast, Gillett's Lye, Magic Baking Powder, etc., whose large factory and beautiful offices, together with contents, office furniture, machinery and stock, were totally consumed. In less than an hour after the walls had fallen in, Mr. Dobie, general manager of the Company, had telegraphed for the necessary materials to permit manufacturing operations, to be started with as little delay as possible. By noon of the following day, offices had been secured at 15 Wellington street, east, and completely furnished, and when visited next morning at nine o'clock, the office staff were all at work. Factory premises had also been secured, and a small army of men were busy at work installing the duplicate set of machinery, which this ably managed company had in reserve in another part of the city. This was complete with the exception of one machine, which was brought from Chicago by express, and is undoubtedly the heaviest express parcel that ever arrived in Toronto, as it weighed over four tons. A full carload of supplies and material arrived in the same way. By the untiring energy and enterprise displayed by the management and large staff of employees, the Company have been enabled to commence filling orders within six days after their old premises were destroyed. This is a record that any company might well be proud of, and will be a source of great satisfaction to stockholders of the Company and a relief to the thousands of grocers in all parts of the Dominion handling the various articles manufactured by the Gillett Company, many of whom evinced their interest by letter and telegraphic enquiries as to when they could expect further supplies. Factories will be run day and night and every effort made to fill all orders as promptly as possible, and the Company will at once proceed to erect an extensive, up-to-date factory, which will enable them to keep pace with the ever increasing demand for their goods.

Queen's and the Church.

Kingston, April 29.—The trustees of Queen's University at their annual meeting decided on the report of the general assembly commission to reaffirm their resolution of September last maintaining the connection with the Presbyterian Church and withholding action on the proposed bill of separation pending the church's final action.

Canadian Girl.

Plattsburg, N.Y., April 29.—Emeline Gagnon, a Canadian farmer's daughter, 24 years old, whose home was three miles north of Rouse's Point, N.Y., committed suicide Wednesday by deliberately throwing herself in front of a passenger train near her home. It is thought ill-health had unsettled her mind.

"ARTIE" EDMUNDS MAKES A REPLY.

Claims He is Willing to Meet Any Local Wrestler or Boxer.

Gives His Record of Wins—Resents the Assertion That He is Looking for Something Easy.

In reply to a letter published in the Toronto Star and a copy of which also appeared in the Examiner the same evening, "Artie" Edmunds now writes to the Star the following letter which appeared last night:

Toronto, April 28, 1904.

"Sporting Editor, Star,— In reply to the sarcastic letter of Mr. E. K. Dolan of Peterborough, which appeared in yesterday's Star, I desire to accept Mr. Dolan's challenge to box and wrestle. I will meet any Peterborough boxer Mr. Dolan may select, either in private, to a finish, with bare knuckles, or up to twenty rounds; in public with gloves, and will give every opponent 10 pounds in weight. I now weigh 122 pounds, but will fight at 125 pounds. On the mat I will meet anybody up to 135 pounds, and might be persuaded to give away another 10 or 15 pounds if Mr. Dolan wants to put on a welter or middleweight wrestler to attend to my case.

"If Mr. Dolan is in earnest, let him name his boxer and wrestler, and we can easily come to terms regarding date, referee and conditions.

Mr. Dolan says in effect that I was caught faking in Peterborough, and that they do not want me back any more. Mr. Dolan is evidently suffering from a severe loss of memory for I have letters now in my possession in which he offers me bouts in Peterborough as late as the week of April 13, 1904. He even came to my gymnasium here and offered to give me a bout with Pat Kilty. I agreed. The purse was to have been $50 and expenses, but he backed out, and arranged to take athletes whose rate was $10 and expenses. These are the men who were to furnish Kingstonians with Canadian championship bouts.

Mr. Dolan charges me with faking. He says I gained my reputation by faking and wrestling and boxing "dubs."

The only shady game I was ever mixed up in was at Peterborough in August, 1903, where I was engaged to go on with Farmer Burns. I trained faithfully, believing I was to meet a good man. The night of the bout they told me "Burns" had been hurt and put on Brooker of Toronto, under his name. The telegraph reports credited me with beating Burns, but immediately I returned to Toronto I told the true story to the Toronto papers, in order that there should be no misunderstanding.

So I'm a fakir, am I Mr. Dolan? Well just ask Chris Graham about the match in Peterborough, in April, 1903, with Dave Lennox, the Montreal middleweight wrestler. This is the match in which Mr. Dolan charges that I was greased. Simons wrote me planning to give the Peterborough crowd the double cross. I refused and showed the letter to Chris Graham and his friends. They immediately arranged a cordial reception for Simons and his moneyed friends. Simons agreed to throw me three times in an hour, but when we stepped on the mat I said, "The best man wins to-night," and he started to rough it. After 19 minutes' warm work he failed to get a fall, and after I broke a double Nelson he set up the cry that I was greased, and the police had to escort him to his hotel, while I was carried from the hall on the shoulders of delighted Peterborough sportsmen. Does that look as if I had been guilty of underhand tactics, Mr. Dolan?

On March of this year W. B. Rickey, one of Peterborough's prominent sporting men, wrote me arranging a match with Max Wiley of Rochester.

Mr. Dolan says I gained my reputation by beating "dubs." Well, here is my record, some of them may be dubs, but there are a few good men mixed up in the bundle:

Look them over, Mr. Dolan. Some of them look good. May be Harvey Parker is a dub; the Cuban Wonder too; and then there are Max Luttberg of New York, and Chas. Conkle, of Hamilton. They may be "raw men," but their reputations are long.

Yours,
ARTIE EDMUNDS,

Edmunds' reputation amongst local sportsmen for gameness and squareness is too well founded to suffer from insinuation. His ability is such that for the past two years he has not been able to get a bout either wrestling or boxing on even terms, either in Canada or in Buffalo. His bouts here with wrestlers Parker, Conkle, Luttberg and the Cuban Wonder, all of whom outweighed him, were certainly "on the level." Parker left him a hospital patient for two weeks, and at that could not throw him. Conkle, a 150-pound man left him so weak that he could scarcely stand, but could not gain three falls in an hour. Over in Buffalo Edmunds has thrown all the good local boys up to 145 pounds, and had bouts on tap with men with State-wide reputation, only to have them back out at the last moment.

THE CANADIAN SEA.

"Probs," Mr. R. F. Stupart, Speaks to Toronto Club, on "Navigation of Hudson's Bay and Strait."

Mr. R. F. Stupart, of the weather office, delivered the other day before the Empire Club, Toronto, an address on "The Navigation of Hudson's Bay and Strait," which was to the following effect.

To the north of Ontario and Quebec there is, as you all know, a great inland sea, a vast expanse of salt water, 850 miles from north to south and 600 in breadth, and bounded wholly by lands which are part and parcel of our great Dominion, and connected with the broad Atlantic by a strait some 450 miles in length. We have as yet but a most imperfect knowledge of what wealth these waters contain. We know that they do contain the right whale, porpoise or white whale, walrus, narwhal, seal, salmon, trout, cod, and a variety of small fish, but the only fishing industries so far developed are the whale fishery by the Americans and the walrus, porpoise and salmon fisheries by the Hudson's Bay Company. The chief whaling ground is in the northwestern part of the bay, and here whalers from Massachusetts and Connecticut have been carrying on a profitable fishery for nearly half a century. I fancy I am not astray in surmising that these people have year by year been taking out oil and bone to the value of at least $100,000. Some years ago the Hudson's Bay Company made large profit out of the oil of the seal and white whale, and refined the oil at their northern ports; now, as the oil has a less commercial value, they have ceased this industry. The walrus is hunted not only by the native Eskimo, who roams the shore line of the bays and straits and kills this huge animal from kyak and ice floe, but also by the company's men, who seek it in small vessels out from Churchill.

The rivers which flow into Ungava Bay and doubtless others further west, abound in salmon—salmon equal in flavor to those of New Brunswick. The Hudson's Bay Company at one time found it worth while to send a ship to Ungava and George's River for salmon alone to be shipped in cold storage. I believe this ship has been discontinued, but I think it probable for reasons other than the failure of the fishery. We Canadians have very slowly awakened to the realization of the fact that in Manitoba and our Northwest Territories we have the best of wheat growing lands on the surface of the globe, sixty million acres, where wheat is as certain a crop as in any part of the world and more than twice sixty million acres where the wheat fields will in most years yield ample returns and where in every year other crops are so certain of success that the farmer will be able to regard with tolerable equanimity the possibility of partial failure of wheat. What wonder that the Manitoban and Northwest farmer have considered whether Hudson's Bay and Straits are not the natural and best outlet from the Northwest granary to the markets of Europe. Churchill is only 859 miles from Edmonton, 620 miles from Prince Albert and 640 miles from Winnipeg and the sea route from Churchill to Liverpool is but 3,368 miles.

The original charter of the Hudson's Bay Company was granted in 1668, in which Prince Rupert sent an expedition into the bay, and Fort Charles, the first English settlement, was established near the mouth of Rupert's River. For nearly 200 years the company's ships have been passing backwards and forwards through the Straits, and seem not to have been liable to any large percentage of disaster. It must, however, be borne in mind that the ships have until recent years been sailing vessels, and making but one trip per annum, have passed through the Straits when there has been very little ice. They leave Scotland so as to reach the entrance of the Straits about August 1st, and within less than two months they are again out of the Straits homeward bound.

Mr. Stupart then proceeded to give some particulars relating to the length of time navigation in the bay is impeded or actually suspended through the ice, then continued:

"I give the following as the season during which navigation may in ordinary years be regarded as practicable for the purpose of commerce; not indeed to the cheaply built freight steamer, commonly known as the 'ocean tramp,' but to vessels of about 2,000 tons gross, fortified for meeting ice, and of such construction as to enable them to be fair freight carriers. These vessels must be strengthened forward; should have wooden sheeting and be very full under the counter; the propeller should be of small diameter and be well down in the water. I place the limit of size at about 2,000 tons because a larger ship would be somewhat unwieldly, could not make such good way through the loose ice, and being unable to turn so sharply she would get many a heavy blow that the smaller ship would escape."

Wakeham's Experiences.

The speaker then went on to give some interesting details concerning the vicissitudes experienced by Captain Wakeham, the commander of a whaling vessel and concluded his remarks thus:

In judging of the suitability of Hudson's Straits as a commercial trade route we have not to consider during what period of each year a Dundee whaler or a specially constructed ice crusher can navigate the Straits, but rather during what period an ordinary well found iron ship with a master of usual experience can navigate them with an ordinary degree of safety. The result of investigation is not uncertain—such a ship may with safety enter the Straits early in July and should she have good luck she may get through to the bay with but a few delays in the ice, but delays of a week or ten days will not be infrequent. At the close of the season ships should not leave Churchill later than the middle of October, because at that date winter has set in.

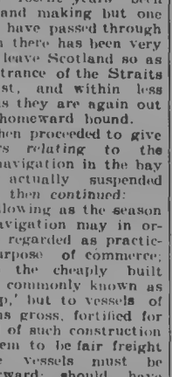
FORTUNE TELLING

Does not take into consideration the one essential to woman's happiness—womanly health. There is many a woman whose future seems absolutely unclouded who is marked by her own condition for future disappointment and distress.



The woman who neglects her health is neglecting the very foundation of all good fortune. For without health love loses its lustre and gold is but dross.

Womanly health may be retained or regained by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It establishes regularity, dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

Dr. Pierce offers $500 reward for women who cannot be cured of the above diseases. His "Prescription" has been so successful in curing thousands of cases in the past third of a century that he makes this remarkable offer to show his confidence.

"I have taken six bottles of Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Miss M. Fyfe, of Orillia, Simcoe Co., Ontario, "and two bottles of the 'Pleasant Pellets' as you advised for congestion of uterus, ovaries and weakness, and can safely say that your medicine has been the means of restoring me to good health again, which I had not had for over three years, until taking your medicine. I thank you very much for your kind and prompt attention to my letter asking advice."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets clear the complexion and sweeten the breath.

THE USE OF POWDER.

It Will Not Harm the Skin If You Also Use Cold Cream.

A word about using powder. It's all right if you clean the face thoroughly every night with hot water and olive oil soap and every afternoon with cold cream and if always the powder is the very purest. With these precautions you can use any amount of it without injury and possibly, as the French beauty doctors insist, with benefit.

Actresses, who use not only powder, but rouge, grease paint and many other materials in their various "makeups," are yet famous for retaining the bloom of youth into middle life and beyond it. May Irwin, who is the mother of grown children and yet has a smooth, pink skin which a girl of sixteen might envy, attributes her exceptional complexion to the continual use of cold cream. It is the foundation of every "makeup," and it is used with unfailing regularity night after night. For three or four hours the actress is sure to have a dressing of cold cream nourishing her complexion and keeping it fresh and elastic.

The average woman, on the contrary, is apt to dab on her cream one night and forget it for two, with the result that her half starved complexion fades by forty and is parchment at fifty. Probably she attributes the loss of her freshness to the powder puff. But the real trouble was neglect of the cold cream. Use it plentifully and regularly, and powder will do no harm.—New York News.

HOLLOW CHEEKS.

What to Do to Make Them Become Full and Plump.

Hollow cheeks are something no woman wants, and it is not hard to remedy them. To impart firmness facial gymnastics and massage, accompanied by a good prepared skin food or cocoa butter, will prove beneficial. The skin food is to be applied just before retiring and the exercise to be indulged in both night and morning for about ten minutes. To exercise the muscles first compress the lips, fill the cheeks with air and work the jaws in a chewing movement, puffing the cheeks outward as much as possible and keeping the mouth closed.

Before applying the skin food prepare the face to receive it by a thorough washing in warm soapy water, followed by a cold rinse. Dry and with the tips of the fingers stroke the muscles of the cheeks upward and backward with gentle pressure after placing the thumbs at the base of the ears. Anoint the hollows with the cocoa butter and execute a rotary movement, beginning by placing the finger tips at the corner of the mouth and following the jawbone to the temple.

Start again at the corner of the mouth and work upward through the middle of the cheek to the outer corner of the eye. Repeat each movement ten times, keeping the pressure firm but gentle.

The Snow Leopard.

In the highlands of central Asia lives the snow leopard, which never descends below the snow line of the mountains. Its color is a gray, inclining to buff. A few large dark spots show about the lower parts and a number of smaller ones congregate about the head and the neck. The back and the sides are marked with faded looking brown rings or rosettes. The comparatively enormous tail of the animal is fully as long as its body.

A Night Mare.

"Look here, you old fraud, that mare you sold me is blind as a bat."

"Well, well! Ain't it funny I never found that out? Ye see I allus used to drive her after dark, an' then she could see as good as any other hoss."

Refined.

Mrs. Nuritch—I think I'll take this watch. You're sure it's made of refined gold. Jeweler—Certainly. Mrs. Nuritch—Because I do detest anything that ain't refined.

A TRUNK WARDROBE.

When my baby girl was put into short clothes she required so many dresses that I found the hamper, previously used, inadequate.

A neighbor gave me a small, old fashioned wooden trunk having one light tray inside. It was an unsightly object, being much soiled, both inside and out. I moistened all the paper lining, then carefully removed it, and when the wood was thoroughly dry I relined with scraps of wall paper in a dainty pattern of wild roses, using the border for the inside of the top and the bottom of the tray. I fitted this lining very carefully and pasted it on.

I covered the outside of the trunk with denim, tacking through the small plaits around the top. I covered the lid with a separate piece of denim, stretched very tightly over a stuffing of excelsior, and finished with a four inch ruffle tacked on with brass headed tacks. The trunk when it is closed makes a convenient window seat for my bedroom.

The receptacle under the tray is thirty inches long and gives ample room without folding or crushing for the two dozen little white dresses, with the cambric and flannel petticoats. The tray is convenient for smaller articles. The little shoes, each pair in its own box in a corner, and the little pique reefers and bonnets, also the tiny sheets and pillow cases, are easily within reach. I do not see how I could get along without this device, which would be equally useful for shirt waists or lingerie.—St. Louis Republic.

PRETTY WORK TABLE.

It Is Made of Bamboo Poles and a Cheese Box.

Here is a charming work table made of some lengths of bamboo and an ordinary wooden cheese box. The height of the four lengths of bamboo, which form the foundation for the table, are regulated by your individual taste, and having cut them the required height cut a slot in each piece, as shown in Fig. 1, the exact measurement of the bottom of the box, which is then wedged in. (See Fig. 2.)

er up. As the slots are only cut the width or a fraction more of the width of the box they naturally hold tightly and only require one or two screws to keep them in place.

The structure being completed, the decoration must be considered, and you have endless variety to choose from. First there is enamel, with which lid and box can be covered, the different wood stains varnishing in this scheme the bamboo. Poker work, imitation marquetry, metallic painting, all these can be pressed into service with artistic results.

Household Linen.

Modern housewives are beginning once more to pride themselves on their household linen, and this fact is very evident in the use of tablecloths woven in the most exquisite and artistic designs, the table napkins following them on a more minute scale. Some of the bedroom towels now in use are very useful both as to fineness and pattern, the borders being of floral design, beautifully handworked in washing thread or silk. They are finished with a deep fringe of linen thread, with a heading of the colors which prevail in the embroidery. Many of these face towels are of the finest imaginable Irish damask, with design and border of shamrocks or tiny fleurs-de-lis.

Allow me to say a few words as to the merits of the Iron-ox Tablets. We Shall Spend $500,000

To Give Liquozone Away.

This Company, after testing Liquozone for two years in the most difficult germ diseases, paid $100,000 for the American rights. That is the highest price ever paid for similar rights on any scientific discovery.

We are now spending $500,000 to give the product away—one bottle to each of a million sick ones. We are doing this so that every sick one may let Liquozone itself prove what it can do.

Kills Inside Germs

The greatest value of Liquozone lies in the fact that it kills germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. And no man knows another way to do it. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Medicine is almost helpless in any germ disease, as every physician knows.

Liquozone will do for sick humanity more than all the drugs in the world combined. It does what no skill can accomplish without it. It cures diseases which medicine never cured.

Acts Like Oxygen

Liquozone is the result of a process which, for more than 20 years, has been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research. Its virtues are derived solely from gas, made in large part from the best oxygen producers. By a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time, these gases are made part of the liquid product.

The result is a product that does what oxygen does. Oxygen gas, as you know, is the very source of vitality, the most essential element of life. Liquozone is a vitalizing tonic with which no other known product can compare. Yet it is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill.

The reason is that germs are vegetables; and Liquozone, which—like oxygen—is life to an animal, is deadly to vegetal matter. It is carried by the blood to every cell of every tissue, and no touch of impurity, no germ of disease, can exist where Liquozone goes.

Germ Diseases

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone kills the germs, wherever they are, and the results are inevitable. By destroying the cause of the trouble, it invariably ends the disease, and forever.

Asthma, Abscess—Anemia, Bronchitis, Blood Poison, Bright's Disease, Bowel Troubles, Coughs—Colds, Consumption, Colic—Croup, Constipation, Catarrh—Cancer, Hay Fever, Kidney Diseases, La Grippe, Leucorrhea, Liver Troubles, Malaria—Neuralgia, Many Heart Troubles, Piles—Pneumonia, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Skin Diseases, Dysentery—Diarrhea, Dandruff, Dyspepsia, Eczema—Erysipelas, Fevers—Gall Stones, Goitre—Gout, Gonorrhea—Gleet, Scrofula—Syphilis, Stomach Troubles, Throat Troubles, Tuberculosis, Tumors—Ulcers, Varicocele, Women's Diseases

All diseases that begin with fever—all inflammation—all catarrh—all contagious diseases—all the results of impure or poisonous blood.

50c Bottle Free

If you need Liquozone, and have never tried it, please send us this coupon. We will then mail you an order on your local druggist for a full-size bottle, and we will pay your druggist ourselves for it. This is our free gift, made to convince you; to show you what Liquozone is, and what it can do. In justice to yourself, please accept it to-day, for it places you under no obligation whatever.

Liquozone costs 50c. and $1.

IT IS IMPORTANT

that the walls of a room should be free to breathe so that the imprisoned inmates may do so. Dr. De Wolfe, late Commissioner of Health for the City of Chicago says: "The free passage of air through the walls of living-rooms is an important element in proper ventilation. The practice of re-papering rooms by layer upon layer of wall-paper, made adhesive by glue or paste, which adds a decomposing material to the nasty process, can receive nothing but condemnation from sanitarians. The perfect wall for domestic habitation is of material which resists decomposition in every form, and which permits the passage of air. Paper does not supply these conditions."

YOUGHIOGHENY.

The Proper Way of Pronouncing This Indian Name.

Perhaps the most difficult geographical name in the United States is Youghiogheny, or geny, as it is sometimes spelled, the name of a creek in western Maryland and Pennsylvania. Few besides natives of the region pronounce it with the chief accent on the penultimate and who so essays it with the accent elsewhere finds his mouth filled with a meaningless confusion of vowels and consonants. The first syllable is "Yough," pronounced "Yo," with a short "o." The second is "i" short, the "o" following is almost if not quite unheard in the mouth of the native, while the last two syllables are those made familiar in "Alleghany," though there is even here a question of "a" long or "e" short.

The pronunciation of Youghiogheny is, however, a simple matter with the modern spelling compared to what it must have seemed to the stranger who met it with the old spelling. On an ancient map of the region the name is spelled "Yoghyyoyghgania." Doubtless this spelling came nearer than that now in use to indicating aptly the Indian pronunciation of the name.

LAWN TENNIS.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Tennis Club was held last Saturday and was one of the largest in the history of the Club. The manifest return of interest to tennis, which has been in evidence throughout the country during last year, and of which there is increasing enthusiasm for the game for the ensuing season, has been shown in the Peterborough Tennis Club, and a most successful year counted on. It is expected the courts will be opened in about two weeks.

Patroness—Mrs. John Burnham.
President—Mr. F. D. Kerr.
Vice-Presidents — Miss Dennistoun, Miss Lundy.
Secretary-treasurer — Mr. Harold Cluxton.
Executive Committee — Miss Hatton, Miss G. Dennistoun, Miss B. Moore, Mr. J. Lawrence, Mr. F. Bradburn.
Tournament Committee — Miss G. Dennistoun, Mrs. A. Hall, Mr. E. R. Jarvis.

The Sporting Editor of the Examiner has to thank the Sporting Editor of the Review for the valuable advertisement contained in last night's issue of the latter sheet, and also for the suggestion for the utilization of the property so kindly advertised. The Scriptures tells us that when Nebuchadnezzar's witch went wool-gathering he "ate grass like an ox." The amiable imbecility of the Review man towards his confrere of this column brings him fairly enough upon the level of the Babylonian grass-eater, to justify his furnishing a concrete example of history repeating itself, and in this connection the Tennis Court is open to his grazing operations.

BASKET-BALL.

One of the most important basket-ball games of the season will be played in the Y.M.C.A. on Monday evening, the challenge of the Athletics to the Brownies having been accepted. The Brownies defeated the Athletics last week and a fast game on sale at Beath's Stove Store, Hunter street, and the Examiner office, and from members of the teams.

• • •

The Junior Arrows and Business College teams will play a preliminary game to that between the Athletics and the Brownies on Monday night commencing at eight o'clock.

LACROSSE.

The outlook for a season of good clean amateur lacrosse in town, this year, is very promising. During the last three years our own town boys have taken up the game in earnest and we now have lacrosse players galore. The result is that teams will be put on the field this year from the different factories and high school, besides the town team proper. It is the intention to form a town league and the occasion is now open for some liberal minded citizen to offer a trophy for competition during the season. It is hoped this arrangement will go through as our said experience in professional lacrosse has taught us to appreciate all the more pure amateurism in all athletic games.—Oshawa Reformer.

The Millbrook lacrosse club is experiencing some difficulty in enlisting the public interest in the game there. The Reporter says:—

"Notwithstanding the fact that posters were issued for a meeting of the citizens and lacrosse supporters to be held on Tuesday, April 19, a very small representation responded to the call. Thinking however that perhaps the people were anxious and willing to support a team (and the boys had several such assurances) they thought it would be well to organize and let future events indicate the feeling in the matter. At the meeting the possibility of putting on an entertainment for the benefit of the treasury was discussed and it was decided to give a concert in the near future. Instead of there being a shortage of players this year the management will have a choice from about 16 men, and are confident of a bright season.

BASEBALL.

This morning an exciting game of ball was played between the Petes and Junior Pirates, the latter winning. Junior Pirates, although the winner is a matter of question. Both teams claim to have secured the greater number of runs.

The teams were:

Petes.	Pirates.
Pitcher.
H. Mowat	Howard Heap
Catcher.
W. Fortye	A. Davidson

Uxbridge Journal: Oshawa is more enthusiastic over her ball team than her lacrosse club. The ball tossers will again enter the Midland League, along with Cobourg, Bowmanville, Port Hope, Peterborough and Lindsay, says a despatch to the Toronto dailies. I am in receipt of a letter however, from the Lindsay club, wanting to know what Uxbridge things of "a league consisting of Orillia, Lindsay, Uxbridge, and two Peterborough clubs." Looks as if Lindsay was desirous of bolting from the old organization. Things are shaping for the Markham-Stouffville-Uxbridge League, and it's altogether likely this will be the district in which Uxbridge will be interested this season, unless it should be decided to sport two teams and enter one in a northern league along with Sunderland, Cannington and Beaverton.

The Oshawa Baseball Club has already begun to practice, and are showing up in good form. They expect to have a strong imported battery, which will make them equally as strong, if not stronger, than any club in the Midland League.—Reformer.

The Lindsay Post sees a lack of friendly spirit in the different teams comprising the Midland League because they will not all agree to that team's proposition to play the home games on either Thursday or Friday instead of Saturday, as scheduled, to suit the convenience of the Lindsay team, the members of which apparently forget that other towns have the same right to be considered. The Post says: "The secretary has written to the several managers of teams in the League asking if they would favour Lindsay by changing the Saturday games to be played here for Thursday or Friday dates. Bowmanville has answered in the negative. We do not like this spirit in friendly sports, as we are all working for the same end—to please our patrons."

In reply to a request as above, Manager Whitcroft of the Peterborough team, replied that his team was willing to meet the Lindsay team's wishes in this respect, but apparently some of the other teams cannot arrange it as easily.

The Norwood Register in speaking of the first game to be played in the Midland League there to-day says: "The reorganization of the League on a much larger scale this season has done much to awaken the old time interest in foot ball throughout the entire Midland district and many are looking forward to a return of the enthusiasm of former days. Get in touch with the game at the beginning of the season by attending this match. Both teams are in fine form and an interesting exhibition of foot ball is expected."

MR. JUSTICE FINNEMORE

TO CUTICURA

The World Is Cuticura's Field, Used Wherever Civilization Has Penetrated.

"I desire to give my voluntary testimony to the beneficial effects of your Cuticura Remedies. I have suffered for some time from an excess of uric acid in the blood; and since the middle of last year, from a severe attack of Eczema, chiefly on the scalp, face, ears and neck and on one limb. I was for several months under professional treatments, but the remedies prescribed were of no avail, and I was gradually becoming worse, my face was dreadfully disfigured and I lost nearly all my hair. At last, my wife prevailed upon me to try the Cuticura Remedies and I gave them a thorough trial with the most satisfactory results. The disease soon began to disappear and my hair commenced to grow again. A fresh growth of hair is covering my head, and my limb (although not yet quite cured) is gradually improving. My wife thinks so highly of your remedies that she has been purchasing them in order to make presents to other persons suffering from similar complaints, and, as President of the Bible Women's Society, has told the Bible women to report if any case should come under their notice when a poor person is so afflicted, so that your remedies may be resorted to."

Brilliant Society Event.

Toronto, April 30.—Yesterday His Excellency the Governor-General and party attended the Horse Show and society was all in a flutter. The scene was a very brilliant one, and some fine animals were reviewed by Lord Minto, who takes a deep interest in horseflesh. In the evening, Lord Minto was entertained at luncheon at the Toronto Club by the committee of the show. The guests enjoyed themselves thoroughly. To-day will be a great day, as the vice-regal party and probably the Duke of Sutherland will be present.

Woodstock, N.B., April 30.—George Gee, the murderer of his cousin, Millie Gee, will be hanged on Friday, July 22. Yesterday the prisoner was brought before Chief Justice Tuck to receive his sentence. The judge spoke impressively of the circumstances of the case and the conditions of life existing among the families interested, as shown in the evidence. He then sentenced Gee to be hanged on the date named. The doomed man learned his fate calmly.

A WOMAN'S SYMPATHY.

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too, but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need to do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. PASSAGE OF YALU FORCED BY JAPS.

Japanese Lost 700 Men Killed and Wounded, and Russia is Minus Some 800—Japs Captured Twenty-Eight Guns and Many Prisoners—Five Days Fighting—Then Pitched Battle on Sunday.

Tokio, May 2.—After five days of fighting, largely with artillery, the first Japanese army under Gen. Kuroki has forced a crossing of the Yalu River and yesterday, with a gallant infantry charge covering a frontage of four miles, it drove the Russians from Chiutiencheng and the heights on the right bank of the Iho or Aida River, which enters the Yalu from the north, almost opposite Wiju. The Japanese turned the left flank of the Russian position, and in the battle of yesterday they swept away the new front interposed by the Russians to check their onward movement.

Japs Dominant.

The present position of the Japanese is a dominating one, and they may force the abandonment of the defences erected by the Russians at Antung and other points lower down the river. Gen. Kuroki began the movement on Tuesday by ordering a detachment of the Imperial Guards division to seize the Island of Kuriito, which is in the Yalu above Wiju, and a detachment of the second division to seize the Island of Kinteito, below Wiju, and establish their headquarters. One battery of Japanese artillery which had taken a position on a hill to the east of Wiju fired three volleys at Kosan, and at noon of Thursday the Russian batteries behind Chiutiencheng shelled Wiju, pounding one Japanese soldier with shrapnel. On Wednesday the Russians resumed the bombardment of Wiju, firing at intervals throughout the day. The Japanese artillery did not respond to this fire.

Fortifying the Iho.

Gen. Kuroki has received reports to the effect that the Russians are fortifying the heights on the right bank of the Iho River. These new defences are declared to extend from Chiutiencheng through the Village of Makao to Koshoki, a distance of three and a quarter miles. The Russians resumed their bombardment on Tuesday, but it was generally ineffective. Subsequently Gen. Kuroki ordered two companies of the Imperial Guards to cross the Yalu and make a reconnaissance along the left bank of the Iho for the purpose of discovering the character of the Russian fortifications along the heights on the right bank of the river. The Japanese force advanced toward Kosan and then detached a small detachment to the village, where a party of Russians were encountered. In the engagement which followed five Russians were killed. The Russians shelled the reconnoitering party from an emplacement in the hills in the southeast part of Yoshoko. This fire was without effect.

Fired All Night.

The Russian artillery on the hill behind Chiutiencheng, first at a high angle, opened on Wiju, the Island of Kurito and Seikodo, to the south of Wiju, where some Japanese batteries had taken possession. This firing continued into Thursday night, and Gen. Kuroki reports that while it was ineffective it disturbed his preparations for an attack. The Russians resumed the shelling of Wiju on Friday, but the Japanese guns did not reply.

The 12th division of the Japanese army was chosen to make the first crossing of the Yalu. It began its preparations on Friday by driving the Russians from their position on the bank of the river opposite Suikochin, which is eight miles above Wiju and the point selected for the crossing. This division constructed a pontoon bridge over the river and at 3 o'clock Saturday morning it began crossing. The entire division passed over the river during the day, and by 6 o'clock Saturday evening it was in the position assigned to it for the battle of Sunday. The movement of the 12th Japanese division was covered by the second regiment of field artillery and another artillery regiment of heavy guns.

Silenced Russ Fire.

At 10 minutes of 11 o'clock Saturday morning the Russian artillery posted to the north and to the east of Chiutiencheng began shelling the patrols of Japanese infantry, which had been despatched from Kinteito Island to Chuchodi, another island north of Kinteito, and under Chiutiencheng.

The Japanese batteries replied to this shelling and silenced the Russian fire. Later eight Russian guns posted on a hill to the east of the Village of Makao opened upon the Imperial Guards.

In this shelling the Japanese artillery to the east of Wiju responded and the Russians ceased firing. Then both the Chiutiencheng and the Makao batteries reopened, and this fire brought a vigorous response from the chain of Japanese batteries on the Corean side of the river. The Russian guns fired for two hours before they were silenced. In his report Gen. Kuroki expresses the belief that his shelling was very effective against the Russians.

Aids to Infantry.

The Japanese losses in the bombardments of Saturday were two men killed and five officers and twenty-two men wounded. A flotilla of gunboats from the squadron of Admiral Hosoya participated in the fighting of Saturday. It encountered a mixed force of Russian infantry and artillery on the Manchurian bank of the Yalu, below Antung, and, after a sharp fight, scattered them to the hills.

A bridge across the main stream of the Yalu, just above Wiju, was completed at 6 o'clock Saturday night, and the second Japanese division and the Imperial Guards immediately began crossing.

They advanced and occupied the hills back of Kosan, facing the Russian position on the right bank of the river. All through Saturday night regiment after regiment of Japanese soldiers poured across the bridge, and at a late hour Saturday night Gen. Kuroki telegraphed to the general staff of the army: "I will attack the enemy on May 1 at dawn."

Attack at Daylight.

True to his promise, Gen. Kuroki, at daylight yesterday, centred all his artillery on the Russian position between Chiutiencheng and Yoshoko. To this fire the Russians made reply with all their batteries.

At 7 o'clock in the morning the Russian battery at Yoshoko was silenced, and half an hour later Gen. Kuroki ordered his line, stretching for four miles, to attack. The Japanese infantry, on the word of command, charged across the Iho, wading that stream breast deep, and began storming the heights at 8.15.

At 9 o'clock they had swept the Russian line back across the plateau.

Antung Burned.

Tokio, May 2.—11 a.m.—The Russians were forced to abandon Antung yesterday. They burned the town, and retreated to Fenghuancheng. The Japanese now control the estuary of the Yalu River.

Jap Loss 700; Russians 800.

Tokio, May 2.—(7 a.m.)—A supplemental report from Gen. Kuroki covering Sunday's fighting, says: "The Russians made two stands. The enemy's strength included all of the third division, two regiments of the sixth division, one cavalry brigade, about 40 quick-firing guns, many rifles, much ammunition, more than 20 officers and many non-commissioned officers and men as prisoners. I am informed that Major Kashtalinsky, commander of the Third East Siberian Rifles Brigade, and Lieut.-Gen. Kassalitch, commander of the Second Siberian Corps, were wounded. Our casualties number about 700, and the Russian loss is more than 800 men."

Russians Admits Defeat.

St. Petersburg, May 2.—The general staff's account of the operations on the Yalu yesterday is as follows: "At 4 a.m. Japanese field batteries with 47 guns opened a terrific fire on our position at Turenchen and our troops posted near Potientsky. The overwhelming superiority of the Japanese in artillery and the heavy losses their fire inflicted on our troops occupying these positions made it clear to Gen. Sassulitch that it was impossible to hold Turenchen. Consequently the troops were ordered to retire from Turenchen; while still holding the Potientsky road. When Gen. Sassulitch despatched his telegram the Russian troops were retiring in good order from Turenchen and Schakhedzy to their second position and the battle was continuing at Potientsky and Tchingu."

Record of Sunday Fighting.

Tokio, May 1.—(11 a.m.)—Advices from the front say that Japanese forces began an attack on the Russians on the Yalu River last Tuesday. The battle was continued Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. A decisive struggle is anticipated to-day (Sunday). On Thursday the Japanese effected a crossing of the Yalu and secured a lodgement on the right bank of the river. The fighting on Saturday was at long range, and there was a duel with heavy guns across the river. Fighting was resumed at daylight to-day (Sunday). The Russian force is estimated at 30,000 men. The Japanese loss is reported to have been small thus far.

2 p.m.—Advices received here state that the 12th division of the Japanese army forced a crossing of the Yalu River, above Wiju, just before dawn Saturday. The second pontoon bridge across the river Saturday night and the Imperial Guards of the second division crossed during the night. The Russians left flank has been turned, and a general attack began at dawn (Sunday), nearly all the Japanese batteries on the south of the river and a flotilla of gunboats co-operating with the army. The Japanese have advantages of position and numbers, and are confident of routing the enemy.

3 p.m.—The Japanese to-day captured Chiutencheng, ten miles north of Antung, which is regarded as the key to the Russian position on the right bank of the Yalu River. It is expected that the Russians will retreat to Fenghuancheng, which is on the road to Liaotung.

It Was a Jap Mine.

St. Petersburg, May 2.—The finding of the court of inquiry, that the battleship Petropavlovsk was destroyed by a Japanese mine, has caused little surprise in St. Petersburg.

Japs Victory Complete.

London, May 2. — The Seoul correspondent of the Central News, wires that the Japanese victory at the Yalu River yesterday was most complete. After the Japanese charge he says the Russian lines were thrown into confusion, and retreated in disorder. The Japs have now secured a firm hold on the Manchurian side of the Yalu River.

Russians in Retreat.

Tokio, May 2. — The Russians are in full retreat, following the battle of Sunday. They burned and abandoned the important town of Antung, together with a great quantity of stores. They are now at Fong Wang Chony, and will be attacked there.

Drowned in Cess Pool.

Dorchester, N. B., May 2. — A shocking accident occurred here Saturday. Three boys, aged seven years, were playing ball back of the Hotel Windsor. The ball went into a cess-pool, and Harold Crandall, in trying to recover it, fell into the slimy water and was drowned.

Steamship Burned.

Richmond, Va., May 2.—The Virginia Navigation Company's steamer Pocohontas, plying between Richmond and Norfolk, was burned at her wharf here last night.

May flowers are being gathered by many.

THE BARS CROWDED

A CARNIVAL OF DEBAUCHERY

Police Had Their Troubles and Chief Royce Had to Flourish Revolver Before He Could Make Arrest—Eight Men Behind Prison Bars—Most Revolting of Scenes Were Witnessed.

Toronto Junction, May 2.—The animal nature was visible in no small degree among the thousands of people who thronged this town's streets on Saturday afternoon and evening. The event was the ushering in of the local option bylaw and giving a parting salute to King Eachus and six of his satellites, the bars. There is no denying that the crowd made it a success, if debauchery, fighting and ill-temper constitute features worthy of the term celebration. Rowdyism is a mild term for the disgraceful scenes which witnessed the incoming of this temperance measure. Men who seldom drank to excess, eagerly grabbed at bottles, flasks, even pails and buckets filled with liquor, and hied themselves to back lanes, where others helped them to swallow the contents.

Herbert's liquor store handed out thousands of bottles of various kinds of liquor. Much of it was drunk on the open streets, but more of it in the back lanes and around Batt's old lumber yard. The "dead men" were thrown promiscuously everywhere.

Police Had Their Troubles.

The crowds thronged Dundas street from the Occidental Hotel to the corner of Keele street, the main corner of the town. Special constables were sworn in by Chief of Police Royce and were kept constantly busy dispersing the gangs which congregated on the corners and around the hotels. The bars were so crowded that fighting in them was impossible. A fight started at the Avenue Hotel; but there was not room for a man to lift his arm, and less room in which a man could be knocked down. The fighting was done on the street.

About the same time Chief of Police Royce was having his troubles near the Occidental Hotel. No sooner did he lay hands on his man than two men in the crowd jumped for him and tried to effect a rescue. Chief Royce held on to his man until two more policemen broke through the mob, and Royce handed his prisoner over to them. He then tried to get the crowd to move back and allow the prisoners to be taken to the station, and while doing this another fellow in the crowd seized the arm of the second man arrested in an endeavor to pull him loose.

Chief Drew Revolver.

He was a big fellow, but Royce tackled him, and with the situation approaching a somewhat desperate shape, drew his revolver and threatened to arrest more of them if they continued to be riotous. Cowed by the glistening barrel and determined appearance of the officers, the mob fell away. The prisoners were then conveyed to the station, followed by several thousand people who surrounded the building and made verbal demonstrations of violence, but took no means to carry them out. Other arrests were also made, and by 8 o'clock there were eight prisoners in the cells. They were:

John Smith, Brantford.

William Crews, Toronto.

William Ogle, 62 Bathurst street, Toronto.

John Farrell, bartender at the Subway House, is minus a ticket for Winnipeg and his coat. He hung it up in the hotel, and some sneak thief ran off with it. A man at the Avenue Hotel is said to have lost his watch in the crowd, but he hasn't given his name to the police.

It is reported that the license inspector was pretty vigilant, and that one hotelkeeper may be charged with selling after hours.

Considering the amount of drinking done, it is surprising that more helpless men were not seen on the streets. The crowd was a pretty orderly one, but in back lanes and out-of-the-way places the orgies of the half-drunken youths were something awful. Scenes the most revolting were witnessed, and those participating in them seemed to take delight in making the last of liquor in Toronto Junction vivid with degradation and beastliness.

The hotels were closed fully half an hour before the time required by law.

The police were called in to all the hotels except the Avenue, before 7 o'clock, and the barrooms rid of their maudlin crowd.

After the hotels were closed and the supply of liquor cut off, the pugnacity of the revelers began to ease off.

Mayor Chisholm's house was serenaded, and a group of young fellows outside treated him to the chorus "How Dry I Am."

Nearly 10,000 people on the streets.

The police estimate that there were and in the bars.

Sunday was a quiet day. It was the lull after the storm.

Another Negro Lynched.

Birmingham, Ala., May 2.—A despatch from Prattsville, Ark., says: News reached this city yesterday that Gaines Hall, the negro, who, it is alleged, assaulted Mrs. Josiah Owens, Saturday morning, was caught at Kingston by a posse who took him to the scene of the crime and tied him to a tree. His body was then riddled with bullets.

LINDSAY.

The new railway is being pushed ahead at a fast pace these fine days. A large number of men are employed, some digging away the earth, others grading, working the dump carts, levelling the ground, filling in crib work, etc. The Company is removing earth from the Growden lot and is conveying it in cars and using it for filling-in purposes, between the G.T.R. track and the water edge. Mr. Growden will get his land back at the end of a year's time. They are also getting earth from a small piece of land lying between the Flaveille cold storage warehouse and Spratt & Killen's grain store house and coal bin house.—Post.

On Sunday evening about seven o'clock the 8-year-old son of Mr. H. Bryans fell off the dam and was carried down the fish slide into the river. The outcry attracted the notice of Mr. "Sandy" Cameron, and catching sight of the lad's head Mr. Cameron threw off his overcoat and plunged in. The heavy current of cold water made his act a most dangerous and daring one. But he is an expert swimmer, and by great exertion reached the drowning lad and made his way to shore quite a distance below where he jumped in. Mr. Hugh Burke waded into the river to his neck, and helped the swimmer and his unconscious burden to shore. The lad was taken to Mr. John McLennan's residence on York street, and in a short time the doctor had him round again. Mr. Cameron was prostrated for some time after his plucky deed. He certainly deserves recognition by the new Carnegie Hero Fund trustees, and it is said that Mr. J. D. Flavelle has already written to Mr. Carnegie about the matter.—Watchman-Warder.

On Monday Supt. Begbie narrowly escaped falling from the standpipe. The cuff of his leather gauntlet caught a bolt head on the ladder well up the pipe. As a result his hold slipped and only by locking his leg around the ladder did he save himself. The leg was quite badly sprained, and the superintendent is going lame, but glad to be going at all.—Watchman-Warder.

A SCOTCHMAN'S HIGH TRIBUTE.

Rev. Mr. Kerr of the Scotch Curlers Speaks Eloquently of Canada.

Rev. Mr. Kerr, in his intensely interesting book, "Curling in Canada and the United States," again and again shows that his object in writing the book, is not simply to give an account of the trip of the Scotch curlers, but to give a fair and intelligent account of Canada in its relation to the Empire. He says some nice things of Canada and Canadians:—

At Winnipeg he expresses himself thus: "Some of the party were so delighted with Canada that they intended to return thither, and all of them would say when they got home, 'There is the country for all who desire by industry to achieve a competency, where land is plentiful and laws are liberal, where the standards of education and morality are high, and where the larger conditions of life are creating a 'Greater Scotland over the Seas.'"

Referring to the "Eloquence of Speech of our Canadian Cousins," he says, "Suffice it to say that from Halifax to Winnipeg we were treated to speeches from senators, mayors, aldermen, councillors and others that were simply masterpieces of eloquence and impressed us with the conviction that the education and training received in Canadian schools and colleges, which is the groundwork of such power of polished utterance, must be of a very high order."

STORMY MAY PROF. HICKS' PREDICTION.

The weather predictions of Prof. Fred L. Hicks for the month of April were remarkably accurate, and in the following forecast for May in Words and Works, the learned gentleman tells of some extraordinary weather conditions, which in the light of the accuracy of those for preceding months, must be believed, at any rate to a certain extent:

The storms diagrams show that a Venus period of disturbance is central on the 4th of May and that its disturbing power lasts until near the end of the month. This means that all the regular and reactionary periods, until after the middle of the month will be prolonged and intensified by the Venus influence.

Without modifying causes unknown to us, the first week in May will bring many active if not dangerous storms. The Vulcan, Mercury and Venus influences will combine to render this a danger period. The Vulcan and Mercury periods are central together on the 3rd and the Venus period is central on the 4th. About the 1st to 3rd look for change to very warm, starting to the west and spreading eastward. The barometer will fall to very low readings and from about the 3rd to the 6th violent storms will pass easterly over most parts of the country. This is a time when tornadoes are very probable making it wise to heed all indications of coming storms and taking such precautionary measures for safety as may be reasonable or practicable. Heavy downpours of rain and hail with great electrical displays will most likely attend these disturbances. Behind these storms look for high barometer, west winds and gales, and sudden change to very cool. Frosts need not surprise any in all central to northern sections of the country.

Reactionary storm conditions will return on the 8th, 9th and 10th, bringing a return of high temperature, low barometer, great humidity, and more storms of greater or less violence and danger. All through this part of May the solar focus is central along the Middle States, extending east and west and daily cycles of heavy thunder and rain storms often occur in many successive days culminating in a wide and sweeping series of storms. Such will probably result at this reactionary period lasting perhaps into the regular storm period which is central on the 11th. If a sudden high barometer develops behind the rain and thunder storms about the 10th, regions to the northward may look for frost.

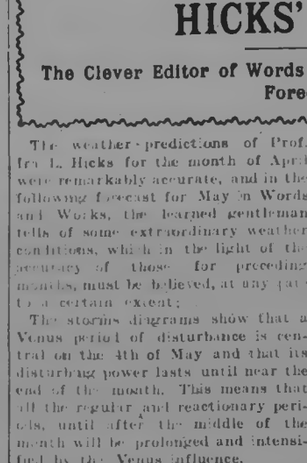
About the 14th look for change to warmer, the barometer will again fall to low readings, and another series of rain, wind and thunderstorms will take up their march eastward across the country, culminating on and touching the 14th, 15th and 16th. At this as well as other May periods, if the air is warm and humid with low and falling barometer, no gathering storm should be allowed to approach without careful watch on the situation. There is no use in trying to conceal the fact that tornadic storms are possible and probable, and a little common sense watching and planning, or the lack of such will run into matters of life or death in such critical moments.

Great and sudden revulsions from warm to unseasonably cool are characteristics of the Venus perturbations and when these Venus periods fall in the month of May the wildest electrical storms are often followed by surprising changes to cold and frost. More or less of such phenomena will be realized during all the first half of the present month.

The next return of storm conditions will be from the 20th to the 23rd. See if marked change to warmer, falling barometer and more active storms of thunder and rain do not spread progressively over the country from west to east during the days named. The crisis of these storms will fall on and touching the 22nd and 23rd. If your barometer is very low—a thing most likely at this time—accept the indication as a warning of dangerous storms and govern yourself accordingly. Another change to quite cool for the season will come with the high barometer behind these storms. See if it doesn't.

The last storm period for the month is central on the 26th, covering the 24th to 29th. This period will come in with rising temperature, the barometer will fall decidedly in all western parts by the 26th, and during the 27th, 28th and 29th, most parts of the country will be touched by active storms in their eastward sweep across the country. If by any means dry, hot, brassy weather, with earthquake and seismic disturbances should take the place of electrical storms in the early part of the month, this daily storm period may bring a daily cycle of very severe storms. No harm can come of watchfulness and reasonable safeguards against possible danger. In every probability danger and death will visit some towns and localities this month, and the sections most frequented by tornadoes are now so well defined that no town or family should be overtaken wholly by surprise, especially when it is clearly indicated by the astronomic conditions that we are passing through a tornado period.

As to the general outlook for May we believe that it will be up to or above the average in warmth. There will be much bright and pleasant weather between the periods of severe storms. Excessive Venus rainfalls with destructive hail storms in many sections may reasonably be expected though these rainfalls will be largely confined to central, western and southern states. All parts will have moisture sufficient for present needs but large areas will approach the summer period, verging on to drought conditions.



The Two Archers.

Love and Death are both depicted as archers. When Love sets his arrrow in a woman's heart and she turns and follows, seeking healing of her hurt, could there be aught sadder then that she should be led by very Love into the ambush where Death, arrow on string, waits to plant his deadly shaft in her breast? Yet so it is. Time and again Love proves to be Death's decoy. And often when the grim archer fails to inflict mortal hurt, he leaves the suffering woman to creep through life like a broken-winged bird.

Why does love lead to suffering? Many a woman has asked that question piteously and passionately. She has forsaken father and mother to cleave unto her husband in the belief that so she was achieving woman's highest happiness. But instead of happiness she has found misery, struggled with it until struggle seemed useless, and at last has come to accept her misery as the "cross" laid upon women who love and marry.

There is no real reason why almost every wife and mother should not enjoy sound health. The causes of her misery lie in diseases which affect the delicate, womanly organism. Disagreeable drains are carrying away the vital force. Inflammation has lighted its fire for slow torment. Ulceration is eating into the tender tissues. Female weakness is making life a daily martyrdom. Is it any wonder that the nerves are racked, that appetite fails, and night, which should bring rest, brings only restless and troubled dreams?

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the womanly diseases which undermine the general health. It dries the drains, puts out the fire of inflammation, heals the ulcerated tissues and cures female weakness. In a word, it makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"Favorite Prescription" is a true temperance medicine. It contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, or other narcotic.

Sick and ailing women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free of charge. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. In a little more than thirty years Dr. Pierce, assisted by his staff of nearly a score of physicians, has treated and cured over half a million women. Write, without fear or fee, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y.

HAD GIVEN UP HOPE.

"It is with feelings of sincere gratitude that I again write to you," says Mrs. Harry A. Brown, of Orono, Penobscot County, Maine, "of which to you concerning my health last Spring (I think it was in June), and you advised me to take your 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' which I did according to directions, and continued taking them for five months. I took nine bottles of 'Favorite Prescription,' six of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and four vials of Dr. Pierce's Pellets. My disease was displacement and ulceration of the uterus, and I was in a terrible condition with pain and weakness, and had given up all hope of ever being well again. Had doctored with four different doctors within four months, and instead of getting better was growing weaker all the time. I decided to try your remedies, as I had heard of the many cures resulting from their use. I bought five bottles and felt so much better after using them that I kept on until I am as well as ever in my life, and to Dr. Pierce all the praise is due.

"Before I began taking your medicine I only weighed 120 pounds. I now weigh 148 pounds. I gained forty pounds in six months. I shall doctor no more with doctors, as it is only a waste of money. No matter what my trouble is, I shall write to Dr. Pierce every time, for I am now in perfect health, thanks to Dr. Pierce."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of customs and mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper-bound book, or for cloth binding send 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Constantinople, May 2.—According to official advices, there has been serious fighting in the Sassun district of Asia Minor, between the troops and Armenian insurgents, numbering 2,000. The troops lost 90 killed and 28 wounded. Twelve villages in the Talori district have been destroyed, but whether by insurgents or Kurds is not known. There are 10,000 troops in the disturbed area. Private advices say that the Kurds attacked two villages north of Sassun, losing 26 killed.

THE INSURANCE LAW

Amendment in the Senate to Protect Policyholders.

THE PURCHASE OF THE GAUSS

Amendment to the Insurance Law Is to Enable Mutual Reserve Fund Life Company, or Other Company Similarly Situated, to Protect Its Policyholders—U. T. Pacific Gives Canadians Preference.

Ottawa, May 2.—Considerable interest is taken in the bill introduced in the Senate, with the sanction of the Dominion Superintendent of Insurance, for amending the insurance law in such a manner as to allow the Mutual Reserve Life Insurance Company, or any other corporation similarly situated, to protect its Canadian policyholders during the process of changing its mode of insurance from the assessment to the legal reserve or old-line system. The Mutual Reserve was founded on the assessment plan, which broke down in the course of years owing to the constantly growing burdens which that plan imposes on policyholders. About this time, too, differences arose amongst the head officials, and charges of various kinds were made by one of them against the rest. The company thus found itself in a bad predicament. New managers took hold, however, and the concern has now been placed on the legal reserve basis. The charges were inquired into by the insurance department of New York State, where the company was incorporated, as well as by the Attorney-General of that commonwealth, and dismissed as groundless. The Senate is interested in protecting the Canadian policyholders, who were insured on the assessment plan. Their insurance, which amounts to about $8,000,000, will be lost through their inability to pay the steadily increasing premiums unless the scheme embodied in the present bill is approved by Parliament, as it has already been by the Dominion Superintendent of Insurance. The Senate will doubtless pass the measure, in order to allow the company, which is no longer insuring on the assessment principle, to save the Canadian policyholders from disaster.

Canadians Given Preference.

An attempt has been made to show that the Grand Trunk Company are giving a preference to United States engineers in the survey parties they are sending out. It appears from inquiries made, however, that 98 per cent. of those engaged are Canadians. Of course competent Canadian engineers are not to be picked up at every crossroad, but the company say they give them the preference as far as possible.

Gauss Purchase May Be Abandoned.

The Minister of Marine has cabled to Lord Strathcona that if the conditions for the purchase of the Gauss are not complied with the $70,000 deposited to the credit of the German Government in Berlin, will be withdrawn, and Capt. Bernier and his men at Bremerhaven recalled. The negotiations for the purchase of the Gauss were made through Consul-General Bopp at Montreal. The latter understood that $5,000 of the $75,000 purchase price would be retained until it had been ascertained whether the Gauss came up to requirements.

THIS YEAR'S MAY DAY.

Toronto Has Established a Record In That It Has No Strikes to Record—Labor Trouble Elsewhere.

Toronto, May 2.—A precedent has been established in Toronto. There are no strikes to record today. The only one that threatened is still hanging fire, and doubts are still held as to the course to be taken. This uncertain union is the brewery workers.

Bread in Boston.

Boston, May 2.—A strike of more than 1,400 bakers in this city, Cambridge and Chelsea, went into effect at 6 o'clock last night. Every bakery in the three cities is affected, with the exception of the Hebrew bakeries. The men quit work at 6 o'clock and the night shifts failed to appear. The daily output of bread in Boston is from 800,000 to 850,000 loaves, and this supply will be practically cut off.

Bakers Out.

Rochester, N. Y., May 1.—Members of Bakers' Union No. 14 struck yesterday over a disagreement with their employers as to the hours of work. About 100 men went out.

Coal Miners Go Out.

Canton, Ohio, May 2.—Miners of the Tuscarawas districts, about 8,000 in number, quit work Saturday night until an agreement is reached on the scale. The trouble is over the machine rate.

Violent Speeches on May Day.

Madrid, May 2.—Ten thousand Socialists celebrated May Day with a demonstration, at which violent speeches were delivered. Afterwards a crowd numbering 20,000 persons marched with banners to the residence of Premier Maura and to the Town Hall, where they demanded an eight-hour day and protection for workmen.

Killed at a Crossing.

Chesley, May 2.—Peter Fisher, a farmer of the 12th concession of Brant township, was struck by a Grand Trunk special and instantly killed while in the act of driving across the Grand Trunk Railway crossing, near Chesley station, at 7.40 Saturday night.

Sat Five Weeks.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., May 2.—The Prince Edward Island Legislature prorogued Saturday after sitting five weeks.

Good Digestion.

If you can keep your digestive system in proper condition the body will be well nourished and you need have little fear of disease. By regulating the kidneys, liver and bowels, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills ensure a healthful condition of the organs of digestion and for thi reason are indispensable as a family medicine.

THE HEART OF TORONTO

"THE WARD," WHERE MUCH MISERY HAS MANY HOMES.

Scenes of Woe and Starvation Which Are an Everyday Part of Life in Ontario's Greatest City—Relief Officer Walsh Backs Up an Able Correspondent in Making District's Position Public.

There is a small section in the heart of this city (Toronto) that contains as much or more poverty, filth and people than is found in any other city of its size on the American continent, writes J. A. Macdonald in Toronto Sunday World. Surrounded by the halls of Government, and skirted by the best business and residential streets in Toronto exists a condition of affairs that is well calculated to make this community surrender the title of the cleanest and best managed municipality in the Dominion. This section is that part known in the olden times as St. John's parish, and now familiarly called "The Ward." It lies between College street on the north Queen street on the south, University street to the west, and Yonge street to the east. Some of the saddest stories that have been told of dire distress and woe have come from this spot. The stories told of families living in one room and in cellars, which, in the spring are filled with water and in winter with snow drifts, are not by any means conditions of the past, but can be repeated again, and are ever increasing in number.

Where Charity's Mantle Spreads.

Charity is here supplied in the greatest measure. In the last two years over 3,000 persons were looked after by the charitable institutions. The causes that bring these poor to this particular locality are varied. But it is said that but few ever return to the cleaner or more habitable parts of the city, after having once settled here. Widows, aged and poor; fallen women, to hide their shame and name from those whom they need to know; families whose head has driven them into destitution through drink; and the loss of means and work through sickness, are among the main reasons that drive these unfortunates together, There is also one more prominent reason why "the ward" is the most congested part of the city —scarcity of houses and the raising of rents.

Sink Lower and Lower.

From the statistics kept by those whose duties have brought them among this portion of the community it will be seen that instead of rising from their environments the majority invariably sink lower and lower till their moral status becomes so weakened that they seem to no longer care what befalls them. Living in this neglected and tumble down district there seems no incentive for them to rise above their conditions but on the contrary they drift more readily into habits that bring them to the alms house and make of them in their old age dependants on the city.

There are some, however, that do not want to sink to this condition, but by unfortunate circumstances they, too, are compelled to depend on charity for their existence in the latter period of their life. But with all neglect and poverty that is depicted here there is a certain part of the residents who are as thrifty and have as comfortable homes as any in the city. These latter mostly own property and only live there to watch their interests.

Disease Lurks Here.

That disease and pestilence has not spread itself over the ward and out among the rest of the citizens is something that has puzzled those in touch. The unsanitary conditions is many instances are something indescribable. Five and six families can be found living under one roof, where there is not a single connection with sewer nor water pipes. Refuse of all kinds is thrown carelessly, in the yards and streets as though there were not the slightest obligation on anyone to maintain a degree of cleanliness. Here among filth and dirt is the only playground for the children. They tumble about all day long and many have never been known to have had a bath. These cases may be among the most careless families, but they nevertheless prevail.

Make a Personal Inspection.

As examples of just what actually existed in this district, I in company with a city relief officer, visited a number of dwellings where the worst of the conditions already related were seen. Those who live their lives in the pleasant surroundings of the better parts of the city can hardly realize what can be seen here. There are few indeed who could picture anything quite so miserable and dejected. Not a thing that goes to make life happy or even bearable can be seen about these places. Nor do their inhabitants get the opportunity but rarely to go beyond the confines of broken down houses and cheerless lanes. Little do the majority of Toronto's good citizens think that while eating their wholesome and abundant dinners there are people numbered by the thousands who are more than satisfied if they can get sufficient to keep life within their weakened and neglected frames.

It was to see some of these unfortunates and witness their pitiable plight that I accompanied Relief Officer Walsh on his rounds of inspection. And in one hour enough was seen to clearly demonstrate that in Toronto are conditions that are not unlike the slums of the largest metropolises in this or any other country.

Where Poverty Is Supreme.

The first visit was to the rear of 10 Chestnut street. The only entrance was a muddy lane filled with refuse of many days standing. Close behind the dwellings that face on the street a two-storey building about thirty-five feet long and very narrow, which contains six families. No family has over two rooms. Each family is composed of more than two persons. The majority are over three. Three live in the top storey and three in the bottom. But owing to the collapse of the stairway a few days ago there are only two families now living in the upper top.

Here Mr. Macdonald gives two columns describing in detail many places much worse than that described in the above paragraph. He then proceeds:

What Relief Officer Walsh Says.

This is the slum district of Toronto. Relief Officer Walsh, in commenting upon the situation, thought that through all his travels through the large cities of the United States he has never seen anything more wretched than some of the cases that have come to his notice in the Ward. He attributes the miserable condition in the first place to the scarcity of houses of the variety that would meet the pockets of these people, and, in the second place, to the fact that little or no attention has been paid to the matter by any particular body. The charitable organizations have been the only ones who have ever made any attempt to assist these unfortunates. And the worst feature of it is, as he views it, the fact that "the Ward" is daily growing in density. What is to be done he is not prepared to say, but that something should be done and at once, for the safety of the city's health and the good of these people he is thoroughly convinced.

THE FIRST OF SPRING.

How the Reporter Felt When It Got Into His Veins.

The sun of yesterday got into the soft ground, having made to fade away the last of the snow in the low places of the cleared fields all about the city. The brooks and surface water streams still ran with great force and a muddy hue. The fall wheat gave its first yawn prior to awakening. Rain and sun may make it green to-morrow. The roads turned grey, white, then dry, where the drainage was free and the rays of the sun undisturbed. The maples that had been tapped a week ago with dry spiles gave their first sap-offering yesterday. Sparks from railway engines kindled hundreds of fires amid the dry grass along the line. One day snow, the next day ice, the next day water, and the next day dry ground, and the day after fire in the grass, spreading it in all directions. Let it burn, if it run not to buildings. Once scorched over it is safe; unscorched it is a menace.

More new arrivals in the bird brigade could be noticed in the fields and in the trees. The crow is most familiar of all the year at the breaking of spring. He perches near, on house or barn, and keeps his perch or his ground in the field when you approach. He takes great delight in having the farmer's collies chase him —the dog on the ground, the crow in the air, conveniently near enough at first to play him and at last to exasperate by the black art of his kind. The crow is, of a truth, the black art professor of the tribe of birds. Field mice seem scarce, and the deep snow that went away failed to reveal their tunnels beneath it and under the dead grass. Probably they succumbed in myriads to the inclement weather. Consequently fewer saplings and young trees girdled by them are noticed this spring. The muskrat in rivers like the Don delights these days in his first attempts to swim against the swollen current; in the same rivers where the floods submerged last Friday and again on Monday eels a foot in length were left wriggling in the holes where the water had overflowed and then fallen back to the original bed. The man or boy who proposes to fish for suckers has prepared his great pole and cross-head pieces to carry his squair-some nets. Wet feet and legs are not to be dreaded by him if he can but fill his bag, or, better still, his wagon.

But it is not the details of the first thing of spring that affects us; it is rather the feeling of it altogether that makes the tingle in our pent-up veins. It was so easy to feel the spring yesterday afternoon and evening, if you once got away from the city and its jumbling noise.—Toronto World, Monday, April 11.

Put to the Test.

A great crowd has assembled to cheer the boy prince Alexander on his arrival at Belgrade by steamer. "Why do these people make so much noise when they see me?" cried little Alexander. "Because they love you, my little son." Immediately he almost sprang out of the minister's arms, calling out: "They say you love me. Show me your love by throwing all your hats into the water." The hats were thrown.—From "Belgrade, the White City of Death."

WALKING IN CIRCLES.

Why People Lost In Fog or Forest Do Not Go Straight On.

It is a matter of common knowledge that when a man is walking blindfolded or is lost in a fog or in some unknown forest or desert instead of walking straight he has always a tendency to work round in a circle. The most commonly accepted explanation of this curious fact is the slight inequality of a man's legs. The result of one limb being longer than the other will naturally be that a person will unconsciously take a longer step with the longer limb, and consequently will trend to the right or to the left, according as the left or right is the longer, unless the tendency to deviation is corrected by the eye.

This explanation is supported by the fact that in the enormous majority of cases the human legs are proved to be of unequal length. The careful measurements of a series of skeletons showed that no less than 90 per cent had the lower limbs unequal in length; 55 per cent had the right limb longer than the left, while in 55 per cent the left leg was the longer. The left leg being, therefore, more often the longer, it is to be expected that the inclination should take place more frequently to the right than to the left, and this conclusion is quite borne out by observations made on a number of persons when walking blindfolded.

KOREAN HOUSES.

They Are Comfortable Neither In Summer Nor Winter.

The Korean style of architecture is suited to anything but an extreme climate such as prevails there. During the winter months it is very cold. The houses are made of bamboo framework, plastered within and without with adobe mud. The roof is thatched with rice straw, which is weather proof. The inside may be made into one room by the sliding back of a screenlike partition. Just why these were introduced it is impossible to say, for they are but rarely used, as privacy is never desired in Korea. This open space becomes the living room, and even when travelers are passing along and must halt for the night they are invited to share a common sleeping place on the floor with the entire family. The discomfort of such an experience is extreme during the summer. In the kitchen, which is just without the living room, there is located a most curious kind of stove. From this clay pipes extend under the floor to the living room. They warm the house summer and winter alike, for it has never entered their minds that some means could be devised whereby the heat could be turned off from the other quarters.

Betrothals In Germany.

When a maiden is betrothed in Germany she is called "bride" by her sweetheart, who addresses her thus until it becomes time to call her "wife." Immediately upon betrothal the lovers exchange rings, which, if the course of true love runs smooth, are to be worn ever afterward until death parts them. The woman wears her betrothal ring on the third finger of her left hand until she is married, and then it is transferred to the third finger of her right hand. The husband continues to wear the ring just as the wife wore hers when she was a "bride," so that one can tell easily at a glance if a man be or be not mortgaged as to his affections.

FIXES THE PACE FOR ALL.

The Clock of the McGill Observatory, Montreal, Tells the Trainsman How to Set His Watch.

The tick-tock of the big clock in Montreal's McGill Observatory, the clicking of telegraphic keys, and an electric message thrills the wires of an entire railway system, giving the standard time to each of its employes.

Not to human hands is entrusted the important work of sending out the standard time to all important railway points. The almost perfect mechanism of the McGill clock when connected with the electric current sends a message over the wires twice a day. At 10.58 every morning the Grand Trunk Railway Company is given the standard time, and about an hour later the Canadian Pacific Railway Company is supplied with the all-important information. The method of sending the message is interesting.

To illustrate, we will use the C. P. R. system. Before the hour of 11.54 comes every key is left silent, and anyone in a C.P.R. telegraph office can then hear the message. Beginning sharp on the minute, there comes a single dash every alternate second until 50 seconds have passed. Then there is a pause of ten seconds. At 11.55 the dashes start again, this time a double dash to every alternate second, lasting for 50 seconds. Another pause of ten seconds, and sharp on the stroke of 11.56 comes a quick double dash and the circuit is closed. Then the ordinary work is resumed.

During these two minutes the listeners can easily compare their watches or clocks with the standard time, and there is absolutely no excuse for inaccuracy except in cases where the timepieces are defective.

There is no time lost on the wires in sending the message. Railway men say that it goes to Fort William without being repeated, and that if the telegraphic instruments were perfect enough the message might go around the world without any appreciable loss of time. Electricity is swift now, and ere long it may be swifter.

In every station and in nearly every railway office of any importance there is a large clock, and the employes in charge of these clocks are expected to compare them daily with the standard time as received from McGill Observatory. If a clock varies more than ten seconds it is corrected, and if less than ten seconds, there is a card hung on its front, stating the exact number of seconds that it is either fast or slow.

But this is not the case with watches. These tiny timekeepers must be kept in perfect unison with standard time. All employes who have anything to do with the running of trains, train-masters, locomotive foremen, roadmasters, bridge and building masters, conductors, engineers, firemen, brakemen, train baggagemen, yardmasters, and yard foremen, must have their watches regularly examined and certified by the inspector employed by the company to be of the required standard of excellence. This certificate is supposed to be renewed every January and July. The watches of the trainmen are examined every first and third week of each month for record and comparison with standard time. The employes must not regulate their own watches or set them, unless in case they run down on account of failure to wind.

Conductors, engineers and pilots are expected before going out on a trip to compare their watches with a "comparison clock" or one of standard time. Before starting out the crew must also compare their watches. All other railway employes are supposed to regularly consult a comparison clock.

All these matters are covered by the company's rule-books, and the employes must abide by the rules.

Not only must trainmen carry watches that are in the habit of keeping good time, but their timepieces must be of a certain standard. They must have no less than 19 jewels. The requirement in this regard used to be 21. The difference does not make any difference, however, in the cost. A railway man cannot get a watch of the required excellence for less than about $25. Every watch is also supposed to be turned in for cleaning every fifteen months. The regulation and examination of his watch costs the railway man nothing. The company pays its watch experts for all that work.

One of the essentials of careful railway management is accuracy in time. Train schedules are now arranged so closely that absolute accuracy is entirely necessary. It is easily understood, therefore, why the railway companies are so particular on this point. Even a small difference of time in a trainman's watch might prove sufficient cause for a disastrous accident.

Greatest, Yet Poorest of Men.

Rev. James L. Gordon, in Bond Street Congregational Church, Toronto, on Sunday said: The world has had five great teachers—Moses, Buddha, Confucius, Mohammed and Jesus, the peerless personality of all history. The life of Jesus stretches from the lowest material realm to the highest spiritual realm, and the seven great events of that life were His incarnation, manifestation in the temple, temptation in the wilderness, transfiguration on the mount, crucifixion, resurrection and ascension. Emerson says of Christ "He was the greatest and the poorest man among the men of history." He was rocked in a borrowed cradle, and buried in a borrowed tomb. Jesus in His crucifixion deals with five great mysteries of life—the mysteries of pain, shame, sin, death and unknown eternity. Measure the tomb of Jesus by the divine rod of measurement, and you find it in its length equal to eternity, in width to the human race, and in depth to the need of the human heart, and in the dome that overarches it, a height as great as the throne of the infinite.

TUG-OF-WAR TEAM LOSES A MEMBER.

Mr. Harry Elliot, Leaves Town for Red Deer, Alta.

Was Anchorman in the Wm. Hamilton Tug of war Team—A Banquet in His Honour.

It was a pleasant little gathering that was held Saturday night in McCallum's restaurant, when the members of the Wm Hamilton Tug-of-War team met to honour in a quiet way one of the members of the team who is leaving town in a few days to take up his residence in the North-west. Mr. Harry Elliott, the stalwart anchorman of the team, and to whom the other members of the team assert, considerable of the credit for the team's last victory over the Quakers is due, was the guest of the evening, the only unpleasant feature of which was the fact that the object of the gathering was to bid farewell to one of their number. A pleasing bill of fare was provided by mine host, McCallum, to the members of the team, with their officers. Those surrounding the daintily spread tables were:—Mr. P. Kerr, the manager; Mr. Jos. Sharpe, captain; the guest of the evening, Mr. Harry Elliott; Messrs. B. Angelcey, J. Burns, F. Reynolds, Leslie Scott, Jos. Saunders, C. Watt, W Cartner, Willis Garrow, Bruce Hutchenson and Norman Whiteside.

After ample justice had been done the viands so bountifully provided, Mr. P. Kerr, who most acceptably filled the office of toast master, proposed the first toast, that to the King, and before it was honoured in true patriotic fashion Messrs. Saunders and Reynolds spoke briefly.

The next toast, that to "Our Guest," was also proposed by Mr Kerr, who in doing so paid a high tribute to the ability of Mr. Elliott, and said that he had rendered the team valuable assistance. He would be greatly missed in future contests, and the members of the team joined in wishing him future success.

Mr. Elliott replied briefly modestly disclaiming any credit for the victories achieved by the team. He was glad if he had been of any assistance to the boys for all of whom he felt a high regard. He had never expected that he would have been made the guest of such a gathering, but he appreciated fully the kindness of those who had been associated with him, and should always think of his stay here with pleasure.

The toast to "The Ladies" was proposed by Mr. Willis Garrow in a characteristically gallant speech, and Mr. Leslie Scott appropriately replied on behalf of the ladies.

The toast "The Press" was honored and responded to by Mr. M. J. Hutchinson.

Mr. Jas. Sharpe, the indefatigable captain of the team, then addressed the gathering briefly, thanking first of all the guest of the evening for the assistance he had rendered to, and his interest in, the team. It was largely due to his efforts in getting the members out to practice that the team had been victorious, and he was sure they were all sorry to see him go. In conclusion he thanked the boys for their consistent work, and hoped that they would continue practicing.

Mr. Gartner then rendered two vocal solos, which were highly appreciated, and after the toast to "Our Host" the gathering dispersed.

Mr. Elliott leaves shortly for Red Deer, Alta., where he expects to make his future home. He will be missed not only by the members of the Wm. Hamilton tug-of-war team, but also by the Young Men's Guild of St. Andrew's, of which he was a member.

PRACTICAL SERMON TO THE ODDFELLOWS.

Rev. W. J. Jolliffe Preached to a Large Turnout of Members.

Last evening the members of Peterborough Lodge, No. 111, and Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, I.O.O.F., attended Divine service at the Charlotte street Methodist church. There was a large turnout of the brethren and the church was crowded to overflowing, many being unable to gain admittance. The pastor, Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, preached an impressive sermon from the words, "But whoso hath this world's goods, and beholdeth his brother in need, and shutteth up his compassion from him, how doth the love of God abide in him?" 1 John, 3; 17.

The Independent Order of Oddfellows believed in the fatherhood of God and in the brotherhood of man, and the speaker was pleased to note this fact; it was well not to disconnect these two and when emphasizing the latter, the former should not be overlooked. We were taught to do good and not evil, especially to those of the household of God, and so the body present would do good especially to those of their own Order.

The word brother, mentioned in the text brings before us the unity of our race and with this is associated the name of Christ, the Saviour and Redeemer of our race, continued the speaker. We had different names and were connected with different churches, but we had one Master and were all brethren. The text referred to a brother in need and in connection with such, the speaker pointed out that there was a danger lest a man be valued according to his possessions and not according to his attainments; the former come to a man but the latter is what he comes to or attains by labour and by the use powers whether intellectual, moral or spiritual. We may attain much but possess little. And there were various causes for men being in need. Everyone worthy of being called a man could find some means of employment in a country such as ours if he were willing to work, but men were often laid aside through sickness and the home was shadowed because the breadwinner was the victim of ill-health and if he were not connected with some beneficient society, there was often suffering from need. Men were rendered needy, also by reverses in business, sometimes by extravigance, speculation and some seemed born to adversity. It was a great mercy, said Mr. Jolliffe, that all men were not millionaires for if so, the world would soon be a lazy one. But God did not intend all to be rich; "the poor ye have always with you," were the Saviour's words, and it is a blessing that such is the case for it is more blessed to give than to receive and by his daily toil and by the assisting of those in distress, man is ennobled and uplifted in manly strength of character. Some were in need through profligacy and their homes were rendered sorrowful through the waste of money in that which destroys all manliness and wrecks the peace of hearts and homes.

In dealing with the latter part of his text, Mr. Jolliffe said that those who refused to show compassion to a brother in need could not know the love of God for the love of God was to love one's fellowmen. "We become like God only as we became of use," said Charles Kingsley, and though our deeds in helping others may not seem very great, they are acceptable in the sight of God. It was easy for some to sympathize with those in trouble, but it was deeds not words that relieve the distressed. The speaker referred to the necessity of assisting the needy in the proper spirit and of the danger of injuring their feelings when doing them a favour. Let us not think that we are purchasing Divine favour by our good deeds for we are not saved by our works but by our faith and we should show that we possess this Divine favour while we are doing our good works. Our deeds of kindness are not accepted in place of the love of God; we must love God and to do so, no malice against our brother must be born for it is impossible to love God and hate our brother.

The Society present this evening, said the speaker, was founded in the City of Baltimore on April 26th 1819 and is consequently 85 years old in America. The speaker was pleased to note that society aimed to improve and elevate the character of its members. In the first place by the visiting of the sick which was a very effective method for developing a tender disposition; secondly, by the relieving of the distressed; thirdly, by the burying of the dead, and lastly by the educating of the orphan and by the assisting of the widow. The work done for the benefit of others was not looked upon as a burden, but rather as a joy. The principles of the Order were correct ones and the speaker hoped all the members would strictly live up to them. The various societies were aiming to spread morality and knowledge, while the church was doing this also, but her mission was to teach spirituality and to have men not only moral but Christian. In closing, the speaker impressed upon his hearers the importance of that higher fellowship with God, stating that it would make fellowship with men much sweeter and brighter for there was nothing higher, nobler or grander than true fellowship with God. "Be true, be brave, be manly" were Mr. Jolliffe's concluding words.

The music throughout the day was of an interesting nature. The morning anthem was "Great is the Lord," and during the offertory, Miss Bellegham sang, "My God, My Father, While I Stray." At the evening service the anthem was "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say" Mr. Stocker taking the baritone solo. Before the sermon, Mr. R. N. Jolliffe sang, "The Vesper Prayer," and for an offertory selection the male quartette sang in pleasing style, an arrangement of "Lead Kindly Light."

SAD DEATH OF MRS. JOSHUA CHAMBERS.

She was a woman who enjoyed the high esteem of all who knew her and her sudden death will bring sorrow to many hearts.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, lot 19, concession 16 Otonabee, to-morrow afternoon at one o'clock, and proceed to Little Lake Cemetery.

SEVERAL CASES AT THE POLICE COURT.

Man Fined for Disorderly Conduct Fred Schweier, the Bad boy, in Court.

K. Dolan failed to appear at the Police Court this morning to answer for his misdeeds in the vicinity of the City Hall on Thursday evening, but though he escaped being called upon to give his little story, he did not escape being fined the sum of $5.00 which together with the costs of Court will amount to $10.90. Dolan, T. Kearns and L. Houdry were each charged with being disorderly in a public place, but from the evidence it was shown that the former was the aggressor and the others were discharged. Dolan first attacked Houdry who was not desirous of scrapping and after the former had made a "dig" and a few "jabs" at him, as one witness put it, Houdry left the barber shop where the attack occurred. Dolan renewed his attack on the street and Kearns interfered and for this the latter was attacked later in the evening by Dolan who appears to have come off second best. The Magistrate concluded that "Jigger" as one witness called him, was the guilty party and imposed the fine to be paid in five days.

Floyd McMaster's wife claimed that he had not treated her properly and she did not desire to have him about her home. Both parties seem to be to blame for the trouble that has arisen, and though the husband was willing to have things reconciled his wife refused to have anything to do with him. Three children are living with Mrs. McMaster, who claims she can support them without the assistance of her husband. The case was enlarged for one week.

A Examiner readers will remember an article which appeared some weeks ago regarding a boy named Frederick E. Schweier, who ran away from his home and boarded a train for Port Hope, stating that his parents were dead and that he had no one to support him. Both his parents, however, are living, but seem unable to do anything with their wayward son, who is ten years of age. He was found in Smith some time ago and was taken to the Children's Shelter whence he escaped on Saturday evening. He told his troubles to Constable Finney, again saying that his parents were dead and making other fabrications. Some of the children at the Shelter, were minus some money and, though the culprit denies it, it is believed that he was the guilty party. His father was present in court and stated that he had talked to the boy about his bad conduct and punished him in addition but it was of no avail. It was suggested that the boy be spanked heartily and it was proposed that the Agent for the Society perform the operation. But the Magistrate after giving the lad a severe lecture, made him promise to return home and be a good boy, warning him that should he again make his appearance before him, the raw-hide would be administered in an effective manner.

THE PROPOSED NEW COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE

Some Strong Arguments Presented in Favour of its Immediate Erection.

A NEW COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE ENDORSED.

Rev. Father McColl Convinced of its Necessity.

Required in the Interests of Education and for the Good Name of the Town.

The Collegiate Institute bylaw is being very fully discussed, and the necessity of a new building for Collegiate Institute purposes is being more firmly impressed day by day.

In view of the importance of the question to be decided, the Examiner has taken some pains to give the public as much information and as much variety of opinion and argument as possible.

Therefore, taking advantage of the presence in our office of Rev. Father McColl, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, the reverend gentleman, in a brief interview, kindly gave his opinion on the matter. Rev. Father McColl expressed himself as heartily in favour of new Collegiate Institute buildings for several reasons. He said:

"From the citizen's point of view a new and properly equipped Institute is desirable; for a town like Peterborough cannot afford to be without it. We regard our town with pride and boast of it as one of the most progressive towns in the province. To maintain this position and reputation we must have the necessary conditions. We must keep pace with the progress of the times. We must not degenerate, as we inevitably shall do, if we do not keep our educational facilities up to a level with our other advantages. And there seems to be no good reason why we should not do so. Peterborough is certainly able to undertake the necessary expenditure. The town generally seems to be prosperous, and I know from my position on the charity Board, and as parish priest, that there is very little extreme poverty. We should certainly be financially able to undertake the needed expenditure. I am very strongly impressed with the importance of a first class Institute in the interests of our people at large. We are largely a manufacturing town, and one of the advantages in connection with our large industries is the opportunity for employment they give our citizens, and the opening they present for employment for our rising generation, so that we may retain them in town. Many of the positions are responsible and require a good education; and if we can give this education in town, the benefit is evident. Unless we can do this, the children of families of limited means are shut out from these advantages, for it is manifestly impossible that they can go out of town for this education—they can't afford it. If we have not the facilities for educating our children to fit them for filling the more important positions in our manufacturing establishments, they will have to be content with subordinate positions—to become, by comparison, mere hewers of wood and drawers of water, while outsiders will come in to take the best positions. I feel pretty strongly upon this point, for I would like to see the clever children of the people of modest means given a chance to rise in the world, which a Collegiate Institute would enable them to do, for there are very few families in this favoured town who by an effort could not accomplish it. A Collegiate Institute, is in one sense, the poor man's college. The son of the rich man can go to outside institutions of learning, but the son of the man of moderate means must get his education at home, or go without it. It is sometimes humiliating to me, as it must be to every other citizen, to read the reports of the High School Inspectors, which place our Collegiate Institute, in the matter of buildings and furnishings among the poorest in the province, instead of having it among the best, which is none too good for Peterbrough, so proper a subject of pride and boast in other respects. We shall fall behind in these respects too before long if we fail to keep up our educational standard."

"Then, Father McColl, you are in favour of the erection of a new Collegiate Institute building?"

"Yes, by all means. We need it badly—it is indispensably necessary. We must have it if we are to give our children of all classes the chance of getting a good education; we need it if we are to keep in the leading place among the towns of the province. We surely can afford to build it, and it should embrace the best and most modern improvements, the best sanitary conditions, for the health of our people is alike precious to them and to the community. The best lighting possible should be provided, and in fact a good substantial suitable Institute building should be provided. I sincerely hope the people will heartily support the bylaw on Thursday next."

GREAT ADVANTAGE TO ALL CLASSES.

A Collegiate Institute an Absolute Necessity.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Sir,—In the correspondence which has already appeared in your columns, the facts regarding the urgent need for the erection of an up-to-date Collegiate Institute building have been fully stated, but as the day for taking the vote on the bylaw is close at hand it will not be out of place again to draw attention to the more important of them.

1. The present building is not at all suitable, and has been repeatedly reported against by the High School Inspectors; it is Public School property for which the town pays an annual rental of ($1100.) eleven hundred dollars.

2. The Menzie building for which the School Board pays about ($500) five hundred dollars per annum in rent and taxes, will not be available for school purposes when the present lease expires, and even with it many of the school rooms are over crowded. If the Collegiate Institute vacated its present premises eight or nine rooms would be added to the present Public School accommodation which would be sufficient for sometime to come.

3. The sixteen hundred dollars now paid in rent and taxes would pay interest and provide a sinking fund for the payment of a large fraction of the fifty thousand dollars which it is proposed to raise for the erection of a new Collegiate Institute building.

4. The average assessment of the property holders of the town is about fourteen hundred dollars, and the taxes on this assessment for Collegiate Institute purposes would be about 77 cts. at our present rate of 18 1-2 mills, and many of our property holders would not be taxed over 35 or 40 cents per annum to provide the money which it is proposed to expend.

5. Large and small tax payers alike enjoy the educational advantages which a Collegiate Institute provides and to a very large extent the rich pay for the education of the poor. This is surely a reason why every small property holder should support the bylaw. Just the other day a man of very moderate means said to one of his friends "that if it had not been for the Peterborough Collegiate Institute his boy would never have occupied the position which he holds to-day." This is only one father among many of small means who could truthfully say the same thing.

6. We have the finest commercial town in the Province, and we are all proud of its progressive, mercantile spirit, but we are behind many of the much smaller and poorer business towns around us in educational buildings and equipment. Is it not high time we should make an effort to be ranked first class in this respect also? Nothing makes a town more attractive to energetic business men as a place in which to settle than one with first class educational advantages. We have many good business men but we have room for more. Let us provide them with a Collegiate Institute which will be a strong inducement for them to select Peterborough as a field of labour.

For the above reasons it is our duty to heartily support the Collegiate Institute bylaw to be submitted on May 5th.

Yours truly,
"ANOTHER CITIZEN."

OPENING GAME IN MIDLAND LEAGUE.

Old Country "Wanderers" and Norwood Play Tie Game.

Neither Team Could Score at Norwood on Saturday—Showing of the Wanderers Was Very Satisfactory—Other Games Scheduled Were Postponed.

The Midland Football League, the largest Association Football League in Ontario, was opened at Norwood, in a drizzly rain on Saturday afternoon, when the home team and the Old Country Wanderers of Peterborough, played a tie game, neither side being able to score. The weather conditions were not conducive to the best quality of football as rain fell constantly throughout the match, rendering the footing very uncertain, and the ball was soon heavy and slippery, and fast foot work and accurate shooting were out of the question. The game was witnessed by about one hundred spectators, who viewed the contest between the streams of water which poured from the umbrella canopy over-head. The game for so early in the season was fast and at times some brilliant work was done by both teams. For the greater portion of the game the Norwoodites did the pressing, but the O. C.W. defence was like a stonewall, and withstood every attack. Butler, between the flags, was especially fine, and his stopping of difficult shots, brought forth much favourable comment. The Norwood forward line played in fine shape but their defence was not as strong as that of the visitors, which were somewhat weak on the attacking division. The game was of a most gentlemanly nature, and the referee's task was not a difficult one.

The showing of the Wnderers came as a pleasant surprise to their supporters and their fine work was also not looked for by the Norwood team. With their regular forward line on the field, the O.C.W. team expects to win the return game here on May 21st, and in fact it will take a pretty husky bunch to trim them when they have had a week or so more practice.

The line up of the teams in Saturday's game was thus:

Mr. A. Noble of town, refereed to the entire satisfaction of both teams.

LACROSSE.

The lacrosse men, it is said, are beginning to show signs of activity, and a Trent Valley League team this summer is now a probability. That's right. We surely ought to have a lacrosse match as one of the attractions for Dominion Day.—Belleville Intelligencer.

• • • •

"Where will the Peterborough team be at this year?" is the question that many enthusiasts are asking now. Will it be a district composed of Peterborough, Lindsay, Port Hope and Oshawa?

FOOTBALL.

Only one game game was played in the Midland League Saturday, — Wanderers at Norwood. The other games scheduled, Omemee at Bethany and Keene at Harwood were postponed, and will be played later. The playing season, this year, despite the exceedingly backward spring, is several weeks ahead of last year, and the series will end on July 1st. The teams are also in better condition than they were at the opening of the season in 1903. The one game played resulted in a draw, neither team scoring.

Next Saturday all the teams in the League will be active. The games will be:—

Bridgenorth at Wanderers.
Bethany at Y. M. C. A.
Quakers at Keene.
Harwood at Caughnawaga.

The Wanderers in their game in Norwood Saturday proved that they can go some. The Norwood bunch has been famous for football for years, and that the visiting team succeeded in preventing a score, is greatly to their credit.

CANOEING.

There is a movement on foot to reorganize the Trent Valley Canoe Club which was in existence last year. The club while not a howling success financially, provided much enjoyment and real sport for its members many of whom are anxious to see the club in existence once more. Several regattas were successfully run off last season and the club outings were quite numerous. Peterborough is famous the world over as a canoe manufacturing centre, and it seems only appropriate that there should be a canoe club in town with such fine advantages as the Little Lake and Otonabee River provide. Last year's experience should prove invaluable to those who may have charge of the Club's affairs this year, and there is no reason why the club should not be a success financially and in every other way. If such a club is to be reorganized, steps should be taken along that line as soon as possible, for if the present mild weather continues it will not be long beforre the canoeist will be seen with his paddle and canoe enjoying the favourite summer sport.

BASEBALL.

Saturday afternoon the Examiner sanctum was invaded by a band of juvenile baseball enthusiasts, who surrounded the sporting editor's chair, and demanded a hearing. Some of the band carried clubs, others mitts, and other baseball accessories, and said they represented the North Ward School team, and had just worsted the George street School to the tune of 23—22. The spokesmen (for their were several talking at once,) hurled charges thick and fast against their opponents whom they accused of purloining everything in sight, bats, balls, base hits, home runs, and their pitcher's combination. They also accused the official scorer of "stuffing the score card," in fact their indignation was proclaimed at such a high pitch of voice, a listener would almost imagine the fate of a nation hung in the balance.

An important meeting of the T.A.S. Baseball Club will be held to-night, when the proposal to enter a team in the newly organized Kawartha League, will be considered. A full attendance of all members is requested.

West Ward—E G Patterson, P L Johnson.

THE JAPANESE WOMEN

THE HOME, NOT PUBLIC LIFE, THEIR SPHERE OF INFLUENCE.

Their First Duty to Get Married, the Second to Serve Their Husbands and Mothers-in-law Daily Life in a Japanese Household—Pretty Accomplishments of the Celebrated Geisha Girls.

The Mikado of Japan has never had to utter the plaint of western civilization concerning race suicide, for marriage and the rearing of children are the first duty of all his subjects, a duty owed not only to the State, but to the family. Nothing is more sacred to the Japanese than the family name, and he who suffers its extinction without the weightiest reasons is regarded as having committed an inexcusable crime against his ancestors. If there is no male child the oldest girl inherits the name and passes it on to her children, while those unfortunates who are childless must adopt a son or daughter lest their honorable name die with them.

From her earliest days the Japanese girl is taught that marriage is her lot and is impressed with the idea that the home of her parents is only a temporary home for her unless she has no brothers, in which case she must marry and bring a husband home. To remain unmarried is a lasting disgrace. As in all eastern countries, the selection of a husband belongs more to a girl's parents than to herself. Her marriage is of too much consequence to her family to be left to her inexperienced and probably romantic mind. As soon as she becomes of marriageable age, seventeen or eighteen, her parents begin to look for a son-in-law. Doubtless her mother has been planning her daughter's marriage since her very birth, but the custom of betrothing babies has practically died out.

When the parents have selected a desirable party from among the young men who have presented themselves through relatives and friends the girl is consulted. Here she has considerable freedom, for the Japanese girl is not usually forced to wed against her will. However, she seldom fails to affirm her parents' decision. Then the parents of the young man are notified, and a meeting between the future bride and groom is arranged. If they are satisfied with each other after this brief acquaintance the negotiations are formally ratified, and preparations for the wedding are begun. Presents are exchanged and sometimes engagement rings.

When the wedding day comes the house of the bridegroom is elaborately decorated, images of gods and patron saints are suspended before the domestic altar, surrounded by things emblematic of family life, and at sunset a splendid procession, led by the "nakoda," or master of ceremonies, enters, the bride attired in white, attended by two bridesmaids and followed by a crowd of relatives and friends. Save in certain Buddhist sects no priest takes part in the wedding. The drinking of the "sakoda" (three cups of rice spirit) with certain impressive formalities ties the knot. Then comes the wedding feast and three days later the bride's "return visit" to her former home, after which the young persons settle down. There is no honeymoon or wedding journey.

HOW JAPANESE WOMEN SLEEP.

Once married, the girl's whole duty is to her husband and to her mother-in-law, if she has one. The mother-in-law is no joke in Japan. The wife must wait upon her husband constantly and obey his every command without complaint, whether her service is rewarded with kindness or cruelty.

The demands of social etiquette take up much of the Japanese woman's time and dressing more, though the necessity of arranging the elaborate headdress daily is avoided by sleeping on a sort of neck rest, which does not disturb the hair. The hair is dressed only once a week.

Then there is the geisha, or professional girl entertainer of Japan. She is trained in the arts of dancing and signing in schools especially established for that purpose. After the girl has become a proficient dancer she receives a salary according to her popularity. She is, in fact, an actress, the word "geisha" meaning what actor does in English.

The geishas, however, are not only dancers and singers. It is necessary that they play several musical instruments, so that when a party of them is engaged half of them provide the music while the other half dance. The samisen, koto and drum are the instruments most commonly played by the geishas.

When a Japanese desires to arrange some social entertainment the amusement of the occasion is furnished by the dancing girls. Generally these affairs are held in tea houses, and it is customary to engage certain geishas, who are known by what would be called in this country their stage names. These are names of flowers, gems, seasons or indeed anything of great beauty or attractiveness. Such names are O Kiku San, which means the Hon. Miss Chrysanthemum, or O Tama San, which is the Hon. Miss Jewel, or Maru San, the Hon. Miss Spring. The "O," which means "honorable," is used only before words of one or two syllables. Miss Camellia, for instance, would be Tsubaki San.

These girls are possessed of wonderful charm and play havoc with the hearts of the young men. Many of them marry distinguished men, and the wives of some of the most prominent men in Japan to-day were geishas.

The geishas make a pretty show in the gay life of the cities, as they are trained to bear themselves with grace and decorum, and they dress in exquisite style. They may be seen in the principal boxes at theatres and at all public places, but they have no social rank.

ENGLISH RED TAPE.

Censure For an Officer Who Saved Money For the War Office.

A zealous young officer in South Africa who had a knowledge and love of farming made his men collect oats which fell lavishly by the wayside as column after column carrying out hay passed up country. He plowed some land, sowed his oats and eventually reaped his harvest. This harvest, which was a heavy one, saved the country at least £2,000. But when his accounts were sent home the officials at the war office could not understand how they had come by something for nothing. Such a thing had never happened before. They impugned his motives and accounts, and the least of the charges brought against him in a long correspondence was that he had looted the oats. Months passed, and still the young officer had not been able to convince the war office that he was honest. Then a well known general intervened and testified that he himself had watched the experiment in farming by which the country had been saved a considerable sum of money. At last the war office ended the correspondence. Nothing that had been insinuated was withdrawn, although nothing was pressed further. The officer is left with the correspondence on his hands, and any one reading it could not hesitate to pronounce it as being in effect a severe censure.—Manchester Guardian.

THE QUEER MOROS.

Some of the Peculiarities of This Left Handed People.

To judge Moros by inflexible occidental standards of motives and morals is to lose at once the key to the situation. The very structure of their language differentiates them from ourselves. Verbs are in the passive voice. The man who was slashed and killed provoked the trouble. The under dog in the fight is always the aggressor. The thief is not blamed for "finding" things lying about at loose ends; the man who lost the property is the real criminal—besides, he is a fool. If he were a sensible man he would have exercised vigilance against the approach of the thief. Moros reverse everything. Like all orientals, they venerate the past and their folklore; myths and legends abound in tales not unlike those of the "Arabian Nights' Entertainment."

They turn to the left of the road, extend the left hand naturally in greeting, and the scribes write from right to left, turning the paper sidewise, as any left handed man would do.

A witty officer explained that the preference for the left was due to the desire to keep the right hand free in the event a stranger should need something done to him. The "explanation" may not be far from the truth.—Chaplain C. C. Bateman in Journal of the Military Service Institution.

Butter as Medicine.

Butter is so common a commodity that people use it and scarcely ever think what wonderful value lies at their hands in the pats of dainty yellow cream fat. But this delicate fat is as valuable as the dearer cod liver oil for the weakly, thin people, and doctors have frequently recommended the eating of many thin slices of bread thickly spread with butter as a means of pleasantly taking into the bodily tissues one of the purest forms of fat it is possible to get. Butter is a carbon, and all excess of it is stored up as fat in the body. It gives energy and power to work to those who eat heartily of it; so it is not economy at table to spare the butter even to the healthy folk.

Finger Nails and Disease.

It is interesting to watch the history of a case of disease as recorded upon the finger nails. When we look at the patient's nails, we see on each of them a distinct ridge, showing that the portion of the nail which has grown since the acute attack is much thinned out. If a person has broken his arm within eighteen months, the ridges on the nails of the hand of the affected arm may be seen, while they will be absent on the other hand. The more acute the illness the sharper will be the ridge. Extreme anxiety and mental depression have the same effect on the nails as physical disease.

The Friendship of Youth.

Two boys brought up together sometimes remain fast friends for life, but not so commonly as one might suppose. "I thought you had a little friend with you today, Tommy," said a lady to a child who was walking about alone and disconsolate. "I have a little friend, but I hate him!" was the reply. And the words contain a whole essayful of comment upon the value of friendship founded solely upon propinquity.—London Spectator.

His Excuse.

"How dare you, sir!" exclaimed the indignant girl.

"I couldn't help it, Maud," pleaded the now penitent young man. "You were so maddeningly kissable!"

Still, it was fully ten seconds before she quite forgave him.

Connubial Bliss.

Brother—I trust that you are happy with your husband, Maud? Maud—Oh, yes, as happy as one can expect to be with a man who is talking of himself half the time and of his first wife the other half.

His Impression.

"Of course you believe that polygamy is wrong," said the man who was discussing the Mormon question.

"My dear sir," answered Mr. Meekton, "it is not only wrong. It's foolhardy."

Thimbles.

A soreness in what is called the thimble finger and even serious inflammation are sometimes caused by the use of cheap thimbles. These thimbles, which are composed of lead or something equally injurious, may be tempting by reason of their low price, but they are not safe. Silver thimbles are the best, but for those to whom they prove too expensive nothing is better than thimbles of highly burnished steel. By a person who gains her living with her needle a steel thimble is always liked, for it will outlast two or three of the more expensive silver ones.

Agate Ware.

To clean agate ware put the ware on the stove filled with water, and into the water put a tablespoonful of salsoda (washing soda), and then after awhile use a scouring soap, and you will be pleased with the result; also put your bean pot on the stove and a good generous tablespoonful of soda, and it will wash as easily as a cup. A little soda put in your greasy baking pans and keeping them warm while washing your other dishes will help along that most disagreeable task.

SEQUEL OF A ROMANCE.

How Buffalo Bill Met the Wife He Now Wishes to Divorce.

The announcement that Colonel William F. Cody, known the world over as "Buffalo Bill," has sued his wife for divorce marks the unhappy ending of a wartime romance.

In 1860 Colonel Cody, at the head of a party of scouts, rescued a St. Louis schoolgirl from a crowd of insulting youths in that city. Three months later she became his bride. During their wedded life five children have been born to them, but only one, a daughter, survives.

WILLIAM F. CODY (BUFFALO BILL).

Mrs. Cody, although sixty-one—three years her husband's senior—is still a fine-looking woman. Their land holdings at North Platte, Neb., amount to 3,000 acres, 2,000 of which are in Mrs. Cody's name. She also owns a fine residence in the city of North Platte.

Muscles in Tension.

The Revue Scientifique has been asking what muscles tire soonest, with the conclusion that it is not the muscles in use, but those under tension, although doing no work. The writer urges us to use the arms and legs less and the back and neck more, for on them comes the greatest strain. He has been asking men of all occupations the same questions:

When you have worked much, where do you feel tired?

Before you were trained, did fatigue show itself in the same regions?

All the answers point to the same conclusions. The baker who kneads dough all night complains of fatigue in his legs.

The blacksmith is tired, not in his arms and shoulders, but in his back and loins.

The young soldier, after a march, is especially tired in the back of the neck, even if he has carried no knapsack.

The oarsman who is in perfect training, after prolonged exercise gets tired in his calves and insteps.

These facts point to the conclusion that in any continued effort we should try to alter the habit of contraction. That is to say, the body, like the mind, needs change of work.

Weeping Trees.

The weeping tree of the Canary Islands is one of the wonders of plant life. It is of the laurel family, and rains down a copious shower of water drops from its tufted foliage. This water is often collected at the foot of the tree and forms a kind of pond, from which the inhabitants of the neighborhood can supply themselves with a beverage that is absolutely fresh and pure. The water comes out of the tree itself through innumerable little pores situated at the margin of the leaves.

Fortify Against The Ills of Spring

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Every person is more or less weakened and debilitated by the artificial life of winter, and few escape the depressing ills of spring. In the winter the blood gets thin and watery. It lacks the richness and vitality necessary to rebuild the tissues wasted by over-exertion and disease. The system is so weakened and enfeebled as to invite the germs of infection.

It is an easy matter to keep well and to keep the blood pure and rich by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. That "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" is well known, and this applies especially to disease of the blood and nerves. If the gums, lips and eyelids grow pale, the appetite poor and digestion imperfect you recognize that the blood is getting thin and watery in quality. Such blood cannot support and sustain the nervous system, and there is found to follow sleeplessness, irritability, irregularities and severe nervous exhaustion.

Nine out of ten persons require just such a tonic as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food at this season of the year to enrich and purify the blood. It is not one day too soon to fortify against the ills of spring. You may as well keep well this spring and avoid the debility and weakness that seems to follow the change of temperature.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, six boxes for $2.50, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 7

MALLORY'S READINESS

By Bertha Trevelyan

...Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure...

If it usually happened that Mallory got what he wanted in the world, it was by no means due to chance. When he wanted anything he began by looking the field over carefully, noting all the salient points—the advantages and the disadvantages. Then with his feet up and a cigar between his lips he would consider all available methods of securing the thing desired.

Having finally arrived at a decision as to the best course of action to pursue, he pursued it with an energy and a single mindedness that were open to no discouragement, admitted no defeat. And the result was that, as life goes, Mallory was accounted lucky.

He was a handsome, vigorous man of fifty when, business affairs making it necessary for him to spend a number of months in New York, a letter of introduction secured him the very delightful privilege of rooms with the Fosters, whose story of waning fortunes he had heard from the friend who sent him to them. The ominous length of his upper lip was hidden under a short gray mustache, or Miss Foster would have known from the first that it was useless to oppose him once his mind was set upon anything.

The romance of his youth was a beautiful memory, a thing as faint and elusive as the scent of lavender. But he had been loyal to it for twenty years, having been left at thirty a widower with two children. As he sat in the great dim drawing room where everything was eloquent of other days he noticed several things—touches unusual in stiff city drawing rooms, but which made for homeliness. He sighed with a sudden wistfulness altogether out of keeping with his height, breadth and floridness.

In the midst of his reverie Miss Foster appeared, her delicate slightness heightened by the massive doorway in which she stood framed for a moment. As she rose to greet her he wondered idly what could have given her that harassed look, this little woman with the oval face and the piled up hair. Her smile, he thought, was oddly shy and girlish, and in a few minutes they were talking with the ease of old acquaintance.

With a businesslike air that sat amusingly on her she showed him the rooms that she and her mother rented to eke out their small and uncertain income, and the next day found him installed in them.

Often during the following months he would spend an hour with the mother and daughter, noting with hidden amusement the latter's unnatural little air of elderliness. She would forget and laugh and chat gayly at times; then, in a moment, she seemed to remember that she was no longer young, and she became in a trice the prosaic, careworn woman again, drawing her mantle of years ungraciously about her. It was as if she had determined not to be surprised by old age and so had rushed out to meet it.

Her references to herself were slighting always, as if to one to whom nothing but the dregs of life were left, whom romance could not possibly touch, whose role was one of duty untouched by grace.

At first Mallory took her at her own estimate, concluding that she was about his own age. Then one night she appeared in a gown of filmy violet, with her brown hair rising in a swirl above her face, and he looked at her with puzzled but admiring wonder. She turned her head, and the surprise of her profile fairly made him start. It was singularly delicate and youthful, with a small high bred nose and full lipped mouth.

His speculative glance now told him that she could not be more than forty, if she were that. But by the way in which she was always putting forward the young girls of her acquaintance it was evident that she thought herself too old a woman to be of interest to any man.

"She belongs to the old regime," Mallory soliloquized, "and has probably considered herself an old lady ever since she emerged from her teens. She hasn't been able to assimilate this bachelor woman idea." And he smiled to himself.

"By the way, Miss Marion," he said nonchalantly, "I have tickets for the opera tomorrow night. Be good and come too."

There was a flash of surprise in her face that for one brief, fleeting moment said frankly that he must have taken leave of his senses. Then courtesy prevailed, and after hesitating for an appreciable moment, in which it was apparent that she was casting about in her mind for some plausible excuse, she accepted.

When the time arrived she was disturbed by an uncomfortable consciousness. She had the air of a person who felt that she was going to be a subject of quickly exchanged glances and half laughing comment. All this Mallory divined, and he put forth every effort to make her forget herself to such good purpose that by the end of the evening she was laughing and chatting as unconcernedly as if Mrs. Grundy did not exist.

With this excellent beginning things went smoothly for awhile. Walks, drives and theaters followed, and apparently Miss Foster's fear of appearing "kittenish" slumbered. To Mallory each hour spent in her society made him long for more. She was so deliciously contradictory.

Then of a sudden all the old prim restraint returned to her manner. Three consecutive invitations were refused with excuses so flimsy that even the most obtuse person must have seen through them.

As before, he divined the meaning of it all—some idle word that had aroused all her dormant sensitiveness, and she was writhing under it. She doubtless imagined that people were saying that that old maid, Marion Foster, was trying to catch Mr. Mallory, and her manner was her fierce, wordless refutation of it. The lines of care were deepening in her face day by day, and his heart ached for her.

"I want to speak to you, Miss Foster," he said in a determined way as she was about to pass him in the hall one day with her usual brief greeting.

"Certainly," she replied somewhat uncomfortably, and they sat down in the quiet drawing room together.

"Something is bothering you," he began, fixing his glance searchingly upon her. "Come now, be frank. If there is any way in which I can be of service to you tell me."

"It's nothing," she protested hastily, "or, at least, nothing much." Then with an attempt at lightness she added, "Women who have neither fathers nor brothers to look out for them often have to worry, you know."

Another sort of woman might have added "husbands," but to Miss Foster, whose consciousness upon the subjects of love and matrimony was as shrinking as that of a young girl, such a remark would have been impossible. Even in that moment Mallory chuckled to himself, yet would have liked to take her in his arms and put himself between her and the world forever.

"Marry me," he said softly. "Give me the right to take care of you. I shall count it a great happiness."

Her face went scarlet.

"Such a subject seems scarcely the proper one for jest," she retorted with dignity. "If you will excuse me, I have duties to attend to," and she rose to leave him.

"One moment."

His voice rang a trifle sharp and clear with command. The Mallory who achieved what he wanted in life was speaking. Miss Foster seemed to feel this, and she sat down again as obediently as a child, though he could see that her hands were quivering nervously.

"You have misunderstood me," he said in a calm, decided voice which somehow thrilled her with the certainty that he would bend her to his will.

"I have no intention of indulging in the sentimental talk of a man of twenty-five," he went on, taking one of her slim hands in his and looking at her a bit quizzically. "Love, of course, is a matter of years. A man and woman of fifty would only be ridiculous if they essayed to speak that language."

"But I'm only thirty-nine!" she exclaimed, surprised into protest.

Mallory could have roared with laughter at the innocent "only." As he had supposed, then it was not that she really thought herself outside the pale; it was only as one sensitively afraid that she ought to think so. He could not entirely banish the teasing smile from his eyes, and she felt vaguely that she had walked into the trap he had set for her.

"But of course it's absurd for you to say such things to a woman of my age—and for me to listen," she continued courageously, though Mallory noticed that she no longer made as if to leave him.

"My dear Miss Foster," he said persuasively, "we won't talk of that phase of the matter at all. I should not be saying this to you if I had not a very deep regard for you, and you, I fancy, would not be listening."

There was a little incoherent murmur which he took for assent. Then he continued with an anxious air.

"But there is an ethical side to the matter that persons of our age should consider. You would be doing a beautiful act if you would take my children and me in hand, and I could make things so much easier for you and your mother."

"That will bring her," he exulted to himself.

"But I thought your children were grown?"

"They're over twenty," he admitted boldly, "but that is the very age at which young people most need the controlling influence of home."

He could see that she was awakening, and he wisely refrained from further persuasion, murmuring only, "We need you, dear."

• • • • • • • •

On the steps of her new home as the carriage dashed up the drive she noticed that a small group awaited them. A moment later she was clasped in a bear hug by a bright faced girl who said, "My dear little new mother," so warmly that she loved her on the spot as well as the manly youth who laughingly took her next, pleading "Me too."

"And this is my husband, Ralph," the girl explained as another young man stepped forward. "And this, Janet, Harry's wife."

Then a nurse moved forward into the circle, holding a bulky armful.

"And this, mother," continued the girl proudly, "is your little granddaughter."

So these were the "children" who needed her.

The second Mrs. Mallory swept the group with an eye that sought her perfidious husband. He had disappeared. Then she buried her convulsed face in the soft, sweet smelling bundle containing her new grandchild to smother her laughter.

HER PRECIOUS SPOONS.

She Used Them For Show at Luncheon With Disastrous Results.

Considerable quiet laughter has been going on among the guests at a luncheon given by a young West Philadelphia bride the other day to the attendants at her wedding. There had been among the hostess' presents at the time of her marriage a particularly beautiful set of spoons, and, while she had no occasion to use them at this particular luncheon, she thought that she would put one beside each cover for—well, just for instance.

Unfortunately, however, there was one stranger in the merry little company which sat down about the table, a pretty, outspoken, somewhat "gushy" young woman from the west, and it was she who caused all the trouble.

As the luncheon neared its end and it became apparent that the spoons were not for use she kept eying the one at her place, and finally she burst forth with this flash of inspiration:

"These spoons—what perfectly lovely souvenirs!"

The chorus of praise was immediately taken up by all about the board. The confused hostess found explanation impossible, and every guest went away from the house with one of those precious spoons.

GOING SCOT FREE.

The Source From Which This Old Saying Emanated.

The origin of the old saying, "Going scot free," is this: Scot, from the Anglo-Saxon "sceot," a portion, signified in old law a customary tax or contribution laid on subjects according to their ability and embraced all parochial assessments. The conclusion is obvious—namely, that to escape "scot free" was to avoid all such payments of dues and taxes.

Before the reform act the right to vote for parliamentary and municipal officers was vested exclusively in payers of "scot and lot." Rastall (1538) speaks of it as a certain tallage for the use of the sheriff or his bailiff, and in Kent the usual rates paid in Romney marsh for repairing sea walls are known by the same name.

"Scot," says Camden, "is that which from various sources is gathered into one heap"—literally that which is "shot" into a general fund, from the Dutch and low German "schot." This may have come to us through the old French "escot," diner a escot, to dine at an ordinary where each guest paid his "shot," and any one who did not contribute would be said to get off "scot free."—London Answers.

Drawing Two Things at Once.

At an evening party it was remarked that nobody could draw two things at once. Sir Edward Landseer, who was present, replied that he thought he could, and, taking a pencil in each hand, he drew simultaneously and without hesitation with the right hand the profile of a stag's head and all its antlers complete and with the left hand a lovely horse's head. The acts of draftsmanship were strictly simultaneous and not alternate, and the drawing by the left hand was as good as that by the right.

Von Bulow's Advice to a Girl.

It is to Dr. von Bulow that is debited the curt criticism of a young and very pretty girl's effort on the pianoforte. When she had struggled through one of Bach's fugues after the fashion of the ambitious maiden aspirant and asked the great master what he would advise her to do, "Go and get married," he answered as he turned away and left her.

SCOTLAND'S CROWN.

The Precious Relic Still Kept in the Castle of Edinburgh.

A once precious diadem, which is now only a historic relic of much interest, is the ancient crown of the Scotch kings kept in the castle of Edinburgh. It is supposed to have been made for Robert Bruce and is formed of two circles of gold, the upper and narrowest circle being surmounted by a row of crosses and gem incrusted imitation flowers. The lower ring, the headband proper, is adorned from end to end of the golden band with large precious stones of different kinds, mostly in their rough, unpolished state. Above rise two arches of gold, which unite and are surmounted with the historic "cross and ball." Even when the Stuarts became kings of England they went to the trouble of going to Scotland to seat themselves for a few moments upon the celebrated "stone of scone" and to have King Bruce's diadem pressed upon their royal heads.

Charles I. declared his intention of removing Scotland's famous relic to London so that such ceremonies could be carried out at home, but the sturdy Scots soon convinced him that such a proceeding would be an infringement upon their rights, so the king had to go to Edinburgh, as others had done before. The wife of a preacher of the name of Granger once stole the Scotch crown and the other royal insignia, this in 1652 or 1653. At the time of the restoration they were transferred to Charles II. They were returned to Edinburgh castle in 1707.

WILD DOGS OF ASIA.

Fierce Animals That Pursue and Kill Bears and Tigers.

The quality of courage possessed by hunting dogs of Asia appears in a marked difference of habit from that noticeable in all other carnivorous beasts. As a rule, each ferocious animal has its natural and favorite prey, which may vary in different localities, but is in each case the easiest and most profitable victim. Tigers, for instance, are cattle slayers or deer killers just as cattle or deer happen to be most abundant in their district.

Leopards prey on goats, sheep and, when they can get them, on tame dogs; wolves on sheep and cattle, stoats or rabbits and hares, and weasels on rats and mice. But, though the jungles which they visit abound in defenseless animals, the wild dog does not limit his attacks to these. The packs deliberately pursue and destroy both the black and Himalayan bears and the tigers, affording perhaps the only instance in which one carnivorous species deliberately sets itself to hunt down and destroy another. From their rarity, the uninhabited nature of the jungles which they haunt and their habit of hunting at night—which a probable suggestion makes the basis of the early legends of the demon hunter and "hellequin" at a time when the "red dogs" still remained in Europe—observations of their habits are rare.—London Spectator.

The despised left hand makes good its claims in many cases to be the defter of the two. The fingers that touch and adjust with such nicety the strings of the violin are surely as cunning as those that move the bow. The hand that guides the reins and steers with exactness the horse through the crowded streets is quite as cunning as, one might say much more than, the hand that wields the whip. But great is fashion; unanswerable is theory.

It would appear that as life becomes more and more complex we are becoming more and more specialized, and the difference between our limits is encouraged rather than hindered by every screw made in Birmingham and every slap administered to the offending fingers that would dare to shake hands incorrectly.—Chambers' Journal.

He says: "I have been ailing for about a year from deranged nerves, and very often weak spells would come over me and be so bad that I sometimes thought I would be unable to survive them. I have been treated by doctors and have taken numerous preparations but none of them helped me in the least. I finally got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Before taking them I did not feel able to do any work, but now I can work as well as ever, thanks to one box of your pills. JUMPING UP

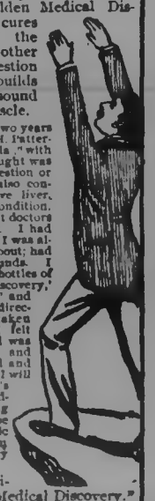
Is a great deal harder than jumping down. And yet people who have been for years running down in health expect to jump back at once. It takes years generally to make a man a confirmed dyspeptic, and he cannot expect to be cured in a few days.

There is no quicker means of cure for dyspepsia or other forms of stomach trouble than by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition and builds up the body with sound flesh and solid muscle.



"I was taken sick two years ago," writes Rev. W. H. Patterson, of White Cloud, Ala., "with what the doctors thought was gastric trouble, indigestion or nervous dyspepsia, also constipation and ligactive liver. I was in a dreadful condition. Tried several different doctors with but little result. I had gotten so feeble that I was almost just traveling about; had got down to 114 pounds. I went and bought six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and got the 'Pellets' and began following directions. When I had taken about five bottles I felt very much better and was greatly improved, and weighed one hundred and thirty-eight pounds. I will say that Dr. Pierce's medicines are a God-send to poor suffering humanity, and I advise my and all chronic sufferers to give them a fair trial and they will be satisfied."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure biliousness and sick headache.

NOW IS THE TIME.

Take Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil now. Not next week or next month, but now. You need it to put fat on your bones and strength in your body to stand the cold and trying weather of the next few months.

Nine-tenths of the population would be benefited by taking Scott's Emulsion regularly three times a day for a month or more every fall to fortify and strengthen the system against the cold and constant changes that occur through the winter. The benefit is particularly marked with young, delicate children. No food that they can take begins to compare with Scott's Emulsion.

Pure cod liver oil is scarce but if you get Scott's Emulsion you'll be sure to get only the purest and best oil.

NEW ASSISTANT AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Mr. T. H. Hutchinson Will Take Charge of Physical Work.

Mr. T. H. Hutchinson, of the Canadian Y.M.C.A. Training School, arrived in town on Saturday evening and for the summer will have charge of the physical department and generally assist in the other work at the Y.M.C.A.

Mr. Hutchinson was a former member of the Sault Ste. Marie Association, of which Mr. H. A. Pearson, so well and favorably known in town, was the secretary.

Mr. Hutchinson comes to the local association with the highest of recommendations, and will doubtless make himself popular with the members of the Association and the young men of the town.

The directors are now negotiating for a new physical director, who will not be here until September.

MEN'S HATS IN KOREA.

The Reason They Are Wide Brimmed, High and Fragile.

In a lecture on Korea, Burton Holmes, speaking of the men's hats, said:

"Though Korea and especially Seoul has many foreigners and the people have become accustomed to strangers, they adhere closely to their curious costumes, the hat being the most impressive part of the garb. The Korean gentleman never removes his hat in the presence of company, either in the house or outside. The hat must be worn constantly during waking hours.

"The hat consists of a wide brim and a crown high enough to contain the topknot. The hats are made of many materials and vary in price from $2 to $40. Their form dates back to a time, centuries ago, when a king who was fearful of plots and conspiracies devised the head wear as a protection against his noble enemies. If men could not get their heads together, he argued, they could not engage in a conspiracy, so he issued an edict compelling his courtiers to wear hats with gigantic brims. Then in order to prevent fighting on the street he ordered that these hats be made of a thin porcelain. In case of a fight the hat would certainly be broken. This would necessitate explanations from the nobleman, and street rows were thereby ended.

"Though the hats are no longer made of porcelain, they are sufficiently fragile to be broken if the wearers engage in any violent demonstrations."

ANIMAL LANGUAGE.

Sounds and Gestures That Take the Place of Speech.

A sound or gesture made by an animal under any mental or emotional impression and calling out a similar one in another animal is an element of language. When the rabbit quickly beats the ground, its fellow rabbits know that there is danger somewhere, and they take action accordingly. That is rabbit language. When the hunter imitates the rabbit and thus conveys the same ideas, he is "speaking" the rabbit language for the time being. Many animals use signs, which of course are understood through the eyes. The ants converse by touching antennæ and feet. Many insects rub the elytra. This is animal language in its simplest form. It expresses but few ideas. But there are animals which are capable of modulating their "voices."

Even the common rabbits, which seem to be mute, are constantly making sounds, which a little observation will soon discover to be ever changing in volume, modulation, etc. Much of this method of communication changes when the animal is brought into civilization from the wild state. The wild dog, for instance, barks very little when in freedom. How the household dog barks and is able to express himself is well known.

The Sugar Beet Company are trying hard to win out. O'Brien, the cigar dealer, is trying very hard to win the approval of smokers for his A1 Cigars Cigarettes and Tobaccos.

DEATH OF MR. JAMES MASSIE

Toronto, May 2.—James Massie, registrar of East and West York, died at his residence, 68 West Bloor street about 1 o'clock Sunday morning after an illness of a day and a half. He was stricken on Friday evening about 7 o'clock with uremic convulsions and was found unconscious by members of the household. Though he partially recovered consciousness he lingered in a critical condition until death ensued.

In the death of James Massie Toronto loses one of the most upright and respected citizens. He was connected with many charitable institutions, his activity in religious and benevolent work being such as to cause sincere regret that one so useful to his fellows should be suddenly removed. James Massie was born in Aberdeenshire, Scotland, 71 years ago, and removed to Canada with his parents in 1852, being then in his 19th year. He settled in Guelph, where for years he carried on business as a wholesale grocer and biscuit manufacturer. Twice he served the citizens of Guelph as mayor, and in 1876 was elected a member of the Legislature for the riding of South Wellington. Subsequently he was appointed registrar of Wellington, and in October, 1880, was appointed warden of the Central Prison, succeeding the late Captain Prince. This office he held until January, 1896, when he was appointed registrar of East and West York.

It was in the discharge of his duties as warden of the Central Prison that his splendid powers of organization were manifested. Under him most of the industries within that institution were inaugurated. Being a skilled mechanic he invented a bed which is in use in the Sick Children's Hospital and other institutions of the kind, and the bed industry was one of those he established at the prison. He also inaugurated the broom factory, the binder twine factory, the woollen mill, the woodenware department and the green houses which have proven to be a source of considerable income to the province.

Deceased was connected with numerous charitable institutions, being treasurer of the Associated Charities, a trustee of the Prisoners' Aid Society, and a member of the boards of the Children's Aid Society and the House of Industry. He took a lively interest in these and other movements for the amelioration of the condition of society. He was also treasurer of the Caledonia Society and a member of St. Andrew's Society. Since coming to Toronto he has been connected with new St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. His widow and four children survive. The interment will take place at Guelph on Tuesday.

Shaw Beats Richardson.

Toronto, May 2.—Saturday John Shaw, ex-Mayor, beat F. H. Richardson for the controllership consequent upon the latter's resignation owing to the recent ballot box scandals. Mr. Shaw received 7,498 votes, and Mr. Richardson 2,506, giving Mr. Shaw a majority of 4,992.

Mr. Richardson appealed to the electors of Toronto to pass judgment on his connection with the municipal election frauds. The answer of the people is one of want of confidence in Mr. Richardson.

Eggs, Butter and Cheese.

During the fiscal year 1903 we imported from the United States for consumption in Canada 505,113 lbs. of butter, 179,479 lbs. of cheese and 534,485 dozen eggs, while we exported to the United States only 50,745 lbs. of butter, 56,676 lbs. of cheese and 46,773 dozen eggs. Thus we bought from the United States about ten times as much butter, about three times as much cheese and about eleven times as many eggs as we sold to that country. Our imports of butter, cheese and eggs from the United States for consumption were valued at $289,317, while Canadian exports of the same products to that country were valued at $24,440. Per head of population Canadians spent about 157 times as much on butter, cheese and eggs produced in the United States as the people of the United States spent on Canadian butter, cheese and eggs, assuming that the present population of the United States is in round numbers 80,000,000 and that of Canada 6,000,000.—Canadian Manufacturer.

What's in a Name?

An English newspaper having recently made the plausible observation that one of the Canadian writers to whom the French language owed much was a pure-blooded Scotchman, Mr. Oscar Dunn. The Nationaliste, of Montreal, rises to remark that names are very deceiving. In Montreal there is an establishment of French-Canadians, bearing the name of Wilson, whose manager is a French-Canadian, named Jackson, whose advertising agent is a Frenchman, named Holmes, and whose chief commidity is a French cognac named—Hennessey!

THE MAPLE LEAF.

First Worn as an Emblem by Native Canadians in 1860.

The fifth volume of the papers and records of the Ontario Historical Society, just issued from the press, contains an unusually interesting series of papers contributed from time to time to the transactions of the association. The most interesting of the documents published in this issue of the records is The Globe's report of a public meeting held in the St. Lawrence Hall on the twenty-first of August, 1860, "to take measures with a view to native Canadians taking part with distinctive badges in the procession on the occasion of the arrival in Toronto of the Prince of Wales," now King Edward VII. The meeting was well attended, and among those present were many prominent citizens, including the Rev. Dr. Ryerson, Mr. David Reesor, Col. Denison, Mr. W. H. Boulton, Mr. J. H. Morris, and Dr. Richardson, who still survives. Several resolutions were adopted with a view to occupying in a systematic and creditable way the place assigned to "native Canadians" by the program committee and one of them asked that "all joining the procession should wear the maple leaf as an emblem of the land of their birth." The request was very generally complied with, not merely in Toronto, but wherever the Prince subsequently traveled in Canada.

It is interesting to note that some exception was taken to the inclusion of only "native" Canadians in the invitation, but Mr. Morris was ready with an admirable defence. The Prince was coming to this country on the invitation of the "Canadian" Legislature, and he should be able, on his return to his native land, to say that he had seen "Canadians." This he could not do if the people turned out "in one uniform mass without banners to distinguish those who were born in Canada from those who were not. The three national societies and other societies not of Canadian origin will occupy in great numbers a prominent position on the day of the Prince's arrival, showing that they are English, Irish, or Scotch, or of such descent; in other words, that they are not 'Canadians'; we walk in the same procession in a separate body to show that we are 'Canadians,' and not that we love the British Isles less, but 'Canadians' more. This step will lay the foundation of a nationality and give to the inhabitants of 'Canada' a distinguishing name."

It is needless to call attention here to the manner in which this prediction of forty-four years ago has come true. Mr. Morris, who was a man of high culture and of exceptional precision of speech, knew exactly what he meant by "nationality," and few Canadians, especially those who are "native and to the manner born," will have any difficulty in understanding him. Nor is it necessary to say much about the effective way in which Mr. Alexander Muir's stirring lyric, "The Maple Leaf Forever," has been the means of diffusing and intensifying Canadian national sentiment.

Newfoundland's Trade.

In view of the probability of Newfoundland soon becoming a Province of the Dominion, its trade statistics will be of interest to Canadian manufacturers. The latest figures at hand are those for the fiscal year 1902. In that year Newfoundland's total foreign trade amounted to $17,389,209 as compared with a trade of $10,415,796 for the fiscal year 1898, an increase of over 66 per cent. in four years. The imports were valued at $5,188,863 in 1898 and at $7,836,685 in 1902, an increase of over 51 per cent., while the exports were valued at $5,226,933 in 1898 and at $9,552,524 in 1902, an increase of over 82 per cent. in four years. In 1898 the exports exceeded the imports by $38,070, in 1902 the exports exceeded the imports by $1,615,839.

The value of the total imports and exports from and to each principal country during the year 1902 were as follows:

The island of Newfoundland has an area about one-third larger than that of Scotland, and the colony also owns the territory of Labrador with its extensive Atlantic coast line. It is rich in mineral resources, has vast timber areas as yet untouched by the axe, and its fisheries are of immense value.

Combinations of Purple.

Royal purple is one of the most appropriate shades for combined day and evening wear. It is not a color that can be worn by all, but with those who can wear it it is worthy of consideration. A glorious mixture is composed of purple and a peculiar shade of bright pink. Strange as it may sound, this is really a becoming combination when softened by lace and can be worn by many who cannot wear purple alone.

How Some Medicines Are Obtained.

From the horns and bones of various animals may be procured by distillation muriate of ammonia, commonly used in medicines for both internal and external use. From burned bones comes phosphate of soda, so valuable in physic, and prussic acid, used medicinally as one of the most powerful narcotic substances, may be obtained from animal matter in a state of decomposition.

HAIRS OF THE NETTLE.

The Reason They Sting So When They Prick the Flesh.

The stinging hairs of the common nettle, which can easily be seen by the naked eye, stand out under the microscope all rigid, transparent, tubular prickles, highly polished and exquisitely pointed. At their bases these hairs are furnished with bulbous reservoirs, which are charged with formic acid, an acrid, poisonous fluid, which is discharged into the wound after the sharp points have pierced the skin.

Mr. Curtis, in his "Flora," gives this graphic description of the process: "Placing the foot stalk of a nettle leaf on the stage of a microscope, I pressed the bulb with a blunt pin and found a fluid ascend in the prickle, as quicksilver does when a warm hand is applied to the bulb of a thermometer. I saw the liquid ascend and flow from its extremity. I was the more anxious to see this, as I fancied the poison might proceed from an aperture in the side of the sting near its point, and here it appears to be placed rather than quite at the end, that it may not take off from its necessary sharpness.

RUSSIANS LOST TWO THOUSAND.

A Startling Report Afloat in St. Petersburg on Monday.

JAPANESE ARE STILL ADVANCING.

Russians Driven out of Seven Lines of Trenches at Chiutiencheng on Monday—Make a Most Stubborn Resistance but the Japs Were Again Victorious—No Details of the Losses Given.

St. Petersburg, May 3.—The interest of the public in the news of the fighting on the Yalu is at fever heat, especially since the last official report, which announced the fighting at Chingow, was given out. To the general disappointment, no further telegrams from Gen. Kuropatkin have been published by the War Commission, nor will the censor pass pres despatches wired from the front.

The absence of news led to the circulation of rumors. For instance, it was reported that Gen. Sassulitch would be relieved of his command and court-martialed for making a too strenuous stand on the right bank of the Yalu. As a matter of fact, while the war office is surprised at the resistance made by Gen. Sassulitch, a telegram from Gen. Kuropatkin to the Emperor on April 26 announced that Sassulitch, in view of the preparations which the Japanese were making to cross the Yalu, had begun to reinforce his troops on the Mancnurian bank.

Another report says that the War Office has been informed that the Russian casualties numbered 2,000. Should this be true, it can be accepted as a certainty that the Russian plan of operations never contemplated such a sacrifice.

Driven Out of Trenches.

Chicago, May 3.—A Daily News special from Kobe, Japan, says. "Details of the heavy fighting in the neighborhood of Chiutiencheng, received here yesterday morning, say that the Russians made a most stubborn resistance to the Japanese advance, but were driven successfully out of seven lines of trenches."

Victory Signal and Significant.

This undoubtedly refers to subsequent engagements following the routing of the Russians on Sunday. The Japanese are pressing their retreating foes and are prepared to make the most of the discomfiture brought upon the Czar's troops by the victory following six days of hard fighting on the north bank of the Yalu River. The fact that the victory has been followed up by another reverse for the Russians proves the fact that the victory of Sunday was signal and significant.

Will Follow it Up.

London, Jan. 3.—The latest despatches received here confirming the completeness of the Japanese victory on the Yalu could hardly have given greater satisfaction in Tokio than they have in London. The editorials in the morning papers ring with admiration at the success of General Kuroki's strategy in a manner indicating that Great Britain had been in considerable doubt of the capacity of her ally's troops when matched against the Russians; and, despite the fact of Japan having no good cavalry to follow up her victory, it is believed that she will speedily drive the Russians out of Fenghuancheng also.

GEN. PUSYREWSK,
The Russian Army Commander in the Yalu River Country.

Baron Hayashi's Views.

London, May 3.—Baron Hayashi, the Japanese Minister here, said to the Associated Press:

"The immediate result of Gen. Kuroki's success will probably be a movement on Fenghanchang.

"I take it from the despatches received that we have now practically secured control of both banks of the Yalu. In consequence, our base will probably be moved to Antung.

"To be perfectly frank, I must say I expected Sunday's engagement would be more decisive, especially in view of the large number of Russian troops opposed to us. Its significance must largely depend upon our ability to pursue the enemy."

Fight at Gensan.

London, May 3.—An unconfirmed report of severe fighting between 3,000 Russians and a similar number of Japanese at Gensan is sent by The Standard's St. Petersburg correspondent, who says the Japanese were compelled to retire from Gensan, both sides losing heavily. Two Russian officers are said to have been among the wounded.

How Antung Was Burned.

London, May 3.—The Japanese legation gave out yesterday an official despatch from the Admiralty at Tokio, as follows:

"The captain of the gunboat Maya reports that a flotilla consisting of the gunboats Maya and Uji and some torpedo boats ascended the Yalu May 1, bombarding the enemy. While they were returning the enemy's artillery suddenly attacked the torpedo boats. The latter silenced the enemy after a severe engagement lasting 30 minutes and the flotilla all returned to Yongampo. There were no casualties. Our armed launches reached Antung the same morning and repulsed the enemy's infantry and artillery after 30 minutes of sharp fighting. Fire was seen rising from the town, and a native says that the enemy fled from Antung after setting fire to it."

Russians Fell Back in Confusion.

London, May 3.—A despatch to The Central News from Seoul says that after the Japanese charge, which resulted in the occupation of the Russian lines at Chiutiencheng, the Russians fell back in confusion. The Japanese have now secured a firm hold on the Manchurian side of the Yalu.

WILL ERECT NEW CHURCH BUILDING

Congregation of All Saints' Has Reached This Decision.

Present Building Found too Small for the Congregation—a Committee Appointed to Arrange Details.

A congregational meeting of All Saints' church members was held last night. The meeting, which was a representative one, was called for the purpose of discussing the proposal to erect a new church edifice. At the vestry meeting held on Easter Monday a committee was appointed to look into the matter and report to the congregation at last night's meeting.

Three alternative propositions were discussed last night, viz., An addition to the present building; a new building, but attached to the present structure, and an entire new building separate from the present church.

The meeting unanimously decided to adopt the latter plan, and a committee, consisting of the Church Wardens, the members of the Advisory Board, and a number of other members of the church, was appointed to have plans proposed, arrange for a site and all the matters in connection with the new building.

The motion authorizing this course of procedure, was made by Mr. Edgar, seconded by Mr. Cranfield, and in it the cost of the new structure was limited to $20,000, which sum, it was believed, would be sufficient to provide the necessary accommodation for the growing congregation for a number of years.

No plans have as yet been decided on, although several were discussed at last night's meeting.

The growth of this congregation during the last few years has been remarkable, and the present building is found to be entirely inadequate for the demands made upon it by the ever-increasing congregations. Consequently the proposal to erect a new church is but the effort to meet the demand for increased space.

It is hardly probable that any extensive work will be put on the new building during this year, but preparations will likely be completed for an early start next year.

2,000 OUT IN MONTREAL.

May Day Labor Troubles in Canada and the United States—Strikes on at Many Places.

Montreal, May 3.—In addition to the strike or lock-out of 500 plumbers in this city yesterday, the marble cutters, 400 men; the granite cutters, 100; soft stone cutters, 200, and sculptors and carvers, numbering 50, went on strike for higher wages and shorter hours. The demands vary according to the class of work. In addition, there are 900 painters out, which makes a total of upwards of 2,000 men on strike.

Quiet at the Capital.

Ottawa, May 3.—May Day opened out without labor troubles of any kind. The building trades are not sufficiently busy to make demands advisable, and last year's agreements prevail. The Plumbers' and Steam Fitters' Union some time ago filed a demand for five cents an hour increase and a nine-hour day, but the masters have not replied, and the men are at work.

Strikes at Kingston.

Kingston, May 3.—The masons' helpers at Grant Hall are on strike because masons were set to do work that comes within the domain of the helpers. Other helpers at other buildings have also quit.

The city plumbers are on strike for higher wages, 25 cents a day advance and an agreement limiting the apprentices. The employers refused to sign, hence the strike.

Windsor Has Strike.

Windsor, May 3.—The plumbers of Windsor went out yesterday morning on a strike for an increase of wages and a half holiday on Saturday.

Will Resume Operations.

Hamilton, May 3.—The Tuckett Company, which locked out its men in the cigar manufacturing departments in Hamilton, London and Montreal, will open all their factories again this morning. They claim to have been notified that the demands of the men had not been sanctioned by the International Union. The plasters had their wages raised from 30 to 40 cents an hour, commencing this morning. The garment workers will also resume work.

Telegraphers Answered.

Ottawa, May 3.—Another hitch has cropped up in the trouble between the Grand Trunk and their telegraphers. General Manager Hays has replied to the letter from the Department of Labor, which advised the company that intervention had been asked for, that their answer had already been communicated to the employes of the company.

Boston Bakers Out.

Boston, Mass., May 3.—The principal difficulty to occur on May Day in New England was the strike of more than 1,500 bakers in this city and nearby places. The cities affected include Cambridge, Lynn, Salem, Brockton, Abington, Rockland, Staughton, North Easton, Weymouth, South Weymouth and Bridgewater.

Strike of Carpenters.

Waterbury, Conn., May 3.—A strike of the 400 union carpenters in this city began yesterday. They demand a minimum wage rate of $2.80 a day in place of the $2.50 now paid.

Lock Out at Santa Fe.

Topeka, Kan., May 3.—When the 2,000 Santa Fe machinists and workmen gathered at the big railway shops in this city yesterday to go to work, they found the gates locked. The Santa Fe officials asserted that they were simply anticipating a strike that would have come yesterday.

Traffic Suspended.

Chicago, May 3.—Absolute suspension of freight traffic on the great lakes between Buffalo and Chicago was decreed yesterday by the Lake Carriers' Association, according to The Tribune. The action of the association is said to have been taken in reply to the demand of the seamen for increased wages.

Against "Open Shop."

Oil City, Pa., May 3.—Building was tied up here yesterday by a strike of carpenters, painters, stone masons, tinners and paper-hangers against the "open shop" policy. About 200 men are idle.

800 on Strike.

Newark, N.J., May 3.—About 800 carriage workers went on strike yesterday when the bosses of 68 shops refused to meet the general committee of the union.

Rifled the Mail Bag.

Brampton, May 3.—A. E. Davis, mail courier, 19 years old, has been committed to jail here to stand his trial for the theft of a registered letter. He was engaged on the mail route between Cheltenham and "The Grange," and while carrying mail along his route on March 11 opened the bag and extracted a registered letter containing $60.80.

Carpenter's Sudden Call.

Winnipeg, May 3.—John Saddler, carpenter, met a sudden death Saturday afternoon. He was engaged in taking some measurements outside a window of a new building, and in stepping back he missed his footing and fell headlong into the basement, a distance of about thirty feet, crushing his head frightfully.

ANOTHER BATTLE NOW IN PROGRESS.

Japanese Have Again Pushed Russians Into a Corner.

Another Attempt to Block Port Arthur Failed—Alexieff Sank Eight Fireships and Two Torpedo Boats.

(Special to THE EXAMINER).

JAP SHIPS SUNK?

St. Petersburg, May 3. — It is reported that Vice-Admiral Togo made another desperate attempt to block the entrance of Port Arthur last night but failed. Viceroy Alexieff sent out a portion of the fleet to meet the attack, and sank eight fireships and two Japanese torpedo boats. The channel is reported to be clear.

ANOTHER BIG FIGHT.

London, May 3. — Another big battle is believed to be in progress at Feng Huan Cheng. The Russians retreated to that point after Sunday's fighting with the main body of the Japanese army in close pursuit. The last reports of the Russians' movements was that they were falling back in a semi-circular line, the horns of which were being drawn in gradually, preparatory to retiring to a position farther west.

Feng Huan Cheng is 40 miles north west of Antung and controls the famous Pekin Road, which is the main artery of travel between the Chinese Capital and Corea.

Mrs. Weisslitz, Buffalo, N. Y., cured of kidney trouble by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Of all the diseases known with which the female organism is afflicted, kidney disease is the most fatal. In fact, unless prompt and correct treatment is applied, the weary patient seldom survives.

Being fully aware of this, Mrs. Pinkham, early in her career, gave careful study to the subject, and in producing her great remedy for woman's ills — Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound — made sure that it contained the correct combination of herbs which was certain to control that dreaded disease, woman's kidney troubles.

Read What Mrs. Weisslitz Says.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM: — For two years my life was simply a burden, I suffered so with female troubles, and pains across my back and loins. The doctor told me that I had kidney troubles and prescribed for me. For three months I took his medicine, but grew steadily worse. My husband then advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and brought home a bottle. It is the greatest blessing ever brought to our home. Within three months I was a changed woman. My pain had disappeared, my complexion became clear, my eyes bright, and my entire system in good shape." — MRS. PAULA WEISSLITZ, 176 Seneca St., Buffalo, N.Y. — $5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

Mr. Patrick Flaherty while driving along the road about two miles west of the Cross, had an upset into the ditch. It appears that the lines became entagled and the horses left the road for the ditch. He was rescued from his perilous position by Mr. Michael Garvey, and happily escaped unhurt.

Mr. James Garvey, of Ennismore, was in town last week, making arrangements for successful building operations throughout the district the coming season.

CAUGHNAWAGA.

ST. MARK'S, OTONABEE.

Mr. Solomon Loft, of Hiawatha, has been elected lay-representative of the congregation at the forthcoming synod.

The service last Sunday was largely attended. Rev. E. A. Langfeldt preached for the first time since his return from Germany and England.

Next Sunday, after the service, a Vestry meeting will be held. A large attendance is requested.

Cured His Mother of Rheumatism.

"My mother has been a sufferer for many years with rheumatism," says W. H. Howard, of Husband, Pa. "At times she was unable to move at all, while at all times walking was very painful. I presented her with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and after a few applications she decided it was the most wonderful pain reliever she had ever tried; in fact she is never without it now, and is at all times able to walk. An occasional application of Pain Balm keeps away the pain that she was formerly troubled with." For sale by all druggists.

Shot Her Friend.

Rossland, B.C., May 3.—Mrs. Peter Clare, wife of a respected miner living on Nickle Plate Flat, was probably fatally shot by accident in her own home Sunday evening. One of the family of Michael P. Villeneuve was experimenting with a Winchester repeating rifle, and a bullet went through the door of Clare's house, striking Mrs. Clare in the right hip, penetrating the bone and lodging in the abdomen. An operation was performed yesterday afternoon at the general hospital, but the patient is in a critical condition and is not likely to outlive the night. The fatal shot was fired by Mrs. Villeneuve, who is prostrated over the accident.

An Open Verdict.

Ottawa, May 3 —The coroner's jury returned a verdict of death from unknown causes in the case of Mrs. Nettie Quait, the middle-aged woman found dead a few days ago in her home in the west end of the city. Beside the body a phial containing strychnine was found, but it was ascertained that it was securely corked. The post-mortem examination showed no traces of death from strychnine.

THE C.P.R.'S FAILURE

To Mend Break in Prince Albert Branch Severely Criticized.

LINE LIBERALLY SUBSIDIZED

Western Members Think in View of This That C.P.R. Owes a Duty to the Public—Seven Clauses of Transcontinental Railway Agreement Adopted Questions of Cost and Government Security Discussed.

Ottawa, May 3.—Better progress was made on the Transcontinental Railway agreement yesterday, the House adopting five clauses in committee, and as there are only fifteen, and seven have been adopted, the committee stage will probably be ended in a few days. The discussion centred largely on the amended guarantees for the western sections, the Opposition making another demand for information regarding cost of the line and surveys. Hon. Mr. Paterson put it "up to" Mr. Borden to tell how much the scheme would cost, and the subject dropped. A sharp discussion characterized the opening yesterday on the failure of the Prince Albert branch of the C. P. R. to mend the break in the line. Mr. T. O. Davis and Mr. Walter Scott offered some severe comments on the duty the company owed the public in view of the enormous subsidies which they received. Hon. Mr. Emmerson promised to look into the matter and see what could be done. In this connection Mr. E. B. Osler came in for criticism in view of his defence of the financing of the road last year. Satisfied with the progress made, the House adjourned before midnight.

U.S. Has More Favorable Terms.

Col. Hughes was informed that United States vessels and goods enter ports in the Hawaiian Islands, Philippines, Cuba and Porto Rico on more favorable terms than do British and Canadian vessels and goods, for the reason that all excepting Cuba are ports of the United States. By a reciprocity treaty recently concluded at Cuba, United States goods enjoy a preference of 20 per cent. of goods from other countries entering Cuban ports. At various times representation have been made with a view to securing equally favorable treatment for Canadian goods at those ports, but so far unavailable. The only advantage which Canadian goods enjoy over United States goods in British colonial ports are advantages under preferential tariffs.

War Office Gives Reasons.

In reply to Col. Hughes, the Minister of Militia stated that the War Office had declined to grant the King's medal to members of the Canadian Mounted Rifles who served twice in South Africa, on the grounds that the corps had not been nine months in service there.

Col. Kaulbach was informed that the lightship Lurcher, built at Toronto, and now stationed in the Bay of Fundy, was constructed after the design of the United States Lighthouse Board. Another lightship, of the same model, is to be stationed at the east end of Anticosti Island.

On the Railway Bill.

In committee, clause 4 of the Government's Railway Bill was taken up. It provides that the Government's guarantee on the cost of the mountain section is increased to three-fourths of the total cost from three-fourths of $30,000 per mile.

Mr. Lennox, Mr. Paterson, Mr. Barker, Mr. Borden and Mr. Fielding were the chief debaters in committee.

The clause was passed.

Clause 5 was passed, providing that the Government shall implement its guarantee upon bonds of the mountain section and prairie section to bring the guarantee up to 75 per cent. of the total cost in the one case and $13,000 per mile in the latter.

Clause 6 was also passed. It provides that the Government shall not exercise any rights in regard to taking over the road until the company shall have made five years default in interest.

Clause 7 and 8, which provide that after such default the road shall be placed in the hands of a receiver, to be operated for the joint benefit of the Government and the company, until all arrears shall have been paid, when it shall revert to the Grand Trunk Pacific were also passed.

The House adjourned at 11.40 p. m.

Let Cheese Be Branded.

Ottawa, May 3.—P. Ball, Canada's commercial agent at Birmingham, writes to the department suggesting that Canadian cheese be branded with the month of the year in which it is manufactured. An importer told him that there was more Canadian September cheese put on the market last year than could be made in ten weeks. Mr. Ball adds that the cheese last year was not so good as the year previous.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 3.—Forty acres of live stock sheds and pens were burned at the Union Stock Yards this morning. Two cars of cattle were burned.

Distillers' Licenses Paid.

Toronto, May 3.—The distillers of the Province paid for their licenses yesterday, the amount collected totalling about $30,000.

Pitiful Helplessness

Victims of nervous diseases are the most to be pitied, because their ailment usually terminates in mental or physical helplessness. Paralysis, locomotor ataxia and insanity can only be avoided by building up the nervous system at the first sign of trouble and there is no preparation so well suited for the purpose as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great nerve restorative.

TAMING WYATT EARP

ONCE FAMOUS AS A GUN FIGHTER COWED AT DAWSON.

Little Cockney Mounted Policeman Puts Bad Man in His Place—Found More Than His Match in a Similar Canadian Red Coat—Swore to Do Great Things, But He Gave Up the Gun.

Since Wyatt Earp, once famous as a gun fighter in Arizona and California, went up into the Klondike very little has been heard of him by the outside world. The last exploit that brought him into prominence was his decision in the Sharkey-Fitzsimmons prize fight in San Francisco, when he gave the fight to Sharkey on an alleged foul. For some years before that he had been quite an orderly citizen for one of his reputation as a gun fighter.

From the stories that have drifted down from the Klondike in the last few weeks it appears that Earp has resumed a favorite trick of his, known in the west as shooting up the town. He was much addicted to it in the old lawless days of Arizona and California.

Earp was never a man who could easily be tamed, consequently a story told of his suppression a few weeks ago by a diminutive Cockney member of the Canada Mounted Police will be found interesting.

Tired of Civilization.

"Earp drifted into Dawson several months ago full of a determination to get action," said a man in Dawson to some of Earp's old western friends the other night. "Civilization, policemen and progress generally knocked out Earp's gun fighting game in the States some years ago, and he had been quite orderly and well behaved for some years.

"But when he got to Dawson he found a settlement like the places in which he had made his reputation as a bad man many years ago. He found men carrying guns around in their belts and getting drunk and shooting people who happened to displease them, and it gave him the fever to get back into the game in which he was an adept in the days gone by.

"So Earp discarded his store clothes, got himself a flannel shirt, a pair of leather trousers and a sombrero, stuck a gun in his belt, loaded up on bad whiskey and went around the saloons and faro banks ballyragging everybody who would stand for his game, and taking a few shots at some men who resented it. There were a number of bad men in Dawson who were sufficiently awed by Earp's reputation to stand for him, and for a week he had things pretty much his own way.

Mounted Police Figure.

"Well, the fact that Earp was hitting it up got to the ears of a little five-foot Cockney member of the Canadian Mounted Police, one of whose duties it was to see that Dawson behaved itself. Now, Earp didn't know much about the Canada Mounted Police and the manner of men who compose it.

"Therefore, when he was interrupted in the gentle amusement of cleaning out a faro bank in Dawson one night by this little chap coming up to him with a request that he give him his gun, he opened his mouth and his eyes very wide, swore a mighty round of oaths, and asked the little fellow in riding boots and cap if he wanted to visit hades at once or wait a few hours.

"Earp was somewhat surprised when the little fellow simply smiled politely and said:

"'You must give me the gun or bury it sir,' and extended his hand for the weapon.

"Earp swore some more, but not quite so eloquently, for all the time the little man was smiling calmly in his face. Finally, Earp, clean flustered by the situation pulled his gun from his belt and fired it three times into the ceiling, whereupon this little man, still smiling, said:

"'Now, you'll have to bury it or I'll have to take it from you, sir.'

"'Take my gun away from me!' roared Earp.

"'Exactly,' said the little man. 'Maybe you doubt I'll do it, sir?'

Earp Cowed.

"However, a crisis was averted by Earp's putting the gun back into his belt and starting to leave the place. Just as he got to the door the policeman walked over and tapped him on the shoulder.

"'I beg your pardon, sir,' he said, 'but if you come out with a gun in sight to-morrow I shall have to take it away from you.'

"Earp turned purple with rage, but he had no nerve left when he confronted that politely smiling face. He roared a few oaths back at the amused crowd in the gambling house, and then went to the Golden Lion saloon, where he took a few drinks and proceeded to tell what he would do the next day when the Cockney tried to take his gun.

"'Why, I'll blow him full of holes,' he said.

Hole in Empire.

"'Yes,' said the listener, 'but when you put a hole in him you put a hole in the British Empire, which it will fill with two men. If you kill them four will take their places. In the end, Earp, you will have the whole British army here if necessary just to put you out.

"The next day Earp, very sober and very thoughtful, appeared on the streets of Dawson in the store clothes he came to town with. Almost the first person he struck was the Cockney, who had evidently been waiting for him, prepared to take his gun away from him if he showed it. As soon as he saw Earp he stepped up very politely and said:

"'Thank you, sir,' and then turned on his heel.

"Earp hasn't been deuce high as a bad man in Dawson since that incident. Incidentally, I might say, if he had elected to mix it up with the Cockney he'd be sleeping under an epitaph to-night; for of all the real tough men I ever saw, either for or against law and order, those Canada Mounted Police are the limit."

Saturnalia's Aftermath.

Toronto Junction, May 3.—Police Magistrate Ellis yesterday morning dealt with two of the disorderly ones in Saturday's saturnalia. They were: Wm. Crews, well known to the police in Toronto, and John Smith, who was working on St. Michael's Hospital up to Saturday. Both were given severe sentences of six months in the Central Prison.

ANIMAL STOWAWAYS.

On Ships and In Cargoes They Often Cross the Ocean.

New York has for many years received numbers of destitute aliens of the animal world from the holds of the banana ships. The trade in bananas is an enormous one, and many of them come from sources at no great distance, whence the fruit can be brought without cold storage. The big clusters of bananas are peculiarly adapted for harboring "stowaways." Among these are enumerated numbers of small, harmless snakes, lizards of various kinds, occasionally, it is said, a young iguana and large and particularly venomous spiders. But real pests which survive and increase in a new country are fortunately rarely transported accidentally. The one serious instance is the chigo, or "jigger." It is said to have been transported from Central America to the East Indies.

The Colorado beetle has never succeeded in making a home in England, though mosquitoes of a peculiarly ferocious though nonmalarial kind are said to have appeared in English hotels. Several corn beetles, a very destructive type of insect and among the greatest enemies of those who would like to create an "emergency" store of corn, have been "dumped" in England with foreign grain and have established themselves.

Bird "stowaways" on ships are very numerous in the narrow parts of the Mediterranean during the migration. They also frequently alight on ships when these are near the coast, being then very much exhausted and glad to find "a rest for the soles of their feet." Golden crested wrens sometimes descend in a storm on some North sea smack on a migration night and even alight on steamers by day. It was confidently stated that a golden crested wren was seen to fly from off the back of a short eared owl when the latter came in from the sea and alighted near a jetty on the east coast.

The belief that some little birds come as "stowaways" on the backs of larger ones was held in reference to the Canada geese by the North American Indians and by the Turks of Cyprus, who alleged the same of the crane and stork. That some birds must travel great distances on ships crossing the Atlantic seems probable. The American bittern and two American cuckoos have been found in England, the first rather frequently. It is conjectured that they can only have crossed the ocean by traveling on the masts and yards of ships, probably steamers, as otherwise they must have died of starvation.—London Spectator.

Hairpins.

"We buy hairpins by the hundredweight and sell, in one form or another, about three gross a day," said the foreman of the notion counter in a department store. "A woman with three or four grown daughters buys her hairpins by the pound, and buys a good many pounds in the course of a year at that. Where there is only one woman in the house she buys her hairpins by the package, put up in some fancy and convenient shape. The latter way is the more expensive, of course. Women with hairpins are very much like men with matches. Some shed them as they go and never can find one when they want it. Others keep them where they can find them and usually have to make up for the forgetfulness of their less careful sisters."—New York Press.

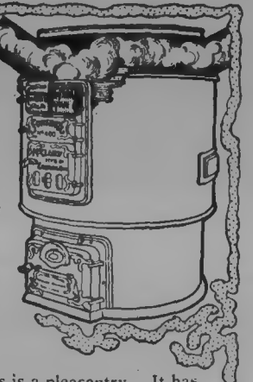
Sunshine Furnace

Water-pan



Dry air is light — it lifts and carries dust. Dry air cracks your furniture, gives you a headache, shrivels your skin, parches your lungs.

The water-pan in most furnaces is a pleasantry. It has no serious business in the work of the furnace—it is merely placed there for effect, because a water-pan is a good thing.

And a water-pan is an absolute necessity to your health and comfort, but it must be properly placed to radiate moisture evenly and uniformly throughout the house.

The water-pan of the Sunshine Furnace is the most scientifically arranged water-pan in any furnace in the world.

It does the work a water-pan should, and does it well.

DROWNING IS QUICK.

Man Cannot Live Under Water More Than Two Minutes.

"The story frequently repeated about professional divers who have been able to remain under water for over two minutes is silly," said a doctor. "No one can remain under water that long without drowning, whether he is a trained diver or not. At Navarino, where the sponge divers are reported to be able to remain under water three and four minutes, tests were made recently and resulted in conclusively proving that none of them remained down as long as a minute and a half. Ninety seconds seems a very long time to the watcher on shore, and it is about the limit of a diver's endurance under water. At Ceylon, where time tests were also made among the famous pearl divers, it was ascertained that few of them remained below the surface as long as a minute, and other tests made on the Red sea among the Arabs proved that a minute and a quarter was the longest they could endure without a fresh breath.

"On the coast of England several years ago a diver, a trained diver, one of the best on the coast, renowned for his endurance, went down and was pulled up so slowly when he gave the signal that he was under water about two minutes and five seconds. He was drawn out of the water insensible, with blood flowing from his nose and ears, and it was only after long and arduous work that his recovery from the effects of that two minute stay under water was assured. Drowning is a quick death. Even though the water is kept out of the lungs, insensibility will ensue in one minute and complete unconsciousness in two. The stories of people who have been in the water five minutes being resuscitated are generally mistakes or untrue. A man could not be in the water five minutes without coming to the surface several times and be restored to life."

HE MISSED THE BEARS.

A Question That Rid President McKinley of a Beggar.

No one asking assistance was ever turned away empty handed from the McKinley door, and many were those who applied. One day a rather old man, with every appearance of belonging to the species hobo, called and asked for aid. He was given a small sum of money and, evidently thinking he had struck a soft spot, returned the following day and from thea on went back every few days until finally, on what proved to be his last visit, the president came out while he was talking to a member of the household and, learning the man's errand, entered into conversation with him.

The man stated, in reply to the president's question, that he was a naturalized American citizen, but was born in Switzerland. The president asked if he had ever been in Berne, and he said he had lived there. The president then asked if he had ever seen the bears. This question rather stumped the old man, and he stammered that he could not understand. The president merely smiled and passed on.

Now, as every one who has any knowledge of Switzerland knows, the coat of arms of the city and state of Berne is a bear, and in a pit in the center of the city a number of live bears have been kept for years out of memory and are likely to be so kept for years to come, frequent bequests having been made for their comfort and many thousand francs being deposited in the banks of Berne for their maintenance. The old man, not knowing these facts, certainly could not have been from Berne and was a self convicted disciple of Ananias, and as he disappeared from the neighborhood it is to be supposed that some one must have shown him the joke.

Willing to Overlook It.

"Dear sir," the general manager of the fire insurance company wrote to the local agent, "a few weeks ago your negligence in failing to notify the owners of a large office building that their insurance was about to expire, and to solicit them to reinsure, lost us a customer, and we gave you a month's notice to find another situation. Inasmuch, however, as that building was burned day before yesterday, we have decided to recall the notice. We will overlook the offense this time, but don't let it happen again."

The majority of the laborers in the mountains of Peru are Cholos, or Indians born in the Sierra. They are found incapable of doing efficient work on the coasts or in the warmer altitudes without a long course of acclimatization. If gangs of these Cholos have for special purposes been taken down suddenly from the Sierra to work at altitudes of from 2,000 to 5,000 feet sickness and fever have resulted from the change.

True to His Friends.

An answer to an advertisement for a school assistant "capable of teaching the classics as far as Homer and Vergil" makes one of the best stories in the dean of Bristol's book, "Odds and Ends."

"Sir," the answer ran, "with reference to the advertisement which were in the Times respecting a school assistant, I beg to state that I should be happy to fill that situation, but as most of my friends reside in London and not knowing how far Homer and Vergil is from town, I beg to state that I should not like to engage to teach the classics farther than Hammersmith or Furnham Green, or, at the very utmost distance, farther than Brentford."

He Understood the People.

One of Jay Gould's campaigns as a dealer in railways was with the Wabash system of railroads. He got control and after effecting a reorganization which increased the capital stock and also the bonded debt sold them out. It is related of him at this time that an associate said to him, "Mr. Gould, don't you think you are bonding this much higher than the property will stand?" "That may be," answered he, "but the American people are mighty partial to bonds."

"TOMMY ATKINS."

How the British Private the Wide World Over Spends Christmas—Most Important Man.

And how does "Tommy Atkins," the English private, spend Christmas? There is a great many of him, and he is scattered pretty much all over the world. But, wherever he may be, his enjoyment of Christmas is boundless.

Whether it be under the blazing sun of India, the sands of Australia or the Karroos of South Africa, "Tommy" is all right if he can get his plum pudding and roasts. He does not run so much to turkey as his American cousin, and his desires of a somewhat plainer and more substantial character, but his enjoyment of the mess is most thorough.

It is all done by subscriptions, each private subscribing about two shillings each and the non-commissioned officers a little more. Each company has its own dinner, and there is great rivalry therein.

The day opens with reveille, the band falling in at that hour and serenading all round the barracks and the officers' quarters. There is little time wasted in making up the beds, and, as soon as breakfast is over, preparations begin for decorating the tables. In England holly and mistletoe are chiefly used, but abroad palms, crotons or whatever is indigenous to the country is brought into requisition. The most important man on Christmas Day is the company's cook. The color sergeant allows him as many "helps" as he wants, and it is a mighty busy time in the kitchen. The succulent sucking pigs, without which no Christmas dinner would be complete in Tommy's eyes, have been cooked the day before and locked up in the arm chest, so have the fowls and maybe a turkey or two. There are, however, the roast beef and the vegetables to be cooked and the plum puddings to be warmed up. One o'clock is the hour for dinner, and when the quarter bugle, which almost says "Come to the cookhouse door," blows there is no lack of orderlies to bring the good things across the barrack room. On the approach of one o'clock the officers troop over to the barracks, each captain, with his lieutenants, going to his own company barrack room.

The men are soon seated, each with his knife, fork and spoon and a white plate and bowl, and also with a good-sized mug of beer. At the end of the table, where the color sergeant presides, are a bottle of sherry and some wine glasses. This wine is for the officers, who drink a "Merry Christmas" to the men. The colonel, with his staff, goes from company to company, and as soon as he departs, followed by the company officers, the feast begins. The married women of the regiment and their little ones are looked after by the wives of the officers, and the day is a red letter one for them.

Christmas is not neglected by the officers either. It is the one day in the year when the wives and daughters of the officers are invited to mess. In England the dinner is not usually much fun, as half at least of the officers are absent on leave, but abroad it is always more enjoyable. Not only are the regimental ladies invited, but also the women folk of the department officers. The scene is always a pretty one, the scarlet jackets of the men setting off the pretty gowns of the women. The colonel takes his place at the centre of the table, while the rest sit around much as they please, except that at each end of the table sit the president and vice-president. Behind the president, who is responsible for order, are the colors of the regiment, unfurled so that the names of the various battles in which the corps has from time to time fought can be read by all. Some regiments have a wonderful list, from Oudenasde down to Tel-el-Kebir.

The dinner is a merry one. Every one knows every one else, and all have come with a firm determination to enjoy themselves. The dinner is the best that can be got and the wine is irreproachable. When the cloth is removed, an important ceremony at every dinner, the president and vice-president send the decanters down the table, each man filling his glass first. When everyone has filled his glass with the wine he wishes (there are generally two sorts of sherry, claret and champagne passed around), the president rises and gives the toast: "The King, God bless him." The "vice" rises as well as everybody at the table, and answers: "Ladies and gentleman, the King, God bless him." Outside the band plays the national anthem and each man drains his glass. There are no heel taps allowed. The senior lady gives the signal for departure into the ante room and the men soon follow. There is generally some music after dinner, and then some youngster suggests a dance. The mess table is wheeled to one side, the piano dragged into the mess room and whoever of those present can play takes his turn at this piano. It is the early hours of the morning before the party breaks up, and the regiment has spent another "Merry Christmas."

Infant Marriages in India.

Child marriages are still all too common in India. According to a recent census report, 143 boys and 187 girls under one year of age were married in India during a single year. The record during the same year for marriages of children under five years was 2,297 for boys, and 3,534 for girls. As a consequence of this state of affairs there were, at the time the census was taken, twenty-two widowers and twenty-seven widows less than a year old, and some 300 less than five years old. The evil results of this system have been so extreme and alarming among certain of the Hindu castes that a bill has lately been drafted in the province of Baroda, which limits the marriageable age at eighteen years for boys and fourteen for girls.

Mr. McDonough's training in the clothing business was a thorough one, having begun as an apprentice in the wholesale clothing department of the firm in Dundas, and passed creditably through the intermediate stages of the business until he was assigned to an important position in the Hamilton Branch. He has also enjoyed the reputation of being one one of the best cornet players in the 13th Regiment Band of that city, and doubtless be heard from in this capacity in our own 57th Band.

INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

To the Chairman and members of Board of Education:

Gentlemen,—In submitting herewith the report on the attendance at the Public Schools for the month of April, I beg leave to call your attention to the crowded state of our primary rooms The attendance therein is larger than at any time during the past six years, enrolment being as follows.—Central, 61; South Ward, 71; East Ward, 75; North Ward, 61; West Ward, 63, and George Street School, 42, making a total of 375, or an average for each of the six rooms of 62.

The two largest classes are those of the South and East Wards, and for these some relief is urgent. As it is now too late in the term to make any distribution of the pupils among other teachers, I would suggest that the lowest division in each of these two rooms be divided until midsummer into two classes, one to attend the morning and the other the afternoon sessions of the school.

This will afford temporary relief and will be no serious detriment to the progress of the pupils, the loss in time per day being less than half an hour.

The pupils are at present dismissed at the morning and afternoon recesses and so are at school about three hours per day. Under the proposed arrangement the time will be about two and a half hours.

I am, your obedient servant,

DUNCAN WALKER.

It was moved by Mr. Hill, seconded by Mr. Hamilton, that the suggestions in the report be carried out.—Carried.

INSPECTOR HODGSON'S REPORT.

The report of High School Inspector Hodgson was as follows:—

Water closets II; water supply II; School grounds III; school buildings III; class rooms II; halls I; waiting rooms IV; cap rooms I; teachers' private rooms II; desks II; blackboards I; lighting II; heating I; ventilation I.

In reference to the equipment the inspector reported that an electric lantern would be of great assistance in connection with the teaching of light, history, geography, botany and literature. These lanterns are in use in nearly all Collegiate Institutes situated in towns where a day current is available.

The report stated that good provision is made for all the prescribed courses of study that are taken up. The division among the teachers was judicious and the ratio of pupils to teachers satisfactory.

All the members of the staff are legally qualified, the discipline is good; all the pupils have been regularly admitted; the text books are in accord with the regulations; the daily and general registers are properly kept, and excellent provision is made for English literature in Forms I and II, and supplementary literature in Forms III and IV.

In grading the character of the teaching as I, good; II, fair; III, poor, and IV, bad, the report read thus:—English and history, I and III; classics, I; drawing, not inspected; mathematics, I and III; French and German, I; reading, I; science, I; commercial I; drill, calisthenics and gymnastics, I.

In regard to the character of the pupils' work in reference to reading the report showed that of the last admitted pupils five were good, twelve fair, five poor and four bad, of the 32 examined, and of other pupils, ten were good, eight fair and two poor of the 20 examined. The bookkeeping sets, the work in drawing, the drill calisthenics and gymnastics were all good.

In conclusion the report stated that the Institute continued admirably organized and administered. On the occasion of my visit tentative plans for a new building on a convenient site in close proximity to the proposed armouries which will be available for physical training purposes, were submitted to me. A building erected according to these plans with a few modifications will bring Peterborough abreast of other towns, e.g., Berlin, St. Thomas, Cobourg, Stratford, Galt and Guelph, where the growing importance of secondary education has led the trustees to the erection of new structures or to the extension and improvement of the former ones.

PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

To the Chairman and members of Board of Education:

Gentlemen,—Your Property Committee beg to present report of maintenance and repairs to the various buildings and grounds:—

Fifth Ward.

The fences requires to be straightened and painted; also outside of building painted; closets to be repaired and whitewashed; floor of main building at back entrance to be renewed and vestibule inside taken down, and porch put on outside of same; outside doors in all cases to be refitted; old seats in the basement to be rremoved and furnace grates to be renewed and basement thoroughly cleaned out; walls whitewashed and light put in; waterworks to be connected; room as used by the Village Council to be cleaned out and refitted as a class room; kindergarten room to have ceiling whitened and woodwork and floor painted. New seats are required for Mr. Kelly's room and a slate board for Miss Wood's room.

Central School.

This building is in a low state of repair and requires much repairs. Fence on Murray street to be painted; concrete walk to be laid on east side of the building; the eavetroughing is badly gone and requires renewing all round. The entire building outside requires repainting and windows repaired; storm sash should be placed on north and west sides. The roof leaks in various places and on further expert examination must be dealt with as required. Inside plastering in all rooms requires small repairs. The walls and ceiling requires calcimining throughout. Several blackboards to be repaired.

Collegiate Institute.

The entrance to the coal cellar to be finished up; new slate to replace broken one in north-west room on first floor; also ceiling and walls calcimined; the other three rooms on this floor to be painted and ceilings whitened. Slate board required on east wall in south-west room; hall ceiling on this floor to be refinished. Second floor north north-west room to have metallic ceiling and painted; north-east room to be calcimined as well as south-east room. Basement to be whitewashed; the outside of building requires painting. The floors are not kept in first-class order and will require to be regularly oiled.

George Street School.

All ceilings and walls to be calcimined; owing to the position of tower on this building a great deal of trouble is caused by chimney smoking, when wind is in certain directions and it is really necessary that something be done to overcome this if we are to retain the building.

West Ward.

Basement requires cleaning and whitewashing and old seats removed. Top floor to be calcimined throughout. Floors on top floor and also in hall on ground floor to be relaid. The sidewalk on outside of building on east front requires the attention of the street-inspector. Sewerage also urged as soon as same completed to within range of property. Slate boards are required in each room; also new desks in Mr. McCreary's room.

South Central.

On outside, the fence requires repairing, and the roof, particularly on old part, requires repairing or renewing which will have to be determined upon as soon as it can be properly examined. Basement requires whitewashing throughout and step to centre furnace repaired. The north hall on ground floor to be calcimined. Wall in Miss Noble's room to be repainted. Beams in Miss Aldridge's room to be repainted a higher colour and walls calcimined. Blackboards to be repaired in all rooms.

North Ward.

This building is in fair repair and in general, this building is kept in the most orderly condition of any of the schools. Several ceilings require to be whitened and cement floor in girls' basement repaired and the general small details of cleaning and repairs to be attended to, such as varnishing of desks, chairs, etc. You will notice that we have recommended the purchase of seats for two rooms which will require about ninety seats. Each year there should be some replaced until we can get the old style of seat gradually replaced, as it is everywhere found that the individual chair is a great help to maintain discipline and is more healthful.

We have further to urge that a greater sum than has been usual, be continuously apportioned to repairs, as our properties are absolutely too far below a good standard of maintenance, until that standard is improved.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

V. EASTWOOD,
Chairman.

The report was received.

RESOLUTIONS.

It was moved by Mr. Hill, seconded by Mr. Pringle, that no Collegiate Institute teacher be appointed on the Entrance Board of Examiners until after all the teachers on the staff previously engaged have been once appointed in order.—Carried.

Upon motion of Mr. Pringle, seconded by Mr. Farr, Mr. H. H. Kenner was appointed as representative of the Collegiate Institute staff on the Entrance Board of Examiners.

Mr. Pringle spoke concerning a resolution in reference to the coming Collegiate Institute bylaw. He said that the people should know the real state of affairs in connection with the bylaw, and that it was not the intention of the Board to dictate to the people as to how they should vote, but they desired simply to state the condition of affairs as the Board found them.

It was moved by Mr. Ferguson, seconded by Mr. Crane, that Messrs. Crane, Kennedy and Hill be a committee to draft a resolution and have the same printed and distributed among the electors previous to the vote.—Carried.

The Board adjourned.

BICYCLISTS MUST NOT RIDE ON SIDEWALK.

Another Case at Police Court To-day—Other Business.

Bicyclists will soon begin to learn that the road was made for the bicyclist, and not the pavement or the sidewalk. At this morning's Police Court, Philip Revoy pleaded guilty to riding his bike on the sidewalk in the Fifth Ward and was consequently fined $2.00. The Magistrate will deal with all cases in this manner so the practice of using the sidewalk for the road may as well cease at once as it proves rather expensive.

A traveller was fined $2.00 and costs, or $5 80 altogether, for being drunk and disorderly in a public place on May 2nd.

William Coppaway, an Indian, who hails from Hiawatha, was charged with vagrancy, and pleaded guilty. He had just left the hospital and was not strong enough to work and had no home. He was willing to go to jail for a month and regain his health though the Magistrate would have discharged him and given him an opportunity to secure work had the prisoner so desired.

Sidney Bennett pleaded guilty to a charge of immoderate driving in the Fifth Ward on Saturday, April 30. A fine of $2.00 and costs was imposed, amounting to $3.60 altogether.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the George street church, the pupils of Mr. Rupert Gliddon will give a recital on Thursday evening in the school room of George street church. A good programme will be rendered. Admission 10 cents. 3p.

WHO MAY VOTE ON THURSDAY.

A number of persons are asking who may vote on the two by-laws to be submitted on Thursday, May 6th, and, for the benefit of those in doubt, the Examiner has consulted the Consolidated Municipal Act of 1903, from which it is learned that all freeholders, being a man, unmarried woman or widow of the full age of twenty-one years, and all leaseholders whose lease extends over the period of the debt contracted for in the by-law, which, in the case of the sugar by-law, is ten years, and in the collegiate institute by-law, thirty years, and who have covenanted in the lease to pay all municipal taxes except those for local improvements, may vote on the by laws.

Voting will open at nine o'clock in the morning and continue till five o'clock in the afternoon at the regular polling places.

BEET SUGAR GUARANTEE BYLAW.

On Thursday next, the qualified ratepayers will be asked to vote upon a bylaw to grant authority to the corporation to guarantee the bonds of the Peterborough Sugar Company to the extent of $100,000. This company is now erecting, practically within the town, an establishment for the manufacture of sugar from beets, an industry in practical and successful operation in other countries; and there are in the province at present one or two establishments of the kind in the initial stages of operation — at the towns of Berlin and Waterloo. They are starting to do business, but they, naturally, meet with some of the difficulties incident to new industries; it is, however, anticipated that these difficulties will be successfully overcome with experience.

Under the bylaw, if it is approved by the ratepayers, the town will guarantee the bonds of the Sugar Company to the extent of $100,000, in two instalments. It is a condition that the town's guarantee of the first $50,000 of bonds shall come into effect only when the buildings are completed, and all the machinery upon the ground — free from all liens and claims—ready for installation; only on the fulfilment of this condition will the town's guarantee of the first instalment of bonds come into effect. The guarantee of the second instalment of $50,000 will become operative when the buildings are completed, the machinery installed, and the factory ready for operation — ready for the manufacture of sugar from beets. It is to be noted that the by-law does not propose a bonus, but only provides that the town guarantee—in other words, endorse — the bonds of the company; and indemnity against possible loss is represented by a first mortage given to the town, upon the buildings and plant of the company. The buildings, land and machinery represent a value of $350,000, apparently a substantial security for the guarantee. It is claimed by the company that they can obtain within a practicable distance of the factory, 60,000 tons of beets, for manufacturing purposes, and it is further claimed, assuming the estimate to be correct, that the operation of the factory will mean the distribution of half a million dollars a season. An average of $4 per ton at least, for 60,000 tons of beets, equals $240,000, to which is to be added the wages paid out to 150 men who would be employed for four months, from November 1st to February 28th, and also the money to be realized from the sale of the sugar products and the pulp. Then it is urged that the factory would operate and give employment at a season of the year when many persons are unable to find indoor occupation, and thus many of our citizens, and the wages they earn, would be retained by the town, to its manifold advantage.

Mr. D. A. Gordon, who is to take the presidency of the company in the event of the re-organization, (which is to follow the guarantee) of the company becomes effective through the passing of the bylaw, is well known to the Examiner. He is a gentleman of known business capacity and integrity, and is highly respected where he is best known. If he is willing, as stated, to invest $100,000 in the beet sugar industry on the strength of the town's guarantee of the company's bonds, then the proposition takes on a business aspect which entitles it, on the grounds of financial stability and prospective success, to respectful consideration at the hands of the ratepayers of the town. In the event of the town consenting, through the ratepayers, to guarantee the company's bonds for $100,000, Mr. Gordon assumes the presidency with an investment of an additional $100,000, and under such circumstances, with the financing of the company so well provided for it is felt that sufficient stock could readily be underwritten to provide a good and sufficient working capital. There is no doubt that if a well equipped factory were established and a sufficient supply of beets available, an industry of great profit and importance, not only to the town, but the surrounding country, would become an accomplished fact.

The professional card of Dr. D. J. Dr. Bagshaw has devoted special attention to the newest methods introduced by the profession, and which have proved invaluable acquisitions in the practice of modern dentistry. Dr. Bagshaw has been fortunate in securing so central, and well-equipped suite of rooms, where a good business has already been established.

ACCIDENT AT THE "Y" GYMNASIUM.

Mr. Harvey Staunton Accidentally Breaks Collar Bone.

An accident occurred at the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium last night, the result of which is that Mr. Harvey Staunton of Benson avenue, is suffering from a broken collar bone. No blame can be attached to anyone for the regrettable occurrence, as it was an accident pure and simple.

Mr. Staunton and Mr. R. Long were wrestling on the floor of the gymnasium when the former fell rather heavily on his left shoulder, fracturing it. Dr. Eastwood was called immediately and the young man was conveyed to his home in the ambulance, where the bone was set. He rested well last night, and will no doubt soon be around again all right.

He and Mr. Long were having a work out when the accident occurred in preparation for an exhibition bout which they had agreed to give at the T.A.S. smoker next Monday.

A CHOIR LEADER HAS RESIGNED.

Mr. G. W. Mulligan Asks to be Relieved From the Charge of George Street Choir.

Mr. G. W. Mulligan, who for over two years has very acceptably filled the position of leader of the George street church choir, has placed his resignation in the hands of the chairman of the Trustee Board. The reason for this action on the part of Mr. Mulligan is that with increased responsibility in his position with the Cereal Company he will not have the necessary time to devote to the choir. Every member of the choir will learn with regret of this decision on the part of Mr. Mulligan, as during his period of leadership the choir has made rapid progress, and is now in good condition. The resignation will be considered by the Board at its meeting on Wednesday night. It does not take effect until August first.

THE COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE BYLAW.

A Correspondent Thinks the Board Should Have Announced the Site Proposed.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—Much as we would be inclined to sympathize with our School Board under ordinary circumstances, we cannot feel that they have acted wisely in concealing from the electors the question of site and other details so important to a proper understanding of the question. The site should have been included, as it is in our cities, when at all necessary, on the ballot submitted to the people. It is idle to say that nothing could be done till the money is voted, since once assured of the money, speculators could then safely "hold up" the Board. If the trustees had gone to site owners and said, "If we can get a site at a reasonable option we will submit it to the people," surely it would have had an effect that it cannot have when the money has been voted. Likewise there may be some large plan in the minds of the trustees which the electors ought to be told of. Then, again, while it is very nice to glory in a fine Collegiate Institute, wouldn't it be just as wise and a little more considerate to increase our public school accommodation? It seems to me it would.

Yours truly,
HAMPDEN BURNHAM.

Our correspondent no doubt writes in good faith, and he, and any he may represent, should also admit that the Board of Education is also acting in good faith in taking the course that has been, and is being pursued, in regard to a Collegiate Institute building. No one will, for a moment, think the Board is moved by any sinister idea or other motive than the best interests of education and, consequently, of the town. In business arrangements it is often not always advisable, as a matter of prudence, to make known too many details till negotiations and arrangements have reached such a stage as will not result prejudically to the interests in question by making such details public property. Time after time when negotiations have been pending regarding the establishment of some industry in Peterborough, the town authorities have refused to the newspapers details in regard to the matter, or requested the latter not to use them, lest the details being known might operate harmfully upon the interests concerned. In regard to the closing suggestion of our correspondent's letter, it is answered conclusively by the fact that one of the very objects of a new Collegiate Institute is to release the Central Public school premises now occupied by the Institute, for Public School uses.

Challenge Basket Ball Game Won by Brownies—Peterborough Lacrosse Club in No. 5 District, Intermediate.

BROWNIES WON FROM ATHLETICS.

The basketball game played in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium last night between the "Brownies" and the "Athletics' teams resulted in a win for the former by a score of 40—17. The score pretty well indicates the playing abilities of the two teams, as the youngsters simply played the senior league champions off their feet, and certainly deserved to win.

It was a fine exhibition of the game, and the small attendance was undeserved. Both teams played to win, and the Athletics' defeat was due partly no doubt, to their not being in the best of condition. The Brownies showed up in fine form, and probably never were in better shape, and if a chance were given them no doubt they could win against the best in the land. Their team work was of the gilt-edged variety, not a man on the team being outclassed, and all proved themselves capable of holding their own in the best of company.

Gordon Miller, for the Brownies, put up the best game he has played in the gym. this season. He scored 7 baskets for his team. Ned Fitzpatrick, at centre, was watched so closely by the "big 'uns" that he did not get in his usual brilliant work, but certainly kept his opponents busy, giving his mates opportunities, which they took advantage of. Nor. Miller on the forward line, played a star game and succeeded in scoring four of the baskets credited to his team. The Brownies' two backs, Hall and Boucher, kept the Athletics' forwards well in hand, and were always after their man. The small score of the Athletics was due in no small part to the Brownies' brilliant defence.

Harold Armstrong for the Athletics proved himself in a class by himself. His "heady" work had a great deal to do in keeping the Brownies' score from being higher. Geo Robertson and Harry Morgan were checked too closely to do effective work, whilst D Hon and Glover on the Athletic defence had more than they could do to hold the swift forwards of the Brownies in check.

At half time the score was 19—9, and at full time it was 40—17.

W. Campbell acted as referee, and Alf Hodgson was the umpire in the first half of the games; while in the second half Hodgson acted as referee and Campbell umpired, both giving the best of satisfaction.

The teams lined up as follows:

Athletics — Backs, D.Hon and Glover; centre, Harold Armstrong; forwards, Robertson and Morgan.

Previous to this game the Junior Arrows and Business College teams played an exhibition game, resulting in a win for the Arrows by the score of 20—12.

The teams were:—

Business College — Backs, McCullough and Sackville; centre, Coulter; forwards, Walkey and Hamilton.

ST. JOHN'S GUILD TO PLAY BASEBALL

Decided not to Enter the Guild League at Last Evening's Meeting.

A meeting of the St. John's Young Men's Guild was held last evening, when the question of baseball was thoroughly discussed. It was decided that the Guild will have a ball team, the officers to be those of the Guild. The club will not enter the Guild League as several players and promoters of the team would be barred from playing, being connected with the Midland League team, but the club will endeavour to arrange exhibition games with the teams of the Guild League. The prospects for a swift team are excellent and considerable enthusiasm was manifested at the meeting.

The Guild will undertake to manage the affairs in connection with the annual Sunday school picnic.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the members of the Guild were pleasingly entertained at the residence of the president, Mr. C. G. Graham.

SHAMROCKS TO ENTER KAWARTHA LEAGUE.

Decided to do so at a Meeting Last Evening.

A meeting of the Shamrock Baseball Club was held in the T.A.S. rooms last evening, when the question of entering a team in the new Kawartha League was decided upon. After discussing the matter thoroughly it was decided to enter a team and to send two delegates to the meeting of the league held in Lindsay to-day. The represesptatives were Messrs. W. Grady and W. Meagher. It is expected that the league will include teams from Lindsay, Fenelon Falls, Bobcaygeon and Omemee. The Auburns are also expected to enter. There is no reason why the proposed league should not be a flourishing one, and the Shamrocks, who will play under the colours of the T.A.S. should be strong enough to put up a warm argument in the series.

FOOTBALL.

About thirty of the Y.M.C.A. players indulged in a practice at the Central Park last night, and a good work out was the result. Some excellent new material has been added to the team which should be able to hold its own with the best in the league.

• • • •

A meeting of the Y.M.C.A. football club will be held in the Y.M.C.A. to-morrow night, at which all interested in the game are requested to be present. The captain will be elected for this year's team.

BASEBALL.

Manager Whiteroft had his bunch of Midland League players out on Satturday afternoon for a warming and under his direction they got in some good work. The men are rapidly rounding into form, and by the time the season opens they should be able to give a good account of themselves.

The players who were out on Saturday were: Sheridan, Waram, T. Pilling, Cawthorne, Earls, Miller, McDonald, Belleghem and Flaherty.

• • • •

Clark Earls will probably play in the outfield this season, where he will doubtless play as efficiently as he has been doing in the infield. Belleghem will probably be given his release. Things have not been going very smoothly between last year's backstop and the management, and negotiations have been entered into, and practically concluded, for a new catcher. Manager Whitcroft developed his last year's catcher into a fairly good man, and it might have been to the advantage of the latter to have remained with the team with which he learned the game, following the example of Flaherty.

• • • •

• • •

The executive of the Guild Baseball League, will meet on Thursday night at eight o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. for the purpose of drawing up the schedule of games for the season.

• • • •

The Midland Baseball League will open three weeks from to-day. The locals go to Lindsay on that date.

• • • •

With this ideal baseball weather the players will get right down to work and will be dishing up a fast article of ball when the opening game comes round.

• • • •

The rumour that the Lindsay team has arranged a practice game with the Toronto Eastern League team for next Saturday is unconfirmed.

• • • •

The George street Guild team will practice to-night for the first time this season. A full attendance of all members is requested.

GOLF.

The members of the Peterborough Golf Club, of which Mr. J. W. Gracey has been one of the most prominent members, will learn with regret that he is to be transferred to the Copper Cliff branch of the Bank of Toronto.

• • •

The golfers had a good practice this morning at the golf grounds. They are playing the game well this season and hope to make it interesting for their opponents from Peterborough.—Lindsay Post.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The different sporting organizations of the town who contemplate using the Nicholls oval will be glad to learn that the park is now ready for use. The bicycle track will be in shape in about a week.

LACROSSE.

The Peterboroughs will practice for the first time this season to-morrow night, Central Park. All members are asked to turn out. The playing certificates have been received and all players are asekd to sign them.

• • • •

At a meeting of the District Committee of the O.L.A., held in Toronto yesterday, the various districts were drawn up. District No. 5, was as follows:

Orillia, L.; Lindsay, Peterborough, Oshawa, Port Hope. P. W. Ellis, Oshawa, convenor, to meet at Lindsay.

SHALL WE ERECT A NEW COLLEGIATE?

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In a few days the property owners of the town will be called upon to vote for or against a bylaw to raise $50,000 for the erection of a new Collegiate Institute building.

The question naturally arises whether the citizens should vote yea or nay. As a citizen of the town I wish to call attention to some of the many reasons why every public-spirited citizen should vote yea.

1. The Board of Education, a thoroughly representative body, composed of men who have disinterestedly devoted a good deal of time and thought to educational matters, say that we are in need of such a building.

2. The lease of the Menzies' property expires in 1905 and that building will no longer be available for school purposes. The present building used for Collegiate purposes is Public School property and $1100 is annually paid in rent, therefore, a new building must be built. As the present building is not and cannot be properly equipped for the proper teaching of the old line of subjects, not to speak of the utilitarian subjects of domestic science and technical training, recently added to the programme of students, it necessarily follows that it would be wise to use the present building for public school purposes and build a new up-to-date Collegiate Institute building.

3. A town the size of Peterborough should have a building for secondary education of which the citizens may be proud. Who ever thinks of showing a visitor any school building in town? Instead we show them the largest "porridge factory" in Canada, the highest hydraulic Lift Lock in the world, the best equipped Cordage Factory in America, our Y. M. C. A., Canadian General Electric Works buildings And our skating rink. But as regards our school buildings and opera house, "Mum is the word." This is not as it should be, and, whilst our material resources are great, we should pay a good deal more attention to providing proper facilities for the education of our rising generation.

4. It is said that the Collegiate Institute is not a popular institution in town. This is true, but what is the reason? Pupils have no love for an institution where everything is, or has been, nothing but grind, grind, grind. Parents have no love for an institution between which their only bond is an obligation to pay fees. To create a proper esprit-de-corps among the pupils there should be an Assembly Hall to be used for social gatherings, such as Literary Society meetings, the presentation of Scholarship medals, etc., and for the girls there should be provision, at least for courts for lawn tennis, and for the boys should be grounds for cricket, lacrosse and baseball.

5. In this age we rightly pay considerable attention to athletics. The Battle of Waterloo, according to the "Iron Duke" was won on the "football field of Rugby." What chance have our boys for sports? None whatever. Now we can turn out the best in the country in the different lines as our records show still we are handicapped. We as the best town in Canada want three things an Opera House, Athletic Field and a new up-to-date Collegiate Institute Building.

"PROGRESS."

MR. DENNISTOUN MAKES STRONG PLEA

For a New Collegiate Institute for Peterborough.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—Having been asked to express an opinion on the Collegiate Institute bylaw I state with pleasure that it is our duty to support the Trustees in this matter by a large majority.

We have in Peterborough a very superior Board of Education. They are a body of men in whose judgment we can place confidence on any business question submitted to them.

Moreover, they are unanimous and have stated their case for a new building in such a clear convincing manner that no opposition has been heard to their arguments. They point out that if the ratepayers refuse to provide a new Collegiate Institute they must provide new Public Schools, which would be false economy at the present time, and only defers the erection of a larger building for a few years.

A large vote in favour of the bylaw will give public expression to the confidence we have in the judgment of the Board, who have the best interests of all our citizens at heart.

Yours truly,
R. M. DENNISTOUN.

PRESENT MIRACLES.

EVERY WEEK MAKES SOME NEW ELECTRICAL ACHIEVEMENT.

Recent Newspaper Sensation in London by Its Aid Uniting the Telephone and Phonograph—A Pathetic Dream—The Loss in Transmission—Some of the Late Achievements—Help to Bank Robbers.

Although the central figure in the world of electricity is not as prominently before the public as he was a year ago, new discoveries in the realm in which he is king are announced every other day. Had not Marconi exhausted our powers of amazement by his feat of telegraphing across the Atlantic Ocean without wires, they might well be exercised by a score of less important demonstrations which have since been made by other scientists. Scarcely a week goes by without marking some new electrical achievement. Our store of knowledge of the magic fluid increases by leaps and bounds. Yet we seem to be no nearer to a full understanding of this marvelous force. The lay mind no longer tries to grasp it. Daily miracles are performed under his eyes—the trolley car, the telephone, the incandescent light—but he is unmoved. He has almost ceased to wonder at them. We have short memories. It is rather the necromancy than the miracle of electricity which fascinates and astonishes.

A Newspaper Sensation.

Some weeks ago the English public was astounded when a London newspaper had Chamberlain's Newcastle speech on sale on the streets of the metropolis a few minutes after it had been delivered. They almost doubted that such an achievement were possible, even with the printed proof in their hands. And yet the explanation is very simple. Beside the speaker a number of telephones had been placed, the wires leading into the office of the newspaper. At the London end with the receivers at their ears sat a corps of shorthand reporters. Each man worked for two minutes taking down the speech. He would then be relieved while his notes were transcribed into longhand, and sent to the compositors. So rapidly was the work carried on that the type was only about five minutes behind the shorthand character. As a result, Mr. Chamberlain had hardly driven away from the hall when the London newsboys were on the street with their "extra specials."

Telephone and Phonograph.

This same paper—The Daily Mail—announced on Monday that it had conducted reasonably successful experiments with the electrograph, an invention of E. G. Caven, an English engineer, who once worked with Edison at Menlo Park, New Jersey. The electrograph is nothing more or less than a recording telephone—a combination of phonograph and telephone. Messages spoken over the telephone are recorded at the other end, and can be read at any time by the person to whom they are addressed. Thus a permanent record of conversations may be obtained. No annoyance need be caused if the person telephoned happens to be away or engaged. When he returns he will find the message awaiting him. The Daily Mail's experiment was made between London and Twickenham, a distance of 12 miles. The inventor hopes to be able to increase the distance almost indefinitely. His hopes may be realized, but its mere expression is almost pathetic. It is what so many electricians have dreamed of—the transmission of energy without loss.

The Loss in Transmission.

As a matter of fact, electric power cannot be transmitted an inch without losing force. To the mind of the layman it seems a mere matter of increasing the strength of batteries, and to a certain extent, this is so. With our present knowledge the trouble is that there is a limit to the power of batteries. Logically, there may be no reason why, if a 20 horse-power battery can be built, a 20,000,000 horse-power battery should not be built also. In reality there are many reasons, just as there are reasons why a piece of plate glass 100 yards square cannot be manufactured. It is on the problem of reducing the amount of electrical power lost in transit that some of the leading electricians of the day are now engaged. This is the great obstacle which electricity must overcome before it can altogether displace steam as a motive power. For moving distributed loads it is supreme, but when the load becomes concentrated, as on a heavy through freight or passenger train, it cannot equal steam.

Some Late Achievements.

But while this great problem seems to set a limit on electrical progress in a certain direction, it cannot forever defy the experimenters who are engaged upon it. In the meantime much is being done by the way, as it were. There is, for instance, the automatic switch in use in Toronto upon the street railway system. The switch point guides one car in one direction, swings back, and guides another in an opposite direction, without delay, without mistake, and without human advice or interference. The modern hotel offers another example of electrical progress. Every room is furnished with a telephone. A guest may sit comfortably in his chair and talk with a friend in Riviere du Loup, six hundred miles away. Should he journey on one of the great railway lines he may see the cars lighted by electrical energy supplied by the revolutions of the wheels. If he travels across the ocean he might buy a daily paper which received its news by wireless telegraphy. In London he could see the new Hewitt light, which needs neither wires nor carbons, but which glows in a vacuum with a steady blue flame, and which should therefore be an ideal light for reading.

Help to Bank Robbers.

As to the uses to which chemists and manufacturers have put the current—their name is legion. In our own streets we have seen huge steel rails welded together. We may read in police records of enterprising bank robbers who have cut through solid steel doors as though they were so much cheese, thanks to electricity. The same agency will magnetically lift hot steel plates, which formerly could not be handled for hours. These are but a few instances selected from among hundreds equally remarkable. When this much has been done in our ignorance, who shall say what may not be accomplished when our knowledge shall be rounded and complete?

THE THIBET EXPEDITION.

Details of the Road Upon Which It Is Advancing Inland.

Some details as to the road by which the Thibet expedition is advancing may be of interest at the present moment. Kamba Jong, where the mission is now encamped, is 85 miles, as the crow flies, due north of the Indian hill-station of Darjeeling, but, of course, the mountain road by Tongu is much longer. The present height of the camp above sea level is 13,800 feet, the surrounding country consisting of high mountains, intersected by deep valleys. From Kamba Jong two roads lead to Lhassa, one due north through Shigatse, on the bank of the Tsang-Po, the great river which eventually becomes the Brahmaputra. The distance by this route, says The London Daily Chronicle, is ninety miles to Shigatse, and 130 miles further to Lhassa. The southern route by Gyantse, which it is proposed to follow, is thirty miles longer. Gyantse being 105 miles from Lhassa. But both routes cross the watershed of the Eastern Himalayas, which is a very arduous undertaking. The statement that Colonel Macdonald has ordered Canadian fur coats for his troops shows that he thoroughly appreciates the rigor of the climate which he has to encounter. At the beginning of November 20 degrees of frost were registered at Kamba Jong, and the winter was then only just setting in. In the expedition of 1888 the Thibetan field force found snow lying deep on the slopes in the month of March, and the small garrison of Gnatong had afterwards very trying experiences in the dreary winter weather. The tableland of Thibet is covered with snow for several months, and life under canvas is almost impossible during that period. The great danger is from pneumonia, which is more formidable than the muskets of the Thibetan army, these being only muzzle-loaders, and the army itself an untrained and unwarlike rabble. But the native soldiers of the Indian plains, of which Colonel Macdonald's forces will mainly consist, are little accustomed to extreme cold.

Spots on the Fur of Animals.

Although we are told that the leopard cannot change his spots, it is certain that the markings on the fur of some animals do change. Especially is this true where the animal has a distinctive winter coat. This change has been studied by Barrett Hamilton, a British naturalist, who is of opinion that whitening of the fur generally accompanies development of fatty tissue, which is manifestation of insufficient oxidation and hence of atrophy, which shows itself in a whitening of the hair. In some animals—man for instance—this atrophy is manifested by baldness. That fat men are often bald is thus something more than a coincidence.—Success.

The Tick of a Clock.

The "tick tock" that is universally regarded as the sound of both pendulum and spring clocks has been investigated by Dr. Rosenbach, a Berlin psychologist. He finds that the "tick" results when the right arm of the escapement anchor strikes a cog of the wheel moving upward, while the "tock" is produced when the other arm strikes a cog moving downward. The different conditions give different acoustic effects.

ANCIENT CHAIRS.

The Seats Used by the Egyptians in Early Historic Times.

Seats more or less resembling stools—that is, seats without backs—were in general use among nations possessing a certain degree of civilization in prehistoric times. What those were like in the early historic period we know from an examination of Egyptian monuments, from a study of Greek vases or from Eutrurian or Roman antiquities that are stored in European museums. The Egyptian deities are seated generally on granite blocks, the backs of which are raised a few inches only, giving a distant resemblance to a chair. That the Egyptians had seats more comfortable for domestic use is possible, but we have every reason to suppose, although they possessed a high degree of civilization, that their idea of home comforts was not that of modern times.

The common people probably sat on blocks of stone or wood or sprawled about on the ground with some sort of carpet that also served for a bed. The Etrurians, ancient inhabitants of Italy before the arrival of the Romans, appear to have preferred the reclining posture, in which they are usually represented on the sarcophaguses in the museums.

WHEN YOU CAN'T SLEEP.

Just Pretend You Don't Want to and You'll Soon Drop Off.

When we are kept awake from our fatigue the first thing to do is to say over and over to ourselves that we do not care whether we go to sleep or not, in order to imbue ourselves with a healthy indifference about it. It will help toward gaining this wholesome indifference to say: "I am too tired to sleep, and therefore the first thing for me to do is to get rested in order to prepare for sleep. When my brain is well rested it will go to sleep; it cannot help it. When it is well rested it will sleep just as naturally as my lungs breathe or as my heart beats."

Another thing to remember—and it is very important—is that an overtired brain needs more than the usual nourishment. If you have been awake for an hour and it is three hours after your last meal take half a cup or a cup of hot milk. If you are awake for another two hours take half a cup more, and so, at intervals of about two hours, so long as you are awake throughout the night. Hot milk is nourishing and a sedative. It is not inconvenient to have milk by the side of one's bed, and a little saucepan and a spirit lamp.

Wars and Their Causes.

There was a good deal of truth in the saying that England drifted into the Crimean war without knowing exactly why it did so. Not less accurate was Lord Palmerston's familiar declaration concerning the Sleswick-Holstein troubles. Only three men in Europe, he said, ever knew what those war making troubles were. Two of the men died before the war broke out, and the third forgot what was the point in dispute. A slighting reference by Frederick the Great to Mme. Pompadour was one of the exciting causes of the Seven Years' war. An overturned glass of water was one of the contributing elements to another. The omission of a simple "etc." was the peg upon which an earlier one was hung. The theft of a lady's petticoat brought Moors and Spaniards to bloodshed. The smashing of a mandarin's teapot was the basis of a war between the imperial forces of China and hill tribes which lasted for generations.

An Anecdote of Pope.

There is an old anecdote of Alexander Pope concerning one of the old watermen who was employed for many years in rowing Pope on the Thames. Pope was in the habit of having his sedan chair lifted into the punt. If the weather was fine, he let down the glasses; if cold, he pulled them up. He would sometimes say to the waterman:

"John, I am going to repeat some verses. Take care and remember them the next time I go out."

When that time came, Pope would say:

"John, where are the verses I told you of?"

"I have forgotten them, sir."

"John, you are a blockhead. I must write them down for you."

John says that no one thought of saying, when speaking of him, "Mr. Pope," but that he was always called "Mr. Alexander."

Unreasonable.

"What are you kicking about?" asked the lawyer.

"Why, we won the case," replied the client, "but I can't see what I get out of it."

"You get enough to pay your lawyer's fees, don't you? What more do you want?"

Nothing Like the "Old School."

"I wish I could send my boy to the old school," said Hawkins. "These gentlemen of the old school always seem to know everything."

WOODEN BREAD.

It Is Possible to Make a Palatable Loaf From Sawdust.

As long ago as 1834 Professor Auterith of Tubingen succeeded in making a tolerably good quartern loaf out of a deal board. Everything soluble was removed by maceration and boiling; the wood was then reduced to fibers, dried in an oven and ground, when it had the taste and smell of corn flour. A sponge was then made by the addition of water and the sour leaven of corn flour, and it was baked and found to be better than a compound of bran and corn husks.

Wood flour boiled in water forms also a nutritious jelly, which the professor found both palatable and wholesome in the form of gruel, dumplings and pancakes.

Professor Brande has also recorded the making of bread from woody fiber. He says: "Before me is a specimen imported from Sweden. Seeing the close relation between the composition of starch and lignine, the conversion of the latter into bread does not seem so remarkable." He also cannot praise the quality of such bread.

The Blue Gnu.

It would be hard to imagine a more fantastic looking animal than the blue gnu, which ranges in South Africa from the Orange river north to Victoria Nyanza. It suggests to one coming unexpectedly upon it and seeing it for the first time a sort of impossible dream creature, a cross perhaps between a buffalo and a nightmare. To the buffalo belong the neck and horns, but the tail and the hind quarters are those of a horse. The legs are a deer's legs, but the head resembles that of no other living animal. There seems to be no doubt that the wild grotesqueness of the appearance of the gnu is a provision of nature to protect the animal. When frightened or disturbed these remarkable antelopes go through a series of strange evolutions and extraordinary postures in order to enhance as much as possible the oddity and hideousness of their appearance and to frighten away intruders.

Hidden Tattoo Marks.

An escaped convict was on trial before a French court, and the question turned upon his identity with a prisoner known to have been tattooed. There was no appearance of colored marks upon his arm, and the question submitted to M. Leroy, the medico-legal expert, was whether the man had ever been tattooed. M. Leroy applied strong friction to the skin of the man's arm. This had the effect of bringing out white lines as cicatrices, with a slight bluish tint. By this means the word "Sophie" was plainly legible in white marks on the reddened skin. This proved the identity of the convict.

The Chophouse.

Gritty George—I wasn't always like dis, mum. Once I used ter take my meals in a chophouse. The Lady—Well, I reckon a chophouse is a wood shed. You can take your dinner in mine if you cut some wood first.

Papa's Duty.

A LEAP YEAR PROPOSAL

By JOHN BRIDGES

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

Henderson rolled uneasily in his sleep. Macdonald, his bunk mate, jabbed his knee into Henderson's back. "For heaven's sake, lie still," he cried. "You're getting all the blankets off, and it's colder'n ice."

Henderson woke up. "I'm sorry, old man," he said. "But you can have a good sleep tomorrow morning. I'm going away today, and shall probably not be back again tonight. Did I say anything in my sleep?"

"I should say you did," replied Macdonald. "You were talking half the night—a whole lot of rubbish about blue eyes and black eyes and hair and things."

"Did I mention any one's name?"

"Not while I was listening. I pulled the blanket up over my head and refused to be let into your secret."

The two men tumbled out of their bunk. They went to the door of their cabin. The first rays of the sun came swiftly over the Sangre de Cristo, and the whole range was outlined in crimson.

The snow capped peaks rose cold toward the sky, and above the blue was unflecked by cloud. Across the valley there had been but little snow—only here and there were little patches which the wind had brought down from the mountain side and scattered against the windward of the sagebrush. Rabbits scurried across the plain in search of what little food might be found. As they ran they showed white tails like great chrysanthemums drifting across the levels.

Macdonald got into his corduroy and pulled on his heavy hunting boots. He reached for his rifle, a little 22-long, and started out. "Tomorrow being Sunday," he said, "I propose to construct a rabbit pie for dinner like mother used to make, and I guess I can land a few jacks before breakfast. Poor little devils!" he continued. "I'm going to give them a chance for their lives anyway. I hate a man who will shoot rabbits with a shotgun. With a rifle like this it takes some skill, and there is at least a fighting chance for the beasties. I'll be back in an hour. You don't mind getting breakfast alone, do you?"

Henderson made no reply, but ground some coffee and stirred up the fire. Macdonald swung off down the hill and across the plain toward the sagebrush. Henderson watched him till he was a mile away; then he went out into the open air and took great long breaths of it. Going into the little stable, he fed his pony, a little buckskin brute, which till Henderson took her in hand had been known as the ugliest pony in the San Luis. She whinnied delightedly as Henderson opened the stable door. He fed her a double portion of grain and brought water for her from the spring. He gave her, too, an extra quantity of hay. "Better eat it all, old lady," he said. "You've got a long day before you."

He went back to the cabin, cooked some eggs and bacon, made coffee and drank three cups of it, hot and strong and without sugar or milk. Then he packed a can of food in a saddlebag and carefully tied it to the saddle which hung beside the door. He filled his revolver and his belt with cartridges and put his rifle alongside the saddle. From under his bunk he drew a small tin box, unlocked it and took out a package of letters. He did not open the package, but threw it, still tied with a bit of leathern thong, into the fire. For two or three minutes he stood and watched the letters burning; then he sat down at the table and wrote rapidly:

Dear Old Mac—You will find the bacon cut and the eggs ready for scrambling. The coffee is all made and is pretty good this morning. I have taken some of your cartridges. I found I didn't have quite enough of my own, and I may not have a chance to get any more. I am going away now. I shall not be back. I hope the rabbit pie will turn out to be a good one. Yours, HENDERSON.

He folded the letter and placed it under Macdonald's cup. Then he took the saddle to the stable, cinched it tightly on the pony, took his rifle, mounted and rode away up the trail which led directly into the mountains.

An hour later Macdonald returned with five rabbits swinging at his side. He was whistling. In one hand was his game and in the other he carried his rifle. When he reached the door of the cabin he kicked it to attract Henderson's attention. "Open the door, will you, old man?" he called.

There was no answer. Macdonald put down his rifle and entered. "Probably he's out at the stable," he thought. Then he saw the letter.

Macdonald sat down and stared blankly before him. "Won't be back!" he exclaimed. "Won't be back! What does all this mean?"

He went to the door and looked up and down the trail from the stable. There were no marks of a horse's feet showing on the frozen earth. Returning to the cabin he cooked his eggs and bacon, ate hurriedly, and again slinging his rifle over his arm he walked rapidly in the direction of Alamosa.

Henderson rode all day. At night he had come to the very crest of the mountain where the trail descended to the camp on the other side. It was near 6 o'clock. A moon was rising somewhere in the east, and Henderson watched it eagerly. He took from his saddlebag a can of meat and opened it, eating ravenously. The pony watched him. She whinnied, and called his attention to the fact he she had had nothing to eat since morning.

Henderson rose from the snow and put her bridle rein back over the saddle and led her to the trail which led back toward his cabin. "Go home, old girl," he said, "but don't tell them where you left me. This is as good a place as any in which to die. Go home."

The pony started down the trail. Henderson took a cartridge from his belt and fitted it into his rifle. "I wonder," he said, "if they kill quickly?"

He placed the butt of the gun against a jagged rock—the muzzle over his heart. Then he turned and looked out over the east to the moon, which was big and round and beautiful.

While he stood watching a soft indian rubber like nose was pushed over his shoulder, and the ugliest pony in all the San Luis said as plainly as a horse can say things that she was hungry and wanted to go home. Henderson dropped the rifle into the snow. "We'll give them one more chance, old lady," he said.

Then he climbed wearily into the saddle and rode down toward the valley.

When he reached Alamosa he took the pony to the stable and fed her royally.

Afterward he went to the postoffice. There was a letter there for him. This is what it said:

My Dear—I am so sorry—so dreadfully sorry—about it all. Mr. Macdonald has written Frances how you would not tell me about your failures and all that sort of thing. Why didn't you? Why couldn't you have told me that you wanted me to help you fight out? I would, dear—oh, I would! And why didn't you ask me whether I cared—cared more than anything in the whole world? Why didn't you, dear?

Surely to ask me to love you wouldn't be asking so very much. I am waiting, dear. Will you come? KATHERINE.

Henderson came out of the postoffice and found in front of the hotel a group of men. They were mounted and evidently ready to ride away. Macdonald was with them. "We'll go first up the trail toward Sunnyside," he said.

Henderson walked over to the group. "Were you looking for me, old man?" he asked. "If you were you're just in time to go with me to the station. The train leaves at midnight."

Then he handed the letter to Macdonald.

When the little narrow gauge train pulled out that night Henderson occupied one of the berths of the Denver sleeper. Three days later he was in New York. Katherine was waiting for him.

Where the System Was Weak.

"So you've been fighting, have you?" said Johnny's father, more in sorrow than in anger. "Well, did you beat him?"

"No," said his son.

The old man surveyed his son in silent grief.

"It's wicked to fight," he said absently, "but it's a sight wickeder to get beat. I was never beat when I was a boy, as I've often told you. When I was a boy I allus aimed to get in the first blow."

"That's what I did," said Johnny.

"Well, you must have been too easy with it. My system used to be to hit him one hard under the chin, and it would be all over. That system never failed."

"But suppose," said Johnny, "that when you got in that blow you knocked him on to a pile of bricks, and he finished up the contest with half a brick in each hand? What's the next move in the system that never failed when you were a boy?"

"My boy," said the old man after a moment's consideration, "I am surprised that you should expect your old dad to give you advice that would tend to cultivate a quarrelsome disposition in you. Go out and play."

The Art of Naming Horses.

I was asked to give the name for a horse the other day. This is not near so easy as you might imagine. It is very seldom that the name of a horse is altogether appropriate or is entirely satisfactory to the owner. Striking examples of success may be found in the astronomer who drives a tandem and who christened his leader Apogee and his wheeler Peri-gee, and in the medical student with a similar team who called his leader Os Frontis. —London Graphic.

THE WORD HUMBUG.

There Are Various Plausible Explanations of Its Origin.

The word "humbug" has been traced back to the title page of "The Universal Jester, a choice collection of merry conceits, bonmots and humbugs, by Ferdinando Killigrew, London, 1735-40." The following are the most plausible and possible derivations:

In the time of James II. a worthless coin was minted at Dublin from a soft mixed metal, which became known as ium bog, pronounced Oombug—i. e., soft copper, worthless money.

Some see in it a corruption of Hamburg, from which town so many false reports came during the war of 1799-1806 that such news was received with "Oh, that is a Hamburg!"

Others refer it to hum, in the sense of hoax, and bug, in the old sense of bugbear. Others say it is merely hum bum, used in combination to signify sound without sense. Others, again, think that it was first applied to Homberg, a chemist and an ardent seeker of the philosopher's stone.—Notes and Queries.

Living in a Bath.

Day and night a little girl patient at the London Hospital lives, sleeps and eats in a bath of warm water, for this is her only chance of surviving a terrible attack of typhoid fever, says The London Daily Mail of Dec. 4th. She is never left for an instant, and two nurses are watching her at the present moment, scarcely taking their eyes away from the sufferer till relieved by another pair of watchers. Five days ago the girl, who is only eleven years old, was placed in a large bath, seven feet long and four wide, "practically dead," as the doctor said yesterday. Her temperature was then 105 degrees Fahr., and everything had been tried and had failed to reduce it. The patient is lying on water pillows, and her body is entirely under water, which is kept at a constant temperature of 101 degrees by an arrangement of hot and cold water entering a mixing cistern, from which it flows into the bath and thence out by a pipe. In five days the girl's temperature fell to 103 degrees, but the crisis has yet to come, and at least three weeks must be spent in the bath before the disease can be shaken off. It is most unusual to find a typhoid case necessitating this treatment. Only once before has it been resorted to at the London Hospital, when some years ago a man was kept immersed for six weeks and recovered. In the present case the girl has moments of consciousness, during which she asks for her mother. Strict watch is kept, in case she turns her head in the restlessness of delirium and so puts her mouth under water.

WHY THEY ARE SO POPULAR.

Plattsville Lady's Experience With Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. Burnett was Weak, Suffering, and could not Sleep—Dodd's Kidney Pills Cured Her Completely.

Plattsville, Ont., May 2. (Special).—That Dodd's Kidney Pills are the recognized remedy for all kidney diseases in this neighbourhood, is due to the cures they make. Take the case of Mrs. J. Burnett. "I could not sleep, in fact I was a physical wreck, when reading of cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills led me to try them. Before I had finished one box there was an improvement in my condition. Twelve boxes cured me completely."

"I lost courage and thought I would never regain my health."

"Three years of delicate health trying doctors' prescriptions and patent medicines" without benefit might well sap the courage of any woman. And yet Mrs. Bryant proved that the question of the cure of womanly disease is only a question of using the right remedy. A few doses of 'Favorite Prescription' restored her courage and revived her hope, because she could see "a decided change from the first." Three

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures irregularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

Mrs. Sarah Bryant President of Memphis Social Science Club, residing at 371 Atkinson Ave., Memphis, Tenn., writes: "I suffered with delicate health for three years, trying doctors' prescriptions and patent medicines until I lost courage and thought I would never regain my health, but a few doses of your 'Favorite Prescription' made me change my mind. Could see a decided change from the first, so I kept on taking it for three months faithfully and am now in perfect health."

THE BOUNDARY LINE

Canadian Surveying Parties to Start From Vancouver.

WHAT IS EXPECTED OF THEM

550 Miles of the Canada-Alaska Boundary Will Have to Be Marked By the Surveyors—One-Tenth to Be Completed This Year—Chief Astronomer King Will Organize Canadian Parties.

Ottawa, May 3.—The work of delimiting the Canada-Alaska boundary according to the finding of the London Tribunal, will be begun early in June, and will be prosecuted by several parties of Canadian and American surveyors, operating conjointly until the end of September. From Mount St. Elias northward to the shores of the frozen sea the line has already been laid along the 141st parallel, according to treaty. This portion of the boundary was not in dispute. From St. Elias east and south around the coast strip to the head of Portland Channel, a distance of 550 miles, the boundary will have to be marked by the surveyors, as determined by the Tribunal.

It is expected that about one tenth of this distance will be delimited by the joint survey this season. This does not mean that it will take ten years to complete the marking of the boundary line; all that will require to be laid off is that portion of the boundary which crosses rivers, valleys and plateaus, in other words, the country through which travel is possible and prospecting probable. Mountain peaks will be assumed as boundary points wherever such have been marked on the map accompanying the finding of the Tribunal.

W. F. King, chief astronomer of the Dominion, and Mr. Titman, chief of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, the Commissioners for Canada and the United States, respectively, will not go to Alaska this season, but will see to the dispatch of the survey parties and afterwards reduce the results of their work to map form. Mr. King will leave for Vancouver, May 10. Then he will organize the three Canadian survey parties and start them for the field of operations.

Three American parties will be sent out at the same time. Two Canadian and two United States survey parties will work conjointly in the country where the boundary will cross the head waters of the Lynn Canal, and one Canadian and one American party will work together on the delimitation of the boundary where it will cross the Sitkine River. This will delimit the more important districts through which the boundary will pass.

C. A. Biggar, C.E., of Ottawa, and White Fraser, of Dawson, will be in charge of two of the Canadian parties.

THE WINDSOR MURDER.

Johnston George, Alleged Murderer of Mrs. Williams, Sent Down.

Windsor, May 3.—A green tin box figured prominently in the examination of Johnston George, the alleged murderer of Mrs. Williams, before Magistrate Bartlett yesterday and a sensation was promised. The box was said to have contained several important documents, including the deceased's bank book and a will of her father's.

Patrolman Giles stated that when the box came into his possession the bank book, deeds and all were missing, and the box had been forced open. It was later brought out that the documents were in the hands of Mrs. Gray, a daughter of Mrs. Williams.

Giles declared that when he and another officer got to the house of the murdered woman soon after the report of the finding of her body was made, they found this box, and that it was closed and had a lock on it.

The next witness was Mrs. Lucy Willis, grand-daughter of Mrs. Williams. She said she and Mrs. Gray had broken open the box and taken possession of the papers. She said they searched for them, hoping to find a motive for the murder. At the conclusion of the hearing, the prisoner was committed by Magistrate Bartlett for trial at the fall assizes.

Fell Thirty Feet.

Thorold, May 2.—Saturday morning as the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto electric engine was hauling a freight train on the trestle over the ravine near here, Robert Leary, the engineer, stepped out on the side of the motor to attend to the sand pipes. He slipped, falling to the ground, a distance of more than thirty feet. He was removed to the hospital at St. Catharines suffering from internal injuries.

LETTERS ON THE SUGAR BY-LAW.

Views of Some of Those Who Will Support it on Thursday.

IS MR. GORDON A MYTH?

To the Editor of the Examiner.
Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir,—While in town to-day I overheard a couple of men expressing doubt as to whether there was such a man as Mr. D. A. Gordon. Why don't they ask some of the Bank Managers of Peterborough? Mr. Gordon is one of the best known business men in Western Ontario. In Wallaceburg, Ontario, he has built up three of the largest factories of their kind in Canada, the Sugar Factory, the Sydenham Glass Works, employing 150 hands, and the Cooperage Factory, which supplies one million barrels alone to the sugar refiners of Montreal. Besides these great establishments Mr. Gordon is an important member of two gigantic lumber companies. How so busy a man became interested in Peterborough I do not know, but his proposal, if made to several other towns in Ontario, would be quickly accepted. He has never been known to fail in any business enterprise, and a man of his exceptionable ability is a very valuable asset in any community. Mr. Gordon is also the Liberal candidate of West Kent for the Dominion Commons, and a sure winner in the next campaign.

Yours, etc.,
WALLACEBURG TRAVELLER.

BERLIN'S ENTERPRISE.

To the Editor of the Examiner,
Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir,—A citizen of Berlin, Ont., visiting this town is astonished at the lack of enterprise among many of the citizens. When Berlin had a chance to get a beet sugar factory, the citizens in one week subscribed for $125,000 of stock in the Company, and the town granted a site and a $25,000 cash bonus. Berlin has not regretted it, and when the full requirement of beets is obtained, as it will be in a year or two, it will be one of the best of the town's industries. Berlin has no water power such as Peterborough has, yet she has at least two factories for every one here. Berlin would have voted unanimously for such a proposition as has been made Peterborough by the well-known business man of Western Ontario, Mr. D. A. Gordon.

Sincerely yours,
BERLIN CITIZEN

WORK AND TAXES.

To the Editor of the Examiner.
Peterborough, Ont,

Sir,—We hear much about the danger of our taxes being raised if the sugar by-law carries. Well, what the workingmen would like to know is how he can pay his taxes if he don't get work. Last summer many of us would have been idle, and in poverty, but for the Sugar Company. They employed 100 men and 50 boys for months and paid every cent of the wages. It was a God-send to many poor families in this town. Mr. Gordon, Mr. Kendry, Mr. Bradburn and Mr. Garvin are not the men to ask the town to vote for an unreasonable by-law, and every working man should support them.

Thanking you, sir, for your space,
Yours truly,
LABOURER.

Peterborough, May 3rd, 1904.

THE BEET SUPPLY.

To the Editor of the Examiner,
Peterborough, Ont

Sir,—When farmers can make a net profit per annum of more than 50 per cent. of the value of their land by growing sugar beets, the citizens need have no fear of a lack of supply. A sugar factory in Peterborough County will mean in a few years smaller farms and increased profits. This will enable many farmers to keep their sons at home instead of driving them to Manitoba and the Territories. It seems clear from the experience of farmers around Berlin and Wallaceburg that 10 acres of sugar beets, with soil properly prepared, will yield a larger profit than 30 acres of any other crop. That being so, a farmer could live well on a 30-acre farm by growing yearly 10 acres of beets, 10 acres of oats, and 10 acres of clover. The pulp from the factory, together with the oat straw and clover, would provide ample food for many cattle and hogs, to-day such a source of wealth to the farming community. By all means let the by-law be heartily supported.

RETIRED FARMER.

SUGAR COMPANY DIRECTORS.

To the Editor of the Examiner.
Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sir.—For the first time I learned yesterday who the Directors and officers of the local Sugar Company are, viz., T. E. Bradburn, (President,) James Kendry, M.P., J. W. Garvin (Managing Director and Secretary), Arthur Stevenson, and Thomas M. Hunter. Surely these are men of high character and ability, who have a vital interest in the best welfare of Peterborough. Those of us in the North Ward have not been aware of Mr. Kendry's close connection with the Sugar Company. He has done much for Peterborough in the past and especially for No. 4 ward, where the Auburn Mills are situated. For years he has received a salary of $10,000 per annum, paid by the Canada Woollen Mills Co., and a man of such capability is not likely to give wrong advice. At the Board of Trade meeting he spoke from personal knowledge of the Berlin Sugar factory, and strongly urged our citizens to vote for the by-law. The North Ward should give the by-law a hearty support.

Truly yours.
NORTH WARDER.

An Open Letter.

From the Chapin, S. C., News: Early in the spring my wife and I were taken with diarrhoea, and so severe were the pains that we called in a physician, who prescribed for us, but his medicines failed to give any relief. A friend who had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand, gave each of us a dose and we at once felt the effects. I procured a bottle and before using the entire contents we were entirely cured. It is a wonderful remedy and should be found in every household. H. C. Bailey, Editor. JAPANESE GENERAL WAS AGAIN FOILED

Another Desperate Attempt to Bottle up Port Arthur.

EIGHT OF HIS FIRESHIPS SUNK

Russian Loss in the Yalu Fight Now Admitted to be Between 3,000 and 4,000 Killed in Battle—What Viceroy Alexieff Reports to the Czar—Bayonet Charges Were Frequent.

St. Petersburg, May 4.—High Admiral Grand Duke Alexis has received the following official telegram from Viceroy Alexieff, reporting the Japanese attempt to block Port Arthur early yesterday morning:

"I respectfull report to Your Highness that a fresh attack was made by the enemy last night with the object of obstructing the entrance to the port, and that it was successfully repelled.

"At 1 o'clock this morning five torpedo boats were perceived from the eastern batteries. Under the fire of our warships and the batteries they retreated southward.

"At 1.45 o'clock the first fireship, escorted by several torpedo boats, was sighted, and we opened fire upon it from the batteries and the warships. Three-quarters of an hour afterwards our searchlights revealed a number of fireships making for the entrance of the harbor from the east and southeast. The coast defence vessels Otvashni and Gremieshchi and the gunboat Gilliak repulsed each by a well-directed fire.

Eight Fire Ships Were Sunk.

"Altogether eight ships were sunk by our vigorous cannonado, by Whitehead torpedoes launched from our torpedo boats and by the explosion of several submarine mines. Further, according to the reports of the officers commanding the batteries and the gunboat Gilliak, two Japanese torpedo boats were destroyed.

"After 4 o'clock a. m. the batteries and warships ceased fire, subsequently firing only at intervals on the enemy's torpedo boats, which were visible on the horizon.

"Up to the present, thirty men, including two mortally wounded officers, who took refuge on a launch, have been rescued from the fireships by us or picked up. The inspection of the roadstead and the work of saving the enemy's men were hindered by the heavy sea running. We suffered no casualties, with the exception of a seaman belonging to the torpedo boat destroyer Bocvoi.

"On the appearance of the first fireship, accompanied by the enemy's torpedo boats, I boarded a launch and proceeded to the Otvashni to take immediate measures for repulsing the fireships. With me were Lieut.-Gen. Zilinski and Captain Eberhardt of the naval general staff. Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel was on the fortifications at the same time, and Gen. Loschinsky, chief of the defence forces of the forces, was on board the Giliak."

Jap Crews Seen.

Port Arthur, May 4.—The crews of the Japanese fireships which were sunk yesterday morning while attempting to block the channel tried to save themselves by putting to sea in boats. A majority of them were killed by the Russian machine guns and rifles. Some of the survivors were picked up.

At daybreak a number of Japanese were seen clinging to the masts and funnels of the sunken vessels and they were rescued by the Russians. Thirteen of the wounded Japanese have since died. The Russians supplied the survivors with food and clothing, and the wounded were taken to the hospital ship Mongolia.

During the morning ten of the enemy's torpedo boats remained in the offing and were fired on at long range.

At 9.30 o'clock it was signalled that there was a Japanese fleet in the vicinity and that two of the enemy's launches had been run ashore.

Frequent Bayonet Charges.

St. Petersburg, May 4.—The Emperor has received a telegram, under yesterday's date, from Gen. Kuropatkin, describing the fight of May 1. In it he says:

"Thirty Japanese guns were pitted against our battery at Potietinski, which, after having silenced the enemy's mountain battery, directed its fire on the Japanese infantry and sustained few losses so long as it was not obliged to take up another position owing to the withdrawal of our infantry from the bank.

"The Japanese under our fire made continual bayonet attacks on our troops.

"Simultaneously with the attack at Potietinsky an attack was being made on our left flank at Turencheng and the Russian trenches had to be abandoned owing to the Japanese enfilading fire.

"The losses of the 11th and 12th Regiments were very great, but they are not yet exactly known.

"In the 11th the killed included Col. Laming and Lieut.-Cols. Domeli and Rafevsky. The 12th lost nine company commanders killed or wounded.

"The second and third batteries of the 6th Brigade, having lost the greater number of their men and horses, were compelled to abandon their guns after rendering them useless. For the same reason six guns of the third battery of the 3rd Brigades of Artillery and eight poulemmets, which could not be brought away, were also disabled. The mountainous nature of the country made it impossible to save the guns by means of drag ropes.

"Up to the present, 800 wounded, including fourteen officers, have been brought to the hospital at Fengwangcheng. Their eventual transportation elsewhere is fully assured.

Admits Loss of 4,000.

"Lieut.-General Sassulitch declares that the troops retained their morale, notwithstanding the heavy losses, and are ready for fresh engagements.

"The Japanese losses were very heavy at the passage of the Ai River, at their position at Turencheng, and on the hill occupied by the two battalions of the 11th Regiment.

"According to the statements of participants in the battle, at least 3,000 to 4,000 were killed."

Jap Casualities 798.

Tokio, May 4.—A supplementary report was received here yesterday from Gen. Kuroki. It is dated yesterday, and says:

"Yesterday the enemy offered a stubborn resistance against our pursuit, adding about 300 to our casualties. The enemy stood with resolution until their artillery, consisting of two batteries, lost the majority of its men and horses. They then broke the breeches and closing apparatus of their guns, and hoisted the white flag.

"According to a captured Russian officer, Major-General Kastalinsky, commander of the 3rd East Siberian Rifle Brigade, the colonels of the 11th and 12th Rifle Regiments and the commander of the rifle artillery battalion were killed in the fighting at Hamalan.

"It seems that the enemy was entirely routed by our attack, because since yesterday many have come in and surrendered. Our prisoners include thirty officers, twenty of whom are wounded, and 300 men, 100 of whom are wounded.

"A preliminary report from the chief surgeon of the 1st Japanese Army shows that we had 798 men killed and wounded. The casualties are divided as follows:

"The Imperial Guards, 132; 2nd Division, 350; 3rd Division, 316."

Japs Capture Newchwang.

London, May 4.—The Che Foo correspondent of The Daily Chronicle cables the following, under yesterday's (Tuesday) date: "The Japanese landed troops and attacked and captured Newchwang last evening, the Russians falling back to protect the railway."

The Joy of Victory.

Tokio, May 4.—The greatest popular demonstration since the beginning of the war occurred in Tokio last evening. The capital was showing its joy at the Japanese victory on the Yalu.

Two Russian Generals Wounded.

St. Petersburg, May 4.—It is now admitted here that both Generals Zassalitch and Kashalinsky were wounded and that twenty-seven guns were captured by the Japanese on Sunday.

Jap Artillery Superior.

St. Petersburg, May 4.—Gen. Kuropatkin's official report, dated May 2, says Gen. Kassalitch's forces retreated in good order, eventually arriving at Fengwangcheng. He attributes the losses on the Yalu to the superiority of the Japanese artillery.

Seventy-eight in shade yesterday.

WHO MAY VOTE ON THURSDAY:

A number of persons are asking who may vote on the two by-laws to be submitted on Thursday, May 6th, and, for the benefit of those in doubt, the Examiner has consulted the Consolidated Municipal Act of 1903, from which it is learned that all freeholders, being a man, unmarried woman or widow of the full age of twenty-one years, and all leaseholders whose lease extends over the period of the debt contracted for in the by-law, which, in the case of the sugar by-law, is ten years, and in the collegiate institute by-law, thirty years, and who have covenanted in the lease to pay all municipal taxes except those for local improvements, may vote on the by laws.

Voting will open at nine o'clock in the morning and continue till five o'clock in the afternoon at the regular polling places.

THE NEW WOMAN.

Mrs. Emma Mitchell, 520 Louisiana street, Indianapolis, Ind., writes:

"For the past five years I have rarely been without pain, but Peruna has changed all this, and in a very short time. I think I had taken only two bottles before I began to recuperate very quickly, and seven bottles made me well. I do not have headache or backache any more, and have some interest in life."—Emma Mitchell.

The coming of what is known as the "new woman" in our country is not greeted by everyone as if she were a great blessing. But there is another new woman whom everybody is glad to see. Every day some invalid woman is exclaiming, "I have been made a new woman by Dr. Hartman's home treatment." It is only necessary to send name, address, symptoms, duration of sickness and treatment already received to Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio, and directions for one month's treatment will be promptly forwarded.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Pitiful Helplessness

Victims of nervous diseases are the most to be pitied, because their ailment usually terminates in mental or physical helplessness. Paralysis, locomotor ataxia and insanity can only be avoided by building up the nervous system at the first sign of trouble and there is no preparation so well suited for the purpose as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great nerve restorative.

FATALITY TO FISH AND MUSKRATS.

The Regrettable Effects of Low Water in Mud Lake Upon Fish and Game.

"An Indian's Lament," would be a very appropriate title to a paragraph complaining of the fatal effects of low water in Mud Lake upon fish, and muskrats also. Mr. John Jacobs of the Indian Village, reports that at the north end of Mud Lake especially, the results of low water during the winter are to be seen in the thousands of dead bass and lunge piled up on the shores of the lake. Mr. Jacobs says that these disastrous results are due to the low water in the lake, the water at the northern end being at times less than a foot in average depth. In some places the ice formed to the very bottom, and in others it was so thick that the water though of varying depths under the ice averaged only about a foot in depth. Consequently the death of fish in thousands resulted.

He also says that the low water caused great destruction among the muskrats. After their huts had been built, the falling of the water left them high and dry and unsuitable for occupation. The rats therefore left them and large numbers of them died.

He also suggested that better means should be employed in regulating the height of the waters. The Government goes to considerable expense and trouble to stock our waters with fish, and it is a pity conditions should be permitted which lead to their destruction.

INVITATION FOR A FOURTH YEAR.

Rev. H. McQuade Asked to Remain at Warsaw Another Year.

Warsaw, May 2.

At the regular May Quarterly meeting to-day, the Board of the Warsaw circuit unanimously requested the pastor, Rev. H. McQuade, to remain for a fourth year, which request was accepted in a few well chosen words, whereupon the board unanimously passed the following resolution:

"That we as a Board, desire to express to our pastor, now at the close of his third year, a sense of our appreciation of the valuable services he has rendered on this charge since his arrival in our midst, for by an able and judicious management of all temporal matters, in building up the charge, he has proved successful and by faithful pastoral visitation, as well as sound and eloquent pulpit ministration he has contributed to our intellectual and spiritual welfare, as manifested in the outpouring of God's Holy Spirit at our communion service yesterday, and indeed a growing spiritual interest in all of our congregations."

To this motion Mr. McQuade made a feeling reply. Com.

BLOTCHY SKINS.

A Trouble due to Impure Blood Easily Remedied.

Bad blood is the one great cause of bad complexion and blotchy skins. This is why you must attack the trouble through the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. All blotches boils, ulcers, pimples and paleness are the direct, unmistakable result of weak blood loaded with impurities. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills conquer the poison; they drive out all the impurities; they actually make new, rich, red blood; they strike right at the root of all complexion troubles; they are a positive and permanent cure for all virulent skin diseases like eczema, scrofula, pimples, and erysipelas. They give you a clear, clean, soft skin, free from all blemish and full of rosy health. Mr. Matthew Cook, Lamerton, N.W.T., tells how Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured him of erysipelas after other medicines had failed. He says: "My skin was inflamed; my flesh tender and sore; my head ached; my tongue was coated; I had chills and thought I was taking fever. I tried several medicines, but nothing helped me, until I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and they drove the trouble from my system, and I am now in the best of health. I think these pills the best medicine in the world for blood troubles."

It is an everyday record of cures like this that has given Dr. Williams Pink Pills their world-wide prominence. They cure when other medicines fail, but you must get the genuine with the full name, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People on the wrapper around every box. You can get these pills at all druggists or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

(From our own Correspondent.)

The fall wheat was very much improved in appearance by the rain that fell on Sunday, April 24th. The severe frosts at night, as well as the heat of the day, had done it some damage.

The swamp drain is progressing but the severe winter and the depth of the snow has hindered the work. When completed and the roads made, Peterborough will be brought nearer by four miles, so that it will be the future market for all living north and west of Mount Pleasant. The drain will cost a large sum and we expect to receive help from those municipalities that will be benefitfitted by the opening of the two roads through the swamp.

The farmers are now busy seeding and we are sure of the fulfilment of the promise made of seed-time and harvest.

The roads are in very good condition, considering the severe winter we have passed through.

We were sorry to hear of the loss sustained by Mr. W. Thexton, of Millbrook recently. The cause of the fire is unknown.

LAST EVENING'S PLEASING CONCERT

In the Y. M. C. A. was Attended by a Large Audience.

Concert was Under Auspices of the Football Club—Program was of an Interesting Nature.

The Y.M.C.A. Hall was well filled last evening, the occasion being the concert under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A. Football Club, champions of the Midland League. The fact that weather conditions were of a tempting nature to enjoy a spring stroll, combined with the appearance of the band and the 57th Regiment on the streets in their march out, undoubtedly kept many away, but nevertheless there was a large and very appreciative audience, which gave each performer an attentive hearing.

The programme was one of considerable merit, and one which provided much enjoyment. The audience was in an enthusiastic frame of mind and every number was encored.

The programme opened with a brilliantly executed piano solo, "Grand Polka de Concert," by Miss Wilhelmine Gumpricht, whose interpretation of the selection was very artistic and an encore was demanded. Miss Ruth Dawson was very successful in the rendition of her solo, "The Village Wedding Song," displaying a soprano voice of pleasing quality. For an encore she sang, "Mighty Lak' a Rose." Mr. A. E. Brundrette was heard to splendid advantage in the song, "In the Heart of the Mighty Deep." Mr. Brundrette's voice shows great possibilities, and his singing is marked by careful expression. In response to an encore he sang "Afton Water." Mrs. C. B. McAllister was very enthusiastically received upon singing "Voices of the Wood," a very musical composition, and for an encore sang most effectively "Ye Banks and Braes." Mr. W. D. Campbell gave a reading, "Travelling with a Reformer," which proved very popular, and received prolonged applause. Mr. R. N. Jolliffe followed with Adam's "Maid of Malabar," and was encored. A recitation by Mr. Dunlow was given with good effect, and a humorous monologue was the encore. Mr. Sidney Glass delighted the audience with his rendition of Bartlett's "A Dream," and for an encore sang "Message of the Violet," in very pleasing voice. Mr. F. H. Dobbin's humorous Chalk Talk, on the peculiarities of school days forty years ago was very entertaining, and his illustrations representative of some of the drawing at the school in those days was quite amusing. A very enjoyable programme was concluded by a solo, "Rose of My Life," which was rendered in very pleasing voice, and with much expression by Mr. Alf. Young, who was also encored.

The accompanists of the evening were Mrs. W. J. Morrow, who played for her pupils, Miss E. L. Jolliffe, and Mr. George Schneider.

The Football Club have every reason to feel gratified with the success of their concert, and it is to be hoped that the same success will be their's on the football field.

FIRST MARCH-OUT VIEWED BY HUNDREDS.

57th Regiment Started Season well, by Street Parade Last Night.

That there is a strong military spirit among the citizens of Peterborough was evidenced last night when many hundreds of citizens turned out for the purpose of witnessing the first march-out of the season for the 57th Regiment, headed by the two bands in full strength.

The Regiment made a highly creditable showing indeed, particularly when it is remembered that last night was the first march-out for the season.

Over 200 men were in the line and the boys certainly have reason to be proud of the showing they made last night. The different companies turned out in good strength, and all marched well.

No. 8 Company gives promise of being the popular company this year, and its appearance last night created a great deal of favourable comment. The members presented a smart, soldierly appearance, and won many hearty expressions of commendation.

CONTROL OF STOCK

Wide Discussion on the Grand Trunk Pacific Bill.

NO VISIBLE PROGRESS MADE

Question of Speculation in Stock Raised, But the Premier and Others Pointed Out the Reasonableness of Amendment to Enable Grand Trunk Railway to Make Financial Arrangements.

Ottawa, May 4.—No visible progress was made in committee on the Grand Trunk Pacific bill yesterday. The clause nominally under consideration was that providing that the Grand Trunk Railway Company shall retain control of the stock of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company to such an extent as to dominate in voting power the other shareholders of the company and direct the operations. The Opposition contended that the Government had abandoned the position taken last year, of opposition to speculation in the stock of the company, but the Premier, Finance Minister and Minister of Justice pointed out that the amendment allowing the Grand Trunk Railway to dispose of a portion of the stock was reasonable, and that the original contract imposed restrictions entirely unnecessary in order to accomplish the result aimed at, and which, moreover, hampered the Grand Trunk Railway in making financial arrangement. The committee wandered away from the clause under consideration, and a general debate upon the principle of the bill took place, in the course of which the relative merits of the all-rail and combined rail and water routes were discussed. The clause had not been disposed of when the House rose.

Suspension of Rules.

The rules of the House were suspended for the presentation and reception of the following petitions for private bills, the time having nominally expired:

Respecting the Ottawa Electric Company—Mr. Morrison.

A Dangerous Elevator.

Before the orders of the day were called, Mr. Macpherson (Burrard) called attention to a peril through which several of the members, including himself, had passed to-day. They were descending in the west elevator, and when about one story from the bottom the car took a sudden drop, with a speed suggestive of a King's plater on the way to the finish. They were sent to the bottom with very unnecessary and indecent haste. Had the machinery given way when they were at the top one of the first families of the land would now be wearing crepe. (Laughter and cries of "Name.")

Hon. Mr. Sutherland was glad to hear that the old complaint, so often heard, that the elevator was not running, did not apply, even if the speed was a little rapid. He promised to investigate the matter.

Mr. Barker's Complaint.

Mr. Barker complained of an editorial reference in Monday's Globe criticizing him for referring to Northern Ontario as the land of jack pine, spruce and poplar. He said the words had been quoted from a speech by Sir Wilfrid Laurier last year. If anyone were to be criticized it should be the Premier.

"If my hon. friend quotes my words and takes their spirit as well as the words, I have no fault to find," observed the Premier, quietly, in closing the incident.

Brockville Mail Connection.

Mr. Taylor again brought up his complaint that the G.T.R. mail from Toronto did not connect with the C. P.R. for Ottawa at Brockville.

Sir Wm. Mulock said the difficulty could be got over if the C.P.R. would make connection at Brockville. "I have no objection," he added, "to the question being brought up frequently, as the time has come when we should have control over the movement of the railway trains."

Transcontinental Railway Bill.

The House then went again into committee on the Transcontinental Railway bill, taking up clause 9, permitting the Grand Trunk Railway Company to make what disposition they may deem expedient of the $25,000,000 common stock, so long as they retain a majority of the stock of the company by such margin as would enable them to control the policy of the company.

The House adjourned at 11.40 p. m.

COMMONS RAILWAY COMMITTEE.

Two Guelph Railway Bills Were Approved—C.P.R. May Build.

Ottawa, May 4.—The Commons Railway Committee yesterday morning approved two bills providing for the construction of railways from Guelph to Goderich. One is the Guelph Junction bill and the other is a bill incorporating the Guelph & Goderich Railway Company was reported by the Committee. Is is for an extension of the Guelph Junction Railway to a point on Lake Huron, near the Town of Goderich.

A clause was inserted in the Guelph Junction bill providing that it could enter into an agreement with the Canadian Pacific Railway or the Goderich Railway Company for the construction of the Goderich extension. A similar clause was inserted in the Goderich bill.

The Walkerton & Lucknow Railway Company's bill was held over at the request of Mr Tolmie, so that some parties in his constituency might be heard in regard to it. It will come up on Tuesday next.

Bounty Per Dog Fish.

Ottawa, May 4.—Peter Morris, Caraquet, N.B., who was a commissioner along with Prof. Prince to enquire into the dog fish pest in the Maritime Provinces, has arrived here to make his report to the department. The opinion of the fishermen is that a bounty of from 1 cent to 3 cents each for dog fish caught by the fishermen should be allowed by the department. Mr. Morris thinks that 1½ cents is about right. The fishermen also suggest that the Government cruisers be supplied with fishing gear so as to aid in exterminating this nuisance. The Gloucester fishing fleet alone lost $40,000 last season by reason of the dog-fish evil.

Senator Reid Dead.

Vancouver, B.C., May 4.—Senator James Reid of Cariboo, died here last evening at 8.30 o'clock at the age of 65 years. The deceased was taken dangerously ill soon after reaching Ottawa for the session, and was brought home to the coast in the hope that a change of climate would be of benefit. He, however, had a relapse recently.

Barn Raising Fatality.

Shelburne, May 4.—A serious accident occurred at a barn raising about three miles from here Monday in raising the rafters on the plat, one of them slipped in some way and fell to the ground, striking Henry Besley, jr., on the forehead. He was rendered unconscious. There is no hope for his recovery.

Premier Ross' Long Day.

If You Have These Symptoms

Send for My Book.

If you want to feel better.
If you want more strength.
If you lack ambition.
If you can't do things like you used to.
If you lack confidence in yourself.
If your nerve—your courage—is leaving you.
If you lack vim, vigour, vitality.
If something is eating away your constitution, write to me for the book you need.

The book tells of my discovery. Tells how after thirty years I found the cause of these symptoms, and many others given above.

The book tells how by scientific experiment I traced out the causes that bring on chronic diseases. It tells how I perfected my prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative.

I found invariably that where there was a weakness the inside nerves were weak. Where there was a lack of vitality that the vital nerves lacked power. Where weak organs were found, I always found weak nerves. Not the nerves commonly thought of, but the vital organs' nerves, the inside—the invisible nerves.

This was a revelation. Then my real success began.

Then I combined ingredients that would strengthen, that would vitalize these nerves. That prescription I called a restorative. It is known the world over now as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. After that I did not fail to cure one case in each hundred. In the extremely difficult cases my failures for five years were one in each forty treated. I found cancer incurable. Cancer is for surgery, not medicine.

Then how to get this prescription to sick ones everywhere was my thought. I must announce it in the public press. But, thought I, will they realize the truth of my discovery—the real power of Dr. Shoop's Restorative? Then a way came to me—like an inspiration. "I will offer it to the sick on trial. Then they will know I am sincere."

I wrote a reliable druggist in each city and village in America. They agreed to co-operate with me

Now by any sick one

can be taken on trial. For a full month I will let you use it entirely at my risk.

Send me no money. Just write me for the book you need. When I send it I will tell you of a druggist near by who will permit the month's trial. Use the Restorative a month—then decide. If you say to the druggist, "It did not help me," that will relieve you of any expense whatever. He will bill the cost. This is my way of clearing your mind of all doubts as to what Dr. Shoop's Restorative can do. No matter how prejudiced, you cannot dispute this absolute security I offer. You cannot resist an offer like this of you are at all sick.

If you have a weakness, write me. If you can't do things like you used to do them, tell me about it.

Write in confidence. As a physician I will tell you a way to help. Get my book now—to-day.

TORONTO TO SUDBURY.

C.P.R.'s New Extension Will Be Pushed At Once.

Ottawa, May 4.—Very little comment is heard in Ottawa upon the announcement that the C.P.R. have started work on a branch line to run direct from Sudbury to Toronto. The records of the departments show that plans and profiles for a branch line from Sudbury to Kleinberg, on the Ontario and Quebec Railway, were filed by the C.P.R. in November, 1902, "as provided for in clause 14 of the C.P.R. charter," the distance is given as 225 miles from Sudbury to Kleinberg, which is 21 miles distant from Toronto, on the Toronto, Orangeville and Owen Sound branch of the C. P. R. The plan shows the proposed Sudbury-Toronto branch to cross French River, near its mouth, and follow generally the east shore of Georgian Bay and run thence south to Kleinberg, passing through Barrie, on the west shore of Lake Simcoe.

Will Be Pushed.

Montreal, May 4.—D. McNicol, vice-president of the C.P.R., declares that there is no bluff about the Toronto-Sudbury road, as it will be pushed through at once, and that no aid, either Federal or Provincial, will be asked.

CAUSED A FLURRY.

St. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain and His Son Deny Insinuations.

London, May 4.—Quite a little breeze was raised in the House of Commons yesterday, during the discussion of the budget resolution increasing the duties on tobacco and cigars, by Reginald McKenna (Liberal), who insinuated that the Chancellor of the Exchequer had been influenced by Joseph Chamberlain's tariff commission and a certain tobacco merchant who would reap direct benefit from an increased duty on stripped tobacco.

Both the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Austen Chamberlain, and his father, jumped up and heatedly demanded that Mr. McKenna should formulate his charges in express terms.

Mr. McKenna then disclaimed the slightest intention of imputing anything dishonorable to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, but he maintained that it was remarkable that a member of Mr. Chamberlain's commission correctly anticipated what the budget proposals were going to be.

Commission at Port Colborne.

Port Colborne, May 4.—The Government transportation commissioners arrived here at 1 p.m. yesterday, coming up the canal on the tug Alert from Thorold. In the party were: Robert Redford of Montreal, John Bertram of Toronto, their secretaries; J. L. Wellar, superintendent of the Welland Canal; Joseph Battle of Thorold and Dewitt Carter of Port Colborne. The new elevator site and breakwater were inspected. Mr. Coate and Mr. Grant of the Public Works Department, met the commissioners and looked over charts, and expert evidence was given upon the works already completed and the new eastern breakwater and other improvements under contemplation.

Preferential Railway Rates.

London, May 4.—(C. A. P.)—Lord Onslow, President of the Board of Agriculture, has appointed a committee to inquire into the rates charged by the railway companies in Britain for the carriage of foreign and colonial farm, dairy and market-garden produce from the port of shipment to its arrival at the principal urban centres and to report any evidence of preferential treatment.

Jailed For Bigamy.

Woodstock, May 4.—William Henry Smith, alias William Moore, who married Mary Ball in Fredonia, N. Y., in May, 1901, and Miss Emily Cooper, of Woodstock, in this city, in January of this year (the last being his third matrimonial venture), was yesterday morning sentenced to six months in the Central Prison by Judge Finkle for bigamy.

Attacked For Ignorance.

London, May 3.—(C.A.P.)—The Glasgow Herald attacks the House of Lords and Lord Marlborough and Muskerry particularly for their ignorance in the matter of the Scotia salvage case. If instead of the Government departments the Anchor Line had been consulted, it would have been found that the Canadian Government would have made handsome reparation months ago. It is unfair to the Canadian Government that it should be allowed to lie under the imputation of dishonesty.

Killed in Collision.

Barrie, May 3.—A fatal railway accident occurred at 3 o'clock yesterday morning at South River by which Fireman John Reynolds of Allandale lost his life. A freight in charge of Conductor Frank Heard was standing on the main line when another freight train run into its rear end, killing the fireman, badly scalding Engineer George Dodson, and injuring Brakeman William Woodruff. Reynolds was an unmarried man, about 25 years.

SOCIAL EVENT OF SPECIAL INTEREST.

Mr. Wm Comstock Married This Afternoon to Miss Eva Maud Cowie.

A wedding of much interest was celebrated at three o'clock to-day, at the residence of Mr. William Cowie, 219 Simcoe street, when his second daughter, Miss Eva Maud, was united in marriage to Mr. William Comstock.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. P. Wilson, of the George street Methodist church, in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties.

The bride entered the drawing room accompanied by her father, to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Dollie Comstock, sister of the groom. The bride was charmingly attired in a costume of cream duberry corded silk, with trimmings of pearl and chiffon, and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Lottie Cowie, who wore a gown of grey silk, with trimmings of chiffon and steel, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mr. Manson Comstock, brother of the groom, acted in the capacity of groomsman.

At the conclusion of the marriage ceremony the wedding party partook of the wedding dejeuner, served by Mr. Harry Long.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many beautiful, costly and useful presents. The groom, who is one of Peterborough's most promising young business men, was handsomely remembered by his friends.

Among the presents was a beautiful silver pudding dish, given by Eko Camp Club, of which Mr. Comstock is a member. The groom's gift to the bride was a gold watch, while to the bridesmaid he gave a crescent of pearls.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Edmunds, of Detroit, the latter a sister of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Comstock left on the 5.10 C.P.R. express for points in the west, and on their return will reside on Sherbrooke street.

A COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE BUILDING.

To-morrow the qualified ratepayers will vote on a bylaw to provide funds for a Collegiate Institute Building. The bylaw is most erroneously spoken of as a bylaw to build a "new" Collegiate Institute. It is nothing of the kind — it is a bylaw to provide funds for "a" Collegiate Institute Building.

We have no Collegiate Institute buildings now — never have had. The present building used for Institute purposes is a public school building, rented for the occasion, a temporary and makeshift arrangement, which has lasted for years. The building now used for Institute purposes is entirely unfitted for such, though it would make excellent public school buildings, for which it was intended, and for which it is now urgently needed. It is almost as unfit, in size, and possibilities for proper equipment, for a Collegiate Institute, as it is for a church. We hold it only on sufferance; it is now required for public school purposes, and we must either provide an Institute building, or build new public school buildings.

Another popular error is that new Institute buildings would add largely to the taxation burdens of the people. This is a mistake, a decided mistake.

Are the taxpayers aware, or do they reflect, that we are now paying something like $40,000 for the present unsuitable buildings, which the Institute occupies to its own detriment, to the detriment of the public school, and to the detriment of the good name of the town—do they consider the fact that we are paying for these buildings $40,000 or more?

This is easily demonstrated. We pay in rental for the Central public school buildings, occupied as an Institute, $1,100 per year. We are paying in rental and taxes $550 for the Menzies building. If we had a properly built and equipped Institute building our Government grant would be increased, for at the present time, paid, as it is, on sufferance, it is far less than is paid to the superior institutes in towns of about one-third less population than Peterborough. It is a very moderate statement to say that with a properly built and equipped Institute building, our Government grant would be increased by at least $250 a year, and it would be further increased if Technical Education were added, as it could be in a new building. Stratford, with a population, according to the last census, of 9,959, as against Peterborough's population, according to the same census, of 11,239, with Technical Education included, gets a Government grant of $2,690.76, as against $1,217.83 received by Peterborough. Then with a new building we would attract additional county and outside pupils, and an increase of ten outside pupils only would mean an increase of fees of $250 a year.

Now take what we are actually paying for a so-called Institute building, $1,100, and what we are paying for public school building's rental, $550 — and we have a total of $1,650, which we are now paying in cold cash. This, taken with what we should gain in increased Government grant, $250, and $250 we should get from increased fees — a very moderate estimate, and we have a grand total of $2,150.

This large sum, represents money we are actually paying or losing—for the deficiency has to be made up by taxation—for a so-called Collegiate Institute. In other words we are paying for, in every way, inferior accommodation, every year, the interest at four per cent. on $53,750.

We are practically and actually now, at this moment, paying interest on $53,750, for the mere use of public school buildings, which the public school needs.

We must either have an Institute building or build new public schools, or thrust out the Institute from the present public school buildings. If we do not erect an Institute building, we shall have to build additional public school buildings. If we build an Institute building the present central public school building would be available for public school purposes, and meet the public school needs. We could then give up the Menzies building and save thereby a rental, with taxes, of $550, or the interest at four per cent., on $13,000.

The situation is briefly this: If we do not have a Collegiate Institute Building we must build public schools, and even then if we continue to occupy the present inadequate buildings, impossible of proper equipment, we run the risk of having our Government grant reduced, and also the risk of having our Institute degraded to the rank of a mere High School, thus placing us upon the same level as Omemee in matters of higher education. For it is not to be expected that the Government will continue to spare the wealthy town of Peterborough of 14,000 population with city standing in every respect, but in time, especially when towns of one-third or one-half less population, draw Government grants on Collegiate Institute buildings and work, on their merits, and not on sufferance, as is the case with Peterborough.

We thus see that a Collegiate Institute Building will not add materially to the rate of taxation. We are actually and practically now paying interest on $53,750, and if that amount will erect a building we shall be getting a new building without any additional payment. If a building should cost $50,000, we shall have to provide for less than we are paying for now.

The ratepayers and citizens are face to face with a crisis in educational matters. It is admitted that we are behind towns of far inferior importance to Peterborough. Shall we continue to thus be humiliated? It is admitted that we need a Collegiate Institute building, that we need the increased public school accommodation, which a new building will supply. It is admitted that, considering what we now pay in rental, a Collegiate Institute building will involve little, if any, additional cost.

The question to-morrow is, shall Peterborough stand still in educational matters, when we are forging ahead in every other respect? Shall Peterborough continue to lead the towns of the Dominion and Province? The answer is in the hands of the ratepayers.

CORDAGE COMPANY'S SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

Reports Presented at Yesterday's Meeting Show Profit.

A very large and representative meeting of the shareholders of the Canadian Cordage and Manufacture Company, Limited, was held at the offices of the Company on Tuesday afternoon, at three o'clock. There were shareholders present from different parts of the Province of Ontario. They made a thorough inspection of the Company's plant, and all were unanimous in their praises of the fact that they were interested in the most modern and best equipped cordage factory on this continent. They were particularly pleased with the new and up-to-date machinery and labor saving devices and conveniences which the Company have installed. They were all loud in their praises of the splendid quality of rope and twine which the Company manufactured from day to day in such large quantities. They were particularly struck with the hum of industry that is produced by the electrical motors installed in the various departments of the factory, which operate the extensive machinery. They regarded as a high tribute to the successful management of the Company the fact that five hundred horse power could be supplied to the factory at such a low cost as ten dollars per horse power per annum, in the face of the fact that the most modern steam engines of similar capacity can only supply such power for the same purpose at a sum not less than $12,500 per year in excess of the amount paid for electrical power.

The report of the Directors to the shareholders shows that the Company now have a paid up capital of $498,455.60, and that the net profits at the credit of Profit and Loss down to the seventh of February, 1904, is $36,170.30.

The Company last year sold for delivery in the United States 1,200 tons of twine, and have this year sold and delivered in different parts of the United States over 1,500 tons of Standard Twine. The trade of the Company in Binder Twine, Rope and Lath Yarn has extended from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The Directors elected for the ensuing year are: Mr. Adam Hall, President; John Lang, M.P., and Mr. W. H. Meldrum, Vice-Presidents, and Mr. John A. Bennett and Mr. Jas. S. Latimer.

BEET SUGAR GUARNTEE BYLAW.

To-morrow the qualified ratepayers will be called upon to vote upon a bylaw, which is intimately connected with the industrial advancement of the town. They will be called upon to say whether or not they will consent to assist the establishment of the beet root sugar industry in Peterborough. The Examiner yesterday set forth the merits of the proposition as plainly as possible and we devoted a large amount of space to giving other information on the subject. It is not, therefore necessary to go into minute details, but to re-state briefly the principal features concerned in the proposition.

The proposition expressed by the bylaw, it is fair to explain, is not a bonus, it is simply to guarantee or endorse the bonds of the Company to the extent of $100,000. To indemnify the town against loss, the security offered is a first mortgage upon the completed machinery and buildings, which it is estimated will be worth $350,000. This sum, per se, would constitute ample security and would be unquestionable if the success of the beet sugar enterprise were assured. In the abstract, there is no doubt that the manufacture of sugar from beets is practicable, and whether it is made profitable in Ontario depends upon the business management that is given it. It has been proven that in this district we can grow beets of an exceptionally high sugar value. The point is to get the farmers to grow them in sufficient quantities, and then that good business methods be employed in making use of them.

In this latter matter the coming of Mr. D. A. Gordon into the enterprise should beget confidence. As we stated yesterday Mr. Gordon is well known as a man of first-class business ability, of unquestionable probity and far-seeing in business matter. It is stated that he will invest $100,000 in the enterprise, in the event of the town endorsing the Company's bonds to enable the enterprise to be placed upon a sound business footing in regard to finances. Mr. Gordon's willingness to do this is an object lesson. If a shrewd, hard-headed business man like him, has so much faith in the undertaking as to invest $100,000, it is argued that the risk of the town is reduced to the vanishing point.

There is no doubt that a successfully operated sugar factory located practically within the town would be a great boon to Peterborough, town and county. It is for the ratepayers to consider carefully the various features of security, of risk, and of probable success, and vote accordingly. Every successful industry added to the many successful ones we have in the town, means an increase in the value of the real estate holdings of every citizen.

"FINANCIER" OBJECTS TO PESSIMISTIC VIEWS.

Says Town's Financial Condition is Excellent.

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir,—In view of Mr. Moore's recent criticism of the credit of the town, made with the object of deterring the timid from voting in favour of the Sugar Company Bylaw, it is well to look at the true state of the town's position, when it will be found that Mr. Moore's presentation of his case was both erroneous and misleading.

As stated in the bylaw, the total debenture debt, inclusive of Waterworks debentures, and exclusive of local improvement debentures, amounts to $558,040.07, the Waterworks debentures amount to $242,000.00, leaving the general indebtedness $316,040.07. To this, however, it is fair to add the proportion payable by the town generally on local improvement debentures, namely, $39,940.07, making total of $355,980.14.

The Waterworks debentures are specially charged upon the works themselves, and the balance of the local improvement debentures is specially charged upon the properties affected.

Mr. Moore omitted to tell his hearers that the town has some assets to apply against the above liability of $355,980.14. They are as follows:—

"Immediately available"—

Sinking Fund	$ 48,900 39
Midland Railway Mortgage	32,000 00
Cash in hand and in bank	10,873 16
Rents due	2,730 24
	$94,003 79

Reducing the debt to $261,976 35. But there are other assets of a marketable nature, namely:—

Market Square and building	$130,000 00
Town offices	6,000 00
Fire Hall and stables	3,000 00
Fire Engine & hose wagons	4,000 00
Interest in County buildings	9,750 00
Land in Wards 1 and 3	3,472 00
Steam roller, crusher & engine	3 761 00
	$159,986 00

Leaving only $101,990.35. Against which the Town has all its school properties valued at $82,516. Now Mr. Moore knows that all these assets would have to be realized on before the ratepayers generally could be called upon to pay a cent. The figures here given are taken from the Auditors' report. We are, after all not in quite such a state of "blue ruin" as the learned gentleman depicted in lugubrious terms and with visage as if he were about to weep. There is no town in Canada having such a splendid financial position. But, says Mr. Moore, think what we have to provide in the near and distant, especially distant, future. Water works dam for example. Truly the expenditure of $50,000 upon that would be fearfully burdensome; the revenue from water works is so wretched that the Commissioners have been able to do no more than reduce rates 25 per cent., provide all interest and sinking fund for the debentures, pay all expenses and contribute some thousands of dollars to the general revenue of the town! Yet this bug-a-boo of a new dam is put forward as a terrible burden. We may thank Heaven there are not many such pessimists as Mr. Moore in Peterborough. Our people have confidence in the present and hope in the future; they are not to be frightened by an imaginative picture of what the future may produce.

Yours truly,
FINANCIER.

COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE.

Some Cogent Reasons why the Institute By-law Should be Supported.

1. Higher education is part and parcel of the school system of the province.
2. Peterborough, the premier town, cannot afford to be out-stripped by other places.
3. A new building is absolutely essential to advance the Institute to the grade it should hold.
4. It would be a distinct retrograde for Peterborough to defeat the bylaw; it would be evidence that our town is behind the times.
5. The total cost is insignificant, being only $2979 92 per annum. This is equal to only 56 one-hundredths of a mill on the assessment; that is, for every $100 that a ratepayer is assessed he pays only 56-10 cents a year for thirty years towards the Institute building—contributed.

STR. ORIOLE UPSET

A Dangerous Accident on the Muskoka River.

45 PASSENGERS ON BOARD

Some Rescued With Difficulty, While Others Jumped Ashore As the Boat Struck the Shore—No Lives Were Lost So Far As Is Known—Exciting Mishap Near Bracebridge.

Bracebridge, May 4.—The Muskoka Navigation Company's steamer Oriole careened in the Muskoka River about half a mile from here yesterday afternoon. She had just started on her afternoon trip with about 30 passengers and a heavy cargo of freight for up the lakes. As the boat was turning a bend she was caught on the side by the current, which is very strong at this time of the year, and slowly turned on her side.

Captain Corbett headed the boat for shore and reached it before she capsized. All on board were saved, the crew breaking the windows in the cabin and rescuing all the passengers there.

The accident was due to the strong current, which caught the boat turning a bend in the river, causing her to rock so violently that a great quantity of water flowed in the sides. This, together with the heavy load the boat carried, rendered her unable to hold her own, and Captain Corbett, seeing this, headed her for shore and immediately turned to getting the ladies off, a number of whom were pulled out through the lower cabin windows.

The boat turned on her side a few minutes later and then the bow struck shore, when about half the passengers jumped off, and the boat swinging around, touched again, when the rest got off.

The boat was rapidly carried down stream, the crew being unable to stop her until she filled with water, when she stopped about a quarter of a mile from where she first turned over.

Another Account.

About 3 o'clock yesterday the steamer Oriole, which runs from Bracebridge to Beaumaris, left here with about forty-five passengers and sixty tons of freight, which was a good load for a far larger steamer.

The captain, Andrew Corbett, of Bracebridge, was asked to make for a landing, but he did not think it necessary. When about a quarter of a mile out from the wharf and as they were rounding a bend in the river the boat keeled over and all the passengers that were on deck managed to climb out on the side of the boat. As she swung she touched shore, when about twenty passengers jumped off and got to shore.

The crew were busy getting the other passengers off when the boat swung out into deep water again. The life boat had upset and drifted away, but they managed to get all the passengers out, and off the boat. The captain had not taken the tickets and could not say whether all were saved or not, as they have not got the boat up yet.

The mail bags, which the boat carried, were lost. The Oriole was secured about a mile down the river from where the accident occurred.

The passengers will have to stay in Bracebridge until Wednesday on account of there being no boat to come for them.

Waterford, Ireland, May 3.—King Edward and Queen Alexandra arrived yesterday and lunched with the Mayor and Corporation at the City Hall. Kidney Disease, Bad Circulation.

A License Commissioner, Who Suffered Dreadfully From These Ailments, Entirely Cured by

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

The blood cannot possibly be pure and in a fit condition to nourish the body when the kidneys are diseased and fail to filter from it the poisonous waste matter.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, by their direct and healthful action on the kidneys, not only overcome diseases of the kidneys, but by so doing so ensure a purifying of the blood.

Mr. Wm. B. Best, License Commissioner for the County of Haldimand, and who lives in Cayuga, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled with cramps in my legs. I would awake from sleep in keen distress. The pain would seize me at the ankle and work up the leg almost to the body.

"Believing this trouble to arise from kidney derangements and bad circulation of the blood, I bought some of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills at W. J. Quinsey's drug store, and began using them. They benefitted me from the very start, and by continuing their use I have been completely cured. I would recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to any suffering as I did. I was so bad that I would have to jump out of bed two or three times during the night."

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 8

A KERRY COWARD

By M. Louise Cummins

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

Mike Carney sat loosely on a heap of slag during the last two minutes of the noon hour, the empty dinner pail which hung from his locked fingers swinging backward and forward rhythmically between his knees.

His blue eyes, looking straight ahead, held that blending of guilelessness and mysticism which is the birthright of a religious people. Down to the end of his short nose Mike's face might have been a fit study of a fifteenth century monk, but his mouth belied all that, apparently having been formed for no reason on earth but to whistle an Irish jig, and the sight of it thus engaged was sufficient to cure one forever of the idea that life was dull.

At present his lips puckered more than once, but only a lone note, which seemed to have gone astray from the rest of the tune, issued from them.

Something began to grow in his eyes, burning away their mysticism and revealing a substratum of quicksilver.

"'Tisn't fair, be gob!"

He stood up and faced the brick wall opposite, as though it was the president of the wire works himself.

"'Tis chances enough the workin'man has to take anyhow"—

His voice stopped as if broken. Cringed into himself, he sank back on the slag, torn between the conviction that "'twas fair" and the Irishman's inherent abhorrence of "informing."

"An' sure, where'd be the use?" he soliloquized, his mental attitude seeming to descend despondently with his body. "Don't they know 'tis done, an' every day too?"

But an hour later when the foreman ordered him to replace a large belt from a shafting to a countershaft while the machinery was in motion Carney looked him quietly in the eyes and refused.

His glance had measured the danger first. It was a particularly ugly job, crammed near the ceiling, compared to which the belt he had replaced that morning was as child's play.

"You'll not do it?"

"Not while she's running I'll not do it."

The foreman's strong young hands closed and unclosed at his sides. He was ten years the Irishman's junior, with his record still to make. The eyes which answered Mike's narrowed to points of steel. For a moment the two men regarded each other with a peculiarly still, flat look.

"You Kerry coward!"

The measured words were like the hiss of escaping steel scalding the Irishman's face. All the fighting blood of his race showed in the one unloosed shaft of blue light that leaped from his eyes. Like a felled log the foreman went down.

Very quietly Mike picked up his belongings and left the shop. Not even the certainty that he had lost his job and the beating thought of five small mouths at home to be fed could quell the fierce satisfaction in what he had done. For an hour he walked, hugging it savagely to his breast. Then, as he ascended the steps of his tenement, it seemed suddenly to ooze out at his finger tips. Nora's eyes, while she stood on the small piazza hanging out clothes, were as mirrors from which all the grim, bare facts attendant on being "out of a job" looked back at him with cruel distinctness.

* * * * * * *

Margaret Hartman leaned her arms on the table and looked across the silver and cut glass at her husband. Her white face and wide open eyes still held the tremulousness of one who had recently been in the darkness of a great fear.

"But the man," Hartman said, fingering his glass. "I wish you had found out his name, Constance."

"I know, dear; but, Henry"—her hand went to her heart; Hartman felt reproached as he watched the added pallor of her face—"oh, it was all so sudden, so awful, those mad horses with the trailing harness and wrecked carriage, the fearful recklessness of it, as they came down the street! And then when, baby left Anna and came toddling unconsciously across to where I sat on the plazza"—

"There, dear, don't go over it any more." Hartman came around the table and put his hand on his wife's shoulder.

"The man," she went on after a pause, "has been hanging about here lately. I have fancied sometimes that he wished to speak to you or me. When I had baby safely in my arms I looked at him—he had the kindliest blue eyes—and saw that he was very white. But when I asked him if he had been hurt he said no, only a 'bit of a bruise' where the shaft grazed his shoulder. It was the quickness and coolness with which he did it, Henry, that stunned me. And no sooner had he grabbed baby than his mouth puckered in the funniest way, and he sauntered up to me whistling an Irish jig."

Hartman's brows drew together.

"It couldn't be—of course not"—

"Who, dear?"

"Carney, my little jig whistler. And that reminds me that I haven't seen him around since I got home."

The superintendent of the Leffington wire works went quickly into his library. A moment later his wife heard him calling up his assistant by telephone.

Mike stood in the Hartmans' library two hours later. His sensitive face worked as he turned a shabby hat round and round by the brim.

"Oh, sure, 'twas nothing, ma'am. I've got five o' thim meself at home," he said deprecatingly.

"How does it happen that you're not working, Carney?" The superintendent looked at him keenly.

"Well, sir, you see, 'twas this way: Meself an' Harrington had a bit of a disagreement about a belt and—a"—

"Well?"

Hartman's eyes held his, compelling the truth.

"Mr. Hartman, sir"—the words rushed from the Kerry coward in a choking blurt—"I once seen a man tore to bits doing what Harrington bid me do. I'll not deny that it's hungry the childer've been sometimes since I've not had a steady job, but 'tis hungrier they'd be if I wasn't here at all, an'—I couldn't take the chance."

"You don't have to take the chance." Hartman was pacing the floor, with hands thrust deep into his pockets, the reins on his forehead knotted. "No man who works under me will be asked to take chances that I would not take myself. Did Harrington discharge you for that?" He wheeled suddenly, facing Mike.

"No, sir; no, Mr. Hartman, sir. We had a few words first, an' Harrington he called me a Kerry coward, an'—I hit him a lick."

"Did you, though?" There was relish in the superintendent's voice.

"Oh, sure 'tisn't any harm I'd want to be doin' him," Mike put in quickly; "the lad is a dacent lad enough, an' knowledgable, too; only a bit young, an', sure, that'll mend."

Hartman followed him to the door.

"Come down to the works in the morning, Carney, and we'll see if we can't find something for you that'll keep the 'childer' from being hungry in future," he said genially. "As to what you did for me this afternoon—I can't speak of that yet."

"He called you a Kerry coward," she said, with heaving breast, while Mike stood transfixed by the beauty of her tear filled eyes, "but I call you the bravest man—the bravest man—that ever lived!"

"Wisha, now, to think of that!" he said reverently. "Faith, I dunno but I'm glad he called me a Kerry coward."

ONE LUNG

May be gone and yet the remaining lung will be amply sufficient to sustain a vigorous vitality. As a general thing few people make more use of both lungs than is equivalent to a healthy use of one lung.

These facts are all in the favor of the man or woman with weak lungs, even when disease has a strong grip on them.

Many a person living in health to-day has the lungs marked by the healed scars of disease.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes weak lungs strong. It cures obstinate, deep-seated coughs, bronchitis, bleeding lungs and other conditions, which, if neglected or unskilfully treated, find a fatal termination in consumption.

"I had been troubled with lung disease and pleurisy for a number of years and the trouble had almost become chronic," writes A. S. Blain, of Howe, Ia. "Had several kinds of medicine from different physicians without much benefit. At last wrote to Dr. R. V. Pierce and got his advice, and began using his Golden Medical Discovery. I have used twenty-five bottles. When I commenced taking it I had no appetite, my system was completely run down, had no ambition to do anything. Now I feel better than I did before I got sick. Have a good appetite and am able to do my work. I sincerely recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery to all who are afflicted as I was."

Those who suffer from chronic diseases are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

EXCHEQUER TALLIES.

Wooden Money That Was at One Time Current in England.

Wooden money in the shape of exchequer tallies was current prior to the establishment of the Bank of England in 1694. Tallies was the name given to the notched sticks formerly in use in England for keeping the accounts of the exchequer. They were square rods of hazel or willow, inscribed on one side with notches indicating the sum for which the tally was an acknowledgment and on two other sides with the sum in Roman characters.

When the transaction was completed the tally recording it was split lengthwise, so that each section contained a half of each notch and one of the written sides. One half, called the tally, or check, was given to the person for whose service it was intended, and the other half, called the counter tally, was retained in the exchequer until its corresponding tally should be brought in by the person who had last given value for it.

It thus became a current token representing cash. After the establishment of the Bank of England government payments were made through its agency. The use of tallies in the exchequer was abolished by statute 23, George III. The old tallies were by acts 4 and 5, William IV., ordered to be destroyed, and it was burning them that caused the conflagration by which the old houses of parliament were demolished.—London Tit-Bits.

Puzzled the Irishman.

The Rev. Robert Collyer was a blacksmith in Germantown, Pa., before he became a preacher, says Success. Once when there was little work at hand he asked a builder in his neighborhood for something to do. The latter replied that all he could give him would be a job carrying a hod.

"I'm your man," replied the blacksmith promptly.

Years afterward, while an imposing edifice was being erected in Chicago for Dr. Collyer, he was standing among the beams watching the progress of the work when an Irishman came along with a hod of bricks. Dr. Collyer spoke to him, and he paused.

"This is har-rd work, sor," said the Irishman.

"I know that well," answered Dr. Collyer. "In my day I've carried the hod myself."

"The Irishman stared at me an instant," said Dr. Collyer in relating the incident, "and then went on his way mumbling something that sounded suspiciously like, 'I wouldn't 'a' belaved th' parson was such a liar.'"

Deranged Nerves AND Weak Spells.

He says: "I have been ailing for about a year from deranged nerves, and very often weak spells would come over me and be so bad that I sometimes thought I would be unable to survive them. I have been treated by doctors and have taken numerous preparations but none of them helped me in the least. I finally got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Before taking them I did not feel able to do any work, but now I can work as well as ever, thanks to one box of your pills. They have made a new man of me, and my advice to any person troubled as I was, is to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills."

HIGH-CLASS TAILORING

Importing Tailor

(Successor to A. M. Laidlaw)

Hunter Street, opposite the Oriental Hotel

BUILD UP PETERBORO'

Reasons Why the Property Owners Should Vote for the Sugar Company Bylaw.

1. No cash bonus is asked, no extra assessment is necessary. The town simply guarantees the Company's bonds to the amount of $100,000.

2. The bonds are instalment bonds, $50,000 of which are to be retired by the Company in three years, and $7,000 annually thereafter for six years and $8,000 the tenth year.

3. The Sugar Company pays the interest, and retires every bond as it falls due.

4. Mr. D. A. Gordon, President and Manager of the Wallaceburg Sugar Company, and his associates, will invest $100,000, and he will take the Presidency of the local Sugar Company. Mr. Gordon has built up three great manufacturing establishments in the small town of Wallaceburg, and is one of the most successful business men in Western Ontario.

5. The factory, when completed, will cost in hard cash not less than $350,000. The town has a first mortgage on this value as security for the guarantee.

6. The town has the right to appoint a Director of the Company.

7. At least 50,000 tons of beats can be secured per annum in the Trent Valley. This tonnage will yield 12 1-2 million pounds of sugar, or over 40,000 300 lb. barrels, it will require 15 trains of 20 ton cars each to carry the output from Peterborough.

8. The value of the sugar will be nearly $500,000 which amount will be distributed in Peterborough and vicinity.

9. The factory will employ during the months of November, December, January and February not fewer than 150 hands. This is important to the workingmen, who are too often compelled to be idle during these months. As the factory runs night and day during the four months, there will be required three shifts of men.

10. During the summer months much work at good wages will be provided men and boys in the farmers' beet fields.

11. The bylaw provides that no bonds shall be guaranteed by the town until the buildings are erected ready for the machinery, and until the machinery is on the grounds; and not then unless the grounds, buildings and machinery are free of liens, and the town is given a first mortgage on them.

12. The second $50,000 of bonds are not to be guaranteed until the factory is completed and running for ten days.

13. It is nonsense to say that the town cannot afford to guarantee the bonds. Peterborough has gone into debt but very little for industrial concerns. For nearly all of the town's indebtedness there are good assets. The waterworks is an example of this.

14. The walls of the Sugar Company's immense buildings 340 feet long and 110 feet wide, all built of solid concrete, are already 20 feet above ground. When completed, the factory will be a magnificent structure. Every citizen loyal to the town and to its future development should not hesitate to vote for its completion.

15. Mr. Gordon asks no guarantee for his $1?0000; he has knowledge of the industry and hence faith in its future. He believes that Peterborough has exceptional advantages for a beet sugar factory, and is prepared to put up a dollar in actual cash for every dollar he asks the town to temporarily guarantee.

16. Build up Peterborough, should be the motto of our citizens. Our industries on the whole have been successful. We should have strong faith and courage in our industrial future.

Remember—Your vote will be a vote for or against the progress of industry in our midst. Which?

MR. GARVIN REVIEWS SUGAR PROPOSITION.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—As the meeting in the Opera House on Thursday evening broke up before I had a chance to reply to Mr. Moore, will you please grant me space for the following?

1. After stating that no enquiry had been made as to the financial standing of the company, Mr Moore asked: "How was it known but that the $100,000 raised by the guarantee would go to pay the Company's debts?"

A financial statement of the Company's affairs was given by me at the Board of Trade meeting and published in the press; but it is a matter of no consequence as far as the bylaw is concerned what the present condition of the Company's finances are. The Town Council has bound Mr. Gordon and our Sugar Company to this,—the buildings must be erected ready for the machinery and the machinery on the grounds ready for installment, and both must be free of liens and subject to a first mortgage to the town, before the first $50,000 of bonds shall be guaranteed. If we fail to fulfil these conditions, the town is under no obligation to give the guarantee.

2. Mr. Moore "could not conceive where the money was coming from after Mr. Gordon's $100,000 had been consumed." Mr. Gordon and his associates and the Sugar Company will look after that. If they fulfil the conditions imposed by the town council, that should be satisfactory to all concerned, and if they fail to do so, as stated before, no guarantee can be obtained.

3. Another statement made by Mr. Moore was to the effect that "the Sugar Company's agents had canvassed throughout this county and vicinity and were able to place some 1,100 acres only, whereas it was absolutely useless to think of operating a factory with less than 3,000 acres, etc." On several occasions I have stated before Mr. Moore that our agency staff had canvassed for about two months outside of Peterborough county and during that time had secured 1,100 acres under contract. That was several months ago. After the Dresden deal was declared off by Capt. Davidson, we dismissed our agency staff as we could not then see our way clear to complete the factory this year. Had they been permitted to go on soliciting, we should have had to-day not less than 4,000 acres. There will be no difficulty in procuring 5,000 acres per annum in subsequent years.

4. The only argument of any importance in Mr. Moore's contentions is that pertaining to the town's indebtedness, and in reply thereto it was repeatedly pointed out that under the general act of the Province any town or city is permitted to go into indebtedness for industrial concerns so long as the annual levy to provide for same does not exceed ten per cent of the taxes. Very little of the indebtedness of Peterborough is due to industrial concerns. Our heaviest debenture debt was incurred by purchasing the water works, and surely that value is quite equivalent to the amount of purchase price.

5. Our Company has had no loss other than $6,000 on beets caught by frost, and if the by-law carried, we have saved in the cost of the factory, compared with other communities on this continent, not less than $200,000. Will our critics be so good as to weigh this saving against that loss?

6. Speaking of the property purchased from the Howden Bros.; it is true we have no "deed of conveyance," but we have a legal agreement which makes the property ours as soon as the balance of cash due is paid.

7. "A company not financially strong should not have made provision for $15,000 of salaries." In two addresses delivered by me before Mr. Moore, I made it clear that the $15,000 of salaries referred to in the first prospectus had reference to the sugar-making experts who would be engaged to run the factory when operations began.

8. The town can well afford to guarantee the bonds when the security given is three to one, and I have every confidence that our property-owners will support the by-law. There are, in round numbers, 2,000 property-owners in Peterborough. If Mr Gordon had asked the 2,000 to put up in actual cash, dollar for dollar with him, can we conceive it as possible that the owners of this great community would refuse to risk $50 a head on an average against one man's $100,000? But instead of asking dollar for dollar he simply asks a guarantee of the bonds and gives as security three for every one guaranteed.

Yours truly,

J. W. GARVIN.

MAYOR'S TRIBUTE TO MR. GORDON.

Says he made a Favorable Impression Upon the Council.

Sir, — In regard to any question concerning Mr. D. A. Gordon, I may say that Mr. Gordon appeared twice before the council and made a most favourable impression. He is a well known public man of high repute, both as to his financial standing, integrity, and business ability, whose substantial interest in Peterborough it would be an acquisition to secure.

BIG PROFITS IN SUGAR MAKING.

Factories in Michagain Have Paid Dividends from 25 to 30 per cent.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—Some six years ago the first beet sugar factory was erected in Bay City, Mich. Its success was so marked, the dividends being 25 and 30 per cent per cent per annum, that many capitalists formed companies and built factories. To-day my native state has twenty-two of these immense factories. Is it probable that so large a capital,—not less than $12,000,000—would have been invested in that time in an adjoining state if the beet sugar industry were not a paying one? From what I have seen of this community, I believe that the land is more suitable for sugar beets than that of Michigan. In the latter state much of the land is flat and because of that there is danger of the beets being drowned out by heavy rains. On the rolling land of this part of Ontario such a thing could not happen.

Nearly two million of Michigan capital is already gone into sugar factories in Ontario and now it appears that Peterborough has a chance of getting some of it. Mr. Gordon and his associates are well known sugar manufacturers. They understand their business thoroughly. In Michigan large cash bonuses have been paid by communities to secure such factories, and yet some citizens of Peterborough hesitate to merely guarantee bonds to the amount of one-third the total value.

I have seen a number of communities in Michigan which have been greatly enriched by the establishment of beet sugar factories, and such a factory here would add much wealth to the farming community and hence to the town.

Wm. E. Curtis, a well-known writer in the United States, made the following statement recently in the Chicago Record-Herald: "One of the Michigan factories last year paid a forty per cent. divident on its stock; other factories in the same state paid dividends as high as thirty per cent and at least one paid thirty-two per cent to its stockholders in addition to a large contribution to its sinking fund."

It is a pleasure to speak a word for an industry that has done so much for my native state.

VISITOR.

THE PROPOSITION OF MR. GORDON.

A Copy of His First Letter to the Town Council.

For the benefit of a number of ratepayers who are not familiar with the terms of Mr. Gordon's proposition to the town, his letter to the council is published below:

The Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough:

Gentlemen,—I beg to submit for your consideration a proposition pertaining to the early completion of your beet sugar factory, now under construction.

I have looked carefully into the prospects of the industry in your district and do not hesitate to say they are exceptionally good. Your surroundings are all that can be desired; and the sugar beets grown in your neighbourhood are of a very high grade. This latter fact was shown by the tests of the Wallaceburg Sugar Company, of which I am president and managing director, and in which I have a large sum invested.

The recent action of the Ontario Government in agreeing to extend the bounty of 1-2 cent per pound, not exceeding $75,000 per annum altogether, for a period of three years from this date, and to restrict the bounty to the present factories and to Peterborough, further insures the success of the beet sugar industry; and it is also confidently expected that the Dominion Government will, during the present session, grant to it either a bounty or protection.

It seems to me, therefore, that it would be a misfortune if, in this prosperous and enterprising community, the sugar factory already more than half built, in a thoroughly substantial manner, situated as it is upon an excellent site, should remain incomplete for lack of that municipal support which is commonly given to important industrial projects. So confident am I of the success of the beet sugar manufacturing in this Province that I am prepared, with associates, with the concurrence of the Directors of the Peterborough Sugar Company, Limited, to invest $100,000 in the stock of the company if the town will do its part in granting the aid required. The town of Wallaceburg, with a population under 3,500, granted a cash bonus of $30,000 and partial exemption from taxation for 10 years. The village of Dresden granted a cash bonus of $40,000 and partial exemption from taxation. The Town of Berlin granted a cash bonus of $25,000 and exemption from taxation for 10 years. The Town of Wiarton granted a cash bonus of $25,000 and fixed assessment for 10 years. These precedents show the value attached in different parts of the Province to the establishment of a beet sugar factory.

My proposition does not involve on the part of Peterborough any payment of money or increase in taxation. To procure sufficient cash to complete the factory the Company will issue first mortgage bonds for $100,000, payable at the expiration of fifteen years with interest at 4 1-2 per cent, payable half yearly. The mortgage securing said bonds will provide that at the end of the 6th and each subsequent year such a sum shall be paid into a sinking fund as to extinguish the debt at the end of the terms. As insurance companies are not permitted by law to purchase the bonds of industrial concerns, and as other leading corporations are unwilling to do so unless they are guaranteed, you are therefore respectfully asked to submit without delay a by-law to your property owners for the guarantee of the said bonds, in order to make them at once marketable. The town will have as security a first mortgage upon the Company's property consisting of 32 acres of land and a factory costing not less than $350,000. It is also asked that the assessment of the real and personal property of the Company be fixed for a period of 10 years at $10,000.

If the necessary by-law be passed by the ratepayers, I give you my assurance that the factory will be in operation next fall.

I have the honour to be, Gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,

D. A. GORDON.

LABOUR UNION VIEW OF SUGAR FACTORY.

ADMIRAL TOGO DID SUCCEED.

Entrance to Port Arthur Harbour is now Blocked.

RUSSIAN LOSS WAS GREAT.

Officially Admitted to be Over 2,000 in the Yalu Battle—Splendid Fight of a Russian Regiment Against Great Odds—Tokio Rejoicing Over Success of Bottling up Fleet.

London, May 5.—The opinion gains ground here that the Japanese have at last effectually blocked Port Arthur. No official Japanese report on the subject has been received, but the Tokio correspondents are very positive regarding the matter.

The Daily Telegraph's correspondent declares that the entrance to Port Arthur "is absolutely sealed," and adds that the Japanese fleet, in effecting its purpose, steamed to the entrance at full speed, and that the naval officers, who made the two previous attempts, begged permission to carry out the next attack by daylight, that being easier, and their request was granted.

"So determined were they to succeed," adds the correspondent, "that they decided, if necessary to lose half their men. The number of casualties sustained by the Japanese has not yet been announced."

The Tokio correspondent of The Daily Chronicle also asserts that Port Arthur is effectually "corked."

No Confirmation.

There is no confirmation here of the Paris rumor that an engagement between Russian and Japanese squadrons had taken place off Vladivostock and St. Petersburg knows nothing of the rumored capture of Newchwang. It is reported that the Japanese advanced to within 18 miles of Fengwangcheng and that another engagement is expected almost immediately.

Major-General Kasstalinsky's insistence on the fact that he was ordered to accept battle by Lieut.-General Zassalitch is interpreted as showing his intention to throw the responsibility upon that officer for risking a fight with his inferior forces, and to confirm the reports that General Zassalitch had been censured.

Captured Railroad Material.

Reports have been received here that the Japanese captured a quantity of railroad material after Sunday's battle. This is supposed to indicate that the Russians had made great progress with the railroad from the main Manchurian line to the Yalu. If this is so it would be a simple matter for the Japanese to repair this line, which would materially assist them in their advance through a difficult country.

English correspondents with the Japanese forces on the Yalu are permitted to send ample descriptions of the people and country traversed, but not a word about the fighting.

Russian Position Weak.

The Standard's Tientsin correspondent says he is convinced that the Russian position in Southern Manchuria is exceedingly weak in consequence of the enormous number of men detached to guard the railway and to obtain provisions. He believes that the forces at Haicheng and Liaoyang are greatly overestimated. The camps, he says, are numerous, but there are few men in them. There are several fortifications in the hills between Fengwangcheng and Haicheng, but the line of communication is weak and straggling.

Report in Tokio.

Tokio, May 5.—The reports which have been received here of the successful blocking of the entrance to Port Arthur harbor by the Japanese, coming on the heels of the news of the victory on the Yalu, stirred Tokio to another popular demonstration, and last night thousands of men carrying lanterns, swinging high from bamboo poles, paraded through the city. Half a dozen bands of music led the various processions.

AT THE BAYONET'S POINT.

One Russian Regiment Lost 2,000 Men and Commandant and 40 Officers.

St. Petersburg, May 5.—The Emperor yesterday received Major-General Kashtalinsky's report of the Yalu battle in a telegram from Gen. Kuropatkin yesterday. After detailing the plan of battle, Gen. Kashtalinsky proceeds:

"At 1 o'clock the Japanese approached so close to the position held by the 11th Regiment that the third battery could not pass along under the cross-firing, and taking up a position a short distance from the Japanese for the remainder of the fight, losing its commander, Lieut.-Col. Moravsky.

"A company with quick-firing guns was brought up from the rear-guard and the officer commanding this, foreseeing the difficult situation of Moravsky's battery, took up the position on his own initiative. He lost half of his men and all his horses, and attempted to remove his guns by hand to the shelter of the hills under the Japanese cross-fire. The quick-firing pieces discharged 35,000 bullets.

"The 12th Regiment cut its way through, and saved its colors.

2,000 Killed in This Regiment.

"The 12th Regiment, which held its ground for two hours more with heavy losses, forced a passage at the point of the bayonet, and crossed the ravines with its colors. It lost its colonel commandant, forty officers, and about 2,000 non-commissioned officers and men.

"The Japanese losses must have been enormous.

"The Russians retired in good order on Fengwangcheng.

"The men of the third division maintained their excellent morale, and over 7000 wounded proceeded with these regiments to Fengwangcheng."

New Japanese Loan.

His Arm Blown Off.

Toronto, May 5.—Since the work of dynamiting the ruins throughout the area devastated by the fire has been in progress the workmen have been taking unnecessary chances with the very dangerous material which they are using. This resulted yesterday in a very painful accident to John Croft, 274½ Parliament street, one of the men employed in the work.

He had put three charges of dynamite under a section of the Gage Company's building and two of the charges had exploded as he had expected. The third, however, was a trifle backward, and he went to investigate. When he got near to it he saw the fuse sputtering dangerously near to the charge, but before he could withdraw it or get to a safe distance the charge went off, shattering his left arm.

He was taken to the Emergency Hospital where the doctor trimmed off the mangled limb. At last reports he was resting easily and will soon be around again.

THE LATE MRS. ORMOND.

Yesterday afternoon the Examiner mentioned the death of Mrs. Charles Ormond, widow of the late Dr. Ormond. Her departure leaves a blank in the rapidly thinning ranks of what may be regarded as the pioneer residents of this district.

The late Mrs. Ormond, was a native of County Fermanagh, Ireland, where she was born 92 years ago. At the age of ten years, with the family, she crossed the ocean, settling with them in New York where they remained till 1821, when they removed to Cavan Township. On her marriage with her late husband, Dr. Ormond, who was a native of Bath, England, they removed to Peterborough, where Dr. Ormond died in 1886, and Mrs. Ormond resided till her death. The deceased lady leaves no direct descendants, her only near living relative, besides her grand-children, being a brother, Major Howden, of Port Hope. The late Robert Howden, who died last February, was another brother. Mrs. Ormond had only one daughter, the late Mrs. T. E. Bradburn, who died about 17 years ago.

The late Mrs. Ormond was in religion a Methodist, a member of the George street church. She was large hearted and charitable and will be remembered with gratitude and respect by the hundreds who shared the fruits of her open-handed kindness.

As one of the oldest residents of the county, Mrs. Ormond's death suggests reminiscences of her late husband who was more extensively known to the public. He will be remembered as one of the founders of the long-established Ormond & Walsh drug store business. He was also prominent in local politics, having in the earlier days of the town been a member of the council and chairman of the Finance Committee. He was an ardent sportsman, and on the occasion of the visit of the present King, then Prince of Wales, to Peterborough, the Duke of Newcastle, a member of his suite, recognized Dr. Ormond as the lad he had often played cricket with in England.

The funeral which will be private, takes place from the family residence, 68 Murray street, on Friday, May 6th, at 2.30 o'clock to the Little Lake Cemetery.

NEWSPAPERS FROM ALL QUARTERS OF THE GLOBE

Are on Exhibition in Mr. John Nugent's Window.

You will be impressed with the extent of the territory, and the strange people over which His Majesty's government has control, if you take a look at the display of newspapers and foreign stamps displayed in the window of Mr. John Nugent, chemist and druggist, 389 George street. These come from all quarters of the globe, the larger portion of them from English Colonies, and it is well worth while giving a little thoughtful attention to looking them over. You will find displayed papers from India, in the several different vernaculars, printed at Madras and Bombay; also from the Island of Samoa, Burmese from Rangoon, Cingalese from the Island of Ceylon, a copy of the fine weekly paper published at Christchurch, New Zealand. A Chinese Newspaper printed on paper made from rice straw, papers from the Island of Jamacia, from Sitka, Alaska, South Africa, Java, Republic of Panama, Straits Settlement, Cuba, and Hawii. Mr. Nugent is able to make a display of these papers through the kindness of The Chamberlain Medicine Company, whose advertisements of their standard family medicines are in all these papers, and give you some idea of the extent of their business.

WILL TENDER BANQUET TO CONTRACTOR O'TOOLE.

St. Peter's T. A. S. Will Give That Gentleman a Send-off.

Mr. John O'Toole, who has completed his contract on the Cereal Company's dam and power house, leaves town next week, and the St. Peter's T.A.S. intend tendering him a farewell banquet on Tuesday evening next in their lecture room.

A first-class toast list has been prepared, and the function promises to be a somewhat elaborate one. It is expected that several of the prominent citizens of the town will grace the banquet with their presence, and all those desirous of being present, are asked to hand in their names to the members of the committee, Messrs. Argus, J. Hickey, A. Doris, T. J. Begley, or the secretary at the rooms. As the event will partake of a social character, the gentlemen attending may bring their lady friends.

PROGRESSIVE PETERBOROUGH.

This Town has Been Selected as the Meeting Place for I. O. F. High Court.

What the Official Organ of the Canadian Fraternal Association Says of Peterborough—A High Tribute to the Enterprise of its Citizens.

The current number of the Canadian Graphic, contains the following regarding Peterborough:

At the meeting of the High Court of Eastern Ontario of the I.O.F., held at Smith's Flals last year, Peterborough was selected as the place of next meeting, which will be held probably in August next. That the choice was a wise one will be generally admitted.

This city is an important railway point, and industrial centre, with a population of nearly 14,000 people. It is situated on the Otonabee river at a point where it has a fall of about 150 feet, which affords unlimited motive power for the many mills and manufactories that are located here. The country of which this is the focus, is replete with scenic beauty, many pretty lakes and rivers being in the immediate vicinity, and offering much to attract the tourist, pleasure seeker and sportsman. To sportsmen, the town is famous for the headquarters of the Rice Lake or Peterborough canoe. Peterborough is within a little over two hours run from Toronto and is reached by either the Grand Trunk Railway System or the Canadian Pacific Railway. Within a few miles of Peterborough, is Rice Lake a charming spot for tourists, and a locality that is in the sportsman's category. It is situated about ten miles south east of the city, and is noted for its maskinonge and bass fishing. Bird Lake is reached by the steamers of the Calcutt Line, of which Mr. H. Calcutt is the moving spirit. These steamers are well built and comfortable. Within a little less than ten miles of Peterborough, is situated Lakefield, the starting point for the trip through the Kawartha Lakes, one of the most beautiful sections of the "Highlands of Ontario." This district comprises a chain of lakes, with a navigable route of 75 miles through a country with unexcelled scenery and full of interest to the tourist. Stony Lake is probably the most beautiful of the chain, and is covered with islands of all sizes from one of a few feet to those of more pretentious dimensions.

The fishing in the Kawartha Lakes district is good, and the angler can at any time enjoy himself to his heart's content with record catches of bass and maskinonge at nearly all points in the locality. The boat service is all that could be desired, and the tourist is at no time away from telegraphic communication with the business world.

Six miles from Peterborough, is Chemong Park a delightful resort on Lake Chemong, with a hotel that caters to the wants of a fastidious class. There are also a series of cottages at this resort that can be rented for the summer at reasonable rates. There are several places on the entire chain of the Kawartha lakes that are excellent spots for the tired denizen of city life to while away his summer vacation with profit to the physical as well as mental properosities of his existence.

The city of Peterborough itself is, however, the objective point for the tourist and sportsman who makes his way in the direction of this part of the "Highlands of Ontario," and a few words in reference to the city itself will not be out of place. The city is built on a solid basis, the business portion especially appealing to the connoisseur of architectural knowledge and in keeping with the residential portion of the town, and possesses many features that compare favourably with the larger cities of Canada. The streets are well laid out, particularly the residential section, where in this portion of the town a superabundance of trees are noticeable, and the many fine residences, with their well-kept lawns, give impression of a prosperous and enterprising community. The city boasts of no less than six public parks, beautifully wooded and kept in excellent condition. The drinking water is pure, and modern system of water-works is in operation.

One of the great attractions of the town, is the famous lift-lock, one of the series of the Trent Valley Canal. This lock is a stupendous work, and well worthy of an inspection by the tourist. This great national piece of engineering will be officially opened in May.

Peterborough also boasts of the best manufactories of canoes, and it is a well-known fact that the best canoes built in the world emanate from this city. The Peterborough Canoe Company is located here, and their output is the largest and their work is the most thought of in America.

A very pleasant trip from Peterborough, is down the Otonabee River to Rice Lake, through a most interesting part of the country. Jubilee Point, twenty miles away, is a good stopping-off point, where a desirable hotel is located, and at which place golf, tennis and other games can be indulged in as desired.

The bass fishing in the Otonabee is unexcelled, and the lover of the rod is assured of a good catch at any time, and during the open season duck hunting is good owing to the splendid feeding grounds that are in this vicinity. In the woods, in close contiguity to the river, partridge abound. On Rice Lake, is situated "Idyl Wyld," a beautifully-wooded park in the midst of one of the most picturesque regions of Canada. "Idyl Wyld," though in a charming secluded locality, has a daily mail, and is easy of access, with the additional attraction of good fishing, boating and bathing. There are several other attractive and favourite resorts on Rice Lake where the tourist and fisherman can spend a pleasant sojourn.

From the foregoing brief description of Peterborough it will be seen that the delegates who attend the next meeting of the High Court of Eastern Ontario of the I.O.F., to be held there this summer, will have the opportunity of enjoying other pleasures than their attendance at the sessions of the High Court.

For a city of the size of Peterborough the hotel accommodation compares favourably with many cities of a more pretentious nature, and the traveller is assured of comfort and polite attention.

The Oriental Hotel is recommended and is thoroughly equipped with modern accessories that are expected in a first class hostelry. It has accommodation for one hundred guests. The table is all that could be desired, and the service is excellent.

The National Hotel, another of the good resorts at which one may stay, has been improved and renovated, and will be found a most desirable place for families wishing a quiet and comfortable place for their sojourn. Under the manalement of the present proprietor it has become a popular commercial house. It is first class in every respect.

YOUNG MEN ON "BUSINESS TRAINING."

Monthly Meeting of St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild.

The regular monthly meeting of the Guild was held in the parlours of the church on Tuesday night, the president, Mr. H. H. Edmison, occupying the chair. Considerable importance business was transacted. Mr. R. H. Elliott was appointed a representative on the Guild League executive.

For programme, the Rev. J. G. Potter, read a paper on "Professional Training for Business," which proved most interesting and profitable. He emphasized the need of a good education to secure the best results in business life, and felt quite sure that in whatever calling a man might be, to be well trained mentally would always be an advantage to him. He cited instances where young men in town had taken courses in connection with the Scranton Schools, and had been promoted to more lucrative situations. Instances were also quoted where good work is being done now in the old established University centres, such as Yale, Harvard, Columbia and Chicago, where special courses have been arranged along business financing and general administration. Reference was made to the fact that a large number of physicians, business men, lawyers, and High School teachers, had taken advantage of the elective studies at Queen's University, Kingston, and while busy at their ordinary occupations had used their spare hours in line with university work, winning, in many instances, the honours in their subjects. One of the most brilliant physicians in Kingston to-day had taken his B.A. and M.A. courses while busy at the jewelry work. The attention of the members was also drawn to the important work outlined by the Canadian Correspondence College, which had opened a branch in Peterborough, and of which the Rev. Jas. Ross, B.A., London street, has been appointed representative.

A most helpful and intelligent discussion took place after the reading of the paper, which was begun by an instructive talk from Mr. H. M. Lloyd, B.Sc., representing McGill and Winnipeg Colleges. Messrs. Thornton and Henderson, students of Queens, Messrs. P. A. Kerr and T. G. Anderson, the Scranton School, and the president, Mr. H. H. Edmison, from the standpoint of good received in Toronto, and College of Pharmacy.

The Guild adjourned to meet on Friday, May 27th

KAWARTHA BASEBALL LEAGUE ORGANIZED.

New League Comprising Five Teams Launched at Lindsay Tuesday.

A meeting was held in Lindsay on Tuesday, called by Mr. G. W. Taylor, of Bobcaygeon, the object of the meeting being the formation of a baseball league, to be known as the Kawartha League. The teams in the towns in this vicinity had been communicated with, and all had expressed themselves as being favourable to the proposal. The meeting, which was held in the Simpson House, Lindsay, was attended by the following delegates:

Bobcaygeon, G. W. Taylor and W. J. Read.

Fenelon Falls, R. J. Moore.

Lindsay, R. A. Robinson and G. Silver.

Peterborough T.A.S., W. Grady and W. Meagher.

Peterborough, Auburns, E. Belleghem.

All those in attendance were favourable to the proposal to form a League, consequently one was organized, known as the Kawartha Baseball League, of which the following officers were elected:—

Hon. Pres.—Hon. Senator McHugh, Lindsay.

President—G. W. Taylor, Bobcaygeon.

Vice-Pres. — E. Belleghem, Peterborough.

Treas. — R. J. Moore, Fenelon Falls.

Executive Committee—A. Long, Auburn; M. Walsh, Bobcaygeon; R. A. Robinson, Lindsay; W. Grady, T.A.S., R. J. Moore, Fenelon Falls.

The schedule of games was then arranged as follows:

May 24—Lindsay at Fenelon Falls.
May 30—Auburn at Lindsay.
May 30—Fenelon Falls at Bobcaygeon.
June 4—Lindsay at T.A.S.

June 8—Bobcaygeon at Lindsay.
June 22—Auburn at Bobcaygeon.
June 22—Fenelon Falls at Lindsay.
July 1—Fenelon Falls at T.A.S.
July 9—Auburn at T.A.S.
July 9—Bobcaygeon at Fenelon Falls.
July 30—Lindsay at Auburn.

Aug 31—Lindsay at Bobcaygeon.
Aug. 31—Auburn at Fenelon Falls.
Sept. 5—Fenelon Falls at Auburn.
Sept. 5—Lindsay at Bobcaygeon.

The formation of this league, which from present prospects gives promise of being a highly successful organization, will give abundance of baseball in the district this year. Each of these towns should support a good team, and no doubt some good fast ball will be seen in the Kawartha League. The two Peterborough teams open the league on May 21st.

Ceylon Beverages Will be Dispensed by Cingalese to World's Fair Visitors.

P. C. Larkin, President of the "Salada" Ceylon Tea Company, arrived in St. Louis yesterday from Toronto, Canada, to complete arrangements for the installation of Tea exhibit in the Ceylon and Agricultural buildings at the World's Fair. Mr. Larkin says his Company will have one of the largest tea exhibits at the Fair, costing over $200,000. He says the public will have an opportunity to drink Ceylon Tea as it is made in Ceylon, there being already twenty Cingalese here to make and serve the tea.

Mr. Larkin says the public is rapidly becoming acquainted with the superior quality of the Ceylon product and its consumption has increased from practically nothing ten years ago to one-fourth the total amount of tea consumed. The "Salada" Ceylon Tea Company has head-quarters in six American cities and two Canadian cities.

Mr. Larkin will remain in St. Louis for several days.

NAVIGATION LATE IN OPENING.

Otonabee River is Still Unnavigable for Steam Craft.

Navigation will be late in opening this year on the Otonabee River. A number of causes have contributed to this. In the first place, the spring was unusually late in making its appearance, and the ice has only now disappeared from the lake and river. The Otonabee is now navigable, however, to the locks. But the water has been so high that the gates had to be opened to prevent the cofferdam at the new locks dam being destroyed, and at the present time the water is so high that the gates still have to remain open. The water however is gradually lowering, and in a few days the condition of the river should be such that the locks may be used.

All the boats navigating the river are ready to start operations, and are only waiting for the word to start on their trips. A large quantity of freight now lies at both ends of the route awaiting the opening of navigation, to be conveyed to its destination. The booms at the locks have been carried down the river, and are not yet in position.

GAS GENERATOR CAUSED ACCIDENT.

Miss May Walton, who has been spending a few weeks at her home here returned to Toronto on Saturday.

Last Friday evening Mr. Richard Phillip while in the act of seeing how much water was in the gas generator, was badly burned. Mr. R. Phillips of the well known firm of Phillips Bros., hardware establishment, of town, was going down in the cellar of the store for the purpose of emptying the water out of the generator on account of the electric lights being now in the store. While in the act of opening the air tight door he put his lantern up so as to get a better view of how much water there was, when the gas flared up and burnt his hands and face badly. He has been in bed ever since, but is doing well. He will however carry some marks of his accident.

The concert given in the town hall under the auspices of the I.O.F. was a complete success.

Mr. Norman Stubbs left for Toronto on Tuesday morning for the purpose of seeing his sister before she underwent an operation for appendicitis.

The one great improvement that has been required for some time at the C.P.R. station, has been made. The walk leading up to it has been widened about ten feet. Numerous other improvements are also being made. The flower gardens near the shops are being planted, and those in the lawn at the station are being seeded down with a choice collection of seeds, supplied by Mr. Dunlop, the C.P.R. florist, Toronto.

The Electric Light Company started to give the all-night service on the first of May.

The lacrosse boys are putting in all their spare time out on the grounds after supper every night. All are working hard to get in trim.

A number of the townspeople are talking of building summer cottages and boat houses at the Burnt Dam, the site of the power house. Campers at this point will have easy access to both Belmont and Round Lakes. There is one of the prettiest parks imaginable along the south shore of the river above the dam.

Mr. J. M. Watson has started to erect his new concrete building and store on the corner next to his present stand, just opposite the English church. This building will improve the corner very much, as every place in that locality has been fitted up except this one, and the new building will add greatly to the appearance of the town.

Mr. E. Willison narrowly escaped getting hurt while wireing the residence of Mr. R. A. Williams for the electric light.

The baseball nine are picking up this year. All the boys are down every afternoon practicing hard. They have accepted the challenge of the Marmora nine to meet them on the latter's grounds on May 24. The local boys are confident of winning.

The regular monthly meeting of the town council was held in the council chamber on Monday evening, May 2nd, at 8 p.m. Those present were:—Reeve, Jos. Knox, Councillors Campney, Haig and Thompson. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. On motion of Messrs Campney and Haig, the following accounts were ordered to be paid:—A. Richardson, horse hire, $17.25; R. J. Graham, salary to May 1st, $33.50; R. J. Graham, laundry, $1; F. C. McMaster, for fire pails and ladders, $31. Moved by Messrs. Thompson and Haig that Bylaw No. 191 to collect poll tax be read a third time.—Carried. On motion a court of revision on the assessment roll will be held in the town hall, Havelock, on Monday, May 30th, at 7.30. The council then adjourned.

Mr. William Cooper has been confined to his bed by sickness. He is now improving greatly and everyone will be glad when they see him up and around again.

The town is now without a policeman on account of Mr. R. J. Graham's year having been up on the last of April. No applications have as yet been received for the vacant position.

Cured His Mother of Rheumatism.

"My mother has been a sufferer for many years with rheumatism," says W. H. Howard, of Husband, Pa. "At times she was unable to move at all, while at all times walking was very painful. I presented her with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and after a few applications she decided it was the most wonderful pain reliever she had ever tried; in fact she is never without it now, and is at all times able to walk. An occasional application of Pain Balm keeps away the pain that she was formerly troubled with." For sale by all druggists.

DON'T RISK A PENNY. GET WELL FIRST.

For 30 years I've been a physician. I've treated nearly two million cases. Surely you'll admit that such experience must have taught me some certainties.

And all that I know of disease and cure—all that I have proven to be worth knowing—is condensed into my six books for the sick.

Write for a free copy to-day.

They tell me of my great discovery that practically all diseases can be permanently cured through the Sympathetic Nerves.

Not the nerves we feel with, see with, hear with, but the inside nerves.

It is these that unconsciously operate the vital Organs,—the Heart, Liver, Kidneys, Brain, etc.

When the inside nerves get run down, that Organ which is weakest in the body loses its power to act properly.

It then throws its work upon the other Organs

These organs in turn become affected through overwork and so scarcely any case is found without complications.

I proved it useless to doctor the individual organs themselves while the Nerve-Power to fully operate them was lacking.

Sedatives temporarily deadened the pain but increased the distress afterwards.

Tonics revived the drooping powers, only to insure relapse as soon as the stimulus was withdrawn.

Of what use to hourly move ahead the hands of a watch if the mainspring be seriously weakened?

There is but one sensible thing to do, viz.—stiffen up the mainspring.

That is what my now famous prescription, Dr. Shoop's Restorative, does.

It provides, through these inside nerves, the power to make the weakest organ do its duty.

It enables weak organs to cast off their clogging waste matter, and to repair their worn tissue.

It runs the human mill, at full capacity, till that mill produces enough new material to keep itself running without further help.

So sure am I of this Restorative that I authorize certain druggists everywhere to supply it on a month's trial, to practically all who write me for that privilege.

To supply it at my expense if it fails to benefit,—at your expense if it cures.

The cost is but $5.50 for six bottles, including my professional help during treatment.

Could anything better prove my faith in this system than this voluntary test?

Could anyone furnish you better grounds for confidence?

Just specify which of the six you need.

Book 1 on Dyspepsia, Book 4 for Women
Book 2 on the Heart, Book 5 for Men (sealed)
Book 3 on the Kidneys, Book 6 on Rheumatism

Address Dr. Shoop, Box 47 Racine, Wis.

P. S. Simple cases often yield to one bottle of Restorative. All druggists carry it.

But all druggists do not supply it on a month's trial. You must write to me for that.

BOARD OF HEALTH IN SESSION AGAIN.

And will Better Sanitary Conditions —Scavenging to be Improved.

A meeting of the local Board of Health was held on Tuesday, there being present Messrs. R. Neill, chairman; W. Eyres, G. Schneider, Dr. Burnham and Dr. McNulty.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Accounts were presented from H. H. Edmison, $4.50; St. Joseph's Hospital, $28; Nicholls Hospital, $219. It was moved and seconded that Mr. Edmison's account be paid, and that the others be referred to the Medical Health Officer and Sanitary Inspector to report on.—Carried.

Upon motion it was decided to have the wells of C. Alexander and A. Clotworthy again tested.

It was decided to advise Mr. D. W. Dumble that as the season was now favourable for putting in water services the Board would expect him to close his well.

It was moved and seconded that the Board adjourn for one week, and that enquiry be made by the chairman, Mr. Eyres and Dr. McNulty, as to the authority of the Board to regulate scavenging, and also to the nuisances complained of on Hunter, Sheridan and McDonel streets, as well as to the necessity of a sewer on Antrim street, west of George street.—Carried.

Dr. Burnham spoke of the necessity at this time of the year of having all back yards cleaned, and in connection with this the chairman thought that scavengers should be employed by the town.

The secretary stated that a few years ago the town did so, but were afterwards confronted with an action for damages, as their man could not do his work, because there were others on the job.

A complaint was made concerning Braund's stable at the north end of the town, but the Chief said that there was nothing to which the Board of Health could take objection.

According to the Chief there was a bad case on Hunter and Sheridan streets, as there was no sewer there. The former secretary of the Provincial Board of Health had stated that he was agreeable to a temporary sewer into the river, but if this were done there could be no ice taken from the Little Lake.

Mr. Eyres thought there should be no ice taken from there even under the present conditions.

The Board adjourned for one week.

Fast Freight Wrecked.

Windsor, May 5.—The fast freight, leaving Windsor at 1.30 yesterday, ran into a flat car loaded with lumber at Higgs' Siding, about twenty-three miles from Windsor. The fireman, Geo. Blois, was thrown out of the cab, and while crawling up the bank to get out of the way the forward trucks of the tender broke, and one of the wheels ran over his right leg, crushing the bones below the knee. Engineer Hennessey was buried under the cab, and crawled out from an incredibly small space uninjured. The engine was smashed, but could again be

TWO CHURCH ANNIVERSARIES.

St. Andrew's and St. Paul's Will Celebrate Next Sunday.

On Sunday next, May 8th, both Presbyterian churches in Peterborough celebrate their anniversary. The Rev. Principal Gordon, of Queen's University, Kingston, will preach in St. Andrew's in the morning and in St. Paul's in the evening.

The Rev. Dr. John Neil, of Westminster, Toronto, will officiate in St. Paul's in the morning and in St Andrew's in the evening. Both congregations are looking forward to church renovation during the summer and expect liberal collections on Sunday next.

The annual congregational re-union of St. Andrew's will take place on Monday night, May 9th. Instead of the regular service the ladies have arranged a more interesting and pleasant form of entertainment. A good musical programme will be given and the congregation with all their friends will be given the opportunity of having the man of Klondyke fame, the Rev. John Pringle, who has simply electified his audiences.

Instead of the usual cost for the soiree a generous offering will be made on that night. Everybody is invited to hear Mr. Pringle.

MR. MOORE'S DEFENCE OF HIS POSITION.

Reiterates His Statements With Respect to the Sugar Proposition.

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Sir,—I stated in the Opera House that no citizen who was not connected as a stockholder or creditor with this Company had appeared on the platform to champion its attempted raid on the Town's treasury. I might have added that none other had supported its preposterous purposes in the public press, the simple reason being that the by-law is devoid of all merit. It was evident to everyone that the purpose of the promoters was to get the Town's endorsement and money to pay the Company's debts and bolster up for a short period its very bad financial condition.

Last night there appeared four letters in the newspapers from as many correspondents, who were ashamed to attach their names to the absurdities and mistatements they contained. Their language, however, carmarks them as having originated from the chief promoter, or one of his lieutenants. Anonymous scribblers can, it seems, be found now as ever in cases however unworthy and opposde to the public interest.

Is Mr. Gordon a myth? asks one; it looks like it. He was to have appeared at the Opera House meeting where he would snuff out your humble servant, but he failed to put in an appearance, and we will not have the pleasure of looking upon this Napoleon of Finance. If he does amount to much, and this I am credibly informed is not the case, he had taken the measure of the Sugar Company and gave it the cold shoulder at the last minute, but in any event ratepayers, I believe, will agree with me that such a millionaire as he is painted to be, should run his own business and not seek to have the Town as a partner; and that if he wanted help he should have applied to the County in which the factory is to be built, and in which the farmers are the chief, if not the only persons, interested.

Here is a statement I propounded at the Opera House, and to which Mr. Garvin offered no reply, and of which no explanation can be given:

It requires to complete building	$100,000
To purchase plant	156,000
To dismantle and remove plant to Peterborough	15,000
To install it	20,000
Total cost	$291,000
Mr. Gordon puts in	$100,000
Town's guaranty	100,000 200,000
Amount short	$ 91,000
Then to buy the beets from the farmers	150,000
At the least a total deficit of	$241,000

Where is the cash to come from, Mr. Editor? The Banks will not loan the Company a dollar with a first mortgage on the premises and plant to the Town for $100,000. Mr. Garvin says he will sell stock; stock forsooth! No one in view of the past conduct of the Company, and its present condition would accept it or have it in his possession, so there will be utter collapse in which the Town will have to put up its money as it did to the Stove Company, for $6,000.

All these seeming impossibilities having, however, been overcome by Mr. Garvin (in his mind) he will run the factory and make it pay good dividends, as he said at the Opera House, by cheap imported labor.

Touching the Town's financial condition, it is just as I have stated, and not as stated by a representative of the Company in a morning paper. The total gross debt within a year or two will be swelled to about $800,000. We certainly have some assets and are trying hard to preserve them against the days when the above amounts will mature, and ratepayers will, I am confident, insist on this by their votes tomorrow.

One correspondent (no name) in the morning paper, says that in extremity we can realize on our public schools, market square, Town offices, fire hall, share of Court House, steam roller, crusher and engine. Thank heaven, he left us the sprinkling wagons and dump cart.

Your obedient servant,
W. H. MOORE.

1905 MEETING IN PETERBOROUGH.

Women's Foreign Missionary Society of Presbyterian Church to Meet Here.

Special to the Examiner.

Toronto, May 5.—The Presbyterian Women's Foreign Missionary Society decided to meet next year in Peterborough. Miss J. T. Gawon, Toronto; Mrs. Geo. Hay, Ottawa, and Mrs. R. W. Grant, Orillia, were elected delegates to the Pan-Presbyterian council to be held in Liverpool in June.

PETERBOROUGH MAN'S DESERVED PROMOTION.

Mr. George H. Allan now Chief Inspector Standard Life.

Mr. Geo. H. Allan, of Montreal, Chief Inspector of the Standard Life Insurance Company is renewing old acquaintances in town after an absence of 14 years. Mr. Allen commenced insurance in the City of Kingston in 1885, and four years afterwards took charge of the Midland District as Inspector, with headquarters in Peterborough. For the first fifteen years he has had charge of Eastern Ontario with head-quarters at Kingston, where he was elected for five years Alderman of the city. At the beginning of this year the Company appointed him to the responsible position of Chief Inspector for Canada with head-quarters in Montreal. He is now on a tour of inspection of the Midland District. The world has evidently been as good to him as the Standard Company has if we are to judge by his avoirdupois. His many friends in town wish him continued prosperity.

NEW HEARSE IS VERY HANDSOME.

Messrs. Eano and Lane's Enterprise Commenced.

One of the finest specimens of the carriage builders' genius seen in Peterborough in a long time is the new hearse for Messrs. Eano & Lane, the Hunter street undertakers and furniture dealers. The hearse, which reached town this morning, and which may now be seen at R. H. Leary's livery, was manufactured by Matthew Guy of Toronto, who has a reputation for first-class goods. The order was delivered to this firm five months ago, and since that time work has been progressing on the hearse, which to-day was delivered.

It is an eight pillared hearse, thoroughly modern in every particular, fitted with rubber tires, and all the newest accessaries. Two large, solid silver lamps add greatly to the appearance of the hearse, which altogether is a very handsome and solid-looking carriage. It is now on exhibition at Leary's livery, where today many persons have been admiring its beauty, and paying compliments to the builder and the enterprise of the owners, Messrs. Eano & Lane.

THE EXAMINER'S NEW SERIAL, "THE GENTLEMAN FROM INDIA," BOOTH TARKINGTON'S GREAT STORY OF JOURNALISM, POLITICS AND LOVE, WILL COMMENCE ON SATURDAY. NO ONE SHOULD MISS THE FIRST CHAPTER.

A CAUTION TO CYCLISTS.

A bicyclist riding on the pavement on Gilmour street, ran into, knocked down, and painfully bruised, Kathleen, the bright little daughter of Mr. M. O'Brien, Gilmour street. The accident, or assault, as it may be regarded, took place in front of the little girl's residence, at the foot of a steepl slope in the pavement, where unusual speed is developed. It seems to be a very dangerous practice, as elderly persons or children coming out of gateways, and not being able to hear the noiselessly moving wheels, may suffer severe shock and injury.

Prize Coins.

Look out for three coins, with Daz-lar Cigar, stamped on face, one 50c., one 25c., and one 10c; $3.00, $2.00, and $1.00 respectively will be paid for these by W. J. Morgan, barber and tobacconist, 410 1-2 George street.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the George street church, the pupils of Mr. Rupert Gliddon will give a recital on Thursday evening in the school room of George street church. A good programme will be rendered. Admission 10 cents. 3d

—The staff of river drivers in the employ of the Dickson Company has been augumented by half a dozen men from Chemong, who had previously made arrangements to go to work for the Turner Company. The latter company had failed to make satisfactory arrangements regarding salary, and the men decided to go with the Dickson Company.

—The condition of the back lakes, which was responsible for the death of so many fish during the winter, has greatly increased the sale of muskrat hides this spring. Yesterday Messrs. William Lech & Sons purchased 2,000 muskrat skins, and an equal number was bought on Saturday. This season up to date this firm has purchased 10,000 muskrat skins, which is a great increase over other years.

—A splendid rehearsal of Mrs. Morrow's Chorus Class, was held last evening in the Y.M.C.A. Hall, the ladies especially turning out in large numbers. The Serenade Chorus, with tenor solo taken by Mr. A. E. Frowde, was rendered in fine form. Miss Ethel Tully greatly assisted the altos. Mrs. Morrow states that all who intend joining must do so on or before next Wednesday evening, and that no one will be allowed to enter after that date. Pupils as well as other singers are asked to bear this in mind.

A VERY PRETTY MAY WEDDING.

Miss Lydia Ruth Rome Married to Mr. W. J. Bolton, of Toronto.

A quiet but pretty wedding was that which took place at the residence of Mr. Isaac Herrington, Chemong Road, when Miss Lydia Ruth Rome, sister of Mrs. Herrington, was united in marriage to Mr. Walter John Bolton, of Toronto. The ceremony, which was performed by Rev. A. H. Brace, of the Park street Baptist church, was witnessed by a number of the immediate friends of the contracting parties.

The bride was gowned in a very becoming dress of pearl grey silk taffeta, trimmed with all over lace. She carried the usual bridal roses, and was attended by her sister, Miss Maud Rome, who was similarly attired. Mr. John Rome, brother of the bride, gave her away. Mr. J. W. Smith of Peterborough, ably filled the duties of groomsman.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a dainty dejeuner was served and the guests spent a very enjoyable evening. The bride, who was a very popular young lady among her many friends here, was made the recipient of a number of handsome presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Bolton left this morning for Toronto where they will make their future home.

THE LABOUR PROBLEM, HOW TO SOLVE IT.

ELOQUENT ADDRESS GIVEN BY MR. J. E. FLETT.

President of Trades and Labour Congress Pays Peterborough Union Men a Visit - Gives a Talk to Trades Unions.

The address given last night in the K.O.T.M. Hall, Water street, by John A. Flett, organizer of the American Federation of Labour, and President of the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada, was worthy of a much larger audience than that which the address attracted. About 30 men were present, all of whom, however, were heartily in accord with the labour Union movement, and the good words of advice given by the eloquent President of the Congress, will doubtless have a stimulating influence on the labour men in this town.

The chair was taken by Mr. Chas. Murty, and on the platform with him were Rev. J. C. Davidson, and Messrs. S. W. Lowry and Hugh Darke.

The first speaker of the evening was Ald. W. J. Johnston, local secretary of the Trades and Labour Council. Mr. Johnston expressed his pleasure at being present and reported that the different Unions represented by the Labour Council were in good condition. The Council had been endeavouring to get all the local Unions united into one central body. One of the objects was to form a Building Trades Alliance, comprising all the different building Unions. He believed that the effectiveness of the different Unions was to a great extent lost because of the fact that they were not united. The Carpenters have a good Union, and some of the other trades, but at present what is needed, according to Mr. Johnston, is an alliance of all the Building Trades. All classes of labour is much better paid than it was a few years ago, and although many might attribute this to better times, he believed it was largely due to Union labour being introduced.

Mr. Flett was the next speaker, and for over an hour the eloquent representative of the American Federation of Labour spoke interestingly on the labour problem. He said that the object of his visit to Peterborough was simply a fraternal call, and they had met last night to have a friendly talk on the question which is to-day puzzling the minds of the greatest thinkers in the world.

To say that the labour question cannot be solved is to say that the nation is going to revert to slavery. The labour question is an old story, and nothing particularly new can be said in speaking of it. Trades and Labour Unions are simply societies for the prevention of cruelty to labour. They are organized to improve the conditions of the working people. They have taken into their own hands the adjustment of the difficulties arising. Sometimes they become discouraged at the slow progress made, but it must be remembered that this great movement is bound to grow, and success is sure to come eventually. An experience was had here a short time ago when there was a great wave of enthusiasm sweeping over the ranks of labour and men were crowding into halls where labour meetings were held. But now that the wave of enthusiasm has to a certain extent subsided, discouragement must not be given way to. It must be remembered that many join a union for curiosity or for selfish reasons, forgetting that a union is a business organization, and one in which sentiment must not play a part.

The oldest organized labour Unions with the system of high dues are, said Mr. Flett, the most successful, and he believed that it was a mistake to charge too small a fee for when trouble came they were in no position to meet it. The large Unions recognized that the employers had rights, and respected these rights, while on the other hand the employers also recognized the rights of their men, and they learned that the men must be fairly dealt with, as it was from them that their profits came.

For years Labour Unions were denounced, and it was held to be illegal for men to band together, but in spite of this opposition they continued to meet, and in the end created public sentiment in favour of union labour; and in England in 1824 the iniquitous laws of the 16th and 17th centuries were abolished, thus allowing the Unions to exist legally.

In England laws are being created for the protection of the workingman, and in the British House of Commons there is an increasing number of Labour representatives. Public sentiment plays an important part in the work of the Trade Unions, and they must be conducted in a legal manner, and in a way to inspire the public sympathy. The movement is making great headway, and last year the membership of the American Federation of Labour was increased by over 400,000. In Great Britain and Germany great strides are also being made. In Australia labour had achieved a great victory, and for the first time in the history of the world perhaps, a Labour Party was in power.

In Canada there are between 1500 and 1600 Trades Unions, the great majority of which are International in their character, which was found to be for the benefit of the Unions. The opponents of Unions had advised them to form National bodies, but it was seen that the employers were also forming combinations and associations, and in almost every case these were International, and in case of trouble help was given from the association in the United States.

It was to the younger people that they must look for the future success of Trade Unions, and every father who is a Union man should infuse that spirit into his children.

Mr. Flett then referred to the efforts to make compulsory arbitration law, and said that if this were effected it would have meant slavery for the workingman. He referred further to the Lougheed Bill, which was introduced into the Senate, but which the representatives of Labour succeeded in defeating. This Bill was to prevent the "Yankee agitator" from coming into Canada. It was pointed out that in the majority of cases the Americans who came here came for conciliatory purposes, and to prevent a strike if possible.

What the Trade Unions are aiming at now is a universal union, which, Mr. Flett believed, would have the effect of curbing the jingo element. He spoke of the old age pension inaugurated in Australia, and said that men who had spent years of service for the state in trying to build it up, had a greater claim for pensions than soldiers who served for only a short time, and whose work was that of destroying the nation.

If the Labour Party is to succeed, party lines must be broken down, and Union men must support Union candidates. Only by perfecting organizations with large reserve funds can the Trade Unions be successful.

Labour recognizes different abilities in men, but attempts to strike the living wage, below which no man should have to go. Labour is just as essential to manufacture as machinery or any other part of their business, and although every man has a right to ask what he thinks his services are worth, he generally has to accept what he can get. The objects of the trades unions are not simply to raise wages and shorten hours of labour. Every Act which the labour unions had asked for was calculated to benefit the working man. Surely, said Mr. Flett, it is not wrong to ask for protection for the operators of our factories. The agitation for women suffrage is not a selfish one.

Trade union meetings should be educative, and committees should be appointed to attend to Legislative and Municipal matters.

Mr. Flett concluded his excellent address by declaring that if the labour unions could not win by legitimate means they must go down to defeat. The unions aim to educate the members and do not stand for the expenditure of "booze" money. Mr. Flett's address was a clear, dispassionate appeal and will no doubt have a good effect.

Rev. J. C. Davidson, whose interest in labour questions is well known, was the next speaker, and he remarked that it would be most ungrateful of him not to be present, after the great kindness which the labour men had shown him. He congratulated Mr. Flett upon his election to the presidency of the Trades and Labour Congress. Three mottos he would have emblazoned on the walls of all union labour halls:

1. For the good of the worker.
2. For the good of the work.
3. For the good of all.

At the conclusion of Mr. Davidson's address, Mr. Lowry read a letter received from the secretary of the Twin-City Labour Council with reference to the sugar factory in Berlin, and its effects on labour. The letter stated that it had not benefitted the workingmen of Berlin, and further stated that in the opinion of the writer, the city had made a bad bargain when the factory was given a bonus of $25,000.

Mr. Lowry moved a vote of thanks to the speaker of the evening, which was seconded by Mr. Hugh Darke and carried unanimously.

SCOURGE OF CONSUMPTION

Secretary Hodgetts Read a Fine Report of the Quarter's Work—Advises Notification in Cases of Tuberculosis—Laboratory Report on Canned Goods Is Very Explicit—Not What They Seem.

Toronto, May 5.—Consumption and means of grappling with it were the main topics before the Provincial Board of Health yesterday, which met under the presidency of Dr. Kitchen, St. George. There were present: Drs. Cassidy and Oldright, Toronto; Boucher, Peterboro; Thompson, Strathroy; Douglas, Cobourg, and Hodgetts, the secretary of the Board. Routine business having been disposed of, Dr. Hodgetts' first report, upon which Dr. Kitchen complimented him as being equal to that "of an old stager," was read.

The report fully considered various systems of notification in practice in tubercular cases. One paragraph said: "I am of the opinion it is proper this board should consider the adoption of some system of notification and registration of all cases of tuberculosis."

The report of the laboratory was of an extensive character. A number of samples of canned goods had been examined, peas, corn, tomatoes, raspberries, strawberries, plums, peaches, black currants and apricot jams. Some copper and zinc, but in innocuous quantities, were found in tomatoes.

"None of the ordinary preservatives were found. Seasonings were few, in small quantities. Flavorings also were in limited quantities. The cheap jams were chiefly filled (apple or turnip pulp). In these very little of the fruit was present, simply enough to give a seed here and there through the mixture."

It was also stated that some of the seeds in the jams were not recognized. "They are not what they are labelled to be, and the matter will be pushed further."

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets ensure the proper digestion of the food—make sure that every part of the body gets the food that it needs.

Dodd's Kidney Pills ensure healthy kidneys—make sure that the kidneys strain all the impurities out of the blood, and send pure blood coursing through the body.

That these are the essentials of health and vigour is proven by thousands of statements like that of Mrs. John A. Lawrence, of Maitland, N. S.:

"I have used six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and six of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, and have not enjoyed as good health in years. I cannot praise them too highly."

Women who are suffering in secret—and there are thousands of them in Canada—should take their sisters' advice and use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and Dodd's Kidney Pills.

An Open Letter.

From the Chapin, S. C., News: Early in the spring my wife and I were taken with diarrhoea, and so severe were the pains that we called in a physician, who prescribed for us, but his medicines failed to give any relief. A friend who had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand, gave each of us a dose and we at once felt the effects. I procured a bottle and before using the entire contents we were entirely cured. It is a wonderful remedy and should be found in every household. H. C. Bailey, Editor. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Pitiful Helplessness

Victims of nervous diseases are the most to be pitied, because their ailment usually terminates in mental or physical helplessness. Paralysis, locomotor ataxia and insanity can only be avoided by building up the nervous system at the first sign of trouble and there is no preparation so well suited for the purpose as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great nerve restorative.

Write Off $1,500,000.

Toronto, May 5.—The following statement was handed to the press at an early hour this morning:

"The directors of the Western and British American Assurance Companies have decided to write off $1,000,000 of the paid up capital stock of the former company and $500,000 of that of the latter company, and to issue new stock for like amounts in each company. The actual value of the stock is not reduced inasmuch as the assets represented by the shares will in no way be affected by this action. The reduction of the stock, which is mainly due to the Baltimore and Toronto conflagrations, and its reinstatement by the new issue will materially strengthen the financial position of the companies."

Kidney Disease, Bad Circulation.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

The blood cannot possibly be pure and in a fit condition to nourish the body when the kidneys are diseased and fail to filter from it the poisonous waste matter.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, by their direct and healthful action on the kidneys, not only overcome diseases of the kidneys, but by so doing so ensure a purifying of the blood.

Mr. Wm. B. Best, License Commissioner for the County of Haldimand, and who lives in Cayuga, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled with cramps in my legs. I would awake from sleep in keen distress. The pain would seize me at the ankle and work up the leg almost to the body.

"Believing this trouble to arise from kidney derangements and bad circulation of the blood, I bought some of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills at W. J. Quinsey's drug store, and began using them. They benefitted me from the very start, and by continuing their use I have been completely cured. I would recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to any suffering as I did. I was so bad that I would have to jump out of bed two or three times during the night."

FOUND DEAD IN BED

Heart Disease Takes Off Wm. McCreary, M.P. for Selkirk, Man.

POPULAR COMMONS MEMBER

The Late Mr. McCreary Was a Prominent Figure in Manitoba Affairs—Sketch of His Public Career—Body Was Found By Chief Powell of Ottawa After It Had Been Dead 16 Hours.

Ottawa, May 5.—Last night the flag on the tower of the Parliament Buildings flies at half-mast in honor of the memory of two members of Parliament, who have been taken away within the past twenty-four hours. Senator Reid of British Columbia died after a lingering illness. The death of W. F. McCreary, M. P., for Selkirk, came with shocking suddenness. His body was discovered in his room at the Russell House, last evening, where it had evidently lain for some hours.

Chief Powell made the discovery at 6.30 o'clock. While leaving his room a chambermaid stated that she had not been able to get into the room all day, and that she feared something was wrong. Looking through the transom a portion of the body could be seen, and it was evident that the occupant of the room was dead. Chief Powell forced the door, and entering, the dead body of W. F. McCreary was found lying on the bed. The body lay in a natural position. William McCreary had evidently passed away in his sleep. It was clear that Mr. McCreary had no warning of the fatal stroke.

Chief Powell at once communicated with the coroner. Intimate friends of Mr. McCreary will break the news to the widow and seven children, who live in Winnipeg.

Members of Parliament were stunned by the news. As late as eleven o'clock Tuesday night Mr. McCreary was in the House, apparently in his usual good health, taking part in the debate. He was the picture of health. Hardly fifty years of age, of massive frame, strong, rugged face and the muscles of an athlete. W. F. McCreary was one of the last in the House who would have been thought of as likely to meet an early death.

Only two or three of his nearest friends had ever heard a murmur of complaint from him. To these friends, it appears, Mr. McCreary had recently complained of dull pains in his chest. It is said also that on one or two occasions last session he admitted that his heart was not strong.

The doctors who were called in considered an inquest unnecessary. They said Mr. McCreary had been dead for probably sixteen hours when he was found. Death was attributed to heart disease. The body was taken to Rogers' undertaking establishment.

Interment will take place at Winnipeg, whence the body will be conveyed by the Winnipeg train leaving Ottawa to-day at one o'clock.

House Adjourns in Sadness.

As a special mark of respect to the memory of Mr. McCreary the House adjourned soon after meeting last night. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the circumstances of Mr. McCreary's death were all the more sad in that they came so unexpectedly upon us. Like Mr. Cargill, Mr. McCreary was apparently in the best of health up to the last moment.

"Indeed only yesterday," said the Premier, "he was engaged with us in debate and defending his opinions on the most important questions. While thus addressing the House the hand of death was already upon him, which shows how true it is that we are only shadows and only shadows pursue. I am sure that Mr. McCreary had on both sides of the House only friends. He was of an ardent temperament, defended his opinions with vigor, and at all times enjoyed the keenness of debate, but there was no more kind-hearted man in the House. Even those who did not share his opinions respected his views and cherished his kindly disposition. We have had many evidences since the news of his death spread through the House, that on the other side as well as this the feeling of mourning is very deep."

Tribute From Opposition.

Dr. Sproule, in the absence of the leader of the Opposition, replied. "The death of a colleague under such circumstances," he said, "overshadowed not only the House, but the part of the country which loses its representative. It is marked with additional sadness when, as in this instance, one who was in the prime of life only yesterday, taking part in the duties of his position, is so suddenly called from among us, and we shall see him no more forever. On behalf of this side of the House, I say with pleasure that we always found the late Mr. McCreary a most sociable, genial and kind-hearted man, attentive to his duties, assiduous at his work and always endeavoring faithfully to represent his people and work in the best interests of his country."

Hon. Clifford Sifton.

Hon. Clifford Sifton desired to add a few words to what had been said on the painful occasion. His acquaintance with Mr. McCreary was probably longer than that of any other member of the House. It was now twenty-four years since they were law students together in Winnipeg. After practising his profession, Mr. McCreary attained a position of prominence as Mayor of Winnipeg, which might be taken as an indication of the esteem in which he was held by his fellow citizens. He had been shocked at the death of Mr. McCreary, for he had been in his (Mr. Sifton's) room yesterday afternoon and again last evening, when many conversations were held in reference to matters of interest in the constituency Mr. McCreary represented. He had practicaly remarked that he had never seen him look so well or in such good spirits. He had sometimes expressed doubt about the advisibility of continuing in a political career, but during the last few days he had rather made up his mind that for the present at least he would settle down to political life. Few men were better fitted for political life. He was a man of courage, ability and energy, able to present his views in a forceful way. Had he been asked last evening to suggest who was the least likely subject for such a sad occurrence in the House of Commons he thought he would have named Mr. McCreary. He could scarcely realize the truth of the statement, for the deceased had left him only at 11 o'clock last evening. He desired to express his sincere sympathy to the family in the loss they had sustained.

This concluded the address, which had been spoken in low tones, and listened to in reverent silence, which rarely pervades the Chamber. The Speaker announced the adjournment in scarcely audible tones and the members separated at 8.45 p.m.

Sketch of His Career.

William Forsythe McCreary was born at Pakenham, Lanark County, Ont., on May 5, 1855. His father, Jas. McCreary, was an Irishman from County Armagh, while his mother, Elizabeth Wallace, was a Scotswoman from Glasgow on the Clyde. Educated in the Public, Grammar and High Schools of Arnprior, he became a barrister at law, removed to Winnipeg, where he sat in the City Council as alderman during the years 1883 and 1884, and again in 1895 and 1896. The following year saw him occupying the Mayoralty chair. From 1897 to 1900 he acted as Dominion Commissioner of Immigration, and entered the Federal House of Commons at the general election of 1900 as a Liberal. Mr. McCreary was married in 1882 to Annie Ellis Guene, and in church matters was an attached member of the Methodist community.

Tortured with Pain.

Too Weak to Work.

ULCERS, BOILS AND PIMPLES ALL OVER HER BODY

Such was the condition of Mrs. Samuel Deitz, Zurich, Ont.

She happily found relief from her terrible suffering by using

Burdock Blood Bitters.

A remedy without a rival for the cure of all diseases and troubles arising from bad blood. A record extending over a quarter of a century and thousands of testimonials will prove this. Mrs. Deitz writes: "Too weak to work, tortured with the pain of ulcers, boils and pimples all over my body, especially on my face. I had almost made up my mind to give up trying to have them cured. I was ashamed to have any person come to see me, my face was in such a terrible state. I tried everything I could think of but got worse and worse. I was then led to try Burdock Blood Bitters and was surprised at the wonderful change the first bottle made. Altogether I took seven bottles and am now completely cured and am in perfect health again. I feel that B.B.B. saved my life."

Just a little too far and the woman who reaches over the cliff for the coveted flower goes crashing down into the abyss below. Just a little too far and the woman, who, day by day, neglects to cure the womanly diseases which weaken her is prostrated upon a bed of sickness.

No woman should trifle with the diseases peculiar to her sex. Neglect to-day means a worse condition to-morrow.

"My wife, Mrs Mary Estes, has been taking your medicine and received great benefit from it," writes Mr. Geo. Wm. Estes of Springfield, Va. "Was troubled with female weakness, heavy, bearing-down pains, severe pain in back and head, and a tired, worn out feeling all the time. Tried all the remedies we could hear of but they did no good. Finally we wrote to you and my wife commenced taking Favorite Prescription. Took ten bottles and is in better health than before in a long time. We shall always recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to all who are thus afflicted."

"Favorite Prescription" makes weak women strong, sick women well. Accept no substitute for the medicine which works wonders for weak women.

The secret of the excellent baking and roasting qualities of the Imperial Oxford oven is found in the diffusive flue — an improvement which no other range possesses.

This flue draws fresh air from the floor, superheats it and delivers it into the top of the oven through perforations which diffuse it evenly to front, sides and back. This gives a uniform heat throughout the oven, resulting in uniformly cooked food.

When your oven is at baking heat block up the inlet and you will find the temperature of the oven will drop immediately, just like an ordinary range, unless the fire is stirred and more fuel added.

LATEST NEWS OF SPORT.

Midland Football League Opening Game Here Saturday —Will There be a City Baseball League?—Other Sports.

CITY BASEBALL LEAGUE STILL UNDECIDED.

Efforts Should be Made at Once to Organize.

What about a City Baseball League this year? The weather man informs us that spring has come to stay, and that the season for baseball will soon be in full swing. The Midland League is ready for business, the Kawartha League is getting busy, but as yet nothing has been done in reference to a City Baseball League. The Shamrocks and Auburns will play in the Kawartha League, but there will be still enough teams left in town to form a snug little league. The Cordage Company have organized and should be in a position to place a strong nine on the diamond, the Y.M.C.A. last year's champions of the Intermediate League, should take a stride upwards and play senior ball; the Victorias of last year played a fast article of ball and with a little strengthening should hold their own in faster company. The Pullmans should also get into the game again. A league of at least 4 teams could be formed without a great amount of difficulty if the project were pushed forward, and it is regretted no meetings were taking a definite form if there is to be anything doing along baseball lines in Peterborough has just played a gala and after the stars have been selected for the Midland League and Kawartha League, there will still be enough players left to form a strong senior and intermediate league, besides the Guild League which promises to flourish to a greater extent than last year. It is hoped that there will be a meeting called in the very near future to organize a City Baseball League.

C. G. E. ANGLING CLUB ELECT THEIR OFFICERS.

Annual Meeting Held Last Evening—Expect a Successful Season.

The annual meeting of the Angling Club was held in the Y. M. C. A., Wednesday evening. The minutes of the previous meetings and secretary's report were read and adopted. Applications for membership were in excess of other years. The total membership now is forty-five. The club is on a good financial basis and prospects are very bright for another season's sport. Each member is going to strive to get the biggest fish. Angler Brown was the lucky man last year, and now holds the club's medal (leather). It is the intention of the club to run a large excursion at an early date. The success of it is a foregone conclusion. The following are the officers for 1904:

Commodore—J. G. M. Wilson.
Captain—J. A. Sharpe.
Sec.-Treas.—R. H. Shepherd.
Guide—J. A. Brown.
Official Liar—A. W. Paterson, "O.K."
Cook—J. Trombley.
Bard—Jos. Begley.
Scullion—H. T. Millard.
Cabin Boy—J. Williams.
Executive Committee—Wilson, Shepherd, Sharpe, Paterson, McCabe, Moldan.

The Anglers voted a hearty vote of thanks to the secretary of the Y.M.C.A. for his kindness in giving the use of rooms.

BOWLING-ON-THE-GREEN.

Work was commenced yesterday on the new lawn bowling grounds at the corner of Aylmer and Brock streets. The grounds, which are at present in a rather rough condition, are being carefully levelled and will be sodded and rolled as soon as possible. The lawn will be 120 feet by 75 feet when completed and may be enlarged if desired for another season. The site is certainly a splendid one and the bowlers are looking forward to a season of splendid sport. It is expected that the lawn will be ready for use by Victoria Day at least. The sod for a portion of the lawn will be transferred from the old bowling grounds. A large increase of members is looked for by the bowlers who are all quite enthusiastic over the sport.

BASEBALL.

On Friday, April 29th, a game of baseball was played between the Junior Centrals and the 5th Ward teams. The score kept very close during the game until the last innings the 5th Ward team made 6 runs, which made the score 7—10 in favour of the 5th Ward team. The teams line-up was as follows, with those who made runs:

Herbert Claxy made an excellent umpire. George Evans played an excellent game behind the bat, while Alcuz Coughlin pitched a good game. During the game the teams were supplied with music by the 5th Ward girls, near first base.

• • • •

The Charlotte street Guild Team will practice on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings and Saturday afternoons of each week until further notice.

• • • •

The baseball rank wishes there was about twelve months of this style of weather without a break.

• • • •

Washington of the American Baseball League has lost fifteen games in a row and has yet to score a victory. Montreal of the Eastern League is trying her utmost to follow Washington's example and has dropped all five games already played.

TURF.

The Peterborough Turf Club has arranged a good programme for the three days' meet to be held on August 9th, 10th and 11th. Already the secretary has received assurances from a number of owners of fast horses that they will be on hand, and the success of the meet is assured. The following events have been arranged:

1st day—2.50; 2.16 trot or pace; one-half mile run.

2nd 2.29, 2.21 trot or pace; half-mile dash.

3rd day—2.40 trot or pace; free for all; half mile run over six hurdles.

A good programme of events is also being arranged for Victoria Day, May 24th.

FOOTBALL.

The Bridgenorth—Wanderers game will be played at 5.15 Saturday afternoon at the driving park. Mr. Art Noble ex-president of the league will referee the game.

• • • •

The Y. M. C. A. football team had their first practice on the Oval last evening and everyone voiced the sentiment that Mr. Richard Hall was the "best man in the town," for throwing open the gates to the grounds, as it certainly makes the boys feel about five years younger to get on the park again where everything is as free as the wind that blows. A number of new players were enrolled last evening which makes the outlook for a successful season quite encouraging. A full meeting of the team is requested for to-night at 7.30 to elect a captain for the season, together with other business which requires attention.

• • • •

In final preparation for the game with the Keene team on Saturday the Quaker football team will practice tonight at the Oval at 6.45 sharp. Every member is asked to be on hand.

• • • •

Word has been received from the Bethany Football Club to the effect that they will be unable to get a team together for next Saturday's game with the Y. M. C. A. scheduled to be played here. The Bethany team has had trouble to get grounds suitable for practice owing to the unfavourable weather, but will be ready to meet the Y. M. C. A. there on May 21st in the next scheduled game.

• • • •

A fine game is promised for next Saturday afternoon in the Midland League when Bridgenorth comes to town to clash with the Old Country Wanderers. The stock of the latter team rose several points last Saturday when they played a tie game with the strong Norwood team and there will, no doubt, be a large crowd on hand next Saturday to see them perform. Bridgenorth has always played fast football and last year held the Championship Y.M.C.A. team down to a 2—1 game here. Both teams will be in good shape for a fast game.

• • • •

The Y. M. C. A. team is steadily at practice and, judging from the men who have been turning out, and the style of play that has been the order so far, their chances are good to retain their present title of champions.

• • • •

The Quakers who have not been saying a great deal, but have been steadily polishing the football, improving the condition of their wind apparatus and getting into shape generally, will jump into the game in earnest next Saturday, when they collide with the Keene team at the latter place. The Quakers will be represented by a likely looking bunch and may be expected to be right there at the grand finale.

• • • •

Meanwhile, down in Bowmanville, they are kicking the leather about the town and playing exhibition games with everything in sight and anxiously awaiting the conclusion of Round II when they will have an opportunity of trying their worth against the teams from this section. And don't you forget it, that Bowmanville bunch will take a lot of beating.

• • • •

The referees appointed for Saturday's games in the Midland League are as follows: Quakers at Keene, J. W. Kelly, of Bridgenorth; Bridgenorth at Wanderers, A. Noble of the Y. M. C. A.; Harwood at Caughnawaga, Chas. Pearse, of Norwood; Omemee at Y. M. C. A. (if such can be arranged), Dr. Morgan, president of the League.

CRICKET

In an impromptu match, played on the oval yesterday the Junior Colts succeeded in worsting a team of ex-Colts to the tune of 40—28. Notwithstanding the earliness of the season some excellent cricket was seen, the bowling of Messrs. Moore and Burritt and the fielding of Halt being especially fine. At bat, Burritt 13 and Mains 10 were top scores. The Colts play in Millbrook on Saturday and, with the strong team now on hand, should find little difficulty in duplicating the successes of last year.

LACROSSE.

The Peterboroughs had a right practice last evening at Central Park.

• • • •

The executive of the Midland Lacrosse League meets here on Friday, May 13th, when the schedule will be drawn up and a constitution adopted.

• • • •

An important meeting of the officers and members of the Junior and senior lacrosse teams of the T. A. S. will be held on Friday night. All members are urgently requested to be present as matters of the utmost importance are to be discussed.

APPRENTICE WANTED.

LIFT LOCK CANNOT BE OPENED MAY 12.

Winter Condition Made Opening Impossible this Month.

Will Probably Be Opened About June 1st—Considerable Work Yet to be Done.

Some little time ago a despatch from Ottawa to the Toronto Globe stated that the Lift Lock at Peterborough would be opened on May 12th. This date was chosen because it is a holiday in Quebec, (Ascension Day,) and the House of Commons will not sit, consequently it was thought that an opportunity might be given to the members of Parliament to be present at the opening.

Had the weather of this spring been similar to that of 1903, this programme might have been carried out, but as everyone knows, the weather conditions have not been conducive to outdoor operations, consequently it will be impossible to carry out the programme as originally planned and the Lift Lock will not be opened during this month. There is enough work yet to be done to engage the attention of the staff until June. The date of the opening has not yet been announced, but it will be given out in ample time to allow all preparations to be made to make the event one of the special prominence which its importance warrants.

JAPANESE TROOPS HAVE LANDED

The Liaotung Peninsula Will See Forces of Flowery Kingdom.

PORT ARTHUR TO BE ISOLATED

Russian Stronghold in Imminent Danger, and Viceroy Alexieff Leaves the Place—No Confirmation of Second Land Battle—Russia Negotiating for Chinese Railways.

Tokio, May 6.—(12 noon.)—It is officially announced that Japanese forces began landing on the Liaotung Peninsula yesterday. The place where the landing is occurring and the number of men being landed is withheld.

Alexieff Leaves Port Arthur.

London, May 6.—Viceroy Alexieff's departure from Port Arthur is interpreted here to mean that the place is in imminent danger of isolation and the Japanese preparations for landing are considered as confirming the belief that Port Arthur has been sealed up, probably by two of the sunken ships which the Russians failed to locate.

Togo Still Working.

According to The Daily Telegraph's Tokio correspondent, to-day's Jiji Shimpo says: "Our fleet has not returned to its rendezvous and is still engaged in the execution of a prearranged program. There is reason to believe that the Japanese intend landing their second army at Newchwang upon the successful bottling up of Port Arthur."

The Daily Mail's Paris correspondent hears that Russia has cancelled its contracts for a supply of coal, en route to the Far East, which were made with a view to the despatch of the Baltic fleet.

The Berlin correspondent of The Daily Mail asserts that the Russian military authorities are in a state of the most extreme anxiety regarding the chances of saving the baggage of the Yalu army. The roads are so bad that a wheeled transport is able to move only five miles daily and it is feared that the Japanese will capture all the stores accumulated at Fengwangchang.

No Change in Situation.

Despatches received from Port Arthur yesterday afternoon and from Newchwang Wednesday, report no change in the situation, so far, no confirmation has reached London of the Japanese preparations for landing on the coast of the Liaotung peninsula.

According to The Daily Telegraph's Shanaikwan correspondent, M. Pavloffs, Russian minister to Corea, has gone to Pekin for the purpose of endeavoring to induce China to cede to the Russian administration the Chinese railways, from Koupangize to Sinmintung, and Yinkow, for military purposes.

Why There Is No News.

The absence of press despatches telling of the fight on the Yalu is partially explained by the heavy mortality among the correspondents. Three of the Novosti's correspondents are missing, and it is believed they were killed, while The Russ lost one of its correspondents. The other journals are wiring to ascertain if their representatives are alive.

More Dead Russians.

Tokio, May 6.—A telegram has been received here from Gen. Kuroki, dated May 3, in which he reports that a careful search of the battlefield of last Sunday revealed two hundred additional wounded and dead Russians.

Rumor of Terrible Battle.

London, May 6.—A despatch to The Central News from St. Petersburg says a rumor is current there that a second battle has been fought at Kiuliencheng, in which the Russian loss was 7,000, the Japanese loss 10,000 men, and resulted in the Japanese being driven back in disorder. The despatch adds that no confirmation of this report is obtainable.

Naval Battle Rumored.

London, May 6.—A despatch to The Central News, dated at Seoul, Tuesday, says: "Heavy cannonading was heard off Gensan (on the east coast of Corea) Monday and this morning. It is supposed that Rear-Admiral Uriu's fleet has succeeded in engaging the Russian Vladivostock squadron."

The Jap Squadron.

Port Arthur, May 6.—The Japanese squadron is behind the Liaoshan Promontory, south of Port Arthur. Transports, with Japanese troops on board, have arrived at Piasewo, northeast of Port Arthur, with the object of making a landing.

Seen Near Kinchou.

Newchwang, May 6.—Five Japanese warships, with a large number of transports, have been seen near Kinchou Bay, on the west coast of the Liaotung Peninsula, north of Port Arthur.

Shut Out By Ice.

Halifax, N.S., May 6.—The steamer Manchester City, from Manchester April 21 for Montreal, arrived here last night for orders, having been unable to get up the Gulf of St. Lawrence owing to ice. The steamer sighted the Allan liner Hibernian, from London for Montreal, and two other large steamers outside of the ice off Cape Ray, Nfld. The steamers were cruising about, looking for an opening in the ice.

A Successful Season.

St. John, N. B., May 6.—During the winter there were 96 sailings, and steamers took away Canadian goods to the value of $10,155,813 and foreign goods to the value of $5,722,376, making the total value of shipments $15,875,189. This shows an increase of $2,793,711 over last season. Four steamers sailed for South Africa with $772,727 worth of goods.

To Begin June 1.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 6.—The Moffly re-organization committee of the stockholders of the Consolidated Lake Superior Co. met yesterday and declared operative the plan of re-organization dated October 20, 1903. It is expected that operations at the "Soo" will be resumed about June 1.

Fell Into Boiling Metal.

Chicago, May 6.—Making a misstep while walking on the edge of a vast caldron of boiling metal, Hainey Anderson, an employe of the Illinois Steel Company, at South Chicago, clung for life to the edge yesterday, while his feet burned off. Then, his strength gone, he slipped with a shriek into the seething mass below. In a few moments his body was literally consumed.

10,000 Pounds of Powder Exploded.

Newport, Ind., May 5.—A powder mill owned by the Northwestern Powder Company, three miles from Newport, was blown up yesterday. Four men were killed outright and two were injured. Ten thousand pounds of powder exploded, and the bodies of two of the men were blown into such small pieces that they could not be picked up.

Have Leave to Appeal.

Toronto, May 5.—The Court of Appeal yesterday granted leave to appeal to Col. Gray and Frank Gray, recently convicted and sentenced in the election trials.

Destructive Hurricane.

Saigon, French Indo-China, May 5.—A hurricane ravaged Cochin-China May 1. About a hundred natives were killed and great damage was done.

PAINFUL PERIODS

While no woman is entirely free from periodical suffering, it does not seem to have been the plan of nature that woman should suffer so severely. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science. It relieves the condition which produces so much discomfort and robs menstruation of its terrors.

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhœa, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for further free advice. Thousands have been cured by so doing, and by the use of

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered for six years with dysmenorrhea (painful periods), so much so that I dreaded every month, as I knew it meant three or four days of intense pain. The doctor said this was due to an inflamed condition of the uterine appendages caused by repeated and neglected colds.

"If young girls only realized how dangerous it is to take cold at this critical time, much suffering would be spared them. Thank God for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that was the only medicine that helped me any. Within three weeks after I started to take it, I noticed a marked improvement in my general health, and at the time of my next monthly period the pain had diminished considerably. I kept up the treatment, and was cured a month later. I am like another person since. I am in perfect health, my eyes are brighter, I have added 12 pounds to my weight, my color is good, and I feel light and happy."—MISS AGNES MILLER, 25 Potomac Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—A while ago my health began to fail because of female troubles. The doctor did nothelpme. Iremembered that my mother had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on many occasions for irregularities and uterine troubles, and I felt sure that it could not harm me at any rate to give it a trial.

"I was certainly glad to find that within a week I felt much better, the terrible pains in the back and side were beginning to cease, and at the time of menstruation I did not have nearly as serious a time as heretofore, so I continued its use for two months, and at the end of that time I was like a new woman. I really have never felt better in my life, have not had a sick headache since, and weigh 20 pounds more than I ever did, so I unhesitatingly recommend your medicine."—MRS. MAY HAULE, Edgerton, Wis., President Household Economics Club.

NORTH RENFREW ELECTION EXPENSES

A short time ago the Examiner made some comment upon the extraordinary bill for election expenses certified to by the election agent of Mr. Dunlop, the Conservative candidate, on account of the bye-elections of last December. It was pointed out that a total of nearly $8,000—$7,287.19—for "legitimate" expenses, was to say the least, remarkable. In order to show how it struck others, the following is taken from Le Canada, a French-Canadian Liberal journal, assumed to advocate the cause and policy of Sir Wilfred Laurier, is submitted.

Le Canada says.

"The electors of North Renfrew are beginning to doubt whether the personal popularity of their member, Mr. Dunlop, was the true reason of the victory he gained.

There was a time when it was the fashion in Upper Canada to charge the French Canadians with selling their votes to the highest bidder. In North Renfrew, which contains a number of French Canadians, the majorities of Mr. Dunlop were taken outside the localities where our compatriots were in the majority. It is therefore not upon them that rests the accusation of venality—sale of votes—which the figures of election expenses indicate. Our readers already known that Mr. Dunlop's election expenses, admitted by himself, amount to $7,278.19, a handsome figure for a rural constituency. Here is the list:—

Postage and stationery	$ 202 13
Rent of committee rooms in Pembroke	336 25
Caretaker of committee rooms	181 50
Clerical work on voters' lists, etc.	114 75
Wood for committee rooms ...	4 50
Furniture and fittings for committee rooms	24 85
Speakers' expenses	75 00
Newspapers for committee rooms	25 80
Livery and driving	3,810 25
Bill posting, etc	117 00
Printing	456 97
Telephone and telegrams	102 08
Electric light	41 75
Seals and scissors	5 75
Personal expenses of candidate, including rent of halls	1,626 00
Total	$7,278 19

These figures have a special significance, especially two items, the $3,810.25 for hire of vehicles, and the $1,626 for personal expenses of the candidate. Mr. Dunlop and his friends should have done a great deal of driving to run up a bill of $3810.25 for the hire of vehicles during the few weeks of the electoral campaign. It is well understood that if some of the vehicles hired by the help of this large sum were used to carry electors to the poles, that thereby there was committed an illegal act of which the penalty according to the election law of Ontario is a fine of $100.

As to the personal expenses of Mr. Dunlop of $1626, according to the Ontario law they should cover the rental of halls or places of meetings, hotel expenses, hire of vehicles, etc., expenses which figure separately in his bill.

It is almost certain that this sum of $7,278 is only a small part of the expenses incurred by the Conservative party and its candidate in the bye-election campaign of North Renfrew, which under normal conditions should have been carried by the Government. The fact that the expenditure of so large a sum is acknowledged is strong presumptive evidence of it.

The election of Mr. Dunlop is protested. After several preliminary hearings, the case is now certain to come before the Court, and Mr. Dunlop's explanations of his liberality towards the owners of vehicles, towards his speakers, towards the proprietors of hotels, etc., will probably be of a nature to result in the annulment of his election.

The average expenses of candidates throughout the province at the last general election did not amount to more than between $500 and $800 each, and the fact that Mr. Dunlop's expenses were ten times greater than the average, does not require a very suspicious mind, to infer that all his expenses do not properly come under the title of "legitimate" expenses.

Hope and J. Humphries. A solo, "I Want the Money," by Mr. Bert MacIntyre. Trio, "A Little Farm Well Tilled," by Messrs. McManus, Bryse and Moore. After refreshments were served a number of games were indulged in, and all spent a happy evening.

PORT HOPE.

Ernest Peters, a young man who lives on Charles street, had a narrow escape from death by drowning last Friday morning.

He had been fishing for suckers in the Generaska near Mr. Helm's dam and afterwards climbed on to the narrow plank bridge which crosses the stream at that place. He was standing near the west end of the plank watching others fishing, when a sudden fit of faintness overcame him and he dropped into the water. The water washed him off the slide onto which he had fallen and carried him down the stream.—Port Hope Times.

An attempt made by incendiaries last Sunday to destroy by fire the Campbellcroft cheese factory, belonging to Mr. Montford Wilson, has caused much perturbation in the neighbourhood of Garden Hill.

About nine o'clock on Sunday morning, as Mr. Wilson was taking his usual Sunday morning stroll, he noticed that the north window of the factory was open and at once investigated, as the building has been closed during the winter and was about to reopen next week. On opening the front door he smelled smoke and found that a large hole had been burned in the floor and that fire was making its way to the walls. He put out the smouldering wood and then tried to discover how the fire had been started.

Mr. James Webber, proprietor of the King Edward at Garden Hill, says that he has been a very light sleeper since a recent accident to his foot and that he generally hears anything that goes on at night near by. On Sunday morning about three o'clock he heard a vehicle passing his hotel very quietly which he thinks probably contained the criminals.—Port Hope Times.

BRIDGEWATER.

A serious shooting accident occurred in the village of Bridgewater on Saturday morning as a result of which John Pye, a resident of that place, came very near losing his life. His own explanation of the accident is that he had been annoyed for several mornings by birds chirping outside his bedroom window and on Saturday morning he reached under his bed for his rifle to fire at random in order to frighten them away. In drawing the weapon from under the bed it was accidently discharged and the ball entered his left breast and passed just below his heart and out through the left side under the arm pit.—Tweed News.

PUPILS PLAYED IN EXCELLENT FORM.

Piano and Violin Pupils of Mr. R. Gliddon Heard Last Evening

At George St. School Room—Showing was very Creditable and Highly Satisfactory.

That Peterborough possesses young lady musicians of more than ordinary ability was demonstrated to the entire satisfaction of the large audience which gathered in the George street Sunday school room last evening, the occasion being the recital by the piano and violin pupils of Mr. R. Gliddon. Everyone present was delighted with the showing of the different pupils, each one of whom performed with remarkable cleverness, and in a manner which gave promise of great achievements in future by a combination of the careful instruction and consistent work which has brought the pupils to the degree of proficiency which they have already attained. Each pupil showed a remarkable self-possession, and if they were at all nervous, it was not noticeable; it was pleasing indeed to note the composure and grace displayed by the different young ladies while on the platform, and it gave evidence that the pupils had overcome one difficulty which often retards the progress of pupils, as far as appearing in public is concerned. Another noticeable and very creditable feature of the programme was the fact that not one of the soloists was dependent upon the sheet music, it being a principle in Mr. Gliddon's teaching to have his pupils learn their selections so well that it is unnecessary to play from note.

To Mr. Gliddon is due unstinted praise for last evening's very fine programme; it was shown that as an instructor of artistic piano and violin playing he is excellent, and Peterborough should feel proud to possess a musician and teacher of such talent. His work as a bandmaster has many times been deservedly laudated, and he is to be likewise complimented upon his work in reference to piano and violin teaching.

The programme opened with a piano duet "Polonaise," by Dvorak, which was brilliantly executed by Misses Evelyne Morrow and Miss Ida Sanderson. A violin trio was played in very creditable style by Misses Marguerite Burnett, Kathleen Wallis and Julia Choate; the harmony was well sustained throughout, and the tempo was remarkably even and steady. Miss Mollie Meldrum displayed much talent in her rendition of Greig's "Norwegian Bridal Procession," which she played with splendid precision and nicety of expression. Miss Julia Choate, in her violin solo, "Air Varie," by Harris, was very successful; the tone produced was clear and sweet, while the fingering and bowing were excellent for one so young. Miss Lillie Carlisle's piano solo, "Fantasia," by Schumann, was very effectively played, and evidences of much artistic ability were shown. A very pleasing number was the unaccompanied violin quartette by Miss K. Wallis, M. Burnett, J. Choate and Eva Irwin; the blending of the different instruments was good and the general effect was very enjoyable. A piano solo, "By the Brook," was very creditably given by Miss Edna White, and received hearty applause. Miss Marguerite Burnett gave a delightful rendition of Farmer's "Home Sweet Home," with variations, producing a fine tone, and displaying a very skilful manipulation of the violin strings in the many intricate passages. Miss Daisy Sowers played in brilliant fashion a piano solo, "Valse de Concert," by Bodard, manifesting an appreciative conception of the motive of the composer. A very enjoyable number was a violin solo, Verdi's "Il Trovatore," which Miss Kathleen Wallis played in a manner for which she is deserving of unstinted praise; the runs were executed with remarkable steadiness, while her attack was unusually firm, and the tone of good quality. From a critical standpoint Miss Ida Sanderson's piano solo, Waltz, A flat, by Moszkowski, was perhaps the finest number of the evening; this clever player's technique was excellent while she evidenced a musical temperament and power of interpretation which were very noticeable. The closing number, a piano duet, Herold's "Zampa," played by the Misses Grandy, was very highly appreciated, both players possessing musical powers worthy of special note.

The accompanists were Mrs. R. Gliddon, Miss Choate and Miss Rogers, each of whom performed her duties most efficiently. A Heintzman piano of excellent tone was used for the occasion.

The proceeds of the recital were for the benefit of the objects of the George street Ladies' Aid Society.

At the conclusion of the programme Rev. J. P. Wilson made a few complimentary remarks in reference to Mr. Gliddon and the fine work of his pupils.

NORWOOD RECTOR MOVES TO SUTTON.

Rev. J McKee McLennon Appointed Rector of Sutton Church.

(Special to the Examiner)

Norwood, May 4—The Rev J McKee McLennan has been unanimously chosen by the Vestry of St. James church, Sutton, to become their Rector, in succession to the Rev. A. McKee Rutherford, who died on the 11th of March last. Mr McLennan received this morning his notice of promotion from the incumbency of Norwood to the Rectorship of Sutton, from the Lord Bishop of the diocese.

In the removal of Rev Mr. McLennan from Norwood the English church people lose a very efficient clergyman, who through his endeavours has brought the church up to its present flourishing condition, also the town is losing one of its best citizens. Since his sojourn here he always had an interest in its welfare and advancement.

Rev. McLennan was also connected with several fraternal societies here, A.F.A.M., A.O.U.W., I.O.O.F., in all of which he held positions. The people of Norwood wish Rev. Mr. and Mrs. McLennan every success in their new field of labour.

Get My Book, if Sick

Don't Send a Penny.

Don't send a penny.

Just wait till you see what I can do. Let me take the risk. Let me prove up first what Dr. Shoop's Restorative can do. The Restorative will gain your friendship, your endorsement, if you test it. And for a whole month you can use it without the slightest risk.

I will tell you of a druggist near you who will furnish six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month on trial.

I will absolutely stand all the cost if it fails. If you say, "It did not help me," that ends it as far as cost to you is concerned. Do you understand me? I am telling it as plainly, as clearly as I can. I want you to know absolutely and without doubt that this offer is made on honour. I have the prescription that cures. My only problem is to convince you that Dr Shoop's Restorative will cure—is an uncommon remedy. A common remedy could not stand a test like this. It would bankrupt the physician making the offer. And I am succeeding everywhere, and here is the secret of my success. I found invariably that where there was a weakness the inside nerves were weak. Where there was a lack of vitality, the vital nerves lacked power. Where weak organs were found, I always found weak nerves. Not the nerves commonly thought of but the vital organs' nerves The inside—the invisible nerves.

This was a revelation. Then my real success began. Then I combined ingredients that would strengthen, that would vitalize these nerves. That prescription I called a restorative It is known the world over now as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Thousands are accepting my offer and only one in each forty writes me that my remedy failed. Just think of it. 39 out of 40 get well and these are difficult cases too. And the fortieth has nothing to pay. That is a record I am proud of. It is wrong to stay sick when a chance like this is open. If well, you should tell others who are sick, of my offer. Don't let a sick friend stay sick because he knows not of my offer. Tell him. Get my book for him. Do your duty. You may be sick yourself, sometime. Sick people need help. They appreciate sympathy and aid. Tell me of some sick friend. Let me cure him. Then he will show to both of us his gratitude. Your reward will be his gratitude. Send for the book now Do not delay.

IMMIGRANT SPECIAL DERAILED.

Bad Wreck on C.P.R. Near Moosejaw Kills No One.

Winnipeg, Man., May 5.—A wreck in which five passenger coaches were derailed occurred at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon on the C.P.R., near Morse, west of Moosejaw. The train, an immigrant special, which left Winnipeg on Monday night, was proceeding at a good rate of speed when one of the forward coaches left the track, being followed by four others. The tender of the engine was also derailed. Not one of the large number of passengers riding in the five coaches was injured to any extent, and the escape of many is considered wonderful. Twelve received minor cuts, scratches and bruises.

DR. PIERCE ENTERS $200.000 SUIT.

Curtis Publishing Company will Have to Defend Publication of Patent Medicine Article.

Dr. R. V. Pierce's Company, The World's Dispensary Medical Association of Buffalo, N.Y., has brought a suit for libel against the publishers of The Ladies' Home Journal of Philadelphia, for $200,000 damages. The sworn complaint has been filed in the Clerk's office at Buffalo, N. Y. It appears from this that the Ladies' Home Journal in a recent number published an attack on patent medicines. The article charged that the well-known remedy, called "Doctor Pierce's Favourite Prescription," contained seventeen per cent. of alcohol, also certain drugs, and that these ingredients made the medicine harmful and dangerous. The sworn complaint shows that the above statement is wholly and absolutely false in every particular and that the medicine contains no deleterious ingredients whatever, none of the ingredients stated in the article so published, being made of certain extracts of medicinal plants and roots—harmless to the most delicate constitution.

When called upon, Dr. V. Mott Pierce, an officer of the company, said:

"In a recent article The Ladies' Home Journal made this wholly unfounded attack upon our remedy. The charges made against our medicine are absolutely false, as the complaint in our suit shows. We find it hard to understand how a reputable magazine of the high standing and enormous circulation of the Ladies' Home Journal should make such a damaging statement without taking pains to ascertain the facts. The remedy, Dr. Pierce's Favourite Prescription, is so well and favourably known, and has such a wide sale, that we could not afford to allow such a charge to pass unanswered. The fact is, "Favourite Prescription" is composed of extracts of medicinal plants, roots and herbs, which would not harm the most delicate system. It is a false and unfounded attack upon the good name and repute of our company."

Well Insured.

Montreal, May 6.—The early estimates of the loss by the Waldron-Drouin fur warehouse fire yesterday morning have proved to be far below the actual figures, as since made up by competent parties. The loss is now placed at $175,000, with insurance of $160,000.

OUR WATER WORKS SYSTEM.

Satisfactory Both in Working and Management.

So far it seems clear that the ratepayers made a good investment in purchasing the Peterborough Water Works, though the price, according to many, was a pretty stiff one. The purchase has been justified in more ways than one. Toronto in her recent great fire suffered tremendous loss through defective water pressure. A Toronto gentleman who was present at a hydrant test at the Cereal Works Tuesday night last declared that if Toronto had had such a pressure in the beginning of the fire it would no doubt have been confined to its place of origin.

Tuesday night last the firemen tested the four-way hydrant on Quaker street at the Cereal Works. Two lines of hose 100 feet in length were laid to a Siamese branch and from that fifty feet additional terminated by a 1 1-2 inch muzzle. Without difficulty the stream was thrown a height of ten feet over the lantern on the top of the elevator building, a distance of at least 120 feet. This capacity would furnish good practical steams of water to the highest of the general run of our buildings and constitute really effective fire service. The pressure in the stand pipes—if that is the right name—in the inside of the Cereal building at the highest point of discharge is greater than is required by the Underwriters' Association.

This is all very satisfactory, but there is more to be said in connection with our Water Works system. There has been a decided reduction in water rates amounting since the works came into possession of the town, to practically—including the 25 per cent. discount for prompt payment—to about 60 per cent. The hydrant rate to the town has also been reduced to the extent of $5 per hydrant, making a gain on the 151 hydrants of $755.

Altogether our Water Works system in respect of capacity for effective fire service, excellence of superintendence and management and in economy of rates may be regarded as satisfactory. With cheap and good water and with the cheapest electric light and power in the province, in these respects we may congratulate ourselves.

LEGAL NEWS.

Decision of Supreme Court of Canada King vs Miller.

The Supreme Court at Ottawa has handed out the reserved judgment in this case and dismisses the defendant's appeal with costs.

Mr. Peter King, who formerly lived here was fatally injured in the shops of the Polson Iron Works at Toronto; his widow brought an action against Miller the owner of the works and recovered judgment for $1200.00 damages; against this decision Miller appealed to the Court Appeal for Ontario, which, in September last heard his appeal and dismissed it. He then decided to carry th case to the Court of last resort Canada and an appeal on this behalf was taken to the Supreme Court of Canada at Ottawa and was heard by that Court in April last, which, after hearing the argument, reserved its decision which was handed out to-day in Mrs. King's favour, dismissing Miller's appeal with costs.

A NEW INSTITUTE FOR PETERBOROUGH

Ratepayers Voted in Favour of Additional Educational Facilities.

MAJORITY FOR BY-LAW 122.

Sugar By-Law Defeated By 254—Fair Vote Was Polled—Details of the Voting.

The ratepayers of Peterborough yesterday declared in favour of additional educational advantages when they voted, by a majority of 122, to spend $50,000 for a new Collegiate Institute for the town. The vote on the Institute by-law stood 470—348, a total of 818 votes being polled. This was a reasonably large vote, the ratepayers evidently favouring the proposition for an Institute.

The Sugar Company guarantee bylaw was defeated by a majority of 254, the vote standing 555 against 301 for. In only two polling subdivisions were there majorities registered in favour of the bylaw. No. 8, in the 5th ward gave one majority and No. 9 also in the 5th ward gave 17 for. The largest majorities for the Collegiate Institute and against the Sugar bylaw were given in No. 7 division, fourth ward, where the Institute carried by 58, and the Sugar was defeated by 74. In every division except No. 1, the Institute was given a majority. The southern division went against it by 14.

No effort was made by the supporters of the Institute to get the vote out. They laid the matter before the ratepayers in the best way possible and trusted to the intelligent interest of the electors to provide what was apparent to everyone as an imperative need. The result cannot but be gratifying to those who advocated the erection of the Institute.

In the case of the sugar bylaw, the practical result was foreseen by the majority of the citizens before the vote was taken, and it was probably felt by the electors that its defeat was a foregone conclusion, consequently it was useless to vote for it.

When all the circumstances are taken into consideration, the vote polled yesterday was fairly large. In the municipal elections held in January a vote of the ratepayers was taken on a bylaw to purchase the Hilliard property. On this bylaw 946 ratepayers voted, while on the Sugar bylaw yesterday, with no municipal election to induce them to turn out, 856 votes were polled, just 90 less than on the Hilliard bylaw

There are 2,050 qualified ratepayers on the list, but 230 of these are duplicated, that is, they have votes in more than one division, leaving 1,820 votes.

In the case of the Sugar Bylaw, it was necessary, in order that it might become law for two-thirds of the qualified ratepayers to support it, since more than one-fifth voted against it. This would mean that 1,214 votes should have been registered in favour of it before the $100,000 guarantee could be given. It will be seen that less than one-fourth of the required number supported the bylaw.

It is practically impossible to get the necessary two-thirds vote on a bonus bylaw, consequently the defeat of this bylaw was a foregone conclusion. When the total vote polled on a bylaw held at a municipal election was only 946 it was out of question to suppose that 1214 favourable votes could be polled on a vote taken without the excitement of a municipal election to bring the electors out.

It has been pointed out that the manner in which the ballot papers were printed was the cause of considerable confusion. The similartiy of the type used and the difficulty of readily distinguishing between those used for the Collegiate Institute and those for the Sugar Bylaw was freely commented on by a number of the ratepayers, and in several instances persons who wanted to vote against one of the bylaws and not being able to see very well, and not caring to make enquiries, voted against both in order to be sure that they were voting against the one, although they were favourable to the other.

OPINIONS OF CITIZENS ON YESTERDAY'S VOTE.

Different Gentlemen Express Their Views on the Two Votes.

The Examiner this morning interviewed some of the men who have taken prominent part in the two questions voted on yesterday, and the result of these interviews is given below:

SHORT STATEMENT FROM MR. J. W. GARVIN

"As the Sugar Company Bylaw has been defeated, I have no longer any hope of completing the factory. It took me months to induce Mr. Gordon and his associates to make their proposal to Peterborough, never doubting that our property owners would carry the bylaw. About two weeks ago, I happened to be on the floor of the Legislative Assembly, when Premier Ross, seeing me, was good enough to call me to his side. He remarked, 'Well, Garvin, I suppose you will have no difficulty in carrying that Sugar Company Bylaw.' I replied to the effect that in my opinion it would carry. He further said, 'As you are not asking for a bonus, simply requesting a guarantee of your bonds and giving ample security, the bylaw should have little opposition.' That was the opinion of the Premier and Treasurer of the Province.

"Last evening when I telephoned to Mr. Gordon that the bylaw had been defeated, he thought I was joking. He had arranged to send a noted sugar expert of Detroit to Holland to dismantle and ship the machinery, and was about to take the train for that city to complete the financial arrangements. Already he has been requested to make a similar offer to a town farther east in Ontario.

"My personal loss is very heavy, but that gives me less concern than the losses which may be sustained by others. My gratitude to those who so heartily supported the bylaw is strong, and I am sorry indeed for their sake that my efforts and of those associated with me to establish this great industry in Peterborough have been futile."

MR. MOORE'S VIEWS.

Mr. W. H. Moore, who took a prominent part in the campaign on the Sugar Company Bylaw, was asked this morning by the Examiner to state his impressions on the vote of yesterday. Responding to this request for an interview, Mr. Moore said:

"I would only say that I am particularly well pleased with the emphatic opinion of the electors upon this bylaw.

"I have always had the greatest confidence in the good sense and wisdom of the people at large, and therefore never doubted that when their thoughts were directed to the true matter at issue they would not fail to exercise their franchises in the best interests of the town.

"The part I took in the discussion was simply the result of conviction that the principle involved was altogether wrong, and opposed to that economy that should be exercised in municipal government, and without the least unfriendly feeling whatever on my part to any of the directors of the company, whom I have always held in the highest respect."

MR. HILL'S OPINION.

Mr. W. H. Hill, speaking in reference to the Collegiate Institute bylaw said this morning, "I am well satisfied with the outcome of the vote. You can always trust the people to do what is right and they make but few mistakes. They stood well by the Board and showed that they have confidence in its members and it is now the duty of this body to do the right thing in the selection of a suitable site and the erection of a thoroughly up-to-date building. The next step will be to secure the site and a special meeting of the Board will likely be called in the near future to consider the question and deal with it in the most judicious manner."

MR. PRINGLE'S VIEWS.

Mr. W. Pringle in speaking of the outcome of the Collegiate Institute bylaw said to-day, "Personally, I am very much pleased with the result of the vote on the Collegiate Institute bylaw. It showed (1) That the Board has the hearty support of the people; (2) That the people want a Collegiate Institute; (3) That the Collegiate Institute building should be modern in every respect. I am satisfied that in selecting a site, the Board will be guided by what they consider is in the best interests of the people."

Says the Lift Lock will be Opened About June 1st.

The Event will be made one of Considerable Ceremony Minister of Railways and Canals with M. P's. to Attend.

The following despatch from Ottawa to the Toronto Globe confirms the statement made in another column of the Examiner that the Lift Lock will not be opened until June:

Ottawa, May 5th. — It has been determined to open to navigation that section of the Trent Valley Canal between Lakefield and Peterborough about June 1st, as it is expected that the new hydraulic lift lock near Peterborough will be ready to operate about the same time. The completion of the Lakefield-Peterborough link of the Trent Valley System will afford continuous navigation from Balsam Lake to below Hastings. Hon. Mr. Emmerson intends to make the opening of the magnificent new lock an event of considerable ceremony and intends to go up from here accompanied by a large number of members. The arrangements are now being made.

Y.W.C.A. TO HAVE HANDSOME BUILDING

It Will be one of the Finest in the Country

The plans for the Young Women's Christian Association Building are almost completed, and it is expected that work will begin in a very short time. The Building Committee, and the architect, Mr. Blackwell, have spared neither time nor pains in the planning of the building, which promises to be admirably adapted to both the public and private work of the Association. The building will be one of the largest of its kind in Ontario, and will provide comfortable and homelike accommodation for at least fifty young women.

The friends who have had the house to house canvass in hand are asked to complete their districts as soon as possible, and to hand the money by May 15th to the treasurer, Mrs. F. H. Dixon, or to the General Secretary.

REGIMENTAL COLOURS.

Preparation for a Grand Presentation Ceremony on Victoria Day.

The committee in charge of the work of procuring and presenting the new colours for the 57th Regiment, will meet in the Y.M.C.A. Parlours on Saturday (to-morrow) afternoon, at 4.30 o'clock.

The object of the meeting is to complete arrangements for the presentation of the Colours to the Regiment on Victoria Day. It is the intention, it is said, to mark the occasion by a conspicuous and picturesque ceremony, worthy of its importance.

The colours have been in Peterborough for some time, and the ladies in charge have given them the completing touches to make them of the greatest possible beauty.

On the same day the new colours will be used in the "trooping of the colours," one of the most gorgeous, complicated and difficult series of evolutions known to the service. The regiment is undergoing special drill in preparation for this event, and a rehearsal, it is said, will be given on Tuesday evening in the Central Park.

During the above mentioned meeting the ceremony in connection with the disposal of the old colours will receive the attention of the ladies. The Regimental Officers mess has decided that the old colours will be hung in St. John's church and be marked by a suitable mural tablet in brass.

The ladies of the committee, who have done a good deal of highly effective and appreciative work, will see the beginning of the end of their labour of love and loyalty at the meeting to-morrow afternoon.

The colours in their completed condition will be exhibited at the meeting to-morrow afternoon.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT TO J. HANRAHAN.

Mr. John Hanrahan, of Bolivar street, met with an accident on Wednesday at the Canadian General Electric Company's works, the result of which may be the loss of an eye. The cause of the accident, and the subsequent calamitous result, was the lodgement in the eye of some particles of rust.

Dr. Coughlan and Dr. McCullough were called to attend Mr. Hanrahan, and the latter physician now has him under his care. The rust as much as possible of it, has been removed from the eye, but it is feared that some still remains, and the young man's sight is endangered.

BISHOP DOWLING'S ANNIVERSARY.

A Former Peterborough Prelate Celebrates Fifteenth Anniversary.

The Hamilton Times, of May 2nd, says:

"His Lordship Bishop Dowling, yesterday celebrated his fifteenth anniversary to the accession to the Bishoprtic of Hamilton; also the seventeenth of his ordination to the episcopal office, and the fortieth of his ordination to the priesthood. Bishop Dowling's regime has been marked by great prosperity in his diocese and by increasing kindliness of feeling among all branches of the Christian church. He has many friends over whom he does not exercise the authority of his high office, who admire him for his many good qualities of head and heart. Long may he be be spared to his people."

Bishop Dowling will be well remembered in Peterborough, having been Bishop of the Diocese from the death of the late Bishop Jamot, till just previous to the enthronement of his Lordship, Bishop O'Connor.

Of the Women's Auxiliaries to Missions in Toronto Last Week.

The eighteenth annual convention of the Women's Auxiliaries to Missions of the Anglican Diocese of Toronto, was opened in the Guild Hall, Toronto, on Wednesday, April 27, and continued for three days. The delegates were present in large numbers, in the neighbourhood of 1000 women taking communion in St. James Cathedral on the opening morning of the convention. The sessions were all well attended and much work was accomplished and benefit derived by those present. The officers were elected by acclamation for the ensuing year. The delegates present from the Peterborough churches were Mesdames. Scott, Boswell, Turner and Sawyers, of St. Luke's church; Mesdames. Nesbitt, Best, Bennett and Miss D. Comstock, of St. John's, and Mesdames Moldon and Bleyis, and Miss Chamberlin, of All Saint's They report an excellent convention, the speeches and addresses being of much power and blessing, while the reports showed the different branches of the society to be in a prosperous condition. A reception was tendered to the delegates at St. James on Friday evening and proved a delightful event for those who had the pleasure of attending.

STREET SPRINKLING

Complaints reach the Examiner of the unsatisfactory manner in which the street sprinkling is done on George street, north of Smith. The water is put on so infrequently and so irregularly that the dust is not laid, and householders are put to great annoyance and inconveniece. Complaints also come from Park street, of a similar character. It is desirable that street sprinkling should be effectually done in order to reap any benefit. Unless the work is thoroughly done at regular and proper intervals of time, both money and time will be wasted—by a spasmodic go-as-you-please style of applying water, both in regard to quantity and regularity of supply. Will the proper authorities wake somebody up.

CITIZEN CRITICIZES BUILDING PLAN.

May not be Suitable for site Selected for Collegiate Institute.

The following article appears in the latest issue of the Canadian Architect, and one would think might apply very forcible in the consideration of a site for this building:

"STUDY OF BUILDING SITES

"We were much struck with the remark of a young architect while showing the plans which he was preparing for some new houses that he had not visited the site and did not know its exact location on the street. We wondered how far these houses when built would prove satisfactory to the owner and occupants. Architects young and old should bear in mind that a careful study of the site is the first requisite to the production of a successful building and is therefore a duty which they owe to themselves as well as to their clients."

The only reason that one can conceive why this should not apply to the proposed collegiate institute is that the building as exhibited to the public does not appear to have any plan and the form or peculiarities of the site would have no effect whatever on the proposed building. It might be built in the moon or any old place.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

With ordinary soap a woman has to work so hard and so long on wash day she has no time for preparing any of the family meals. Wash day is a trial, and the good wife faces each with a sigh of despair.

Sunlight Soap makes all the difference in the world. No toiling—no rubbing—no boiling—less than half the labor with much better results. Most women are all through their wash by twelve o'clock when they wash with Sunlight Soap the Sunlight way. It makes child's play of work.

ASK FOR THE OCTAGON BAR.

Whooping Cough.

"In the spring of 1901 my children had whooping cough," says Mrs. D. W. Capps, of Capps, Ala. "I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with the most satisfactory results. I think this is the best remedy I have ever seen for whooping cough." This remedy keeps the cough loose, lessens the severity and frequency of the coughing spells and counteracts any tendency towards pneumonia. For sale by all druggists.

Suicide at Strathroy.

Strathroy, May 5.—Yesterday morning Edward Zavitz, aged 68 years, took his own life by hanging himself in his barn. Deceased was apparently in his usual spirits and ate a hearty breakfast, after which he proceeded to perform his duties on his farm. About ten o'clock his wife entered the barn and found her husband suspended by a rope to a beam. She immediately cut him down and notified the coroner, but life was extinct, as he had been there for some time. It was decided that an inquest was unnecessary. The cause for his rash act is said to be recent money losses in connection with law suits. His widow, two sons and one daughter survive him.

Obsequies of the Late Member for Selkirk, Man.

THE WHOLE HOUSE ATTENDED

Progress With Railway Bill—Several Amendments To Be Considered The Eastern Division Mr. Fitzpatrick's Proposal For Simultaneous Construction Informal Consideration of the Bill Completed.

Ottawa, May 6.—The obsequies of the late W. F. McCreary, M.P., which took place yesterday, were made the occasion of an affecting demonstration of respect by the whole House of Commons.

Noon was the hour fixed for the funeral service, which was conducted by Rev. G. F. Salton of the Dominion Methodist Church. It was attended by the Prime Minister and the other members of the Cabinet, the leader of the Opposition and members on both sides, regardless of politics. After the service the coffin, followed by a long procession of Parliamentarians, was conveyed to the Union Station for transportation to Winnipeg. The express from Montreal was 10 minutes late, and it was after 1 o'clock before the train with Mr. McCreary's remains on board pulled out on the journey to Winnipeg.

Mr. McCreary of Arnprior, a brother of deceased; Rev. Dr. Douglass, Mr. Puttee, M.P. for Winnipeg, and Mr. Stewart of Lisgar, accompanied the remains to Winnipeg. The Ministerialists meeting in caucus yesterday morning adopted a resolution of condolence with Mrs. McCreary. The gathering broke up to attend the funeral. The late member's seat in the House was yesterday draped in black, and on the desk reposes a magnificent bouquet of roses and maidenhair fern, lilies of the valley and white carnations.

A grim coincidence was the fact that Mr. McCreary had reserved lower five in the sleeper of the same train that carried him on his last journey. It was also remarked by friends of the deceased that Mr. McCreary was born on May 5, 1855. He would have been 49 years old yesterday.

THE RAILWAY BILL.

Several Amendments Offered For Consideration By the House.

Ottawa, May 6.—The House concluded an informal consideration of the Transcontinental Railway bill last night and cleared the decks for the disposal of amendments to-day. The agreement was adopted, but the reading over of the clauses of the main bill did not imply the adoption of any of them as yet. The Minister of Justice expressed the view that the committee stage would be concluded to-day. Several amendments, some of them important, were presented informally last night. One by Mr. Fitzpatrick will provide for simultaneous construction of the eastern division from three points, Winnipeg, Quebec and Moncton. Mr. Borden and Mr. Baker presented several amendments, some of them counterparts of motions presented last year. The early part of the day was consumed by a desultory debate by Opposition members, but the evening was spent in a progressive disposal of business.

Tribute to the Late Member.

When the House opened yesterday the Chamber was pervaded by the odor of flowers, the outward sign of the members' tribute to the memory of the late Mr. McCreary. The desk of the late member for Selkirk was draped in black, and two immense wreaths covered the available space.

Hon. Mr. Prefontaine informed Mr. Earl that no licenses had been issued permitting the use of fish traps in British Columbia waters.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, replying to Mr. LaRiviere, said the Government had received a resolution by the Winnipeg Board of Trade protesting against the delay in carrying out the improvements to navigation at St. Andrew's Rapids. The matter would be given careful consideration.

Under Commissioners.

Ottawa, May 6.—The Government intend to place the harbors of Port Arthur and Fort William under the control of harbor commissioners. The Minister of Marine has given notice of bills for that purpose.

Government Caucus.

Ottawa, May 6.—There was a Ministerial caucus yesterday morning, at which reference was made to the matter of claims for compensation in regard to the Chignecto Marine Transport Railway. It seems reasonable to conclude that nothing will be done in the matter for the present, at any rate. There was some slight allusion to the tariff by a few members, and in regard to agriculture there was a general desire expressed to see further developments in the interest of the farmer.

It was recognized that Hon. Sydney Fisher has already accomplished a great deal along that line.

Trent Valley Canal Opening.

Ottawa, May 6.—It has been determined to open to navigation that section of the Trent Valley Canal between Lakefield and Peterboro' about June 1st, as it is expected that the new hydraulic lift lock near Peterboro' will be ready to operate about the same time. The completion of the Lakefield-Peterboro' link of the Trent Valley system will afford continuous navigation from Balsam Lake to Hastings. Hon. Mr. Emmerson intends to make the opening of the magnificent new lift lock an event of considerable ceremony, and intends to go up from here accompanied by a large party of members. The arrangements are now being made.

Militia Training Camps.

The following are the dates that have been fixed upon for opening the camps of training for the militia: London, June 7; Niagara, June 14th; Kingston, June 21st; Ottawa, Three Rivers, LaPrairie, Levis and Sussex, N.B., June 28th; Aldershot, N.S., September 13th. The period of training is twelve days. It will be noticed that the date of the London camp is June 7th, and not June 9th, as first proposed. Ottawa is to have a camp this year, which it is entitled to have, as it is now the centre of a military district. The camps as agreed upon will effect a saving as compared with those of last year.

Empire Club Eloquence.

Toronto, May 6.—Eloquence of the very highest from one who stands in the front rank of living orators, distinguished the season's final meeting of the Empire Club yesterday. The Bishop of Niagara said they would agree with him, that the verdict of history had been recorded in favor of constructive statesmanship. The Empire builders were the heroes of the world, Alexander, Caesar, Charlemagne, Napoleon, Clive, Hastings, and last, but not least, Cecil Rhodes. Bishop Dumoulin then gave a brilliant account of the three great companies which had given England three-fourths of her territory and nine-tenths of her population. These were: The East India Company, the Hudson Bay Co., and the last chartered company, the South African.

Jokai Is Dead.

Budapest, May 6.—Maurice Jokai, the distinguished novelist, journalist and politician, died last evening. Jokai was born at Komarom, a royal free city, on Feb. 19, 1825. He was educated at Pressburg till 1848, and at the Calvinist College of Papa, afterwards becoming an advocate. An ardent patriot, he took an active part in the revolution of 1848-0, under the leadership of Louis Kossuth, and in the subsequent struggle which resulted in the dual system of Government established under the leadership of Deak in 1867. At the age of forty he began the publication of the series of novels and romances, which has made him known throughout the civilized world.

Soaked With Wine.

Zurich, May 6.—While John Larmer was delivering a wagon load of port wine from Hansall Station to Eugene Breignult & Co., wine manufacturers, of St. Joseph, Zurich, he stopped to water his horse. While removing the bridles the horses dashed up Main street. The wagon struck a telegraph pole with such force that the large hogsheads were hurled to pieces. About 200 gallons of the finest imported wine soaked the streets. In trying to stop the team Mr. Larmer narrowly escaped being crushed to death by one of the flying barrels.

Fire at Durham.

Durham, May 6.—Last evening about 6.30 o'clock J. W. Crawford's sawmill and sash and door factory was totally destroyed by fire. Loss is about $12,000; insured for $1,000.

N.W.M.P. Deserters Caught.

Winnipeg, May 6.—It is reported at Medicine Hat that two of the N. W. M. P. members, who escaped from Medicine Hat, have been captured in Montana, and will be tried at Regina.

Leaped to Death.

New York, May 6.—The first suicide from the new Williamsburg bridge was recorded early yesterday when an unknown woman leaped to death in the river, 135 feet below.

WHY THEY ARE POPULAR.

More Alcohol in Some Patent Medicines Than in Whiskey.

Toronto, May 6.—Sewage disposal was the subject of discussion yesterday morning when the Provincial Board of Health heard City Engineer Rust and Dr. Sheard on the proposed plans for Toronto.

Oshawa's sewage plans were discussed and the plan utilizing the Westmoreland Creek approved. The town must adopt and enforce a plumbing bylaw and maintain a satisfactory degree of sewage purification.

The consideration of Dr. Amyot's report resulting in a cordial endorsement of the work done, and a resolution was adopted expressing the opinion of the Board that the bacteriological and chemical researches carried on in the laboratory should be continued and extended, especially in the examination of foods, and that the department be requested to provide funds as may be necessary.

Alcohol in Patent Medicines.

Dr. Amyot called attention to the patent medicines which were being sold, and quoted the table of the Massachusetts State Board analyst, giving percentages of alcohol in patent medicines. Beer contains 2 to 5 per cent. alcohol, while some of these preparations are stronger than whiskey and much stronger than port, sherry, champagne or claret. The German method is to compel all patent medicines to be labeled with the analysis of contents. The board will take this up at a later date.

Water and Typhoid.

Some discussion followed on the analysis of water for typhoid germs. The report of the committee on epidemics was read by Dr. Cassidy and dealt largely with the question of notification of cases of epidemic disease, so that, as in typhoid, the originating cause may be traced.

As no time was left for a proper discussion of the several reports it was decided to hold three-day meetings in future if business requires it.

Pitiful Helplessness

Victims of nervous diseases are the most to be pitied, because their ailment usually terminates in mental or physical helplessness. Paralysis, locomotor ataxia and insanity can only be avoided by building up the nervous system at the first sign of trouble and there is no preparation so well suited for the purpose as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great nerve restorative.

King Home Again.

London, May 6.—King Edward, Queen Alexandra and Princess Victoria arrived in London from Ireland shortly after 6 o'clock last evening, and drove to Buckingham Palace.

Bubonic at Johannesburg.

Johannesburg, May 6.—The bubonic plague has reappeared in the heart of the town. Two cases have been detected in the market, which has been ordered closed.

Deranged Nerves AND Weak Spells.

He says: "I have been ailing for about a year from deranged nerves, and very often weak spells would come over me and be so bad that I sometimes thought I would be unable to survive them. I have been treated by doctors and have taken numerous preparations but none of them helped me in the least. I finally got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Before taking them I did not feel able to do any work, but now I can work as well as ever, thanks to one box of your pills. They have made a new man of me, and my advice to any person troubled as I was, is to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills."

We seldom fear a danger that we cannot see. The danger of being run-down by a horse is a very real one to everybody, the danger of being murdered by a microbe does not trouble us. And yet the minute microbe is more dangerous than the wildest horse

The only people who can afford not to fear the microbes of disease are those who keep their blood pure and rich. These are practically immune from the attacks of most microbes.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery purifies and enriches the blood, and gives the body a vigorous vitality. It cures scrofula, eczema, boils, pimples and other eruptive diseases which are caused by impure blood.

"I had been troubled for about four years with eczema, or a skin disease which at times was almost unbearable as it would itch so," writes Mr. John Larson of 118 Powhattan St. Dallas, Texas. "I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and after using five bottles found that I was entirely cured. Please accept many thanks."

Guild Baseball League Schedule Arranged—Games in Midland League Satuaday—Other Sport.

SCHEDULE FOR GUILD LEAGUE.

Season will Open on May 30th with two Games

A meeting of the Guild Baseball League Executive was held last night in the Y. M. C. A. when the following members were present: P. A. Kerr, president, M. J. Hutchinson, secretary; F. White of Charlotte street; B. Rickey, of All Saints'; R. Elliott, of St. Andrew's; R. Dobbin, of George street; and Messrs Pratley and Bennett, of St. Luke's.

The League now consists of six guilds, St. Luke's and All Saints' being admitted last night. It was also decided that the players in the Kawartha league teams be barred from playing in the Guild League, in addition to those signed by the Midland League teams. A committee, consisting of Messrs. F. White, H. Rickey and R. Dobbin, was appointed to arrange for a trophy.

The teams were divided into two districts as follows:

District No. 1—All Saints', St. Paul's, George street.

District No. 2—St. Luke's, Charlotte street and St. Andrew's.

The schedule of games was then arranged as below:

District No. 1.

May 30th and June 2nd—George St. at All Saints'.

July 4th and July 7th—St Paul's at All Saints'.

District No. 2.

June 13th and June 16th—Charlotte St. at St. Andrew's.

The meeting adjourned to meet on May 12th, when the report of the trophy committee will be presented.

FOOTBALL.

The Quaker team will line up to-morrow in their game with Keene as follows: Goal, Belleghem; backs, P. Fitzgerald, Doris; half backs, Patton, N. Guerin, D. Moore; forwards, J. Guerin, Perdue, Brooks, Renton, C. Fitzgerald.

• • • •

The game between Bridgenorth and the Wanderers will be played at the Peterborough Turf Club grounds, to-morrow afternoon and will be called sharp at 5.15 o'clock.

• • • •

Neither Bethany nor Omemee could get a team together to play here to-morrow and the Y.M.C.A. will have an off day. The postponed games of last Saturday and to-morrow will be played off some day during the week so as not to affect the schedule.

• • • •

The O. C. W. team will line up as follows in the game with Bridgenorth to-morrow: Goal, Butler; Backs, Whitlaw, (Capt.), Smailes; half-backs, Haddow, Hawkins, Stalinge; forwards, Biddlestone, Allen, Lyon, Greatrox, Stamper; reserves, Head and Haines.

• • • •

The Wanderers will be stronger than in last Saturday's match and are confident of pulling out a victory from the Bridgenorth.

• • • •

Deseronto has been declared the winner of District No. 5 of the Midland League, the two Belleville teams which are playing in the Belleville City League having dropped out.

• • • •

A new district to be known as No. 6, has been formed in the Midland League and will include Locust Hill and teams in that vicinity. The games in this district will be concluded by June 4th when the semi-final games commence.

• • • •

The Norwood Register, in reporting the game in that town Saturday with the Wanderers, says: For so early in the season it was a fairly fast game and some brilliant plays were made by both teams. For the greater portion of the game the High School team did the pressing and kept the visitors on the alert to defend their goal. Whitlow (back) put up a fine game, and Butler, between the flags, also did good work, stopping several well-aimed shots. These two players saved the day for the visitors. The forward line of the Norwood team—in fact all the boys—played a splendid game.

CRICKET

The following Colts play cricket in Millbrook to-morrow: Burritt, (Capt.) Greer, Weller, A. Moore, Laing, Hall, C. Moore, Wood, Carmichael, Sheffield and W. Craig. Thanks to the warm weather of the past week, the team is in excellent shape and will doubtless make Millbrook look closely to their laurels.

LACROSSE.

The Senior and Junior Lacrosse Clubs of the T. A. S. with their officers, are reminded of the meeting this evening at 8.15 o'clock.

• • • •

The outlook this season for pure amateur lacrosse is promising. For the past three years there has been a junior league in town comprising from three to five teams and this season a twelve will be picked from among all the teams and should, with good practice, make most of the teams in the Trent Valley League hustle for the championship.—Port Hope Times.

• • • •

The Telegram considers Orillia the likely one for the intermediate championship. That means that if Peterborough wins District No. 5, they will have glowing chances for the cup, if the Telegram predictions count for anything.

• • • •

If Lindsay decides to play intermediate C.L.A. lacrosse, a splendid district could be formed with Oshawa, Lindsay, Orillia and Peterborough.

• • • •

• • • •

The Peterborough Lacrosse team will practice to-night at the Central Park. All members are asked to turn out.

BASEBALL.

The members of George street team are asked to be on hand for practice to-night at 6.45 at the Water street grounds.

• • • •

The baseball team held its first practice yesterday afternoon when about ten or twelve lined up. Of last year's team Pethick, Hudson and Walters were the only members present. Pethick was in the box and shot them over pretty lively. Hobbs did the backstopping and showed up in splendid form, and no doubt will prove of valuable assistance to the club this year. He is a speedy and accurate thrower and also handles the bat well. Walters was right in the game and from appearances like would make a lively second base man. Hudson was in his old position at left field and pulled in everything that came in sight. Hudson is making a good ball player and it is hoped that the management will use a little better judgment with him than they did last season. Jack Henderson took centre field and with a little practice should make good. Jim Green was looking after right field and pulled in a few of the sky scrapers. Besides he is a great thrower and it is no trouble for him to cut them off at the plate. Hollingsworth looks like a winner and from present indications Manager Orten should be able to select a pretty speedy bunch.—Port Hope Guide.

• • • •

Another find for the senior ball team—a Mr. Drycotte, who has recently come to town and has played the infield with some of the best eastern teams in Canada—last year with the Kingston Parks. He was up with the boys last night. It is evident he is not new to the game.—Lindsay Post.

• • • •

The most exciting game this season in the Public School League was played last night on the South Central grounds with the Central team as the visiting nine. The game, which was won by the Central, by 8—4, was, in spite of the difference in the scores, very close and exciting, and great enthusiasm prevailed. The teams were: Central.—C. Laing, c; B. Laing, p; V. Carton, 1b; C. Loch, 2b; R. Thornton, 3b; B. Carmichael, ss; F. Hall, cf; J. Fitzpatrick, rf; G. Long, lf. South Central.—R. Nichols E. White, R. Winch, Pilling, Wilson, Dunford, Dobson, Harper, Kemp.

• • • •

An interesting game of baseball was played yesterday afternoon in the Central Park, between the Senior II of the Murray street school, and the Junior III of the Westward School. The former winning by the score of 8—10. The line-up was as follows:—

Senior II.—T Hayes, C; J Coughlin, p; H Hickey, 1st b; P O'Donnel, 2nd; E Cronan, 3rd; M McGeante, s.s; O Lavole, lf; O King, cf; A Coughlin, rf.

Junior III.—P Paterson, c; L. Johnston, p; V Morrow, 1st b; M Dobson, 2nd; R Mills, 3rd; E Kemp, ss; R Johnston, lf; M White, cf; B Dean, rf.

• • • •

A very exciting game took place on Monday afternoon between the Star Separate School team and the South Central. The score was 19 to 4 in favour of the South Central. The following was the line-up:—

Separate School.—Hayes, c; O'Brien, p; Hickey, 1b; Clancy, 2b; Milloy, 3b; Heffernan, ss; Dunn, cf; Clancy, lf; Sheehy, rf.

• • • •

The Young Quakers of Town, and the Star Athletics of Port Hope, will play baseball here on the morning of Victoria Day.

• • • •

The outlook in the Guild League, with six strong teams entered is very promising.

• • • •

Montreal has bought Toft (who did most of the receiving for Toronto last year. The Montrealers evidently need him badly. They lost again yesterday.

• • • •

"Teddy" Miller, Lindsay's box artist, is threatened with typhoid fever, according to the Post.

• • • •

Cinnamon will again do the catching for Lindsay.

• • • •

• • • •

Charlotte street Guild team is asked to be on hand at 6.45 sharp to-night for practice.

• • • •

The Young Quakers would like to arrange games for Saturdays May 14th and 21st, with any intermediate team team in town.

• • • •

All players of the Young Quakers are asked to attend practice this evening and Monday evening at 6.30 on the P. A. A. grounds. The team for the season will be picked out and suits given to players on Monday evening.

• • • •

The Young Quakers will put a strong nine in the Intermediate League if the latter be formed.

BASKET-BALL.

Those who attended the basketball match Tuesday evening witnessed one of the finest exhibitions of this popular game ever given on the local floor. The competing teams were the Beavers and a team picked from the Intermediates. The Beavers led at the start but at half time the score was 11 to 10 in favour of the Intermediates. In the the second half the Beavers got down to business and when the whistle blew, had the game won by a score of 19 to 15. The teams were: Beavers.—Defence, R. Thornton and G. Thornton; centre, E. Weller; forwards, H. Cressman and F. Cressman; Intermediates.—Defence, E. Wilson and R. Turner; centre, N Hopkins; forwards, D. Loomis and N. Darling. Referee, B. Gillespie. Umpire, W. Miller.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Just before the Bridgenorth-Wanderers game commences on Saturday Professor Frost, the aerial artist from Bristol, Eng., will give an exhibition on the slack wire in front of the grand stand.—Com.

COAL MINERS ENTOMBED.

Three in Burning Mine and Two Imprisoned By Falling Roof.

Shamokin, Pa., May 7.—Fire, which broke out late Thursday night in the Locust Gap slope, operated by the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Company, is still raging fiercely. John and Michael Bogland and Michael Shannon of Locust Gap, who were in the mine when the fire started, were unable to reach the surface, and a rescuing party is endeavoring to reach the entombed men.

Ashland, Pa., May 7.—George Yueb and Joseph Caunsky, miners of Gerradville, have been entombed by a fall of coal in the Continent colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company. All attempts at rescue of the men have failed, owing to frequent falls of the roof. The men could be heard tapping for several hours after the accident, but as this ceased it is believed the men have been suffocated.

POURING INTO THE DOMINION.

15,693 People Have Come in During First Four Months of 1904.

These returns include first-class passengers. The rush to Canada continues. The steamship companies are now advertising that many of the steamers to sail are full up.

Ottawa, May 7.—For the first four months of the present year the immigrant arrivals from Great Britain numbered 15,693, as against 14,738 for the same period of last year. The immigrant arrivals from Europe numbered 10,268, as compared with 11,382. This is an increase of 910 in British arrivals from the continent of Europe. The net decrease is only 204.

JAPS ISOLATE PORT ARTHUR.

The Russians Could not Prevent Them From Landing.

HUSKY JAPS WADED ASHORE.

Fight at Fengwengcheng is Expected Shortly—It is Believed at St. Petersburg That Port Arthur Harbour is Sealed—Viceroy Alexieff and Grand Duke Boris Escaped in Time.

Special G. N. W. Despatch to the Examiner.

ANOTHER RUSSIAN REPULSE.

Wiju, May 7th. — Word was received here to-day of another Russian repulse in Manchuria. One thousand of the Russian rear guard, according to this report, made a stand at Hepmetang, on the Liao Yang road. The Japanese charged them and after a brief fight the Russians spiked their guns and retreated. Four hundred and thirty five Russians were captured.

St. Petersburg, May 7.—A despatch received last night says that Port Arthur is cut off from all communication by land, the Japanese having disembarked in its rear, occupied the railroad and cut the telegraph. Vice-Admiral Skrydloff, who is en route to Port Arthur to take over comand of the naval forces in the Far East will be unable to reach his destination.

According to official information the landing of troops from 60 transports began simultaneously at Pitsewo and Cape Terminal, on the morning of May 5. It is also reported that troops are being landed at Kinchow, but this is not credited, as the Russians are known to have fortifications there, and it is not believed that the Japanese had the daring to land immediately under an entrenched position from which the Russians could inflict severe injury on them.

30,000 Japs on Land.

Complete details of the landing are lacking, owing to the interruption of communication. No resistance was made, the few Cossacks, however, observing the movement, retiring when the warships shelled the shore preparatory to disembarkation. Ten thousand men were put ashore Thursday and the disembarkation was proceeding yesterday at the time that communication ceased. It is believed that there are over 30,000 on land preparing for a forward movement. Two Japanese regiments were hurried westward yesterday morning to cut the railroad and telegraph communication. One of these fired on a train conveying the wounded from Port Arthur.

Enemy Made Demonstration.

While the landing was proceeding Thursday the enemy's ships, consisting of the battleships Mikasa, Hatsuse, Shikishima, Yashima and Fujia and the cruisers Iwate, Idsuma, Adsuma and Asama made a demonstration off Port Arthur to prevent the possible egress of Russian torpedo boats. A number of Japanese torpedo boats were also observed off Miado Island, in Pigeon Bay.

Viceroy Alexieff Escaped.

It was because he was convinced that Port Arthur was about to be cut off that Viceroy Alexieff, accompanied by his staff and Grand Duke Boris, left hastily. On Thursday several train loads of sick and wounded and other ineffectives were despatched northward.

It is reported here that the Japanese ships bombarded Port Arthur early on the morning of May 6 and succeeded at last in closing the entrance, but no official confirmation of the latter statement can be obtained.

The exact hour at which communication with the Russian stronghold ceased has not been established.

Strength Not Revealed.

The strength of the garrison at Port Arthur is not revealed by the authorities, who will only say that it is adequate for defensive purposes. It is not believed that the force there exceeds 10,000 soldiers.

Vice-Admiral Skrydloff and Vice-Admiral Bezobrazoff cannot now reach Port Arthur and will probably go to Vladivostock to join the cruiser squadron there.

Stoessel in Command.

Lieut.-Gen. Stoessel will have supreme command at Port Arthur. He is described as a high-class commander. His recent proclamations show that he is imbued with a determination to hold Port Arthur until the last man is killed.

Officers of the general staff say that the landing of the Japanese army on the peninsula and the investment of Port Arthur clarify the military situation.

Viceroy Alexieff has arrived at Mukden.

A Fight Expected.

Gen. Kuropatkin has sent reinforcements to Fengwangcheng. The receipt of news at any time of a decisive battle near Fengwangcheng will not cause surprise here, and already rumors are circulating in the city, which, however, lack confirmation, and are believed to be untrue, that a battle has been fought, that the Japanese have been defeated with heavy loss and that General Kuropatkin was wounded. Another rumor is in circulation that Port Arthur has been captured, but this is also scouted in responsible quarters.

Landed From 60 Transports.

The Ministry of War has received the following telegram from Major-General Pflug, chief of the military staff:

"According to information I have received, seven of the enemy's transports, and afterwards about forty, appeared opposite Pitsewo on the evening of May 4.

"On the morning of May 5, the Japanese began to land at Pitsewo and on the coast near Cape Terminal (about fifteen miles southwest of Pitsewo), under cover of an artillery fire.

"At this moment about 60 transports were observed bearing down upon the whole front, and our posts retired from the shore.

"All papers in the postoffice at Pitsewo were removed and the Russian inhabitants abandoned the town.

"According to Chinese reports, by the evening of May 5 about ten thousand of the enemy's troops had landed and taken up quarters in the Chinese villages near the points of debarkation.

"The enemy sent two columns of about one regiment each, one in a westerly direction and one to the southward.

Passenger Train Fired On.

"On May 5 a passenger train from Port Arthur was fired upon, a mile and a quarter outside Polandien (about forty miles of Port Arthur) by a hundred Japanese infantrymen occupying the heights east of the railway. The train carried many passengers, 200 sick occupying an ambulance carriage flying the Red Cross flag. Two of the sick were wounded. The train succeeded in reaching Polandien.

"Tranquility prevails in the maritime province and in Yinkow."

Reduced to 4,000 Men.

Rome, May 7.—According to a telegram received here from Che Foo, the garrison at Port Arthur has been reduced to 4,000 men, and all the important documents, money and field guns have been removed to Mukden.

Husky Japs Waded Ashore.

Tokio, May 7.—The report of Admiral Hosoya received yesterday gives details of the landing of Japanese troops on the Liaotung Peninsula, suppressing the location of the landing place. He says:

"Our seventh division with torpedo boats and the Hong Kong Maru and Nippon Maru arrived from the advance base of the Liaotung Peninsula at 5.30 May 5. Discovering a number of the enemy's patrols, we bombarded them for a short time, and then a landing party of sailors, Captain Nomoto leading, was ordered ashore. It being low tide, it was impossible to use the boats, and the sailors plunged into the water and waded breast deep for about a thousand yards and reached the beach at 7.20 p.m.

Not a Shot Fired.

"Immediately advancing, they took possession of a range of hills without firing a shot, and planted our flag on the hills. The gunboats Amagi Oshima and Chiokai were employed to distract the enemy's attention. They discovered a hundred of the enemy and shelled them, killing several.

"The first fleet of transports, on seeing our flag displayed on an eminence, began landing troops at 8 p. m. The troops, who were forced to wade ashore, were in high spirits.

"In order to facilitate the further landing of troops piers are being erected. Our division is assisting in the work."

The Kaga Maru Grounded.

The report of Admiral Kataoka, commander of the third squadron, gives additional details of the landing. The admiral reports that his squadron conveyed the first batch of the second army to the Liaotung base, and adds that the Kaga Maru grounded near the base at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. She was assisted by the protected cruiser Akitsushima, which succeeded in floating the transport, which reached her destination safely at 5 o'clock the same evening.

John Gordon met with a painful accident on Saturday. While at work near a picker at the Woollen Mills he slipped and fell striking the back of his hand against the picker and terribly lacerating it. Fortunately he had presence of mind enough to throw the belt off as he fell, and thereby saved his arm from injury. The injured hand was dressed by Dr. Field.—Cobourg World.

FORT WILLIAM TO MONTREAL FOR THREE CENTS A BUSHEL

Barge Navigation by the Trent Waterway—A Land Locked Route From Georgian Bay to Bay of Quinte.

The Trent Waterway Association has had prepared a neat pamphlet giving extracts from the evidence given before the Royal Transportation Commission at its recent sitting in Peterborough. A number of the paragraphs contained in the pamphlet are reproduced below:—

The name Canal is a mis-nomer. The Trent route is a natural waterway. The distance from Georgian Bay to Lake Ontario is 205 miles, of which 160 are now navigable and the remaining 43 miles will be made navigable by Canalizing 17 miles of river. Great stretches of Lake and River lie along the whole route, through which vessels can travel at full speed.

The depth of water on the lock sills will be 8 feet 4 inches and the locks will pass barges of 800 tons capacity. 120,000 bushels can be handled by one steam barge towing four consorts, two abreast, the equivalent of 120 loaded railway cars.

The barge will run from Midland to Montreal in six and one half days, or two round trips per month, and can carry grain at 11-4 cents per bushel at a good margin of profit even if they make the return trip empty.

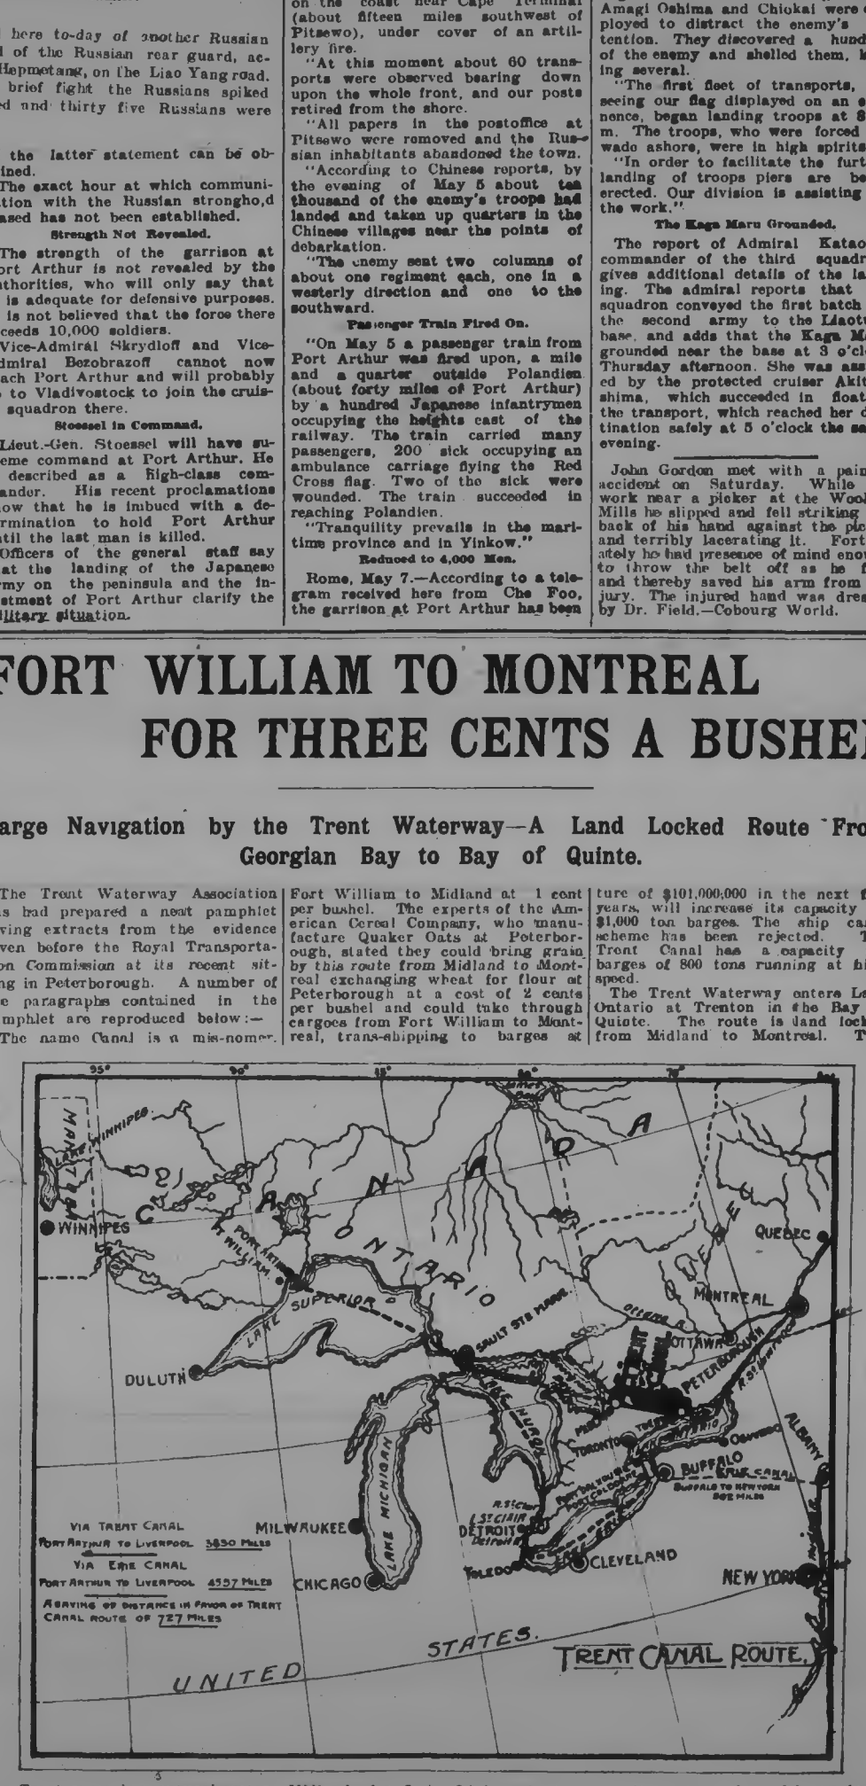
Grain was carried in 1903 from Fort William to Midland at 1 cent per bushel. The experts of the American Cereal Company, who manufacture Quaker Oats at Peterborough, stated they could bring grain by this route from Midland to Montreal exchanging wheat for flour at Peterborough at a cost of 2 cents per bushel and could take through cargoes from Fort William to Montreal, trans-shipping to barges at Midland, for 3 to 3 1-2 cents per bushel.

This is the natural geographical route. In 1903 the grain received at Georgian Bay ports was over 31,000,000 bushels, all of which was sent forward by rail. The opening of the Canal will largely increase these figures by affording a new outlet and at the same time reducing railway rates.

The Trent Canal Route, counting the return trip, is 500 miles shorter to Liverpool than the Welland Canal Route, and 1,500 miles shorter than the Erie Canal route.

A deep water canal across the province of Ontario is now advocated by the best engineers. Vessels cost too much for long distances at slow speed on fixed waters.

The Erie Canal now has a capacity of 240 tons burden, but the cost of transportation is entirely private.



The Erie Canal for years has regulated freight rates on grain between Chicago and the sea, and when the new Erie is completed, it will reduce present rates one third. The Trent is an open water way — the Erie a confined prism, and by reason of higher speed and [illegible] distance, the Trent Canal [illegible] for Canada the trade connection with other [illegible]

Stupidity in children is most often stupidity in choosing their food

White-flour bread, butter and sugar is often thoughtlessly given to children. This trio alone could not support life for three months. They contain practically no element in them which will build muscle, bone, brain, flesh or tissue. The elements which they contain are necessary in food only for the heat and fat they produce. The body cannot live without the nourishment of all its elements, all of which an Infinite Wisdom has placed in exactly right proportions in a single grain of wheat.

Give your children and nourish every element in their bodies. They contain every part of the wheat—nothing is added and nothing is taken away. Shredded Whole Wheat Biscuit and Triscuit are the foods that make happy, bright, healthy children.

TEMPERATE CANADA.

The Brantford Expositor has been tapping that perennial and inexhaustible fountain of figures, Mr. Geo. Johnson, Dominion Statistician, Ottawa, for statistics in regard to the consumption of strong drink by different countries. Mr. Johnson is as strong on figures as his name sake was in dictionaries and as reliable, at least. Mr. Johnson, of Ottawa, replies to the Expositor as follows:—

"In answer to your letter, asking for Canada's expenditure in intoxicating liquors compared with other countries, I have to say that Canada's liquor bill is $54,586,191, or $9 87 1-2 per head of the population. Similarly prepared, the liquor bill of the United Kingdom is $36.29 per head or $1,500,085,189; that of the States is $1,955,827,121, or $24.75 per head, and that of Australasia is $17.20, or $78,367,045."

These figures constitute an eloquent tribute to the superior sobriety of the Canadian people. From a comparison of them it will be seen that John Bull's liquor bill is four times larger than that of Canada, Uncle Sam's two and a half times larger and Australia's nearly double. This is a proud position for Canada to occupy, and is a credit to the country directly and indirectly a credit to Ontario, the largest province in confederation, which supplies the chief material to furnish such figures. And it is further fair to add that a very large share of the credit is due to the excellent license law of Ontario, with its continuously applied restrictions and their result in developing public sentiment in favour of decreased consumption of liquors and consequently of true temperance sentiment.

It will be readily admitted that the progress made in this and other provinces is no warrant for the cessation of efforts to minimise the evils resulting from the intemperate use of strong drink. Considering the success effected by restrictive legislation the question arises as to the wisdom of replacing it by the incomplete prohibition such as this province has power to enact. Public sentiment is overwhelmingly in favour of restrictive legislation and even more rigid restriction than now obtains, and there is no doubt if the people were asked to vote on the question of restriction, the verdict would be practically unanimous. In a vote on such a question, no political or party consideration would interfere with a full and honest expression of opinion. Can the same be said in regard to prohibition? No doubt there is a preponderating balance of public sentiment theoretically in favour of the absolute cessation of the traffic. But when it comes to a vote would prohibition or party sentiment be the stronger? The other day a Peterborough citizen, known as a very strong advocate of prohibition, declared for the necessity of sending to the Legislature members pledged to vote for prohibition. He was asked, if that being his belief, he would vote to put a Liberal premier, pledged to enact prohibition, in power. "No; I would not," he replied, with more honesty than consistency. If the people want prohibition, they can get it in only one way, and that is by electing a Legislature favourable to it, and that can never be done by talking and praying prohibition, and voting party.

Without being pharisaical, we in Canada, and Ontario, especially, can hold up our heads and thank God that, in regard to intemperate habits, we are not as others are. The leading position we hold in this regard, is recognized by the world, and it is no surprise that two prominent Englishmen, Messrs. Rowantree and Sherwell, who undertook to investigate the liquor problem the world over, were able to say in regard to liquor consumption, the following:

"The consumption of alcoholic beverages, with one exception, is smaller in Canada than in any other country for which statistical are available, and it continues dipe."

CONSIDER IT AS NATIONAL ENTERPRISE.

Trent Waterway Intended to Benefit the Country as a Whole.

The city council of Toronto recently passed a resolution endorsing Port Hope as an outlet for the Trent Waterway and this resolution brought forth the following protest from a Trenton writer to the Globe:

"To the Editor of the Globe,—The action of your City Council in endorsing Port Hope as the outlet for the Trent Valley Canal is causing both indignation and disgust in this town, and it would interest us to have one or more of the gentlemen of the council come to the front in the press with the reasons which actuated them in adopting the resolutions passed. The Trent Valley Canal, sir, is a great national undertaking, meant principally for the carriage of the immense flood of golden grain which will pour down from the Northwest for shipment from Montreal, and why the quiet navigation for barges by way of the Bay of Quinte should be abandoned for the wild waters of Open Lake Ontario is a puzzle none can understand. We have occasionally smiled feebly at hearing you called "Hogtown" by the ambitious city of Hamilton, attributing the remark to envy of your rapid growth, but the action of your council this week in endorsing a mad scheme simply because Port Hope is 50 miles nearer your city than is the Town of Trenton certainly entitles you to the porcine appellation conferred on you by outsiders. The advantages of the Trenton route over that of Port Hope are simply overwhelming, and the Port Hope and Toronto people are allowing their feelings of self interest to blind them to a folly which would entail millions of loss to the country and fail to provide in any sense for the purposes for which the canal is being completed.

"Take a map of Ontario and look at Port Hope and say what you think of the situation of that town as compared with that of Trenton for the navigation of grain barges—the wild lake in which barges cannot be used at all, in the one case and the safe, canal-like bay of Quinte from Trenton east, in the other. The Port Hope people talk of a saving of some quarter of a million in the construction of the canal by their town, but, even if this amount were saved, which we do not admit, what is a bagatelle of this kind to an unsuitable route for all time for our Northwest grain? On the Trenton route, too, there is an estimated horse-power of $200,000, rentable by the Government for at least $2 per horse power, against nothing of the kind on the Port Hope route, a trifle which the Port Hope people keep mum about when interviewing your sapient Council for the help they stand so much in need of.

"But the whole matter resolves itself into the question, who is to be the judge of the suitability of the route for the canal, and we Trenton people have kept comparatively quiet in the face of Port Hope's hysterics, knowing that the experts are with us, and that the Government will decide the matter on its merits and not on the bulldozing of either Port Hope or Toronto. The engineers, Messrs. Rogers and McLeod, have unequivocally declared in favour of Trenton as the outlet, and it savours of impudence, to put it mildly, for the members of your council, with meagre knowledge of the whole matter, to petition for a route which has been condemned without stint by the men best qualified to pronounce judgment.

TRENTONIAN.

Bagging Condemned.

London, May 7.—The Army Council have issued a memorandum to officers condemning the system of "ragging" as discreditable to the service and subversive of good discipline by transferring military authority to a number of irresponsible officers. The council admit that gentlemen are occasionally appointed to the army who are not suited to the profession, and desire to draw attention to the regulations existing for the removal of such officers. The commanding officer is to be held directly responsible when he fails to effectively exercise the powers vested in him, and if there is at any time a repetition of similar incidents the names of officers primarily implicated are to be submitted to the King, with a view to their removal from the army.

To Punish the Kissis.

London, May 7.—Advices from West Africa state that an expedition is expected to be sent to punish a tribe called the Kissis, living to the east of Sierra Leone, who have lately been raiding and devastating the country belonging to the Konot tribe, who live on the Sierra Leone-Liberian boundary. When the Konot chief first applied to the British for help it was refused on the ground that the Kissis are under the control of the Republic of Liberia. But as the marauders have since continued their activity, burning villages and driving away the inhabitants, it is feared that armed forces will have to be resorted to.

Well Known Toronto Figure Gone.

Toronto, May 7.—Dr. Isaiah Ryder, who died of an apoplectic stroke on Thursday, was well-known about town his tall spare figure resembling the Don Quixote of Gustave Dore, and he had much of the courtesy and gentle spirit of cervantes' knight under an exterior which misled many. Dr. Ryder cultivated several hobbies, and he spoke within the last few weeks at the Forestry Association, the Dominion Alliance Convention, the Women's Canadian Historical Society and several others. Real generosity and love of his fellows underlay a personality unique and picturesque as an element in the life of the city.

EAST THAT IS NEAR

Despair of European Statesmen, Says Premier Balfour.

BEACONSFIELD'S CENTENARY

British Prime Minister Addresses Enormous Primrose League Gathering—The Anglo-French Agreement—The British Premier Severely Lectures the Opposition on Their Attitude to the Colonies.

London, May 7.—The annual demonstration of the Primrose League attracted an enormous gathering at Albert Hall yesterday afternoon, being the centenary year of the birth of the late Lord Beaconsfield (Disraeli). The decorations were more elaborate than usual.

Premier Balfour's address was not of much international interest. The foreign affairs of this country, were, he declared, in a happy and prosperous condition. Mr. Balfour attached enormous value to the Anglo-French agreement, because he believed it was going to prove a permanent arrangement. Foreign Secretary Lansdowne and Foreign Minister Delcasse had done work which was not only beneficial to their respective countries, but to the whole world.

Mr. Balfour referred to the near east as "The despair of European statesmen," and pointed out that the Government did not propose to play into the hands of revolutionists, "who would rather see genuine reform fail than succeed if it did not cover all their demands."

The Premier concluded with lecturing the Opposition on their attitude towards the colonies, especially in regard to Chinese labor, and declaring that nothing but the unity of the Unionist party would finally lay the spectre of home rule or protect great Imperial interests from the injury which they were threatened.

Killed By Live Wire.

Bracebridge, May 7.—At about 7.30 last night William McDonald, an employe of the Muskoka Leather Co. of this town, was killed by coming in contact with a live electric wire. Mr. McDonald was about 40 years of age, and leaves a wife and eight children, the oldest being but 16 years of age. Dr. Wales, coroner, will hold an inquest to-day. W. W. Beardmore of Toronto and George Perry also received heavy shocks from the wire which they touched just before McDonald.

Telegraphers to Strike.

Ottawa, May 7.—Sir William Mulock, Minister of Labor, has been advised by Mr. Campbell, vice-president of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, that unless the Railway Labor Disputes Act is applied, and a means provided for settling the trouble between the Grand Trunk Railway and their telegraphers, that a strike will be called, and that as a result of this all traffic will be practically at a standstill. Two hundred and fifty telegraphers, it is claimed, have less than $50 a month.

DAN GROSVENOR SAYS:

"Pe-ru-na is an Excellent Spring Catarrh Remedy—I am as Well as Ever."

HON. DAN. A. GROSVENOR, OF THE FAMOUS OHIO FAMILY.

Hon. Dan. A. Grosvenor, Deputy Auditor for the War Department, in a letter written from Washington, D. C., says:

"Allow me to express my gratitude to you for the benefit derived from one bottle of Peruna. One week has brought wonderful changes and I am now as well as ever. Besides being one of the very best spring tonics it is an excellent catarrh remedy."—DAN. A. GROSVENOR.

In a recent letter he says:

"I consider Peruna really more meritorious than I did when I wrote you last. I receive numerous letters from acquaintances all over the country asking me if my certificate is genuine. I invariably answer, yes."—Dan. A. Grosvenor.

A County Commissioner's Letter.

Hon. John Williams, County Commissioner, of 517 West Second street, Duluth, Minn., says the following in regard to Peruna:

"As a remedy for catarrh I can cheerfully recommend Peruna. I know what it is to suffer from that terrible disease and I feel that it is my duty to speak a good word for the tonic that brought me immediate relief. Peruna cured me of a bad case of catarrh and I know it will cure any other sufferer from that disease."—John Williams.

A Congressman's Letter.

Hon. H. W. Ogden, Congressman from Louisiana, in a letter written at Washington, D. C., says the following of Peruna, the national catarrh remedy:

"I can conscientiously recommend your Peruna as a fine tonic and all around good medicine to those who are in need of a catarrh remedy. It has been commended to me by people who have used it, as a remedy particularly effective in the cure of catarrh. For those who need a good catarrh medicine I know of nothing better."

W. E. Griffith, Comean, Texas, writes: "I suffered with chronic catarrh for many years. I took Peruna and it completely cured me. I think Peruna is the best medicine in the world for catarrh. My general health is much improved by its use, as I am much stronger than I have been for years."—W. E. Griffith.

A Congressman's Letter.

Congressman H. Bowen Ruskin, Tazewell county, Va., writes:

"I can cheerfully recommend your valuable remedy, Peruna, to any one who is suffering with catarrh, and who is in need of a permanent and effective cure."—H. Bowen.

Mr. Fred. D. Scott, Larue, Ohio, Right Guard of Hiram Foot Ball Team, writes:

"As a specific for lung trouble I place Peruna at the head. I have used it myself for colds and catarrh of the bowels and it is a splendid remedy. It restores vitality, increases bodily strength and makes a sick person well in a short time. I give Peruna my hearty indorsement." Fred. D. Scott.

Gen. Ira C. Abbott, 906 M street, N. W., Washington, D. C., writes:

"I am fully convinced that your remedy is an excellent tonic. Many of my friends have used it with the most beneficial results for coughs, colds and catarrhal trouble."—Ira C. Abbott.

Mrs. Elmer Fleming, orator of Reservoir Council No. 168, Northwestern Legion of Honor, of Minneapolis, Minn., writes from 2535 Polk street, NE.:

Mrs. Elmer Fleming, Minneapolis, Minn.

"I have been troubled all my life with catarrh in my head. I took Peruna for about three months, and now think I am permanently cured. I believe that for catarrh in all its forms Peruna is the medicine of the age. It cures when all other remedies fail. I can heartily recommend Peruna as a catarrh remedy."—Mrs. Elmer Fleming.

Treat Catarrh in Spring.

The spring is the time to treat catarrh. Cold, wet winter weather often retards a cure of catarrh. If a course of Peruna is taken during the early spring months the cure will be prompt and permanent. There can be no failures if Peruna is taken intelligently during the faverable weather of spring.

As a systemic catarrh remedy Peruna eradicates catarrh from the system wherever it may be located. It cures catarrh of the stomach or bowels with the same certainty as catarrh of the head.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

AN ORGANIZATION TO BE PROUD OF.

A Tribute to the Best Band in the Country.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—As a citizen of the town, I enjoyed, with many others, the delightful musical treat, furnished by Bandmaster Gliddon and his excellent band, on Friday evening, and can fully endorse the tribute to that organization and its leader in Saturday's issue

It has been the writer's privilege to hear the leading bands of Canada on different occasions in concert programmes, and can safely say, their efforts did not equal the work of our crack organization on the date mentioned. And in this connection, Mr. Editor, I am delighted to perceive that our citizens are taking a justifiable pride in the band, and are in sympathy with the leader in his efforts to make it more efficient, and to stimulate and foster a healthy taste for the "Religion of Art," as music is designated. We are proud of our leader and the reputation he has achieved, and the fame he has brought the town in the possession of what, competent musical critics consider the premier concert band of the Dominion.

The audience that was attracted on Friday evening was a musical one, and while it liberally recognized the rendition of the lighter numbers, the enthusiasm displayed in the applause that followed the classical numbers, was a decided tribute to the band and denoted a growing musical taste, on the part of our citizens, which is to be commended.

Loyalty to our band and a desire to help encourage it, should be the aim of one and all. To reach the present high state of efficiency required, persistent practice and the expenditure of considerable money, and it behooves us whenever an opportunity is presented, to encourage the band, not only in words, but in a more substantial manner.

Requests have been made that Friday's programme be repeated, and it is understood they will be acceded to, with the addition of a number or two. This fact, if correct, will be hailed with satisfaction by all lovers of good music.

Yours truly,

"G. CHORD."

GENERAL ASSEMBLY TO PRONOUNCE.

Committee Asks to Be Relieved From Deciding Wilkie Case.

Toronto, May 7.—In an official statement issued by the Presbyterian Foreign Missions committee concerning their deliberation of the Wilkie case, after briefly relating the earlier circumstances of the case, says:

"In the judgment of the committee a new mission established by our church in India, having no connection with our present mission, not on account of distance, but because of alienation, would be wrong in principle, and would not be in the interest of the cause of Christ in India or in Canada, and the committee cannot therefore recommend to the assembly the opening of such a mission.

"In view, however, of the fact that final action in the opening of new fields does not lie with the committee, but is, by the regulations, reserved to itself by the general assembly, and in view of the whole history of the case, the committee asks the assembly to give an explicit and authoritative pronouncement in the matter."

A WOMAN'S SYMPATHY.

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too, but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need to do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so I shall be happy and you will be cured for the cost of a postage stamp. Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. Mrs. F. D. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont. 800 Thibetans Fled.

London, May 7.—The Daily Mail's Simla correspondent says that 800 Thibetans, coming from the direction of Shigatse, attacked the British mission at Gyantse at dawn on April 5. The Thibetans were repulsed with heavy loss and fled. The British had only two Sepoys wounded.

Had No Appetite.

Mrs. I. W. Warner, Riverdale, N.S., is glad there is such a remedy as

Burdock Blood Bitters.

IT CURED HER AND WILL CURE YOU.

She says: "I wish to add my testimony to the many others who have spoken so highly as to the unfailing virtues of Burdock Blood Bitters. I was all run down, had no appetite, lost all ambition, could not sleep much and had terrible headache and backache, and my food did not digest properly. I saw B B B. advertised, so concluded to give it a trial, thinking if it did no good it could do no harm. But after using one bottle I began to feel better, and by the time I had used three bottles I was feeling like a new person. I am so glad there is such a remedy provided for suffering humanity, and cannot praise it enough for I think there is no medicine like it on the market."

DAY ON ESTIMATES

Increased Work of the Northwest Mounted Police.

THEIR TERRITORY EXTENDING

Vote of $1,017,000 Passed After a Very Full Discussion—Hon. Mr. Prefontaine's Five Bills—Fort William and Port Arthur Harbor—Inspection of Small Craft—Grand Trunk Pacific Bill Deferred.

Ottawa, May 7.—The Commons took a rest yesterday from the Transcontinental Railway bill, after weeks of constant discussion. Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick was not ready to pronounce on the various amendments, consequently the day was spent in Committee of Supply, where good progress was made. The items considered were with respect to the Northwest Mounted Police and agriculture, a total vote of $1,195,932 being passed. Hon. Mr. Prefontaine introduced several departmental bills, the most important of which provides for the inspection, regulation and control of gasoline, electric and other launches and craft which have become popular in recent years.

Bills to incorporate the Vancouver Island Railway Company and the Crawford Bay & St. Mary's Company were introduced by Mr. Morrison.

Mr. Prefontaine's Bills.

Hon. Mr. Prefontaine introduced five departmental measures. The first two were with respect to the harbors of Port Arthur and Fort William, placing these harbors under the jurisdiction of Harbor Commissioners. Another bill introduced by Mr. Prefontaine, which gives the Governor in Council general powers to constitute the Minister of Marine and Fisheries a pilotage authority for any harbor, has for its special object the overcoming of a difficulty that has arisen on the Saguenay River, but is general in its application. Mr. Prefontaine explained that his bill to amend the steamboat inspection act, 1898, had for its object the inspection, regulation and control of gasoline, electric and other launches and craft which have become popular in recent years.

The Marine Engineers.

Mr. E. F. Clarke inquired whether the Society of Marine Engineers had been consulted, and Mr. George Taylor made a special plea for the steam, gasoline and other pleasure craft used by tourists and visitors on the St. Lawrence and other waters, which do more or less ferrying. Private parties were in the habit of hiring these boats for the day, and he deprecated any interference with these vessels.

The Minister of Marine replied if these vessels were used for hire the public should be protected. He saw no hardship in requiring them to undergo inspection, and suggested that even Mr. Taylor would feel safer in entrusting his life to a craft regarding the equipment and stability of which there was some evidence in the shape of an inspection by competent officers.

G. T. Pacific Bill Deferred.

As the Minister of Justice had not been able to complete the consideration of the suggested amendments to the Grand Trunk Pacific bill, further discussion of that measure was deferred until Wednesday, and the House went into Committee of Supply.

Mounted Police Estimates.

The estimates for the Mounted Police were taken up, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, under whose control the department of Mounted Police rests, produced a large map, indicating the numerous stations and posts occupied by the force throughout the vast territories of the Northwest, which he laid upon the table and which was speedily surrounded by a group of interested members. The Premier explained that an increase of $100,000 in the cost of the force in the Northwest was due to the increase in population and the larger area of territory which the force had to cover. Last year the average cost per man for 500 men was $800; the estimate provided for 600 men, at an average of $833 per man; $2,000 was provided for rearming the force, and the pay of the force was increased by $22,500. Instead of being able to decrease the force, the tendency for the reasons named was to increase it.

After some Opposition criticism regarding the increase in the force, the item for Mounted Police, amounting to $1,017,000, was adopted.

After recess the following private bills were read a third time and passed:

Respecting certain patents of Lewis E. Curtis, Mr. Ross (Ontario).

The Herbert J. McD. Roger divorce bill, Mr. Grant.

The James E. Taylor divorce bill, Mr. Grant.

Agricultural Estimates.

In the evening the estimates of the Department of Agriculture were taken up. The item of $76,332 for salaries at the departmental offices was discussed for an hour before passing. $50,000 were granted to the Winnipeg Exhibition, and at 11.45 the committee rose and reported progress, leaving the larger agriculture items under miscellaneous for another day.

The House then adjourned.

SERIOUS LOSS TO MR. JOHN FINLAY

His Hub Factory in Tweed Destroyed by Fire.

Originated in Engine Room—$4 000 Loss and no Insurance—Will Rebuild Factory.

Mr. John Finlay of Norwood, the Liberal candidate for East Peterborough, in the House of Commons, met with a serious loss on Friday, when his hub factory in Tweed was totally destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $4,000, and it is learned that Mr. Finlay carried no insurance on the property.

Mr. Finlay had just completed the erection of a new office building at his factory in Tweed, and was preparing to carry on his business more extensively than he had done in the past, and this loss, coming as it did at a time when his factories are crowded to fill their orders, is a serious one to Mr. Finlay.

Mr. Finlay was in town to-day, and stated to the Examiner that in all probability he would rebuild the factory. The business men of Tweed waited on Mr. Finlay yesterday and offered, in case he would rebuild, to raise among themselves enough money to pay the interest on his investment. In view of this substantial offer the factory may be rebuilt.

The fire started, presumably, in the engine house.

Fourteen men were employed, and these will be out of employment until the factory is re-built.

TO-DAY'S MARKET.

Was well Attended—Some of the Prices Asked.

There was a fairly large number of buyers and sellers at the market this morning, the beautiful weather and condition of the roads being an incentive to the farmers to bring their produce to town. No startling changes in prices from the previous week were noticeable, and there was as a rule ready purchasers for the greater part of that on the stands. The prevailing price for butter was 18c., while eggs per dozen were worth 15c. Poultry was conspicuous by its scarcity, and the prices in this line were rather elevated, chickens going at 90c., and $1, while if a turkey was desired for Sunday's dinner, it cost anywhere between $1.75 and $2. Potatoes were quite in evidence and sold at $1 per bag. Apples, rhubarb and other such delicacies were also present in moderate quantities.

A BANQUET.

B. A. C. Club Spent an Enjoyable Time Last Evening.

Last evening the B.A.C. Club banquetted themselves at a George street restaurant and spent a most happy time together. It was the initial event of its nature, since the organization of the club some time ago, and it was the unanimous opinion that such gatherings should be frequently held. In the absence of the president the secretary was given the seat of honour, and acted as toastmaster. The toast list was not a lengthy one, but the speeches were nevertheless of an eloquent and profound nature.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM THE POLICE COURT.

Complaints of Ill-behavior, Tagless Dogs Bicycle Bells and other Things.

John Sweeney was arrested yesterday on a charge of failing to support his wife and family. He appeared before the Magistrate and was remanded until Saturday, May 14th.

The Chief of Police has received several complaints of late regarding the conduct of some mischievious young people from Ward Five who have been misbehaving on the canal bridge, and frightening horses, people and everything else in that vicinity. Only a week ago, a horse was frightened and ran away, the owner being injured. Last night there was another performance on the bridge and twelve names were secured and handed to the Chief of Police for his consideration. "Just state in the paper," said the Chief to an Examiner reporter, "that I have these names and if there are any more complaints these parties will have to answer for their deeds in the Police Court."

The Sanitary Inspector announces that all yards and closets must be cleaned up before the 15th of this month. The inspector will conclude his rounds in the Fifth Ward to-day and after the fifteenth will see that the law is carried out.

Up to this morning, there had been sold 350 dog tags. A conservative estimate of the number of canines of which Peterborough can boast has been put at 1,000, so there are still over 600 puppies whose masters have not visited the town clerk's office of late. The Chief allowed one week's grace after May 1st which is the date subsequent to which all tagless dogs were to have been disposed of and as that week expires to-day there will be no mercy on tagless dogs next week. Already one unfortunate quadruped has been the victim of a revolver shot and is now lying lifeless and forsaken. The charge against the dog, according to the Chief was one of vagrancy. All dog owners should take warning and secure a tag at once.

The Chief of Police is in a predicament. As everyone knows there is a bylaw in force which makes it necessary for all bicyclists to have a bell attached to their bikes. Not long ago, our wide-awake Chief discovered a wheelman, whose name by the way was Bell, riding a wheel on which was no bicycle bell. "You've no bell on your wheel." "Pardon me," came the reply, "there is a Bell on my wheel." The Chief gazed upon the man for a few moments with a dubious light in his eyes and then examined the wheel more closely, but the more he examined the more inclined was he to doubt the veracity of the bicyclist's statement. It was not long, however, before a broad smile indicated that the Chief saw the joke and he passed on, convinced that he could not, under the circumstances summon the bicyclist to court for not complying with the law.

BREWERS RAISE PRICE OF BEER.

Meeting of the Association Held Yesterday—Will Help Bring the 12th of July Celebration to Town.

A meeting of the Peterborough License Holders' Association was held yesterday, when a number of matters in connection with the trade were discussed. One of the most important of these is the raise in the price of beer. The breweries have increased the price of beer by $2.50 per hogshead, and lager 25c. per keg. The result of this action on the part of the brewers will be that those who retail the beer will be compelled to use smaller glasses. This action has been taken in Hamilton, and although nothing has been decided definitely, it is expected that some such action will be taken in Peterborough.

Another matter was considered by the Association at yesterday's meeting. It appears that although the District Orangemen had decided to meet this year on July 12th in Peterborough, a failure to make satisfactory financial arrangements has caused a hitch in the proceedings, and there is, according to a member of the Association's information, a danger that the 12th of July walk may not be held here. The Association will take the matter up and endeavour to assist the Orangemen to arrange for the gathering. They will interest the prominent business men, and, as the day will be a good one for all the business interests it is hoped that satisfactory arrangements may be made to give Peterborough the "Walk."

The Association, of which the officers are: President, J. M. Brooks; Treasurer, R. J. Munroe; Secretary, Arthur Rountree, will meet next Friday to complete the business started yesterday.

TRIBUTE TO A SUCCESSFUL MAN.

Confederation Life's Official Organ on Ald. H. Rush.

"Agency Notes," the official organ of the Confederation Life Association for the month of April, is just to hand, and contains a very life like half tone portrait of Ald. H. Rush, the popular cashier and agent for the association in Peterborough. The "Notes," referring to Ald. Rush says:—

"Mr. Rush has been with the Association for seventeen years, and during all that time has faithfully looked after the Association's interests in Peterborough and the surrounding district. He is an Englishman, having been born in the county of Norfolk. He came to Canada in 1859, and entered upon a mercantile career, which he successfully followed until the year 1887, when he joined the forces of the Confederation Life.

"During the time he has been with the company Mr. Rush has placed upon the books of the company a considerable volume of business of the very best class, which business he has carefully looked after. He is an occasional and welcome visitor at the head office, where his affable and kindly manner has made him very popular. Mr. Rush is now in charge of the Peterborough District Branch as cashier and agent."

A POSTAL CARD FROM JOPPA.

Rev. J. P. Wilson Receives one of these Unique Souvenirs.

Rev. J. P. Wilson received this morning a postal card written from Jaffa, or as it was known in olden times, Joppa. The writer of the card was Mr. Wm. Johnston, of Belleville, who is in Palestine, attending the World's Convention of Sunday school Workers, to be held in Jerusalem. Mr. Johnston reports having enjoyed his trip immensely, and has visited a number of places famed in Bible history. Mr. Johnston said at the time of writing he was leaving for the Dead Sea, and from there to Jerusalem.

A SANITARY PROBLEM.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I wish through your columns to direct the attention of the Board of Health to a nuisance in the west end, which is a serious menace to the health of the residents of that quarter.

There are two particular brown dogs whose nocturnal howlings and barking are exasperatingly provocative of profanity and murderous impulses. They make night hideous, preventing people from sleeping, waking infants, setting the nerves of invalids on edge, and in a very serious way imparing the health of those within hearing of the howling of these canine nuisances. Will the Board of Health, responsible for creating and maintaining conditions favourable to the public health, take cognizance of the matter and have the nuisance abated or entirely suppressed.

Yours truly,
NIGHTLY SUFFERER.

Note.—If our correspondent knows the owners of the dogs, he might personally appeal to their feelings of Christian charity and ask them to apply the Golden Rule. No man who aims to be a Christian, bound to love his neighbor as himself, would knowingly do anything to injure him.

ELEGANT ADDITION TO LIVERY EQUIPMENT.

Dr. F. L. Robinson's Livery Adds Three Handsome Carriages.

No less than three new tony driving rigs were added this morning to the already well equipped livery stables of Doc. Robinson, Charlotte street. This important addition includes two rubber-tired Landaus and one rubber-tired Victoria. The Landaus were built by Guy of Toronto. One is a strong serviceable outfit for every-day roadwork; the other is a swell affair, upholstered in dark-blue leather and cloth, with brass trimmings throughout, fitted with ladies' mirror, card cases, and handkerchief holder inside, and two large handsome brass-mounted, plate glass lamps, on each side of the driver's seat. The Victoria was built by Dickson, of Toronto, and is one of the most modern turn outs ever brought to town. It is upholstered, with very fine Morocco, has silver-trimmed mountings, and has an "impressive" general appearance. With such up-to-date outfits the Charlotte street livery is in a position to cater to the most exacting wants of the public. "Say when you're ready," is all the Doc. asks, and you can engage a turn out that will combine style, comfort and pleasure. 1d

For Men Who Overwork

And Suffer From Indigestion, Sleeplessness, Brain Fag, Irritability and Nervous Exhaustion.

OVERWORK.

(Pittsburg Press.)

The man who is overworked may be seen everywhere one goes. His hurried, hunted motion as he wends his way along the street; his drawn features and set countenance a sort of picture of ineffective worry, for all overwork is ineffective—excite pity. There is no mistaking him. His breaking down is not the breaking down that comes from dissipation. He has not a dissipated look—just the worried look that comes from too much work and too little nutrition. All the blood that this man's heart can pump goes into his poor, restless brain. Little is left for the vital organs of digestion and assimilation. Heart and nerves are overtaxed, and even when he lies down to rest the vital forces and organs are kept at work endeavoring to repair the excessive waste of the day, and in consequence his "rest" is really a misnomer, and when he rises in the morning he feels almost as tired as when he went to bed.

The most pathetic thing about this business of "overwork"—and it is one of the most common, as well as most deadly of complaints—is that the man who overworks himself would undoubtedly gain more in the end if he worked rationally and endeavored always to have on hand a little extra time and a little extra strength. The men who make great successes are most commonly men who seem to work in a leisurely as well as systematic manner, and who do not let their work drive them.

Another pathetic thing about it is that most of these overworked men are working unselfishly and nobly for the happiness of those dependent on them. Their motive is inspiring; but let them be assured their method is bad.

This clipping from the Pittsburg Press admirably describes the cause which makes physical and mental breakdown so common among men of this age.

To-day life is lived under tremendous pressure—keen competition in the trades, in business and in the professions—social rivalry and the desperate struggle to keep pace with others—lead men to overwork and to sacrifice health of mind and body.

Paralysis and locomotor ataxia—ailments almost unheard of by our grandparents—are frightfully common. In middle life men are being stricken with some dreadful form of helplessness arising from depleted nerves.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is now recognized by physicians and people alike as the treatment best suited to the needs of an exhausted nervous system.

If you value your health and life you will avoid stimulants and narcotics and make an extra effort to restore the feeble and exhausted nerves.

This great food cure gets at the very foundation of the trouble, and by forming rich, nutritious blood and creating new nerve force, gradually and naturally builds up the system, gives new health and vigor to mind and body and positively overcomes the distressing symptoms of nervous exhaustion.

By weighing yourself while using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food you can prove that new flesh and tissue is being added to the body.

Mr. Joseph Geroux, 22 Metcalf Street, Ottawa, Ont., writes:—"I was nervous, had headache and brain fag. I was restless at night and could not sleep. My appetite was poor and I suffered from nervous dyspepsia. Little business cares worried and irritated me. After using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for about two months I can frankly say that I feel like a new man. My appetite is good, I rest and sleep well and this treatment has strengthened me wonderfully. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is certainly the best medicine I ever used, and I say so because I want to give full credit where it is due."

is sold by all dealers at the advertised price, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50, or mailed postpaid on receipt of price by Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

How It Happened.

"Is it true, ma," asked the little rabbit, "that pa was shot by an amateur gunner?"

"Certainly not," replied the mother rabbit. "You see, the amateur gunner was shooting at me, while your poor pa sat behind him and laughed. Unfortunately the gun kicked, and the man sat down on your pa and killed him."

On Fourteen Trestle

By...
Clinton Dangerfield

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure

Across the wide river the trestle, No. 14, stretched unendingly, for the broken ground on both sides necessitated its covering not only the treacherous yellow tide, but much of the dubious shore beyond. Hinton's eyes rested dully on the one point of interest the shore under the trestle offered—namely, the small landing where steamers stopped for cotton. The landing boasted a gin, where the product in its raw shape, brought there in wagon loads by the small farmers, was reduced to proper commercial bulk. Although Hinton and Miss Wade were still a hundred yards from the spot where they would pass the landing below and twice that distance from the trestle's end, they could see all its details very plainly, especially the huge open bin, where a quantity of unseeded cotton had been thrown, to be transferred to the snorting, laboring machinery later.

"Jolie n'est ce pas?" observed Miss Wade lightly, with a wave of her hand which covered the surrounding scenery.

"That's French for 'pretty,'" interposed one of the children trotting at Miss Wade's heels. "I have learned that one word anyway," pursued the speaker proudly, and I mean to know more, 'cause you and Mr. Hinton talk in it and nobody can understand what you say. Hennie, Lou and me are all goin' to learn it, so's we can tell secrets in the openest company."

This ambitious scholar was one of three youngsters who had joined the couple in their walk and to whose intrusion neither Miss Wade nor her escort objected. Now that he had been finally and completely rejected, Hinton was glad to have their embarrassed silence broken by the chatter of the children. Miss Wade also was glad of their presence. As the 4 o'clock train had passed only a few moments ago, she had been quite sure it was safe to cross the trestle.

Then, just as she was encouraging the rather laggard footsteps of the youngest infant, her blood froze at the sound of a shrill, ominous screech behind them, echoing over the hills. Hinton heard it at the same instant. Evidently some special or perhaps a wildcat engine was bearing down upon them. And there was still so much trestle before them—so much of that slender network which offered no places of safety.

Looking back, he saw the thin line of smoke that marked the speeding death—they could never reach the other side in time!

The children, in their happy babble, heard nothing, and Hinton, forming an instant plan, said rapidly in French:

"Don't let them know. They will turn stupid with fright, and we could not do anything with them. Obey me, and I can save you all."

To the mastery in his eye Miss Wade yielded in a sort of blind confidence. He would save them all, she repeated, and the sick terror at her heart lessened its strain a little. She heard him laughingly urge the children to hurry, heard him offering prizes to the one who should pass the gin first and then saw him snatch up the fat legged six-year-old.

Wrapped in their wretchedly slow race, for they had to move with some caution, the children as they stood at last above the gin did not yet hear the thunderous monster, now getting its iron feet on the trestle itself. They only heard Hinton's sharp command "Stop!" and then their baby faces went white as they saw him lean over and drop the six-year-old into what seemed destruction. But Hinton's steady, athletic arms had not failed him. Before the astounded child knew what had happened she was lying on her back in the unseeded cotton.

With cool and desperate precision Hinton threw the would be French scholar down next, though he had to tear her frantic hands loose from his neck. The third youngster unceremoniously followed, landing on its head, but with no worse harm than falling between two loose piles of springy dirty-tan white, which saved its spinal column from any hurt.

"You next," said Hinton calmly. "It's the one chance. The train is almost upon us."

As he spoke he lifted the girl, and she found herself trusting to his cool self possession in spite of the horror before her. What she might strike, where fall, she did not know. She only knew that in his steady eyes flamed a hero she had not dreamed of in their conventional acquaintance.

She thought of this as she thought of many other things in her descent to the cotton below. The drop was a fearful one, and it seemed to her that she passed an eternity before she touched anything. Then, like the first of the children, she lay on her back, staring up at the black mass thundering past above. As it reached the spot from whence she had been thrown she saw Hinton, his hands pointed above his head, leap far out toward the center of the stream, heading as far as possible from the saving cotton.

Ignoring the howls of the indignant children, who altogether failed to comprehend the reason for their brusque and unwilling flight downward, she scrambled out of the bin and ran to the edge of the shore. Had Hinton struck one of the numerous crags abounding in the river? Would he never rise again?

Her screams for aid brought the few men at work to her immediately. One of them unlocked a little flatboat moored to the shore, but as they prepared to push her off a brown head lifted itself from the muddy current, and Hinton, blowing the water from his mouth, clambered up on the little pier, his face growing radiant as he saw the girl unhurt.

"Oh, you!" she cried. "You are"—

She choked.

"How are the kids?" asked Hinton a little thickly.

"Safe as if they had merely been tossed into bed. Oh, Mr. Hinton—Robert—I"—

"Don't feel obliged to say anything pretty," interrupted Hinton a little ironically, misconstruing her embarrassment. "I've often dived from as great heights."

"You'd never dive twice into that river an' come out alive," interpolated the gin fireman abruptly.

"What did you think of as you winged your way down?" inquired Hinton lightly as they turned toward the wailing chorus of angry infants, who found the sides of the bin too high to scramble out.

Miss Wade went scarlet. "I thought of a lot of things!" she murmured.

"Yes," said Hinton politely, but with the wound she had given him before they had set foot on the trestle now reopening. He had saved her—for some other man!

"I thought especially," stammered Miss Wade, "of a—a proverb"—

"Yes? May I ask the saw?"

"It's a—that it's a woman's privilege to change her mind," murmured Miss Wade.

Sam Weller's Valentine.

Lovely creetur, I feel myself ashamed and completely circumscribed in a dressin' of you, for you are a nice gal and nothin' but it. Afore I see you I thought all women was alike, but now I find what a reg'lar soft headed inkred-lous turnip I must ha' been, for there ain't nobody like you, though I like you better than nothin' at all. So I take the privilege of the day, Mary my dear—as the gentleman in difficulties did ven he walked out of a Sunday—to tell you the first and only time I see you your likeness was took on my hart in much quicker time and brighter colors than ever a likeness was took by the profeel macheen (which perhaps you may have heard on Mary my dear), although it does finish a portrait and put the frame and glass on complete with a hook at the end to hang it up by and all in two minutes and a quarter. Except of me Mary my dear as your valentine and think over what I've said. My dear Mary I will now conclude.—Charles Dickens.

When the scalp throws off either dandruff or a gummy substance, it is an evidence of scalp disease, and no time should be lost in correcting it. You certainly would not hesitate to take treatment were you to look at this matter through a magnifying glass. When highly magnified it resembles a working mass of insects. These creatures absorb the nutriment or life-sap of the scalp causing the scalp to become dry and feverish, resulting in the loss of hair and finally baldness. Seven Sutherland Sisters' Hair Grower and Scalp Cleaner works wonders in all such cases. It thoroughly eradicates all trace of scalp bacteria and makes the hair grow unusually long, strong and beautiful. One 50 cent bottle is enough to show you that it will do all this and even more. LAND OF "EVANGELINE"

WORK OF A DESCENDANT OF ONE OF THE DEPORTED VICTIMS.

Edward Richard, the Acadian, Who Recently Died at Battleford, N.W.T.—Romance of the Old Regime—"Evangeline" a Myth—The Dispersion—A Chivalrous Vindication—British Acted, However, in Good Faith.

Interest in the Acadians, made famous in song by Longfellow, is revived by the fact that one of the descendants of the victims of the deportation from the beautiful village of Grand Pre recently died at Battleford, in the person of Edouard Richard, the sheriff of the Northwest. The Richards were evidently among those who returned after the trouble of 1755 had blown over. Taking up their residence among their compatriots in Quebec, they grew up with the country, and Edouard was sent to the Territories in an official capacity as long ago as 1877. There he has lived ever since, save for an interval of three years, when he resided in Paris, and was engaged in gathering from the Louvre, for the Dominion Archives, copies of all the documents bearing upon the old regime in Canada.

Romance of the Old Regime.

These papers are extremely interesting and highly valuable. They tell many of the romances of the old regime—for the history of France in the new world is truly a story of adventure and heroism, and in that respect is scarcely to be equaled by other relations of comparatively modern date. The struggles to reach the West, the discovery of the Mississippi by La Salle, the great expedition two hundred years ago through an unknown land, from Quebec to what is now the centre of the United States, are movements characterized by both courage and skill. The death of La Salle, at the moment when he had made his discovery, as related by Mr. Richard from the records, is beyond question tragic. Triumphant, but evidently insane, the explorer died at the hands of the men his madness had provoked. Another drama not less, courageous, though of a different type, is brought into strong relief by Mr. Richard. What could be more heroic than the defence twice offered by Madeline de Vercheres against the assaults of the Iroquois? A girl, delicately nurtured, exhibits remarkable valor in the face of the savages and holds them at bay until succor arrives.

"Evangeline" a Myth.

But Richard's chief work was the defence of his ancestors, the Acadians, in respect of the matters for which they were removed from Nova Scotia. Longfellow, in "Evangeline," and Parkman, in his "Montcalm and Wolfe," have given versions of this tragedy. That of Longfellow, which was gathered from Hawthorne, depicts to us a peaceful and pastoral people, deeply religious and entirely inoffensive, living in a beautiful valley, but suddenly and without reason pounced upon by the British to be deported and distributed among the southern colonies. The charming Evangeline and her lover are the central figures of the dispersion. Evangeline passes first to Louisiana, and spends the remainder of her days in a search for her lover. Ultimately, a nun, she finds him dying in a hospital in the city of the Quakers. The story as told in the poem is marked by poetical license. At all events, the historical reasons for the deportation are not given, and the Acadians now residing in Louisiana maintain that there was no Evangeline. An Emmeline certainly did accompany the exiles to Louisiana, but her lover was faithless. He picked up with another girl on the trip and married her. Parkman's story is of a different kind. This historian tells of the struggles of the English and French for ascendancy in Nova Scotia, and of the cession of Acadia to Britain. Then he relates that the French settlers, though accorded every courtesy, refused to acknowledge the sovereignty of King George, and constantly conspired with the French who had emissaries among them, to harass the British settlers and to render peace impossible. The solution of the difficulty as decided upon by the Governor, Lawrence, with the advice of the Governor of Massachusetts, was deportation, and the irreconcilables were moved by shiploads to the other colonies.

The Dispersion.

To the ports along the Atlantic coast the Acadians were carried. Some managed to get to Quebec, and some, making their escape, found homes in Prince Edward Island, the Magdalen Islands, and even on the coast of Labrador. Their experience was much like that of the Loyalists who lost their property and were ordered out of the United States after the revolution. Many returned when the troubles were over, and the descendants of these now form important settlements in the Maritime Provinces. They are a quiet, frugal, simple and law-abiding folk, preserving their customs, their language and their religion, and holding to the view that their forefathers were harshly treated. Several volumes have been written to prove that they are right in their opinion of the expulsion. One by Abbe Casgrain has been crowned by the French Academy. This writer maintains that the British sought to deprive the Acadians of their religious liberty, and that this was the cause of their resistance. Edouard Richard has endorsed many of the arguments of the Abbe, but he adds in his book, "Missing Links of a Lost Chapter in American History," that the Acadians were removed from their lands by Gov. Lawrence without authority from the British Government, and in the face of orders of a different character which reached Halifax just after the deportation had taken place.

A Chivalrous Vindication.

The effort of Mr. Richard to vindicate his ancestors was at once chivalrous and natural. And it may be that his explanation will dovetail in with the British position. It is not improbable that the Acadians may have suspected or may have been urged to believe that they would be harshly treated as to their religion by the Bostonnaise, and that for this reason they were induced to regret the oath of allegiance and to take part in hostile movements. Equally probable is it that the British were acting in perfect good faith, and that the impossibility of persuading the Acadians that such was the case was the prime cause of the great tragedy of the Franco-British contest on this continent.

Camels in British Columbia.

His friends in Ontario will be glad to hear of the recovery of Senator Reid, of British Columbia, who was a patient in St. Luke's Hospital, Ottawa, for some weeks. Senator Reid is one of the pioneers of the Cariboo District, and has many interesting tales of his early experiences in the Great West. One of his stories has to do with the survey of the telegraph line which it was proposed to build across Siberia, the Behring Straits, Alaska, and down British Columbia before the Atlantic cable became an accomplished fact. It was believed by the projectors of the Siberian-American line that a submarine cable would prove unworkable over such a vast distance as that between Valentia and Newfoundland. Consequently survey parties were sent out by the Americans interested in the rival line. Siberia was visited by one party, and another explored the British Columbia mines. The problem of transporting supplies in the latter district was a difficult one, as horses were found unsatisfactory. It was not until a number of Siberian camels were imported that the surveyors could go any distance from civilization. The Siberian camel is a capital beast of burden, and the twenty-odd brought to British Columbia were very satisfactory. When the surveys on the two continents were almost completed word came that the newly-laid Atlantic cable was working excellently. The surveying parties were recalled, and the plan to rival Cyrus Field's cable was abandoned. The camels, being useless, were liberated, and for years, Senator Reid says, were a nuisance in Cariboo. The work of transporting supplies into the interior was done by pack-trains of horses, and many a valuable belt mare or pack horse, coming suddenly on one of the straying camels as it was going along a mountain road, bolted over the precipice. The camels filled the horses with such deadly fear that they became absolutely unmanageable. Consequently, the owners of pack-trains ordered their packers to shoot the camels whenever encountered. It was several years, however, before the last of the Asiatic visitors was killed.

A Remarkable Grain Exhibit.

Canada's wonderful exhibit in the Palace of Agriculture at the World's Fair is a revelation, says a St. Louis correspondent, to anyone who may have had an idea that the great north country was one of cold and ice always. No sections in Uncle Sam's galaxy of States displays finer specimens of the result of the husbandman's industry and no land shows a greater variety of products than does the great country that adjoins the United States on the north. Canada has a space of 10,000 square feet in the Exposition's mammoth Palace of Agriculture—a structure that covers an area of twenty-three acres and contains all that is edible from all lands. A replica of a historic structure forms the centrepiece of this notable exhibit. One of the handsomest of the public buildings in the Dominion is the Library of Parliament at Ottawa. The dome of this building, reproduced on a smaller scale, is one of the most commanding objects in the big building. It is an octagon, thirty-four feet across, and its top extends sixty feet upward and brushes the rafter of the Agricultural Palace. Its frame is of pine, and the surface that shows is covered with glowing red burlap. Artistically fastened to this background are the grains and grasses of Canada, more than 3,000 specimens being shown in charming array. Great buttresses are built up of millet, a forage plant; brome grass, a fodder crop grown extensively in western Canada and which appears shortly after the snow leaves the ground; wheat, oats, clover, blue grass and hundreds of other choice specimens. Corn, used so much in the embellishment of the exhibits of the States, finds no place in this display. The eight arches in the octagon afford a conspicuous place for oil paintings, typifying the live stock industry of the great country to the north. The pictures are works of art, and their great size makes the scenes very life-like. The windows under the pointed arches are filled with bottles of thrashed grain.

Japanese Fiction.

Japan is a novel writer's elysium. There is one very celebrated work, entitled "The Story of the Eight Dogs," that runs to 106 volumes, printed or written on only a single side of the page. Then, again, Japanese writers introduce into their stories a number of characters so confusing as to bewilder even the authors. No self respecting novelist leaves a single personage alive at the end of the book.

TORONTO'S FAMOUS FIRES.

How the Recent Staggering Blow to the Wholesale Section Has Stirred Up the Reminiscent Mac.

Toronto has been struck many a staggering blow by the Fire King, but the pride of her merchant princes was never so humbled as in the fire of the 19th April, 1904. A large part of the wholesale district has been destroyed as only fire can destroy, millions of dollars' worth of goods have gone up in smoke or lie crumbled ruins behind the skeleton walls. Yet even in the face of this disaster, the worst in our civic history, we are conscious that we have much to be thankful for. Not a life was lost, nor was a man seriously injured.

Some Early Fires.

Among the earlier fires in this city was that of Good's foundry, situated on the northeast corner of Queen and Yonge streets, says The Mail and Empire. The structure was almost completely destroyed, and many citizens must recall how, on that occasion, the work of the firemen was hampered by the condition of Yonge street at the time, the thoroughfare being torn up for the laying of a drain. It was at Good's foundry that the first Canadian steam engine was built—the famous Lady Elgin. The Dickie and Neil fire was another noted conflagration of a generation ago. Again it was a foundry that was ablaze. This firm made the narrow gauge cars for the old Toronto, Grey and Bruce, and it was a common sight for the passer-by to observe these cars standing on Phoebe and Soho streets. In the early days the old Iron Block, as it was known, was the scene of several fires. This row of buildings, standing just west of the Customs House on Front street, was supposed to be fireproof. In its construction iron had been substituted for wood wherever possible, and the builder believed that the place was no more likely to be burned than a stove. It was declared fireproof, and was viewed with awe and respect until the first fire. Others followed, and soon the celebrated Iron Block had become a hissing and a byword for its pretensions. The iron proved no better than wood, for it curled up and cracked under the extreme heat, affording no protection at all for the contents. After several costly experiments, the last of which cost $100,000, the Iron Block was wiped out.

Esplanade and University.

Coming down through the years we note the Grand Opera House fire, where three lives were lost; the fire in The Mail Office, May 21, 1885, and the great Esplanade fire of Dec. 8, the same year. This, like most of Toronto's great blazes, began at night, and had painted a picture of ruin and desolation before the sun lit up the scene in the morning. The Esplanade fire was a great spectacle. Wood was the fuel, whether in sheds, wharves, or piled lumber. For miles about the sky seemed ablaze, and people in the country thought that surely the Queen City was being wiped out. The money loss was estimated at $350,000. For many years the famous Esplanade fire held all Toronto records. In only one sense was it insignificant—the architectural loss was nothing. It was on Feb. 14, 1890, when Toronto University was laid in ruins, that this fact was recalled. This beautiful building was the pride of all Toronto, and its loss was perhaps the greatest shock citizens, as a body, ever received. It is difficult to believe that a single exploding lamp could be the cause of this magnificent structure's doom. Built as it was of stone and brick, slate and hardwood, it burned like a furnace, and so quickly that those responsible for the disaster were hard pressed to escape with their lives.

The Ill-Fated Trio.

In 1895, within a couple of months of each other, occurred three fires which destroyed three lives and more than two million dollars' worth of property. The first of these was The Globe fire on Jan. 6, in which brave Bob Bowery, one of the finest men who ever fought a fire, was killed. The walls of the old Globe building were thin and flimsy, and one of them suddenly collapsed, bearing down under it young Bowery, who was rescued in a dying condition. He passed away in the hospital a few hours later, murmuring, "Boys I'm going." Chief Ardagh and Charles Smedley, caught in a trap in the second building south of The Globe, had to leap for their lives, and their injuries were such that they never recovered. The McKinnon building was destroyed in this fire, helping to bring the monetary loss up to $775,000. At this fire, the inadequacy of the water pressure was held responsible for the rapid spread of the flames, while a high wind made the firemen's task doubly hard. On the following Thursday the great incendiary fire occurred in the Osgoodby Building, on Melinda street. The memorable feature of this fire was the thrilling leap for life of Mrs. Caven, the invalid wife of the caretaker, who, from a height of ninety feet, sprang through a window, shot downward, striking some telephone wires, and rebounding, fell safely into a net. Her nurse slid down a wire for some distance, and then leaped into the net, as did her husband.

Died at Their Post.

Passing over the ill-favored John Eaton fire, the fatal Hees fire, the McKendry fire, and that of Gowans, Kent and Co., we come upon the disaster by which the lives of five gallant firemen were lost. This blaze occurred on July 10, 1902, in the old street railway barns on Front street, occupied at the time by P. McIntosh and Co. As is the almost invariable rule, the men met their death under falling walls, and not by burning or suffocation. Adam Kerr, David See, Walter Collard, Harry Clarke, and Fred. G. Russell perished. This is a record, in a rough way, of Toronto's great and fatal fires. In the amount of property destroyed they sink into nothingness in the presence of the latest ruin.

Horsehair Furniture.

Horsehair has been restored to favor again as an upholstery accessory, particularly for colonial furnishings, but the fabric is not confined, as in days gone by, to a single hue—namely, black. A variety of tints may now be had, including blue, yellow, brown, deep red and green and even white and gray.

An Encouraging Message

I have a message of hope and good cheer, of encouragement and inspiration to every suffering woman. I have endured the torture due to female troubles and the consequent despondency and mental agony almost to the point of despair, and I have been restored from this condition to a state of vigorous health, and to the happy, exhilarating frame of mind which accompanies physical well-being. This change has been brought about wholly by the use of ORANGE LILY.

In addition, I have had the privilege and pleasure of inducing multitudes of other suffering women to give ORANGE LILY a trial, and have received thousands of enthusiastic acknowledgements of the blessings it has brought to them. The following is a sample:

Truro, N. S., April 5, 1904.

Dear Mrs. Currah,—Your very kind letter was received yesterday. In reply to your question about my health, I am thankful to say that I am very well. As I have never given you a statement of my case you may be interested in it.

For several years I have suffered untold agony. This suffering was continuous, but I would have violent attacks every few weeks, each attack lasting several days. The first Sunday in November, I felt the pain increasing and so did not go to prayers. The rest of the family did go and soon after the forcing down pains seized me and I had to remain on the floor until their return. I was in great pain all night, and was very sick for a whole week.

Then Mrs. L. came to see me and told me of your wonderful medicine. I got my husband to send for it right away, as I was too sick to write myself. (My doctor could do nothing for me.) I have used 5 boxes of ORANGE LILY, have had three months of good rest, and am now well, never better in my life. I have not had the old pains since. I often ask my husband if it is myself that is going around and doing my own work. I can scarcely believe it. It brings tears of joy to my eyes. I could shout it to all the world. I cannot speak enough in its praise.

Your friend, MRS. E. H. F.

Receiving as I do, dozens of such reports each day, I felt impelled to make known to my suffering sisters the merits of ORANGE LILY. It differs from the other so-called remedies in that it is not taken internally. It is a strictly local treatment, and is applied directly to the affected organs. Its curative elements are absorbed into the congested tissues, expelling the stagnant foreign matter which has been irritating the membrane and oppressing the nerves, and a growing feeling of physical and mental relief is noticeable almost from the start. It is a positive, scientific remedy, and even if you use no more than the Free trial Treatment you will be very materially benefitted.

FREE TRIAL OFFER.

I want every reader of this who suffers in any way from painful monthly periods, irregularities leucorrhœa, inflammation or congestion of the womb, pains in the back, etc., to send me their addresses, and I will forward at once, without charge, 10 days' treatment. If your case is not far advanced it may entirely cure you, and in any event it will do you much good. I am so earnest in making this statement, and so positive that it is true, that I trust every sufferer who reads this notice will take advantage of my offer and get cured at home, without a doctor's bill.

MRS. F. C. CURRAH, WINDSOR, ONT.

CREATED A SENSATION IN GALT

The Whole Country Ringing with Praises of

PSYCHINE

(PRONOUNCED SI-KEEN)

CONSUMPTION

Doctors and specialists despaired of a cure and gave Mr. Weaver but three months to live.

MR. L. WEAVER, GALT.

Who desires to publicly confirm the history of his remarkable recovery, as published quite recently by the daily press of Canada. Mr. Weaver was as bad a case of Consumption as might well be imagined. He was employed for five years in the grinding room of James Warnock & Co's, better known as "The Axe Factory," in Galt. Here he contracted consumption from the steel-laden dust. He persisted with local physicians' treatment for over a year, also consulted a number of lung specialists. They all did their utmost to cure, but declared Mr. Weaver's an incurable case of grinder's consumption giving him but three months to live. Mr. Weaver himself, despaired of a permanent cure, as two of his brothers before him had already died of consumption.

It is but seldom that any remedy receives such strong endorsement as Psychine is receiving daily. Seldom indeed that the cured come forward voluntarily to state their case a second time so that all may be convinced of the truth. The instance herein reported from the busy town of Galt, Ont., is a typical instance of what is occurring in every city, town, hamlet and country-side in this broad Dominion. Scores of people living in Galt were long ago conversant with the facts of this notable case; while to others the publication of it in the daily press came as a revelation.

Scores of people recently called upon Mr. Weaver to see if all that had been published was really true. Medical men evidenced a desire to see the good work wrought with Dr. Slocum's famous remedy, Psychine (Si-keen). Mr. Weaver has also been the recipient of hundreds of letters from all parts of the country enquiring as to his case.

Sad and sorrowful is the first chapter of the story told by the man whose case has excited the interest of Lung Specialists and of medical men and whose cure and complete restoration to health is the talk of Galt and the wonder of the medical profession. Such, in brief, are the opening remarks of the case of Mr. Weaver, of Galt, whose portrait appears above.

Mr. Weaver is to-day a splendid specimen of manhood and the picture of robust health. His lungs give him no more trouble. He is strong and healthy, eats and sleeps well, and feels better than he has for ten years.

Mr. Weaver's Case as given to the press, January 30th, 1904.

Dr. T. A. Slocum:—For five years I worked as a grinder in the James Warnock, better known as the Axe Factory, here. The dust from the grinding did for me what it has done for many others. It gave me "grinder's consumption." I was compelled, of course, to quit work. I persisted with two local physicians, and also consulted a number of lung specialists. Their diagnoses were all alike:—"You have Grinder's Consumption, and may possibly live three months, but you are liable to drop off at any time." This was over two years ago.

I then almost abandoned myself to what seemed my fate, my two brothers having died of consumption a few years previous. I was in an advanced stage of the disease. I was thin and weak, had night sweats, chills and fever, and a terrible cough.

I saw your advertisement of "Psychine," and I determined to try it. Through the kind advice and assistance of REV. MR. KETTLEWELL, Methodist minister in charge here at that time, I procured your treatment. The very first bottle gave me great relief, and after taking six bottles I could walk down town and even work occasionally. Have since then entirely regained my health, and work hard every day. I can eat and sleep well. I feel better to-day than I have for years. I owe my life to Psychine.

Yours truly,
LEVI WEAVER.

Mr. Weaver's second statement after the above was published.

GALT, ONT.

Dr. T. A. Slocum:—The publication of the history of my case in Toronto and Galt papers has caused quite a sensation in this town. There have been scores of people ask me if such were really the case. I have also received by mail numbers of like enquiries. Some people hardly think it possible that I was so near death's door. But I can say for certain that Psychine saved my life and I bless the day I saw Psychine advertised and became convinced of its merits enough to try it. I have spread the good news in three counties, and shall ever continue to praise Psychine. Every word as published January 30th, is true to the facts in the case.

Yours truly,
LEVI WEAVER.

If you suffer from Lung Trouble, La Grippe, Asthma, Throat Diseases, Pneumonia, Catarrh of the Stomach, Bronchitis, Night Sweats, Loss of Flesh or Run-down System, or diseases where a tonic is required, there is no other medicine in the wide world that will act more promptly or effectively.

PSYCHINE is pronounced SI-KEEN.

The remark is often heard, How she has aged! or, Did you notice how old she looks! when the years may be but few.

What has caused this?

Nothing more than the fact that the body indicates marks of wearing out, which are premature.

It shows that the system has been bearing more than its normal share of burdens.

It has been trying to stand against the encroachments of disease silently and gradually creeping on.

Internal disorders and irregularities of the digestive system have resulted in the pulling down of the vital force, and thus destroying the natural vigor and brightness which are always the sign of youth.

On the other hand, How young you are looking! and Why! She is growing younger all time! are words heard of those who in spite of advancing years are able by careful attention and proper treatment of their bodies to preserve the Nerve Force and physical activity which is the right of every human being.

ANTI-PILL PROMOTES NATURAL HEALTH.

One of the commonest causes of such premature "age-ing" is disorder of the stomach brought on by poor digestion, irregular and infrequent bowel movements.

Very few people are free from one or other of these ailments.

Anti-Pill corrects the stomach by strengthening the glands that secrete the Gastric Juice, lack of which causes these ailments spoken of. It builds up the organs and demonstrates a new principle that influences the stomach, in fact compels it to supply the necessary Gastric Juice.

It also invigorates the muscles related to these glands and organs, so that they are enabled to resume their work and the whole system is naturally and permanently restored to vigorous health.

FOR DERANGED APPETITE.

Fullness and weight in the Stomach after eating, Dizziness, Headache, Easily Tired, Fagged, Failing Strength, Sleeplessness, Gas in Stomach, Drowsiness and Mental Inactivity, Pain in Back, Hip and Loins, Backache, Heart Palpitation, Breath Heavy and Offensive, Urine loaded with Sediment, Billiousness, Dyspepsia and Constipation, use Anti-Pill.

WHAT TWO LADIES SAY.

Mrs. Thos. Tabb, 287 Emerald St., North, Hamilton, Ont., says: For many months Indigestion, Dizziness and Constipation made me miserable. I used many remedies and doctor's medicine without relief. My husband finally got me to try Anti-Pill and the effect has been truly gratifying. This medicine has cured the constipated condition of the bowels, relieved the stomach trouble and brought such general improvement to my whole body that I can do my house work without any trouble—this result came by the time I had used half a box and Anti-Pill is surely a great system treatment.

At Over Seventy Years Old.—"I am over seventy years old. For fully twenty years I have been afflicted with Constipation. I have taken all kinds of pills and medicines but never received any lasting benefit until I began taking Dr. Leonhardt's Anti-Pill. Two boxes entirely cured me.

I also for many years suffered greatly from what seemed to be incurable eczema. I am now cured of that and believe that your Anti-Pill did it. (Mrs. Ruth Hall, 910 B Street, Lincoln, Neb.

GENERALLY SPEAKING

THE WILL of the people is supreme. They pronounced on two by-laws on Thursday, and as unmistakably endorsed one of them as they unmistakably condemned the other. The good fortune of the Collegiate Institute Bylaw in receiving so emphatic an approval, indicates that the ratepayers of the town are willing to wipe out the reproach, implied in a town of the importance of Peterborough not having a Collegiate Institute building, and that they recognized that that the town must keep abreast of all competition, not only in material, industrial and commercial progress, but in educational matters as well. This verdict by the people is to be regarded as the result of intelligent study and appreciation of the question, for the action of the ratepayers in regard to it was quite voluntary, having been influenced by no systematic personal appeal; whatever personal influence was exercised was limited, and merely incidental. The citizens have nobly done their part, and it is incumbent upon the Board of Education to wisely and prudently meet the responsibility the action of the ratepayers has placed upon them. It is probable that there will be an early special meeting of the Board to deal with the question. The Board bestirred themselves in the interests of the bylaw, but their efforts in that direction is mere child's play compared with the work which now confronts them, a work that demands the largest prudence and sound judgment. The Board can easily make mistakes, but no doubt they will use their best judgment and make the greatest possible effort to do the best thing they can do for the various interests concerned in a practicable and satisfactory solution of the Collegiate Institute problem.

• • •

AS TO THE SUGAR BY-LAW, it has met an adverse fate at the hands of the ratepayers, who are responsible only to themselves for the action they have taken. No doubt they appreciated in the abstract the importance of the addition of a new industry, but they evidently lacked faith in the feasibility of an undertaking where one of the prime factors of success—the growing of beets by the farmers—continued to remain an unsolved problem. The Examiner as a public journal felt it its duty to present to its readers the facts and conditions which were asserted by those who were in favour of the guarantee. The people were left free to draw their own conclusions and that these conclusions have been unfavourable, is a matter within their rights of judgment and unfortunate for those who invited their co-operation in establishing the new industry in Peterborough.

THE MOUTHPIECE of malcontents, is one of the appropriate titles of the press. If any one has a grievance to air, he or she unloads it on the newspapers. The Examiner, as noted yesterday, gets complaints from sources that no man, especially a married man, dare ignore,—from the head of the ladies, regarding the dust nuisance, in connection with the imperfect and perfunctory street sprinkling done. And they have cause for their righteous indignation. Remember this is house cleaning time. For the past week the average housekeeper has been in the grip of an acute attack of the monomania of cleanliness. With dust in her hair, and fire in her eye, she has been raving throughout the mansion like a domestic Bacchante, ripping up carpets, tearing down curtains, piling furniture in the back yard, and turning everything topsy-turvy. Husbands have been driven from one place of refuge to another till at last they have been driven to drink or something representing that culmination of despair. At last the work is done, the house is cleaned, swept and garnished from collar to attic, in perfect sanitary condition, but smelling of permanganate of potash, carbolic acid and camphor balls, like an isolation hospital, and the good housewife sits down to enjoy her triumph, sets open the doors and windows to let the sweet vernal air drift through the rooms. But entering or leaving a room a slant ray of the rising or setting sun reveals to her anxious eye, dust on her erstwhile spotless interior; the breeze that brings the impalpable balminess of springin grass, opening leaf buds and nascent bloom, also brings in the street dust, heavy with microbes, and teeming with unmentionable filth, which lies thick as the dust on the proverbial family Bible, and is a heart-break to the housewife with her bones still aching from the struggle with the winter's dirt. It is indeed exasperating, and doubly so when she reflects that she is paying good money in taxes for the dust being laid, by the street sprinkling that is being done, or in some cases hardly done at all. This matter should be attended to; we have plenty of water, lack of that is no excuse. Let the street watering contracts be enforced to the letter. Spending money on effective street sprinkling is money well laid out. Wasting money on slop work that is, not even slop work, is iniquitous.

• • •

SPEAKING OF SPRING: hasn't the spring come upon us with a glorious leap! When we carry ourselves back to the wintry days, when the snow was up to the window tops, when trains were paralyzed, we could then hardly realize the possibility of the glorious burst of unsurpassable spring weather of the past week. Then the hopeful farmer, who never grumbles, except when he feels like it, said we would have no crops, no seeding, forgetting that after the little Noahic freshet had subsided, we had a Divine promise of seed time and harvest in perpetuity. And we always get it. We have had a straight week of the most perfect and unbroken seed time we ever had, and there is promise of a splendid harvest. True, the harvest has been short, and the work sharp. On that account it has been unfavourable for tree planting, but that has not prevented the paternal Dominion Government from distributing two millions of trees to the farmers of the Northwest to serve as wind breaks. A continuation of tree planting on this scale will change the face of the great Northwest, and it is hoped, with beneficent results.

• • •

BUT THE BEET SUGAR industry is not killed. There are scores of intelligent and progressive farmers who still believe in sugar beets — if the trouble of growing them is lessened. Sugar beets require to stand eight inches apart in the rows, and by the present mode of planting they come up thickly, and have to be thinned by hand. Inventors are working upon an apparatus to plant beet seeds one at each eight inches. If this succeeds the growing of beets will be no more trouble than growing potatoes, and there would be no trouble in getting any quantity grown. In that event a factory would be a splendid industry. There is hope for the beet sugar enterprise yet — with an easier method of growing beets and good business management it will succeed.

• • •

BUT IF WE CAN'T have a beet sugar factory, we can have the Trent Valley Canal. We have it almost completed, and prospects never seemed brighter for the enterprise than now. The canal never was so much discussed, or treated with so much respect beyond mere local areas. Why, even the Globe newspaper has come to regard it as important. Yesterday the Globe made the canal the motif of its heading for its Ottawa news, putting the "Trent Valley Canal Opening" in its largest type, whereas, a year or so ago, an obscure line would have been given it. This shows that greater interest is being taken, and in this regard the Port Hope propaganda is doing good — though it rubs Trenton's fur the wrong way. It is getting the canal talked about, and that's what we want. Port Hope and Trenton are both working for the completion of the canal, and when the time comes no doubt the best route will be chosen. Meanwhile the canal is being boomed, and in this respect it is something like church union now talked about. All the churches are united in the work of getting their flocks safe into the same heavenly sheep-fold, but there is a perpetual squabble about the best route, each church claiming its own as the best. So with the canal. Port Hope and Trenton are agreed in getting the canal, but the fight is about the route to the terminus.

MOVEMENT FOR CHURCH UNION.

Interview With Rev. J. P. Wilson on the Subject.

Greatest Need for Union is Experienced in the West—Churches are Prepared for Union.

The question of church union is one which is occupying the attention of the leading minds in ecclestical circles and in view of the importance of the subject and its far-reaching effects, the Examiner interviewed Rev. J. P. Wilson, chairman of the Peterborough District of the Bay of Quinte Methodist Conference, on this subject, the result of which is given below:—

To anyone who has lived in the land west of our great lakes there can be no two opinions on this great question of organic church union. I was impressed with its desirability and necessity in the later eighties when pastor in Brandon, Man. Let any man travel from Winnipeg to the Pacific Slope and in the great country north, and he will find the evidence overwhelming in favour of a federation or a union of the aggressive churches. Each denomination endeavours to keep pace with advancing immigration, hence little hamlets have in their midst three and sometimes four church edifices when one would give ample accommodation to the whole community resident there. If that great land is to be thoroughly Christian and British the churches should unite and cover the country more rapidly than they are doing. The work in the great west has really brought the question to an issue. The membership of the interested churches seems almost a unit on the great question and the feeling is prevalent that to oppose it now would be going directly against the leadings of Divine Providence.

There are difficulties in the way, no doubt. Each church has many things it cherishes — that have become sacred — names and terms that have endeared themselves through generations, but all these mountains will become plains before earnest men of God.

We are getting broader views of the church's mission, that it is not merely a message to the individual for his own personal salvation from the effects of his own individual sin, but the mightiest of all social agencies in its direct effects on the people. That the New Testament church is a stern aggressive, fearless enemy of all wrong, individual, national, social. We have therefore no time for the building up of denominational structures.

The public has been deeply impressed with the spirit that has pervaded the meetings held in the interests of union. The oldest and most venerated men of the churches have met and deliberated in the most brotherly manner, and the young men have been in accord with their elders.

The spirit that has been exhibited in all these meetings has done much to clear the air of all doubts regarding the possibility of union, and to prepare the way for the great movement.

It is coming anyway. The Master's prayer for unity must be answered in the good providence of God, and it would seem that he is calling these churches which have learned "to give and take" in order that organic unions could be effected, as seasoned troops to lead the way, and that this new land should show the older countries the possibility, utility and beauty of Christian unity.

The polity of the churches is not so different, nor the beliefs so far apart but that a polity and a creed can be arranged elastic enough to embrace all essentials.

Where the similarity in polity and creed of these interested churches are considered the wonder is that they are not united. And it would seem that the causes of separation have disappeared or are rapidly disappearing—causes that arose sometimes from the condition of the times; sometimes from man's infirmity; certainly not from the teachings or life of Christ. Now with the broader view of the Supreme Being and changed conditions of the times, men are beginning to see the oneness that should exist among those who worship the one God and follow the one Christ.

BREAD CAST UPON THE WATERS

"Allie" Pearson's Training in Y. M. C. A Work an Investment.

Things often work together in unexpected ways. Mr. H. A. Pearson was trained in Y.M.C.A. work here, and it will be remembered that he went out from Peterborough to enter upon work and from Toronto he went to the "Soo." Here a young gentleman named Hutchinson was engaged in Y.M.C.A. work, and went to the Training School at Toronto. Now he has come to Peterborough as Physical Director, and assistant General Secretary. Thus from the same place where a young man brought into the work in Peterborough, first exercised his influence, the "Soo," comes, more or less directly through "Allie" Pearson, a young man, who, in a sense, takes the place the former occupied at one time in Peterborough. Mr. Williamson has reason to regard his bringing Mr. Pearson into Y.M.C.A. work in the light of the results indirectly following it, as "bread cast upon the waters."

M'LIP'S MOUSTACHE.

An Incident of the Great Fire in Toronto on April 19.

There is a story of a tiny blaze in the conflagration of last Tuesday night which, though fraught with considerable consequences, has not yet been told. The blaze was not as large as would come from an average size match, but it singed a certain nose, it handicapped the posers of expression of a certain bookkeeper for some months to come, and it caused the loss of a valuable ledger. To understand the actions of the principal actor in this more or less tragic event, it should be told that Mr. (let us call him McLip for convenience sake)—it should be known that Mr. McLip had a moustache which was the pride of his life. Besides being considered by himself, and perhaps one other, an ornament, it was a useful appendage. McLip was naturally a man of few words, and he used this moustache to give expression to his varying moods. Did he wish to appear impressed he pulled it gently. A violent tug meant anger or indignation. Indifference was portrayed by a twirl, and contempt by a raising of the points. It was valuable, too, in another way, for when McLip wished to feel dressed he simply waxed the points.

McLip was employed with a Wellington street firm, and when he reached the office on Tuesday night, amid the glare of burning buildings, the plate glass windows in front of the building had just exploded with the heat. The flames were already ramping in the rear of the building and ploughing their way towards the company's books, which had been left on the desks for an evening's work.

McLip never hesitated; he dashed through the broken window, in the smoke and the glare, and seized the priceless ledger. With the heavy book in his arms he turned to retreat, but just as he wheeled about a tongue of flame shot out, setting fire to that priceless moustache. McLip was a brave man, and could have faced a cannon blaze undaunted; he would have lost his eyebrows or his scalp or every stitch of clothing on his back to save the ledger. The rushing water and the falling walls he dismissed with scarcely a thought, but this pride of his life, this companion of his joys and sorrows, this moustache—it was too much. He dropped the book and slapped his mouth. The next instant victory was turned to defeat; a burst of flame sent him scurrying for his life. It was a double loss, for the precious moustache was beyond repair.—Star.

The German Carp.

An effort is to be made to destroy the German carp in Lake Ontario. It is to be hoped that the attempt will prove successful, says The Toronto News. It is a great coarse scavenger, which feeds on the spawn of better fish, and is useless for purpose of sport or food. Toronto Bay contains large numbers of carp, and to this cause is due in some measure the scarcity of game fish. Twenty years ago, before the Bay had become so greatly polluted with sewage, there was splendid sport for the angler along the Island shore and in Ashbridge's Bay. Perch were plentiful around the Eastern Gap. Black bass were found in the deep portions of Ashbridge's, and rock and silver bass in almost any part of the harbor. Along the wharves, where the pollution began, catfish and eels were caught in large numbers, and may be taken yet. The destruction of these would not cause the angler grief. But the departure of the bass, the nickerel and the perch has deprived the Bay of one of its attractive features to a large class of citizens who were disciples of the gentle Isaak Walton. The construction of a trunk sewer, and the gradual purification of the harbor, will doubtless restore the old conditions to the pleasure of the anglers who now have difficulty in finding a good fish this side of Muskoka.

WHY ENDURE PAINS AND ACHES

When People are Shouting the Good News that Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets have Completely Cured Their Dyspepsia?

Why endure the pains and aches and discomforts of Dyspepsia and Indigestion when relief is easy to find, and easy to take? Why struggle along with a daily burden of weariness, and despondency, while bright, active, cheerful people, are shouting the good news that they have found relief and health and vigour in Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets?

Louis M. Boudreau, of St. Louis, Cumberland county, N.B., puts the matter briefly, but right to the point: "I want to encourage people who suffer from Dyspepsia to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets," he says. "I had Dyspepsia myself, and many doctors tried in vain to cure me. Three boxes of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cured me completely. That's why I recommend them so highly."

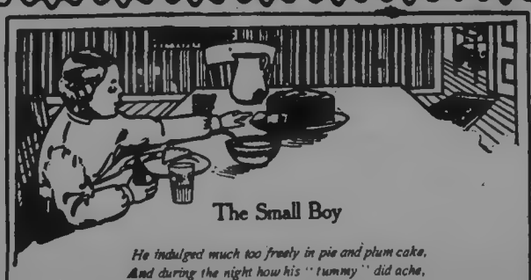
Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets digest the food themselves. You can't be uncomfortable after eating if you finish the meal with a Tablet or two.

Tender For Big Contract.

Montreal, Que., May 6.—Eight Canadian and American firms have tendered for the construction of the permanent steel sheds to be erected in the wharves line. The James W. Davis & Sons, Ottawa; Milhken Bros., New York; the Canadian Bridge Co., Peterboro; J. Hanley, Toronto; P. Lyale & Sons, Montreal; the Canadian Foundry Co., Toronto; the Ridenater Bridge Co., New York; the Clintoch & Marshall, New York, are the firms which have tendered, and the different prices will be considered by the commissioners on Monday next. It is understood that the tenders range from $2,000,000 and $2,250,000.

Cured His Mother of Rheumatism.

"My mother has been a sufferer for many years with rheumatism," says W. H. Howard, of Husband, Pa. "At times she was unable to move at all, while at all times walking was very painful. I presented her with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and after a few applications she decided it was the most wonderful pain reliever she had ever tried; in fact she is never without it now, and is at all times able to walk. An occasional application of Pain Balm keeps away the pain that she was formerly troubled with." For sale by all druggists.



The Small Boy

He indulged much too freely in pie and plum cake,
And during the night how his "tummy" did ache,
They ran for the doctor, who knowing the fault,
Without hesitation prescribed "Abbey's Salt."

Mothers, who want their children to grow into sturdy men and women instead of pale, sallow dyspeptics, should see that the youngsters take a morning glass of ABBEY'S SALT. Children eat irregularly—indiscreetly. ABBEY'S SALT strengthens the stomach—regulates the bowels—so that "pain-killer" and "oil" are never needed. So pleasant to take, that mothers have no trouble in teaching the children to use it.

CHAPTER I.

WHEN the rusty hands of the office clock marked half past 4, the editor in chief of the Carlow County Herald took his hand out of his hair, wiped his pen on his last notice from the White Caps, put on his coat, swept out the close little entry and left the sanctum for the bright June afternoon.

He chose the way to the west, strolling thoughtfully out of town by the white, hot, deserted Main street and thence onward by the country road into which its proud half mile of old brick store buildings, tumbledown frame shops and thinly painted cottages degenerated. The sun was in his face where the road ran between the summer fields, lying waveless, low, gracious in promise; but, coming to a wood of hickory and beech and walnut that stood beyond, he might turn his down-bent hat brim up and hold his head erect. Here the shade fell deep and cool on the green tangle of rag and iron weed and long grass in the corners of the snake fence, although the sun beat upon the road so close beside. There was no movement of the crisp young leaves overhead. High in the boughs there was a quick flirt of crimson where two robins hopped noiselessly. The late afternoon, when the air is quite still, had come, yet there rested somewhere on the quiet day a faint, pleasant, woody smell. It came to the editor of the Herald as he climbed to the top rail of the fence for a seat, and he drew a long breath to get the elusive odor more luxuriously, and then it was gone altogether.

"A habit of deliencies," he said aloud, addressing the wide silence complainingly. "One taste and they quit," he finished, gazing solemnly upon the shining little town down the road.

It was a place of which its inhabitants sometimes remarked easily that their city had a population of from 5,000 to 6,000 souls, but it should be easy to forgive them for such statements. Civic pride is a virtue. The town lay in the heart of that fertile stretch of flat lands in Indiana where eastern travelers, glancing from car windows, shudder and return their eyes to interior upholstery, preferring even the swaying caparisons of a Pullman to the monotony without. The landscape runs on interminably level lines—bleak in winter, a desolate plain of mud and snow; hot and dusty in summer, miles on miles of flat lonesomeness, with not one cool hill slope away from the sun. The persistent tourist who seeks for signs of man in this sad expanse perceives a reckless amount of rail fence, at intervals a large barn, and here and there man himself, incurious, patient, slow, looking up from the fields apathetically as the limited flies by. Now and then the train passes a village built scatteringly about a courthouse, with a mill or two humming near the tracks. This is a county seat, and the inhabitants and the local papers refer to it confidently as "our city."

Such a county seat was Plattville, capital of Carlow county. The social and business energy of the town concentrated on the square, and here in summer time the gentlemen were wont to lounge from store to store in their shirt sleeves, and in the center of the square stood the old red brick courthouse, loosely fenced in a shady grove of maple and elm—"slipp'ry elium"—called the "courthouse yard." When the sun grew too hot for the dry goods box whittlers in front of the stores around the square and the occupants of the chairs in front of the Palace hotel on the corner they would go across and drape themselves over the fence and carve their initials on the top board. From the position of the sun the editor of the Herald judged that these operations were now in progress, and he was not deeply elated by the knowledge that whatever desultory conversation might pass from man to man on the fence would probably be inspired by his own convictions expressed editorially in the Herald.

He drew a faded tobacco bag and a brier pipe from his pocket and, after filling and lighting the pipe, twirled the pouch mechanically about his finger, then, suddenly regarding it, patted it caressingly. It had been a giddy little bag long ago, gay with embroidery in the colors of the editor's university, and, although now it was frayed to the verge of tatters, it still bore an air of pristine jauntiness, an air of which its owner in nowise partook. He looked from it toward the village in the clear distance and sighed softly as he put the pouch back in his pocket and, resting his arm on his knee and his chin on his hand, sat blowing clouds of smoke out of the shade into the sunshine, absently watching the ghostly shadow on the white dust of the road.

A little garter snake crept under the fence beneath him and disappeared in the underbrush; a rabbit, progressing on its travels by a series of brilliant dashes and terror smitten halts, came within a few yards of him, sat up with quivering nose and eyes alight with fearful imaginings and vanished, a flash of fluffy brown and white. Shadows grew longer; a cricket chirped and heard answers; there was a woodland stir of breezes, and the pair of robins left the branches overhead in eager flight, vacating before the arrival of a flock of blackbirds hastening thither ere the eventide should be upon them. The blackbirds came, chattered, gossiped, quarreled and beat each other with their wings above the smoker sitting on the top fence rail.

But he had remembered. A thousand miles to the east it was commencement day, seven years to a day from his own commencement.

Five years ago, on another June afternoon, a young man from the east had alighted on the platform of the station north of Plattville and, entering the rickety omnibus that lingered there seeking whom it might rattle to deafness, demanded to be driven to the Herald building. It did not strike the driver that the newcomer was precisely a gay young man when he climbed into the omnibus, but an hour later, as he stood in the doorway of the edifice he had indicated as his destination, depression seemed to have settled into the marrow of his bones.

Plattville was instantly alert to the stranger's presence, and interesting conjectures were hazarded all day long at the back door of Martin's Dry Goods Emporium (this was the club during the day), and at supper the new arrival and his probable purposes were discussed over every table in the town. Upon inquiry he had informed Judd Bennett, the driver of the omnibus, that he had come to stay. Naturally such a declaration caused a sensation, as people did not come to Plattville to live except through the inadvertency of being born there. In addition the young man's appearance and attire were reported to be extraordinary. Many of the curious, among them most of the marriageable females of the place, took occasion to pass and repass the sign of the Carlow County Herald during the evening.

Meanwhile the stranger was seated in the dingy office upstairs with his head bowed low on his arms. Twilight stole through the dirty window panes and faded into darkness. Night filled the room. He did not move. The young man from the east had bought the Herald from an agent—had bought it without ever having been within a hundred miles of Plattville. The Herald was an alleged weekly which had sometimes appeared within five days of its declared date of publication and sometimes missed fire altogether. It was a thorn in the side of every patriot of Carlow county, and Carlow people, after supporting the paper loyally and long, had at last given it up and subscribed for the Gazette, published in the neighboring county of Amo. The former proprietor of the Herald, a surreptitious gentleman with a goatee, had taken the precaution of leaving Plattville forever on the afternoon preceding his successor's arrival. The young man from the east had vastly overpaid for his purchase. Moreover, the price he had paid for it was all the money he had in the world.

The next morning he went bitterly to work. He hired a compositor from Rouen, a young man named Parker, who set type all night long and helped him pursue advertisements all day. The citizens shook their heads pessimistically. They had about given up the idea that the Herald could ever amount to anything, and they betrayed an innocent but caustic doubt of ability in any stranger.

One day the new editor left a note on his door: "Will return in fifteen minutes."

Mr. Rodney McCune, a politician from the neighboring county of Gaines, happening to be in Plattville on an errand to his benchmen, found the note and wrote beneath the message the scathing inquiry, "Why?"

When he discovered this addendum, the editor smiled for the first time since his advent and reported the incident in his next issue, using the rubric "Why Has the Herald Returned to Life?" as a text for a rousing editorial on honesty in politics, a subject of which he already knew something. The political district to which Carlow belonged was governed by a limited number of gentlemen whose wealth was ever on the increase, and honesty in politics was a startling conception to the minds of the passive and resigned voters, who talked the editorial over on the street corners and in the stores. The next week there was another editorial, personal and local in its application, and thereby it became evident that the new proprietor of the Herald was a theorist who believed in general that a politician's honor should not be merely of that middling healthy species known as "honor among politicians," and in particular that Rodney McCune should not receive the nomination of his party for congress. Now, Mr. McCune was the undoubted dictator of the district, and his followers laughed at the stranger's fantastic onset; but the editor was not content with the word of print. He hired a horse and rode about the country and (to his own surprise) proved to be an adaptable young man who enjoyed exercise with a pitchfork to the farmer's profit while the farmer talked. He talked little himself, but after listening an hour or so he would drop a word from the saddle as he left, and then, by some surprising wizardry, the farmer, thinking over the interview, decided there was some sense in what that young fellow said and grew curious to see what the young fellow had further to say in the Herald.

Politics is the one subject that goes to the vitals of every rural American, and a Hoosier will talk politics after he is dead.

Everybody read the campaign editorials and found them interesting, although there was no one who did not perceive the utter absurdity of a young stranger dropping into Carlow and involving himself in a party fight against the boss of the district. It was entirely a party fight, for by grace of the last gerrymander the nomination carried with it the certainty of election.

A week before the convention there came a provincial earthquake. The news passed from man to man in awe struck whispers—McCune had withdrawn his name, making the shallowest of excuses to his cohorts. Nothing was known of the real reason for his disordered retreat beyond the fact that he had been in Plattville on the morning before his withdrawal and had issued from a visit to the Herald office in a state of palsy. Mr. Parker, the Rouen printer, had been present at the close of the interview, but he held his peace at the command of his employer. He had been called into the sanctum and had found McCune, white and shaking, leaning on the desk.

"Parker," said the editor, exhibiting a bundle of papers he held in his hand, "I want you to witness a verbal contract between Mr. McCune and myself. These papers are an affidavit and copies of some records of a street car company which obtained a charter while Mr. McCune was in the legislature. They were sent to me by a man I do not know, an anonymous friend of Mr. McCune—in fact, a friend he seems to have lost. On consideration of our not printing these papers Mr. McCune agrees to retire from politics for good. You understand, if he ever lifts his head again politically we publish them, and the courts will do the rest. Now, in case anything should happen to me"—

"Something will happen to you all right!" broke out McCune. "You can bank on that, you black"—

"Come," the editor interrupted not unpleasantly. "Why should there be anything personal in all this? I don't recognize you as my private enemy—not at all—and I think you are getting off rather easily, aren't you? You keep out of politics and everything will be comfortable. You ought never to have been in it, you see. It's a mistake not to go square, because in the long run somebody is sure to give you away, like the fellow who sent me these. You promise to hold to a strictly private life?"

"You're a traitor to the party," groaned the other; "but you only wait"—

The editor smiled sadly. "Wait nothing! Don't threaten, man. Go home to your wife. I'll give you three to one she'll be glad you are out of it."

"I'll give you three to one," said McCune, "that the White Caps will get you if you stay in Carlow. You want to look out for yourself, I tell you, my smart boy."

We Paid $100,000

For Liquozone—Yet We Give You a 50c. Bottle Free.

This Company, after testing Liquozone for two years in the most difficult germ diseases, paid $100,000 for the American rights. That is by far the highest price ever paid for similar rights on any scientific discovery.

We publish this fact to show you the value of Liquozone. Men of our class don't pay a price like that save for a product of remarkable worth to humanity.

Kills Inside Germs

The reason for that price is this: Liquozone alone can kill germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. Nothing else in the world is so good for the human body; yet Liquozone is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a germ that it cannot kill.

Liquozone destroys at once and forever the cause of any germ disease. And there is no other way to do it. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. Medicine is helpless in troubles of this kind.

Not Medicine

Liquozone is not made by compounding drugs. Its virtues are derived solely from gas, made in large part from the best oxygen producers. By a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time, this gas is made part of the liquid product. Liquozone has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research.

The result is a product that does what oxygen does. Oxygen is the very source of all vitality, the most essential element of life. Liquozone is a vitalizing tonic with which no other known product can compare. Its effects are exhilarating and purifying. But germs are vegetables; and Liquozone—like an excess of oxygen—is deadly to vegetable matter.

Liquozone goes wherever the blood goes, destroying every germ in the body. In this way it cures diseases which medicine never cures. It will do more for sick humanity than all the drugs in the world combined.

Germ Diseases

These are the known germ diseases. All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help Nature overcome the germs, and such results are indirect and uncertain. Liquozone kills the germs, wherever they are, and the results are inevitable. By destroying the cause of the trouble, it invariably ends the disease, and forever.

Asthma, Abscess—Anæmia, Bronchitis, Blood Poison, Bright's Disease, Bowel Troubles, Coughs—Colds, Consumption, Colic—Croup, Constipation, Catarrh—Cancer, Dysentery—Diarrhea, Dandruff—Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Hay Fever—Influenza, Kidney Diseases, La Grippe, Leucorrhea, Liver Troubles, Malaria—Neuralgia, Many Heart Troubles, Piles—Pneumonia, Pleurisy—Quinsy, Rheumatism, Skin Diseases, Scrofula—Syphilitis, Stomach Troubles, Throat Troubles, Eczema—Erysipelas, Fevers—Gall Stones, Goitre—Gout, Gonorrhea—Gleet, Tuberculosis, Tumors—Ulcers, Varicocele, Women's Diseases

All diseases that begin with fever—all inflammation—all catarrh—all contagious diseases—all the results of impure or poison on blood.

50c Bottle Free

If you need Liquozone, and have never tried it, please send us this coupon. We will then mail you an order on your local druggist for a full-size bottle, and we will pay your druggist ourselves for it. This is our free gift, made to convince you; to show you what Liquozone is, and what it can do. In justice to yourself, please accept to-day, for it places you under no obligation whatever.

Liquozone costs 50c. and $1.

There have been times when the wild beasts have been more merciful than human beings, and spared the woman cast to them in the arena. It is astonishing how little sympathy women have for women. In the home the mistress sees the maid with the signs of suffering she recognizes so well, but she does not lighten the sick girl's load by a touch of her finger. In the store the forewoman sees the pallor and exhaustion which mark womanly weakness, but allows nothing for them. It is work or quit.

$500 REWARD FOR WOMEN WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors and makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription now feel fully warranted in offering to pay $500 a legal money of the United States, for any case of Leucorrhea, Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb which they cannot cure. All they ask is a fair and reasonable trial of their means of cure.

They have the most remarkable record of cures made by this world-famed remedy ever placed to the credit of any preparation especially designed for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are the most desirable laxative for delicate women.

ITCHING BURNING SKIN.

Disfiguring Humors and Eruptions Permanently Cured.

Dr. Agnew's Ointment.

Diseases of the skin inflict intense pain, suffering and disfigurement. If not cured in time, they end in the decay of the bones, a pallid complexion, loss of strength, and a gradual wasting away of the body. Dr. Agnew's Ointment is an absolute specific in Scrofula, Eczema, Salt Rheum, Tetter, Ring Worm, Barbers' Itch, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Liver Spots, Prurigo, Psoriasis, and all sores and disfiguring eruptions of the skin. An old soldier, S. E. Buckman, residing at the National Soldiers' Home, Grant Co., Ind., writes: "I was a constant sufferer from skin complaints. Last summer a disfiguring eruption appeared on my face, and I decided to try Dr. Agnew's Ointment. I was relieved after the first application, and in a remarkably short time absolutely cured." 35 cents.

Few Escape Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

If you suffer their agonizing pains, it is because you do not know that Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets relieve at once and cure when all other remedies have failed to benefit. 60 tablets, 35 cents. No. 34

Strong Grates.

Sunshine grates never break because they are made of extra heavy bars with thick, short bull-dog teeth—the kind that break clinkers—but never break themselves.

Bars are so thick that not even white heat can twist or warp them.

Teeth are set to squeeze and break clinkers but coal is squeezed and forced upwards. There is no waste coal in a Sunshine ash tray.

The Sunshine Furnace is the strongest furnace built—it weighs less than any other furnace of equal heating capacity.

LATES SPORTS

BASEBALL.

The Peterboroughs and T.A.S. ball teams had a good practice at the T.A.S. grounds this afternoon. The latter team has signed some excellent players and should prove a stumbling block to most of the Kawartha League teams.

* * * *

The sporting editor was again besieged and nearly bottled up this afternoon by six or seven youngsters in full baseball costume who as gently as possible broke the news that the Junior Pirates had this morning trounced the Little Peats by a score of 22 to 11 in a speedy exhibition of baseball. All the features of fine baseball were present. The teams were:

Pirates—C. Cobby, c; H. Heap, p; F. Dunn, 1b; W. English, 2b; A. Davidson, 3b; S. Parker, ss; J. English, rf; R. Harper, lf; B. Blanchard, c. f.

LACROSSE.

The Peterboroughs had a good turnout at their practice last evening. A number of those of last year's team were in uniform and a light workout was put in. Next week the boys will get down to work in earnest and put in regular practice to fit them for the opening of the season next month.

* * * *

Mr. George Carruth, one of the crack goal keepers, who has played with Madoc, Renfrew, Port Hope and with Lindsay last year, will be warmly welcomed back by our lacrosse boys, and if he decides to enter the game, he will be a great help to the local team.—Lindsay Post.

* * * *

The Ontarios held their first practice of the season on Thursday night and there was a fairly good turn out. The boys looked quite natty in their old gold and black uniforms and are showing up in great form. From present indications they should have a strong line up and one that can hold its own with the best of them. There are already about twenty or more players to choose from, and they are all good. Players like Pennington, Gawley, H. McLean, Strickland, Henderson, Friar, Roach, Dann, Burt, W. McLean, Hamly, Ballagh, Hudson Bros., Alcott, Jim McLean, and a host of others, should form a pretty fair line up.—Port Hope Guide

* * * *

Strange, but nevertheless true, Markham, Stouffville, Uxbridge and Beaverton are not mentioned in the first draft of districts in the intermediate and junior series of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, although all clubs were represented at the recent convention. Their fees, too, must have been paid, else the delegates could not have voted. The famous "line of the Midland," at one time one of the warmest lacrosse centres in the country, and the producer of C.L.A. presidents galore, has apparently vanished into thin, thin air. Oshawa, Port Hope, and Lindsay form District No. 5 in the intermediate series. It begins to look as if the senior games will absorb all the interest in the association this year. Half the clubs in the country seem to have gone senior mad.—Uxbridge Times.

MRS. PATRICK OBRIEN DIED IN COBOURG.

A Former Resident of Peterborough Passed away Last Evening. Interment Here.

At Cobourg last night the death occurred of Mrs. Patrick O'Brien, who was for many years a resident of Peterborough, where she had many friends who will sincerely regret the sad intelligence of her death. The deceased lady who was 75 years of age has resided with her son Bruce in Cobourg during the past five years. Her husband, who predeceased her by nine years was born in Ashburnham 75 years ago, and for many years conducted a carriage shop on Hunter street, on the site where the Oriental Hotel now stands. The late Mrs. O'Brien leaves six sons and two daughters, William, of Vainita, Indian Territory; David, of Rochester; J. L. and Bruce, of Cobourg; Frank and Herbert, of Chicago; Mrs. Hanna and Miss Minnie, of Toronto.

The funeral will take place from the G.T.R. station on the arrival of the 8.20 morning train, on Monday next, and proceed to St. Peter's Cathedral, thence to the Roman Catholic Cemetery for interment.

KING OF IRISH HEARTS.

When Edward VII. first set foot Irish soil as King, it was to the people his right hand was extended. The customary armed guard having been pressed upon him he declined it with the now historic declaration that he needed no guards between him and the hearts of the Irish people. When he addressed the faculty of Trinity College, it was to the figures of Grattan and Burke he pointed with admiration, and when he appeared within the walls of the Catholic College of Maynooth his words likewise told of warm sympathy with the unquenchable aspiration of Irish nationhood. Go where he will through the green isle, King Edward will meet none but welcoming faces, and he will also see in those faces high hope and anticipation of national recovery where his predecessors read very different emotions. Ireland will be completely happy one of these days with home rule realized under Edward as her King.—Catholic Register.

NOT A CHANCE TO DOUBT THIS

Incurable Kidney Disease Cured Again by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Joseph Boone Given up by Doctors and Discharged from the Hospital as Incurable. Back to his Work Again.

Fortune Harbour, Nfld., May 6th.—(Special.) — A cure that is considered miraculous is reported from Cottle's Cove, New Bay. A fisherman named Joseph Boone has been ailing during eight years, seven of which he was unable to work because of the terrible pains in the back, and other symptoms of kidney complaint.

During this time he was treated by several doctors and was finally sent to the hospital. After a treatment of several months there he was sent home as incurable.

Reading of the cure of Richard Quirk, of this place, of Kidney Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills led him to try them. The result is that after using twenty one boxes he is back at his work of lobster fishing.

There is no chance to doubt the truth of this story. There are trustworthy witnesses to every part of it. It just proves once again that there is no case of kidney disease that Dodd's Kidney Pills will not cure.

Inspiring Canadian Ideal.

At the recent Ontario Educational Association meeting in Toronto Dr. McLellan, of Hamilton, closed a speech with the following magnificent and inspiring ideal.

"That man, I think, has had a liberal education who has been so trained in his youth that his body is the ready servant of the will; whose intellect is a clear, cold logic engine with all the parts of equal strength and in smooth working order, ready, like a steam engine, to be turned to any kind of work and to spin the gossamer as well as forge the anchor of the mind; one who, no stunted ascetic, is full of life and fire, but whose passions have been trained to come to heel by a vigorous will, the servant of a tender conscience; who has learned to love all beauty, whether of nature or art; to hate all vileness, and to respect others as himself."

An Important Ruling.

Montreal, May 7.—The value of goods ordered and delivered in Ontario cannot be recovered before the courts in Montreal. This was the gist of a decision of Justice Davidson yesterday in the case of Mrs. Carlo Spagnoli, who does business on St. James street, this city, under the name of C. T. Timossi, in her action against James Palangio of North Bay. She claimed $187.06 as the balance of value of goods sold by her to the defendant. The court decided it had no jurisdiction.

Toronto Brewery Strike.

Toronto, May 7.—"The strike is over already as far as we are concerned." This was the statement made by representatives of Reinhardt's and O'Keefe's breweries last night. "We have turned out more beer to-day than on any other day this spring," was an assertion from the O'Keefe firm. It has also been stated by both breweries that they are done for all time with the striking employes. The union men in their turn are equally sanguine of winning out.

Canadian Hanged at Walla Walla.

Walla Walla, Wash., May 7.—James Champeux was hanged here yesterday for the murder of Lettie Brace, a variety theatre performer at a theatre at Seattle in November, 1902. He had met the woman in Alaska and became infatuated with her. After he had spent most of his money on her she threw him aside. Champeux's wealthy relatives in Eastern Canada made a hard fight to save him from the scaffold.

BEAUTY OF SKIN PURITY OF BLOOD

Ancient and Modern Ideas on These Interesting Subjects.

UP-TO-DATE METHODS

For Purifying and Beautifying the Skin, Scalp, Hair and Hands.

Socrates called beauty a short-lived tyranny, Plato a privilege of nature, Theocritus, a delightful prejudice, Theophrastus a silent cheat, Carneedes a solitary kingdom, Homer a glorious gift of nature, Ovid a favor of the gods. Aristotle affirmed that beauty was better than all the letters of recommendation in the world, and yet none of these distinguished authorities has left us even a hint of how beauty is to be perpetuated, or the ravages of age and disease defied. Time soon blends the lily and the rose into the pallor of age, disease dots the fair face with cutaneous disfigurations and crimsons the Roman nose with unsightly flushes, moth, if not rust, corrupts the glory of eyes, teeth, and lips yet beautiful by defacing the complexion, and fills the sensitive soul with agony.

If such be the unhappy condition of one afflicted with slight skin blemishes, what must be the feelings of those in whom torturing humours have for years run riot, covering the skin with scales and sores and charging the blood with poisonous elements to become a part of the system until death?

It is in the treatment of torturing, disfiguring humours and affections of the skin, scalp and blood, with loss of hair, that the Cuticura remedies have achieved their greatest success. Original in composition, scientifically compounded, absolutely pure, unchangeable in any climate, always ready, and agreeable to the most delicate and sensitive, they present to young and old the most successful curatives of modern times.

HINTS ABOUT HATS.

Preserve the Balance Between Your Figure and Your Headpiece.

Do not buy a hat unless you have tried it on before a cheval glass. It must suit your figure as well as your face. A very short woman is ridiculous in an immense hat unless she is pretty and graceful enough to be piquant. On the other hand, a woman who is far too tall is nothing less than overwhelming in a huge picture hat. There is a certain balance between the headpiece and the figure, and this balance must be preserved. Your own good taste will guide you in this matter.

Color has laws so subtle that only long study can make you sure of them. The general laws are affected by a slight tint of complexion. You must learn the colors that are yours, and then never, on peril of your beauty, depart from them. You have day colors and evening colors, dark and light colors, and you must know what they are.

The old rule of "match your hair by day and your eyes by night" is now regarded as almost meaningless. Experiment proved its mistakes in many cases.

In general, the dead white hat should be worn by none except the girl with dark hair and delicate complexion and is therefore the most difficult of all hats. The black hat is safe for almost any one and can be worn by many whose skin is too dark to permit of black below the face. Black above and white below the face are inclined to make a sallow woman look fairer.—Washington Star.

SIXTEEN MILLLIONS.

Estimated Dominion Surplus For the Current Year.

Ottawa, May 7.—From present indications the surplus of ordinary revenue over ordinary expenditure at the end of the fiscal year will amount to $16,000,000 or more, and there will be a reduction in the national debt of some $7,000,000. The official statement of receipts and expenditures for the ten months ending April 30th was issued yesterday, but it is scarcely correct for purposes of comparison, seeing that several items of expenditure are not yet included in it. However, taking the statement as it stands, the revenue on consolidated account amounts to $36,728,716, which is $4,366,875 more than for the same period of last year, and exceeds the expenditure on the consolidated fund account by $16,915,903. Over all expenditures combined there is a surplus of $13,401,281.

Steel By Electricity.

Ottawa, May 7.—The triumphs of the electric method in the manufacture of pig iron and steel were demonstrated yesterday morning, when Dr. Haanel, superintendent of mines, received a consignment of pig iron and castings from Livet, France, and steel tools from Gysinge, Sweden. The castings had sharp edges, and were polished on one side. The inscription on the cast iron plate was in French, of which the following is the translation: "Congratulations to Dr. Haanel and his mission. Cast iron obtained by direct electric reduction of the iron ore process. Keller, Foundry at Livet, March, 1904."

$15,000 Fire in Toronto.

Toronto, May 7.—An alarm of fire just before midnight created excitement. The fire was in 104 to 106 Front street, and it looked as if the whole block were going, but the pressure of water was good and the firemen got the fire under control in a short time. A Peterson, bottlers' supplies, the Aluminum Crown Stopper Co. and the Ontario Brush Factory were the losers. The amount will be in the neighborhood of $15,000.

JAPANESE TAKE FENGWANGCHENG.

Gen. Sassulitch's Force Could not Stay Kuroki.

RUSS LEAVING NEWCHWANG

The Japanese Advance Steadily Closing in on all the Russian Positions—Talienwan Said to Have Been Captured—Viceroy Alexieff Reported to Have Been Wounded—Russia's Home Troubles.

Tokio, May 9.—The Japanese captured Fengwangcheng the day before yesterday, Friday. It was the second line of the Russian defence and a stiff fight was anticipated.

Gen. Kuroki pressed forward and attacked before the Russian had recovered from the demoralization and confusion into which they had been thrown by their previous defeat on the Yalu River.

The Russians before retiring exploded the magazine, but left large quantities of hospital stores, which are being used by the Japanese hospitals. Refugees from the woods and small villages are surrendering constantly.

The Russians buried many of their dead. Natives in the vicinity of Fengwangcheng say that last Monday the Russians carried about 800 wounded through that place, and that their casualties were probably above 8,000.

A detachment of the Japanese army operating on the Liaotung Peninsula, dispersed small bands of Russian troops on Friday and captured Pulientien, a railroad station. The Japanese destroyed the railway and telegraph, thus severing the Russian communication with Port Arthur.

Every supplemental report received from Gen. Kuroki, commanding the first Japanese army, increases the Russian casualties in last Sunday's battle at Chiutiencheng, on the Yalu River.

The Japanese have buried about 1,400 Russians and have 503 of the enemy's wounded in the field hospitals. It is estimated that the total Russian casualties exceed 2,500.

Over 300 Russian prisoners are en route to Matsuyama, where they are expected to arrive on Wednesday.

Russians Admit It.

St. Petersburg, May 9.—Gen. Kuropatkin has sent the following telegram, under date of May 7:

Lieut.-Gen. Zassalitch to-day reports that the enemy's cavalry and units of their advance guard occupied Fengwangcheng to-day.

"Two companies and two squadrons of their force proceeded towards Daliandiaputse. Our cavalry and units withdrew towards Schlendijane.

"Scouts from Fengwangcheng report that two Japanese divisions advanced May 6 towards Fengwangcheng by the main road from Pianmin. A third division advancing by the valley of the Ai River occupied a position near Khuandiputse and posted batteries to fire upon Fengwangcheng, counting upon finding our troops there.

"The Japanese advanced slowly and very cautiously upon Fengwangcheng."

Russians Evacuating Newchwang.

Newchwang, May 9.—There is every indication that the Russians have decided to evacuate Newchwang. Troops were leaving here all day yesterday. Forts have been dismantled, and all artillery have been placed on board trains. All the local transportation has been commandeered by the Russian authorities.

There is current here a native rumor that Japanese troops are in Foochau Bay (on the west coast of the Liaotung Peninsula and about 60 miles north of Port Arthur, but this report lacks confirmation.

The fear is held here that if the Russians leave and the Japanese do not at once take possession of Newchwang the brigands, who are now across the river, near Yinkow, will pillage the place. The foreign residents are prepared to resist the brigands should they come over. The British consul has requested that a gunboat be sent to Newchwang.

The Russians probably will destroy the gunboat Sivoutch before leaving. The vessel is at Newchwang. The Japanese troops fired on what probably was the last train out of Port Arthur as it passed near Port Adams. They used artillery and small arms and killed or wounded several Chinese.

Alexieff Reported Wounded.

It is reported here that Viceroy Alexieff was slightly wounded prior to his departure from Port Arthur. He barely escaped from there before the Japanese closed the lines of communication. The Russian general staff have moved from Liaoyang to Mukden. Russians here will not talk of the situation for fear that they may impart some information. They do not consider that their forces here are sufficient to hold this section of the country. It is probable that the Russian troops will withdraw to Harbin.

The Russian civilians at Newchwang are leaving hurriedly, and many natives are fleeing the city in fear that they will be subjected to maltreatment at the hands of the brigands.

Japs Capture Talienwan.

Shanghai, May 9.—It is reported that the Japanese captured Talienwan Saturday. Talienwan, which the Russians call Dalny, is on the eastern shore of the Liaotung Peninsula, just above Port Arthur. The ambition of the Russians has been to make it a great commercial centre. To that end they spent over $20,000,000 in building docks and warehouses there. The bay is deep and well protected from storms.

Russia Full of Internal Troubles.

Vienna, May 9.—Alarming rumors regarding the internal condition of Russia are current here. A conspiracy is said to have been discovered in Russian Poland, with the result that eighteen of the ringleaders were shot. Sanguinary collisions between the people and the police have taken place in Finland, and an infernal machine is said to have been found in the Winter Palace in one of the Czar's living rooms.

Troubles Never Come Singly.

St. Petersburg, May 9.—The Viedomosti says that the garrison of Cronstadt was recently summoned to extinguish a fire of wood and shavings in the fortress, which was blazing near where pryoxiline and shells were stored. It was afterwards discovered that the shavings had been soaked with petroleum.

Took Many Russ Prisoners.

Shanhaikwan, May 9.—It is reported here that there has been severe fighting at Fengchangwang, in which the Japanese were victorious. They took many prisoners. The Russians are retreating toward Haicheng (32 miles east by north of Chengchwang) and are evacuating the western side of the Liaotung Peninsula.

On Thursday and Saturday of last week the Japanese landed 10,000 men at Kinchau Bay, 10,000 at Foochau Bay and 7,000 at Pitsewo. They occupied the towns of Wafungtien and Pulantien and destroyed several miles of the railroad. Heavy fighting has been heard in the direction of Kaichau, where Japanese troops have been seen recently.

Port Arthur's Isolation Completed.

The isolation of Port Arthur is complete. Sixteen Japanese warships protected the landing of troops at Kinchau Bay, directing a sweeping fire over the narrow isthumus before the soldiers disembarked. Seventy-five Russians who were wounded in this fighting were brought in on the last train to arrive there.

Food is scarce at Mukden. The troops there are eating bean cakes.

Many Japs Missing.

Tokio, May 9.—The casualties in the last attempt of the Japanese fleet to block Port Arthur May 3 are one officer, Commander Takayangi, commanding the steamer Yedo, and six men killed; four men seriously and eleven men slightly wounded. Fourteen officers and 74 men are missing, and eight officers and 86 men were rescued uninjured. All the officers of the blocking ships, including Commander Takayangi, who were killed, have been decorated and granted annuities by the Emperor.

Greatest in Jap History.

Tokio, May 9.—A great popular demonstration was held here last night in honor of the victories achieved by the Japanese army and navy.

Tens of thousands of people carrying lanterns, flags and banners, marched past the Imperial palace and the offices of the Foreign, War and Navy Departments.

At the Navy Department they were reviewed by some of the Imperial Princes and Princesses and high officials of the Government and the Imperial household.

Many bands of music accompanied the marchers, and there were beautiful displays of fireworks.

Dozens of British and American flags were carried by men, women and children, who participated in the celebration. It was the greatest demonstration ever witnessed in Japan.

Captured 400 Russians.

Antung, Manchuria, May 9.—A Japanese force Saturday charged a thousand men of the Russian rear guard, consisting of a battalion of infantry and two batteries of artillery, near Hamatan (west of Kiullencheng). After sustaining heavy losses, the Japanese spiked the Russian guns and captured 400 prisoners.

DISASTROUS FIRE EARLY THIS MORNING.

Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald's Carriage Works Badly Gutted.

Damage was very Extensive but Loss is Nearly all Covered by Insurance—

Fire Thought to be of an Incendiary Nature.

A destructive fire visited our town about 4.30 o'clock this morning, when Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald's Carriage Works on Brock street were badly gutted. When the alarm was sounded, a blaze had been discovered in the wood room, which is on the ground floor on the western side. The woodwork burned with great rapidity and when the firemen arrived the room was a mass of flames which spread quickly to the adjoining room and up the stairs. In the second storey were stored, scores of carriage wheels and shafts ready to be taken to the paint shop on the upper flat. These were all scorched and warped by the flames and water. Several buggy tops and rubber tired wheels were victims of the flames which, however, were kept centred in only one room on the second story though the smoke and water reached the upper storey and did considerable damage in the paint shop. On the ground floor, the tools were almost entirely destroyed and the machinery suffered materially. The firemen had a hot fight, but did splendid service in confining the fire as well as they did for the large quantity of wood in the building caused the flames to spread with astonishing rapidity.

The fire fortunately did not reach the show room, opening on Water street, where were stored several finished carriages, but by strenuous efforts the flames were confined to the western section of the building. The blacksmith shop at the rear also suffered to a small extent.

On the second storey several pneumatic-tired wheels, just recently received from the manufacturers, were badly scorched and practically ruined. There was scarcely anything in the works which was not damaged to some extent and the loss will be heavy. An order for $2,500.00 worth of goods to be completed by May 24th was being filled at the works. There is a staff of 10 men employed.

The cause of the fire is thought to be of an incendiary nature. Mr. Fitzgerald had occasion to visit his shop about 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and everything was in perfect order then.

Mr. Fitzgerald could not say today, just what his loss would be but stated that it would be nearly all covered by insurance.

MANY COTTAGES WERE DAMAGED AT STONY LAKE.

High Water and Force of the Ice had Telling Effect this Winter.

There has been considerable damage to the wharves and verandahs of many of the cottages at Stony Lake caused by the high water and force of the moving ice. The water has not been as high in Stony Lake for years as at the present time and the ice only moved from the lake at the early part of last week. Many of the floating wharves have broken their holdings, some of the permanent ones have had planks torn off and verandahs destroyed. Many of the cottages which have hitherto escaped have suffered this year by the breaking of the ice. It is expected that a number of cottagers will make an early visit to the lakes to see how their summer cottages have wintered, and many will spend Victoria Day at the popular summer resort.

FOR PROFITABLE EGG PRODUCTION.

Some Good Advice to Those who Keep Hens for Profit.

The Requirement of the Market—Export Trade need not Alarm those Interested in home Supply.

For all farmers a most profitable branch of the poultry business is the production of eggs during winter, says Mr F. C. Hare, Chief of the Poultry Division, Ottawa. Every winter there is always a great demand for new-laid eggs; the supply is always limited, and high prices are paid. In the large cities strictly fresh eggs sold readily during the past winter at from forty to sixty cents per dozen. Some farmers are so situated that they can maintain a city trade in fresh eggs throughout the year. A premium of several cents a dozen can usually be obtained for new-laid eggs shipped weekly to the city merchant.

MARKET REQUIREMENTS

There is a growing preference of the home markets for brown shelled eggs. The shells of the eggs should be wiped clean if necessary, and the eggs graded in size. For shipment to the merchant they should be packed in cases holding twelve dozens or thirty dozens each. Eggs to be palatable should be eaten in a strictly fresh condition; therefore they should reach the consumer without unnecessary delay. This requires 1st, that the eggs be collected regularly every day and stored in a cool room—temperature 40 to 50 deg. F.—until a sufficient number are on hand to deliver to a dealer; 2nd, that the dealer forward the eggs to the merchant at least once a week, and 3rd, that the merchant protect the eggs from deterioration while in his possession.

PULLETS FOR WINTER LAYING

As a general rule pullets hatched during May or early June will prove most profitable for winter laying. Farmers who expect to make a specialty of high-priced new-laid eggs next winter should at the present time be hatching out a good number of chicks from which to select suitable pullets. The cockerels should be sold in the early fall. Unless they are housed in the fields and require little attention or extra feed, the most profitable age for marketing is four months. After that age the cost offeed per pound of gain in live weight rapidly increases.

The pullets should be comfortably and permanently housed in the fall; transferring mature pullets to a strange pen defers egg production. Ear y winter laying demands 'iberal feeding, which, includes, in addition to the grain, waste meat or animal food, and vegetable food. From two flocks of Barred Plymouth Rocks that were liberally fed from birth for early maturity at the Bondville, Que., Illustration Station eggs were gathered daily after the pullets were four months and one week old. Experiments at the Utah Experiment Station showed that the profit from young hens or pullets was about five times greater than that from hens three to four years old. Not only did the old hens lay considerably fewer eggs, but the eggs were worth less per dozen. This is accounted for by the fact that the pullets laid a larger proportion of their eggs in winter, when the price was good.

BREEDING FOR WINTER LAYERS.

When the pullets are forced for winter egg production, there should be kept in addition another breeding pen of selected fowls from which to rear chicks.

A hen or pullet that commences to lay in the spring will at that time produce stronger-germed eggs for hatching than will another that has had her vitality impaired by winter laying.

The farmer should select from the flock of pullets ten or twelve of the best winter layers, placing a regular leg band or a piece of wire around the leg of each. The next winter these pullets—then yearling hens—should be separated from the laying hens and kept in good health and medium flesh but not fed for winter laying. In February or March they should be mated with a suitable cockerel, and their rations increased so as to bring them into laying at the time when their eggs are required for hatching. Such a process of selection would soon produce a particularly fine strain of winter layers.

EXPORTING EGGS

The export trade carries off the surplus eggs produced during the summer months when prices are low, but has little or no effect on the proce of new-laid eggs in winter. Efforts to increase our export trade in eggs need not, therefore, alarm consumers in cities or towns. Eggs that are placed in cold storage from April till July are shipped to Great Britain for the September and October trade; those that go into cold storage in the fall are exported during the winter months. All these are sold in Britain as "Canadian fresh eggs."

"CHRISTIAN UNITY" WAS THE SUBJECT

Of Rev. W. J. Jolliffe's Sermon at Charlotte St. Last Evening.

How the Union Could be Effected—The Idea was Being Looked Upon with Favour by Many.

At Charlotte street church last evening, the pastor, Rev. W. J. Jolliffe preached on the subject of "Christian Unity." His text was found in tS. John 17; 21, "And they all may be one."

The spirit of unity was abroad among Christians, began the preacher, and the prayer of Christ may be answered by the unity of all who call themselves Christians. Sectarian controversies could not destroy the desire among a great many for union.

There was a difference between organic unity and ecclesiastical uniformity for there may be the latter without the former or vice versa and the two should not be confounded. In nature, there was variety and yet union; in the Bible there was variety and union, the union being present from the fact that God inspired all the writers, though their writings were different. There might be uniformity of a church's government and yet no union among its members and also there might be a unity in spirit but a difference in forms. Christ come to the world to establish a union of love and if this love were everywhere manifested there would be no jealousy, bigotry or narrowness existing among different religious bodies as this love would cement all Christian hearts notwithstanding the various denominations.

It was frequently charged against Protestants that they had no common life, no unity of purpose, and that they were fragments of a dismembered body. This was not the case, thought Mr. Jolliffe, for all evangelical bodies were truly one if they laboured in Christ and if, in loving the Saviour, there was unity in spirit. By unity, was meant the joining of all parties in one centre and Christ was the centre of the churches, though there was divisions in organization.

The churches were united on all the essentials of Christianity and there was very little difference in the preaching of the Gospel; all believed in the inspired Bible, in the doctrine of man's fall and restoration through the atonement of Jesus Christ, in the doctrine of repentance and faith in Christ Jesus and in the possession of the Holy Spirit to enable us to line up to the teaching of Him without whom there can be no real union. There was more of a sympathy between the various religious bodies than in the past and more of a oneness of operation because all were interested in the promoting of Christ's Kingdom.

"How can we promote this spirit of true unity among the people of God?" asked the speaker. In the first place by mutual recognition of each others equality before Christ and of each others right to worship and work for God according to each one's interpretation of the word of God, and the Holy Spirit; there must be a cessation of strife and contention over non-essential differences. We should always respect others' convictions and our loyalty to our own church should not narrow us nor gender unkind feelings, but rather render us more liberal to the beliefs of others. All legitimate efforts that tend to draw Christians together should receive encouragement. Union services would assist in this respect, the exchange of pulpits should be more frequent, and a unity in works of benevolence, moral reform, temperance and social advancement should exist. This unity was clearly taught in God's word.

Referring to the recent convention of Presbyterians, Congregationalists and Methodists in Toronto, when the subject of union was discussed, the speaker was pleased with the sentiment expressed there, and he believed that the union of these three bodies would be effected in time. The difficulty would not be with the layity, but with the clergy, who were better informed as to the differences in doctrine, slight as they were, between the churches, but despite this fact the speaker believed that the beginning of the union had come. The question of the Methodist itineracy would not be a difficult one to settle; an estimate of the average duration of time of staying in one place of the ministers in the United States, outside those of the Methodist church, was only five years, according to recent figures. What is in the interests of the world at large, and not of any particular church at large, should be considered. In the West a great need for union was felt and the question was being thoroughly discussed. The speaker was much pleased that the press had been taking an interest in the question, which was now a most important one. The churches in the past were practically at war with each other, instead of uniting their forces against a common foe, but with the agreement to differ on non-essentials, and with the manifestation of a more truly Christian spirit of love and sympathy, the speaker believed that although it would take some time to accomplish it, that Christ's prayer would at last be answered that "all may be one that the world may believe that Thou hast sent Me."

The anthem at the service was "God so loved the world," and during the offertory Miss Belleghem sang "Under His wings."

BRIDGENORTH BEAT THE WANDERERS

In a Closely Contested Game in the Midland League.

Score was 1—0, Quakers and Keene were Tied, Other Sports of Saturday.

The first home game in the Midland Football League was played at the Peterborough Turf Club's grounds, on Saturday afternoon between Bridgenorth and the Old Country Wanderers of town. The game resulted in a victory for the visitors by the closest possible margin, the score when the smoke had cleared being 1—0. The game was witnessed by a small crowd of enthusiasts, whose ardour waxed quite warm as the game proceeded. A great deal had been said concerning the work of the English team, and their playing was consequently a source of much interest to the spectators, the majority of whom had never seen them perform previously. They put up a good game, but the match was fairly won by the Bridgenorth boys.

The state of the grounds was not conducive to the fastest variety of football imaginable, the field being full of waggon tracks, and other nice things to stub your toe against, and the players were bothered considerably as a result. The game was a fairly good exhibition for so early in the season, however, and at times some splendid work was done. The visitors had much the better of the play in the initial half, and also were the aggressors for the greater part of the latter period. The checking was close and hard, both teams doing considerable effective body work; a couple of players were temporarily disabled, and two were ruled off for a brief period, but otherwise there were no casualties. The play was quite strenuous in spots, and the players cast flashing eyes at one another, but strict work by the referee kept the game as clean as the average contest.

THE STRATTON CUP

The Bridgenorth team, with a couple of exceptions, was the same as last year's, which is equivalent to saying that their line up was a strong one, for they always did play pretty good football in Bridgenorth. They had the best of Saturday's game and deserved their victory. Their forward line was quite speedy and played better together than their opponents; the defence was strong in all particulars, kicking well and playing closely. The team is exceptionally well balanced, and should give any team in the league a warm argument. Freeborn had practically nothing to do, so of course did it well. Forsythe and Cullen were a pair of strong kickers and heavy checkers, and took care of all that came their way. Of the halves, Coones was the star, though Scott and Brumwell showed up well and played good football. The forwrds played well together for having such little practice and worked in some neat passing at times. Jopling and Mann were always conspicuous on left wing, while the Kelly brothers at right wing and J. Cullen in centre, did effective work.

The Wanderers presented a team of first class football material, but they did not seem to be able to strike their gait, except at odd times, which were few and far between. The defence was the strongest feature of the team, and it was through their good work that the score was not larger. The forwards would at times break away with a pretty rush, but it was soon broken up by the Bridgenorth defence. Butler in goal made some good stops and showed himself to be well qualified for the position. Whitlaw at full back, was the star of the team, and he did a great deal to keep his opponents from scoring many times; his checking was very accurate, while his long punts were always effective in relieving the goal. Smailes also showed up well and played a hard game throughout. On the half back line there was not much to chose, each playing his position well and being hard to pass. On the forward line Lyons played a hard steady game, and with any kind of luck would have scored. The wings worked with a will against the visitors' strong defence but could not locate the goal posts. The forwards were often too much bunched, and would have done more effective work had they remained in their positions more closely.

The teams were:

Wanderers — Goal, Butler; backs, Whitlaw, (Capt.) and Smailes; halfbacks, Haddow, Hawkins and Strange; forwards, Stamper, Greatrox, Lyons, Allen, Biddlestone.

Bridgenorth — Goal, Freeborn; backs, Forsythe and T. Cullen; halfbacks, Brumwell, Coones, Scott; forwards, R. Kelly, N. Kelly, J. Cullen, Mann and Jopling.

Promptly at 5.15 o'clock, Referee Noble blew his whistle and the game started. The play was fairly even at the outset but after three minutes the Bridgenorth forward line combined for a neat rush and Jopling scored. The visitors continued to press matters, and Whitlaw was several times called upon to boot the pigskin with vigour. The O.C.W's had a chance for a score but the shot was wild, and Bridgenorth missed a similar chance from a like cause a little later. The play was chiefly in the Wanderers' end and several corner kicks were awarded the visitors. Jopling twice scored, but was offside on both occasions. Hawkins had his breathing apparatus puncotured and a delay ensued. The half time score was 1—0.

In the second half Jopling made a long run up the wing, and gave N. Kelly a beautiful chance for a score, but the latter's shot was very wild. The O.C.W's combined for a run, and a score nearly resulted. Butler was kept busy stopping shots. Haddow and Mann had a disagreement and were both made spectators for three minutes. Coones worked in a long run but struck something like a snag when he bunted into Whitlaw. Full time saw the score still unchanged, and the visitors incidentally turned a few somersaults and were naturally rather gleeful over the result.

A FEW SHIN DIGS.

The Wanderers are not downcast over the result, and hope to reverse things when the teams meet again.

Whitlaw is one of the best backs in the business.

The Bridgenorth team were all fast runners.

There was practically no wind blowing and the day was an ideal one for football.

Art Noble is a splendid referee; he knows the game thoroughly and is quick to detect any infractions of the rules.

Good for the Quakers. They have a fast eleven and will bear watching.

The Bridgenorth team claimed that Saturday was the first time their full team had played together.

BASEBALL.

At the recent meeting of the Kawartha Baseball League the following regulations were drawn up:

"That any registered player in the Kawartha League will be disqualified if he take part in two games in the Midland League.

"That the players in the different clubs be registered one week before playing season opens.

"That the visiting team receive $8.00 per game, or 25 per cent. of total receipts if they exceed $8.00.

"That a forfeit of $5.00 be deposited with the secretary and treasurer within one week of the opening of the season.

"That 10 per cent of the receipts of each game be handed to the treasurer of the League.

"That two names from each club be sent to the President, he to assign them to their games."

* * * * *

Up in Lindsay they have, or think they have, the Midland League championship won before the season opens. But then, even the wise ones are sometimes mistaken. The Post remarks:

"The boys have nicknamed the Peterborough team "the Quakers," as they make Quaker Oats in the plate glass city. We will cool their porridge on Victoria Day."

* * * * *

Montreal continues to lose in the Eastern. They have failed to score a run in the last three games played.

* * * * *

The race for the Midland League pennant this season promises to be the closest in the history of the league. All six teams will be strong and it would take a good guesser to pick the winner. But there are those who would be willing to bet dollars to doughnuts that the Peterboroughs will not be far from the top of the ladder when next September comes around.

* * * * *

The two local teams entered in the Kawartha League, the Auburns and T. A. S. will be strongly represented and will make things interesting for their opponents. These two nines clash on May 21st in the opening game of the season.

* * * * *

Judging from the calibre of the men signed to play for the Guild teams this season, the quality of ball will be much speedier than was the case last year.

* * * * *

The George street Guild team has found it necessary to change the location of their grounds on Water street. The heavy batting of Moore, Bloomer, Warne and a few others, resulted in several balls being lost in the river at last evening's practice and a change was deemed necessary.

* * * * *

The Park Nine or Pirate Baseball teams of Toronto will play a game with the Peterboroughs next Saturday.

PRESBYTERIAN ANNIVERSARIES.

St. Andrew's and St. Paul's Churches Held Special Services Yesterday.

Rev. John Niel, D. D., and Rev. Dr. Pringle Gordon the Preachers for the Day—Eloquent and Practical Sermons From the Visiting Devines—The Music.

Anniversary services were held in the two Presbyterian churches yesterday, and at both services the churches were crowded. The pulpits were occupied by prominent men in the Presbyterian church. Rev. John Neil, D.D., of Westminster church, Toronto, was the preacher in St. Paul's in the morning, and occupied the pulpit at St. Andrew's at the evening service. Rev. Principal Gordon, of Queen's University, alternated with Dr. Neil in the services, preaching in St. Andrew's in the morning and in St. Paul's in the evening, at both of which churches he was greeted with overflowing congregations.

Special offerings were taken in both churches at each service, and the result was very satisfactory.

REV. DR. NIEL ON THE CONFESSION.

The Westminister Confession Explained—Church Union in the near Future.

Rev. John Neil, D.D., of Westminster church, Toronto, who was the preacher at the morning service in St. Paul's took for his text the 15th verse of chapter 5; 1st Thessalonians, "Prove all things; hold fast that which is good," to a large congregation, many coming from other churches to hear the visiting Divine. The sermon was an exposition on the Westminster confession, and was a very able presentation of the doctrines of the Presbyterian church. The reverend gentleman referred to the church union movement, and stated that although in their belief in the principles ennunciated in the the Westminster confession the Presbyterians believed a doctrine different from that subsribed to by the members of other churches he did not believe that this was an unsurmountable barrier to church union, which, he believed was bound to come.

In his introduction Rev. Dr. Neil stated that it was an unusual thing for him to preach upon the peculiar doctrine of the Presbyterian church, but the young people of his church had asked him to give a series of talks on the Westminster confession, and in response to their request he had given lectures on this subject, and felt that a sermon on this question might be helpful to the congregation yesterday.

He explained that the Presbyterian church was not founded upon the Westminster confession. There were Presbyterians before the confession was prepared, and there would still be Presbyterians if the confession were abolished. The confession was not an insurmountable barrier to the proposed union of churches.

The great central fact in the confession, the catechism and the shorter catechism, is the soverignity of God. The first thing the men who prepared the confession did was to find out what the Word of God meant. They believed (1) That it was inspired by God, and that everything contained in it, He was responsible for; (2) That it was infallable, and (3) That it was a sufficient guide in all questions of faith and conduct.

Speaking further with respect to the confession, the speaker said that while those who prepared it endeavoured to incorporate into its construction only truths founded on the Bible and its teachings, they were involuntarily influenced by their surroundings, and the spirit of the times in those days was different from what it is to-day, consequently there are many things in that document which are not entertained to-day, in the light of more extended knowledge. But the definition of God as contained in the confession, is, according to his opinion, the most comprehensive definition of any yet given, and when we read this definition we are quite prepared to believe in God as the soverign. He rules over the whole universe and controls alike the fall of a sparrow and of an Empire. He over rules all things, and even the evil acts of men are over-ruled to bring good results.

God's soverignity is manifest by His attitude towards man's salvation, which is secured through Him. It is through the Holy spirit, and the Holy Spirit alone that we are led to Jesus Christ. God cleanses the heart and fits it for Heaven.

This is a part of the confession, however, with which some fault has been found and upon which there has been considerable criticism. It states that men who sin are foreordained to punishment, and that there are others fore-ordained to salvation. Personally he wished that those who formulated this confession had been satisfied with the 3rd article of the Anglican church which, after all was just as Calvanistic as the Westminster confession. In their endeavour to explain the doctrine of election its supporters say that men are elected to privilege and opportunity, as Paul was elected to preach the Gospel. There is, it must be confessed, much which can be said in favour of this belief. With the exception of the High Church of England and the Lutheran Church, all the churches at the time when the confession was prepared, believed in this doctrine.

It has been said that belief in the doctrine of election might result in men not striving to do as much good as they might otherwise do, but history has proven that men who believed in election have been mighty in preaching the Gospel. Spurgeon, whom, the speaker characterized as the greatest preacher of his time, was a believer in this doctrine, as was also Whitfield and Moody. There are, however, many difficulties which cannot be explained.

Some have interpreted the confession to mean that of the children who die in infancy only the elect are saved, but by "the elect" all infants are meant, and Presbyterians believe that all infants, who die whether they are baptised or not, are saved. They believe also that God, and God alone is the head of the church, and that man is responsible only to God. The teachings of Presbyterians are practically the same as those of the other churches. He was surprised to find upon reading the Methodist discipline and catechism, that many questions in the latter were the same as those in the Presbyterian catechism. He was not sure that the church union, which he believed is not very far away would be prevented by the doctrine.

The question has been asked, "Are Presbyterians true to the confession when they invite the preachers of other denominations into their pulpits, and when they ask all Christians to partake of Communion?" He believed that they would not be true Presbyterians did they not do those things. He was glad that the Presbyterian church was able to go to the Salvationists and say, "You are our brethren," because he believed they were doing a splendid work.

Some are asking if the confession should not be revised. He believed, that the contemplated church union was not far distant, and then a new doctrine to embrace all the churches would have to be compiled. He thought the confession should be kept inviolate. When the last battle has been fought, and the last victory won, those who will stand at God's right hand will have about the same relation to those on the left hand as to-day the persons who are at liberty do to those who are in prison. The saved will greatly outnumber the lost. Those who are saved will say that it was God and God alone who was responsible for their salvation, and the lost will have to confess that they themselves were to blame.

In conclusion the speaker emphasized the fact that the confession would not save neither would the 39 articles, nor the Methodist discipline, but it was alone by belief in God and and trust in His merits that salvation might be obtained.

REV. DR. GORDON'S SERMON AT ST. ANDREWS CHURCH.

An Eloquent Discourse to a Large Congregation.

The anniversary services in St. Andrew's church yesterday were largely attended and the congregation had the pleasure of listening to two eloquent and spirited discussions by eminent preachers.

In the morning Rev. Principal Gordon, D. D., of Queen's University, Kingston, occupied the pulpit, while at the evening service the speaker was Rev. John Neil, D. D., Toronto.

In the morning Rev. Dr. Gordon took as his text, the words, "For we are labourers together with God," I Cor. 3, 9. There was a sense in which we must all be labourers with God, began the preacher, for we cannot work without Him, and we are constantly depending upon Him in every walk of life, while taking an interest in His work about us. For instance the farmer could not create a single sunbeam, nor create life from a seed, nor form a blade of grass, or drop of dew, but he was dependent upon God's constant activity for those forces in the world around him which were so essential in his daily labours, and he takes advantage of these forces in converting the desert into a garden. At this time of the year, especially, there was the lesson plainly demonstrated that human activity is nothing without divine activity. Man was constantly securing more control of the forces of nature, because of his coming in closer contact with the activity of God.

We should surrender ourselves to be instruments in God's hands for the accomplishment of His purposes. He has a purpose in life for each one of us, and that purpose was for us to become all that was possible for good, and to achieve all that it was right to achieve. Like the transmitter in a telephone, which was of no use by itself, but which in its place served a very important purpose in vibrating the sound of the voice for many miles, so our lives which, apart from God's purposes were mean and insignificant, when in place to receive God's message would transmit it to others, and we would be the source of blessing which He desires us to be.

God desires us to be fellow workers or partners with Himself as well as instruments in His hands. As intelligent beings he wants us to be in sympathy with Himself. In the character of Christ we see what He would have accomplished in our lives. It was in our power to refuse to be His fellow worker, and to even antagonize the work of Christ, but in such a case we would at last be crushed by the power of the Prince of Peace. His invitation in Christ is to be partners with him, and be crowned with final glory. By believing in Christ we experience a certain joy and peace but a further joy would be ours by leading some other soul to a knowledge of the Saviour.

We may be God's fellow labourers in any calling in life. The Saviour was a carpenter, teacher and doctor before He became the world's atoning sacrifice on Calvary, but he was always a fellow worker with God. Our work should be thorough so as to admit of the closest inspection, and found to be perfect, as do the works of God when examined. In concluding the speaker remarked that the Gospel came as a great hope to the heart of the world, and we were called to partake of that hope and give it to others.

The music was very enjoyably rendered. The anthem was "Christian, the Morn Breaks o'er Thee," the solos being taken by Miss Miller and Mr. Glass. Miss V. Smith sang "I Heard the Voice of Jesus say," and Mr. S. Glass rendered "Sweet Peace."

In the evening Rev. Dr. Neil preached from the text, "I bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus." The choir rendered excellent music, the anthem, "Jerusalem," being rendered with fine effect, the solo being taken by Mr. Young. Mr. Glass sang "Fear not ye, O Israel," and Miss Miller rendered "There is a Green Hill Far Away." The mixed quartette sang "Even Me," with baritone solo.

To-Night at St. Andrew's.

The Anniversary gathering in St. Andrew's church to-night will be of special interest. Dr. Pringle, who has become so well known in connection with his marvellous influence in the Yukon, will address the meeting. Principal Gordon will also take part in the exercises. The choir and soloists under the able leadership and directorate of Mr. Alf. E. Young, will give a programme of rich music. A free will offering will be received.

HOUSE ROBBED WHILE FAMILY AT CHURCH

Residence of Mr. Thos. A. Allum of North Monaghan, Entered.

A daring robbery was perpetrated yesterday morning between 10.30 and 12.30 o'clock at the residence of Mr. Thomas A. Allum, who lives in North Monaghan, about three miles from town on the Gravel Road. Mr. and Mrs. Allum left shortly after 10.30 o'clock to attend service at the Charlotte street Methodist church and while they were absent, thieves entered the house, through a window it is thought, and made off with $7.00 in cash. The money was found missing shortly after Mr. and Mrs. Allum arrived home from church, but there was no trace of the burglar. Inquiry from the neighbours revealed no light upon the subject and the police have been notified to be on the lookout for the guilty parties. The robbers were certainly of a daring disposition to break into a dwelling in broad daylight and commit such an act. A sharp lookout will be kept in that vicinity and it is hoped that the scoundrel or scoundrels will be speedily captured.

We have used "Sunlight Soap," and we want to tell you that it is the best soap made, that's why we are writing. We found out that the Sunlight way is the best way to wash with "Sunlight Soap." At first we used to wash with Sunlight Soap in the old way as we did with common soap, but after we washed according to directions printed on the package, we would never wash the old way again. We first soap the articles, leave them to soak and then rub out lightly on the wash board. Not much to do and it makes the clothes white as snow.

15,000 HELD A PASS

For Six Hours Tenaciously in Face of British Force

200 THIBETANS WERE KILLED

Strong Fight Against British Was Made During a Big Snowstorm—Thibetans Also Attacked British Mission at Gyangste and Lost 250 Killed and Wounded—Dalai Lama's Persistent Opposition.

British Camp, Karo Pass, Thibet, Friday, May 6.—A stiff fight to-day to drive the Thibetans from their positions two miles below the pass lasted for six hours.

The Thibetans, numbering 15,000, held the positions with great tenacity, and lost nearly 200 before they were expelled.

The British losses were Captain Bethune and three men killed and 21 men wounded.

A big snowstorm prevailed throughout the fight.

Dalai Lama Determined.

London, May 9.—The Thibetans' attack on the British mission at Gyangste on Thursday, in which 250 natives were killed and wounded, seems to show that the Dalai Lama is determined to persevere in his opposition to British aims. Exactly what these aims are the Government has not yet indicated, recognition of certain British trading rights being nothing more than an excuse for the present "diplomatic" mission with its strong accompanying column for "purposes of defence."

The papers which the Government issued this week show that the Chinese influence at Lhasa is pratically nil, the Dalai Lama having disregarded even a personal missive from the Emperor directing his representative, or Amban, to proceed to meet the British Commission. A change of Amban effected nothing, and the Dalai absolutely refuses to send his own representatives or allow the Chinese the necessary means of going.

Further Butchery Probable.

The result will probably be further butchery of the practically unarmed Thibetans till Col. Younghusband meets and discusses matters with the Dalai himself in Lhasa. The settlement then arrived at will be a practical, if unavowed, substitution of British for Chinese suzeraintv.

Russia's present predicament is, of course, Great Britain's opportunity to establish her influence over a near neighbor of India where previously Russian influence has been supreme. Apparently the news of Russia's reverses has not reached Lhasa, for the Lamas rely on Russian support, which has long been promised, rather than their own unfortunate soldiery in resisting British aims.

When Eczema Refuses to Heal

Dr. Chase's Ointment

Few remedies have done so much to relieve sufferers as has Dr. Chase's Ointment, for what causes keener distress than eczema, salt rheum and other skin diseases?

The letter quoted below is a fair sample of those we are receiving every day in commendation of Dr. Chase's Ointment—letters of heartfelt gratitude.

Miss Levina Diotte, Clarence Creek, Ont., writes: — "I suffered with eczema for a year and a half, and tried all the remedies I could hear of, some of them costing considerable money, and not doing me any good. I was enduring great torture, when I read an advertisement of Dr. Chase's Ointment, and resolved to give it a trial.

"I began using Dr. Chase's Ointment, and it has completely cured me. Though I do not need it any more, I keep a box in the house in case of emergency. I hope that people who suffer as I did may read this testimonial, and for this reason you have my permission to publish it. It is only just that such a good remedy for eczema and itching skin should be made known to those who suffer."

To protect you against imitations the portrait and signature of Dr. A. W. Chase, the famous receipt book author, are on every box. 9

"Good day, Mr. McCune," was the answer. "Let me have your note of withdrawal before you leave town this afternoon." The young man paused a moment, then extended his hand as he said: "Shake hands, won't you? I—I haven't meant to be too hard on you. I hope things will seem easier and gayer to you before long, and if—if anything should turn up that I can do for you in a private way I'll be very glad, you know. Goodby."

The sound of the Herald's victory went over the state. The paper came out regularly. The townsfolk bought it, and the farmers drove in for it. Old subscribers came back. Old advertisers renewed. The Herald began to sell in Amo, and Gaines county people subscribed. Carlow folk held up their heads when journalism was mentioned. Presently the Herald announced a news connection with Rouen, and with that and the aid of "patent insides" began an era of three issues a week, appearing on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. The Plattville brass band serenaded the editor.

During the second month of the new regime of the Herald the working force of the paper received an addition. One night the editor found some barroom loafers tormenting a patriarchal old man who had a magnificent head and a grand white beard. He had been thrown out of a saloon, and he was drunk with the drunkenness of three weeks' steady pouring. He propped himself against a wall and reproved his tormentors in Latin. "I'm walking your way, Mr. Fisbee," remarked the journalist, hooking his arm into the old man's. "Suppose we leave our friends here and go home."

Mr. Fisbee was the one inhabitant of the town possessing an unknown past, and a glamour of romance was thrown about him by the gossips, who agreed that there was a dark, portentous secret in his life, an opinion not too well confirmed by the old man's appearance. His fine eyes had a habit of wandering to the horizon, and his expression was mild, vague and sad, lost in dreams. At the first glance one guessed that his dreams would never be practicable in their application, and some such impression of him was probably what caused the editor of the Herald to nickname him, in his own mind, "the White Knight."

Mr. Rodney McCune found the note.

Mr. Fisbee, coming to Plattville from nobody knew where, had taught in the high school for ten years, but he proved quite unable to refrain from lecturing to the dumfounded pupils on archæology, neglecting more and more the ordinary courses of instruction, growing year by year more forgetful and absent, lost in his few books and his own reflections, until at last he had been discharged for incompetency. The dazed old man had no money and no way to make any. One day he dropped in at the hotel bar, where Wilkerson, the professional drunkard, favored him with his society. The old man understood. He knew it was the beginning of the end. He sold his books in order to continue his credit at the Palace bar, and once or twice, unable to proceed to his own dwelling, spent the night in a lumber yard, piloted thither by the hardier veteran Wilkerson.

The morning after the editor took him home Fisbee appeared at the Herald office in a new hat and a decent suit of black. He had received his salary in advance, his books had been repurchased and he had become the reportorial staff of the Carlow County Herald; also he was to write various treatises for the paper. For the first few evenings when he started home from the office his chief walked with him, chatting cheerfully, until they had passed the Palace bar. But Fisbee's redemption was complete.

The editor of the Herald kept steadily at his work, and as time went on the bitterness his predecessor's swindle had left in him passed away. But his loneliness and a sense of defeat grew and deepened. When the vistas of the world had opened to his first youth he had not thought to spend his life in such a place as Plattville, but he found himself doing it, and it was no great happiness to him that the Hon. Kedge Halloway of Amo, whom the Herald's opposition to McCune had sent to Washington, came to depend on his influence for renomination, nor did the realization that the editor of the Carlow County Herald had come to be McCune's successor as political dictator produce a perceptibly enlivening effect upon the young man. The years drifted very slowly, and to him it seemed that they went by while he stood far aside and could not even see them move. He did not consider the life he led an exciting one, but the other citizens of Carlow did when he undertook a war against the White Caps, denizens of Six Crossroads, seven miles west of Plattville. The natives were much more afraid of the White Caps than he was. They knew more about them and understood them better than he did.

There was no thought of the people of the Crossroads in his mind as he sat on the snake fence staring at the little smoky shadow dance on the white road in the June sunshine. On the contrary, he was occupied with the realization that there had been a man in his class at college whose ambition needed no restraint, his promise was so great—in the strong belief of the university, a belief he could not help knowing—and that seven years to a day from his commencement this man was sitting on a fence rail in Indiana.

Down the pike a buggy came creaking toward him, gray with dust, old and frayed like the fat, shaggy gray mare that drew it, her unchecked, despondent head lowering before her, while her incongruous tail waved incessantly, like the banner of a storming party. The editor did not hear the flop of the mare's hoofs nor the sound of the wheels, so deep was his reverie, till the vehicle was nearly opposite him. The red faced and perspiring driver drew rein, and the journalist looked up and waved a long white hand to him in greeting.

"Howdy' do, Mr. Harkless?" called the man in the buggy. "Soakin' in the weather?" He spoke in shouts, though neither was hard of hearing.

"Yes, just soaking," answered Harkless. "It's such a gypsy day. How is Mr. Bowider?"

"I'm givin' good satisfaction, thank you, and all at home. She's in town."

"Give Mrs. Bowider my regards," said the journalist, comprehending the symbolism. "How is Hartley?"

The farmer's honest face shaded over for a second. "He's be'n steady ever sence the night you brought him home, six weeks straight. I'm kind of bothered about tomorrow—he wants to come in for show day, and seems if I hadn't any call to say no. I reckon he'll have to take his chance—and us too. Seems more like we'd have to let him, long as we got him not to come in last night for Kedge Halloway's lecture at the courthouse. Say, how'd that lecture strike you? You give Kedge a mighty fine send-off to the audience in your introduction, but I noticed you spoke of him as 'a thinker,' without sayin' what kind. I didn't know you was as cautious a man as that! Of course I know Kedge is honest"—

"Yes, I presume so, but"— Mr. Bowider broke off suddenly as his eyes opened in surprise, and he exclaimed: "Law, I'd never of expected to see you settin' here today! Why ain't you out at Judge Briscoe's?" This speech seemed to be intended with some humor, for Bowider accompanied it with the loud laughter of sylvan timidity risking a joke.

"Why? What's going on at the judge's?"

"Goin' on! Didn't you see that strange lady at the lecture with Minnie Briscoe and the judge and old Fisbee?"

"I'm afraid not, Bowider."

"They couldn't talk about anything else at the postoffice this mornin' and at Tom Martin's. She come yesterday on the afternoon accommodation. You ought to know all about it because when Minnie and her father went to the deepoe they had old Fisbee with 'em, and when the buckboard come through town he was settin' on the back seat with her. That's what stirred the town up so. Nobody could figger it out any way, and nobody got much of a good look at her then except Judd Bennett. He said she had kind of a new look to her. That's all any of 'em could git out of Judd. He was in a sort of a dreamy state. But Mildy Upton— You know Mildy? She works out at Briscoe's"—

"Yes, I know Mildy."

"She come in to the postoffice with the news this lady's name was Sherwood and she lives at Rouen. Miss Tibbs says that wasn't no news—you could tell she was a city lady with both your eyes shut. But Mildy says Fisbee was goin' to stay for supper, and he come to the lecture with 'em and drove off with 'em afterwerds. Sol Tibbs says he reckoned it was because Fisbee was the only man in Carlow that Briscoes thought had read enough books to be smart enough to talk to her, but Miss Selliny says if that was so they'd have got you instead, and so they had to all jest about give it up. Of course everybody got a good look at her at the lecture—they set on the platform right behind you and Halloway, and she did look smart. What got me, though, was the way she wore a kind of a little dagger stuck straight through her head. Seemed a good deal of a sacrifice jest to make sure your hat was on right. You never see her at all?"

"I'm afraid not," answered Harkless absently. "Miss Briscoe stopped me on the way out and told me she had a visitor."

"Young man," said Bowider, "you better go out there right away." He raised the reins and clucked to the gray mare. "Well, she'll be mad I ain't in town for her long ago. Ride in with me."

"No, thank you. I'll walk in for the sake of my appetite."

"Wouldn't encourage it too much—livin' at the Palace hotel," observed Bowider. "Sorry you won't ride." He gathered the loose ends of the reins in his hands, leaned far over the dashboard and struck the mare a hearty thwack. The tattered banner of tail jerked indignantly, but she consented to move down the road. Bowider thrust his big head through the sun curtain behind him and continued the conversation. "See the White Caps ain't got you yet."

"No, not yet," Harkless laughed.

12 Minutes for Lunch.

That is the average time spent in a large city restaurant by three thousand lunchers. It takes three hours to digest a fresh egg soft boiled. In fact, three hours is about the time required to digest the average twelve minute lunch. The object of the hasty lunch is to let the busy man get back to his office work. But when the brain is active, the stomach is inactive for lack of necessary blood. The natural consequence is indigestion, and indigestion opens the door to many diseases.

Indigestion is cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

$3,000 FORFEIT will be paid by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y., if they cannot show the original signature of the individual volunteering the testimonial below, and also of the writers of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing, thus proving their genuineness.

"I had stomach trouble from childhood and suffered with it more or less as I grew up," writes Mr. Willis Seaman, of Washingtonville, Orange Co., N. Y. "At the age of 26 I was broken down with dyspepsia. My suffering was terrible. Could not eat without distress. Could only eat a few certain things and was not able to work half the time. Everything I tried only gave me temporary relief. My wife finally persuaded me to try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets.' I took six bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two vials of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. I then felt so well that I stopped taking medicine."

COLTS CRICKET TEAM'S VICTORY.

Defeated Millbrook Cricketers by 90—64 in a Good Game Saturday.

The Colts made their formal debut in Millbrook on Saturday and succeeded in winning a decided victory. The game was a two innings affair and, while the Colts scored 43 and 47, Millbrook's best was 51 and 13—exactly 26 short.

On winning the toss Millbrook sent the Colts in to bat, Main and Burritt facing the bowling of Carey and Mitchell. Eventually the ten wickets fell for 43, Main's 11 being top score. Millbrook compiled 51 in their half, Mitchell making 31 by hard drives to the boundaries.

The Colts second innings was productive of 47, Carmichael's 16—the result of several pretty drives to deep field, being top score.

Millbrook could do nothing in their half, splendid bowling and sharp fielding on the part of the Colts preventing them doing any better than 13.

All through the game was replete with sensational fielding, Moore, Laing, Hall Wood and Sheffield; all participating in several scintillating put-outs. The return game will, in all probability, be played next Thursday on the Oval and all patrons of the game may rest assured of a good exposition of first-class cricket.

CAUGHT ON THE FLY

Burritt & Moore certainly "serve up the goods," 10 wickets for 13 runs is a record to be proud of.

When Wood took possession of Mitchell's sky-scraper in the second, a sigh of relief was heard in deep field. Someone asked why.

The batting of the younger members of the team was distinctly gratifying to the executive. Let the improvement continue.

Practices will be held nightly as usual and a full turn-out is requested.

Peterborough and T. A. S. Kawartha League Teams Played a tie Game.

Good work by both Teams Some nice Individual Play Fast Game for Saturday.

The Peterborough Baseball team played a practice game with the T. A. S. Kawartha League team Saturday afternoon, at the Murray street grounds, before a good crowd of spectators. The score was 9—9 and both teams were given a good work-out. Flaherty was in the box for the Peterboroughs and did not exert himself to any extent, contenting himself with allowing the fielders to do the work.

The players out for the Peterborough team were: Pilling, 1b; Sheridan, 3b; Flaherty, p; Wareham, ss; Graham, c; E. Pilling lf; McDonald, cf; Miller rf; Latimer 2b. In the fifth innings the three outfields were replaced by Earls, Simpson and Cawthorne, and in the 7th, Manager Whitcroft took second base, replacing Latimer.

The T.A.S. team was composed of Derocher, rf; Quirlan p; Callaghan 3b; Latimer lf; Trainer 1b; Fitzgerald c; Fitzpatrick cf; Craig ss; Grady 2b. The showing made by the players on both teams was good, and when they succeed in locating the ball, will be in first-class condition.

Graham made a nice hunt in the second innings.

"Teddy" Pilling cracked out a nice single in the third.

Fitzgerald was sick on Saturday and worked under difficulties.

Trainer made a nice catch of Simpson's line drive in the 5th.

Cawthorne pulled in a nice fly in the 5th and was given the customary applause.

The Bleacherites got after Earls, when in the 8th he dropped a beautiful fly from Latimer's bat.

Wareham showed a remarkable improvement in his fielding Saturday. He is also batting better.

Craig's work at shortstop was hardly up to his usual standard, or what was expected of him. He will likely improve.

J. Pilling is fielding his position well and when he gets his batting eye will be one of the best first base men in the business.

For the T.A.S. team Fitzpatrick played, perhaps, the best game. He made two good hits, stole two bases and incidentally got his new suit soiled.

Quinlan, who was in the box, pitched good ball, and fielded his position well. He should make one of the best twirlers in the Kawartha League this year.

The management would have had to to make a special assessment to buy a new supply of balls had Sheridan hit all that he struck at on Saturday.

With a little practice in batting, which the team will be given this week, the team should be in good shape for the game next Saturday with the Pirates of Toronto.

The spectators were pleased with the way the Peterboroughs went to their places in the field. There was an alertness which, in the past, in some teams has been conspicuous by its absence.

It will be a great pitching battle next Saturday when the local team will meet the pirates, one of the fastest teams in Toronto. Bently, the pitcher, who last year pitched for the Wellesley of the Sunlight League when that team defeated the Auburns 16 to 1, will be in the box opposing Flaherty.

Manager Whitcroft is getting into the game this year and is surprising himself and everyone else by his work. In Saturday's game he made a nice hit and figured in a double play. With one out and a man on third he tagged a runner at second and threw a man out at the plate, retiring the side and preventing the scoring of a run.

In the sixth innings Flaherty threw only three balls. The first two men flew out to Simpson and Earls on the first ball pitched, and the third Flaherty threw out at first. The clever young twirler still has the speed and all the other accessories at a successful pitcher, but he did not exert himself in Saturday's game.

QUAKERS AND KEENE A TIE.

Close Game of Football at Keene on Saturday Afternoon.

(Special to the Examiner.)

Keene, May 9th.—A game of football that aroused a good deal of enthusiasm was played in Keene on Saturday afternoon between the Quakers of Peterborough and Keene, resulting in a tie, one goal being scored by each team.

The game was called for five o'clock and the Quakers were the first to appear in a natty uniform of red and white, and shortly afterwards the Keene team came on in yellow and black. The referee, Mr. Kelly, of Bridgenorth, called the teams together, and after a few words of advice started the game.

During the first half the Quakers succeeded in getting a goal from a corner kick, and in the second half by a bit of combination work, Keene passed the ball through the regulation space.

The teams seemed evenly matched, and although no team work was indulged in, the individual players showed up well at times.

The Quakers are a gentlemanly lot of fellows and play with the proper spirit—not to win but by fair means. Their supporters showed their keen appreciation of the true spirit of sport and indulged in no vulgarisms to hurt the felings of their opponents.

Mr. Kelly showed himself an impartial and painstaking referee and did much to hold the players from forgetting themselves in the excitement of the game.

• • • •

Another account supplied to the Examiner:

The Quaker football team left for Keene on the 3.05 Grand Trunk Saturday afternoon to play their initial game in the Midland League with the team of that town, arriving in Keene about 3.00 o'clock. The game was called for 5.00 o'clock and at 5.10 when referee J. W. Kelly of Bridgenorth, lined up the teams as follows:

Quakers—Goal, E. Bellingham; backs, B. Simpson, J. Doris; half-backs, M. Guerin, P. Fitzgerald, W. Patten; forwards, J. Guerin, W. Perdue, Capt.; C. Fitzgerald, I. Moore, E. Renton; spare H. Bellows.

Keene—Goal, McWilliams; backs, Renwick, F. Walsh; half-backs, H. Quinn, McIntyre, Miller, Walsh; forwards, A. C. Quinn, V. McCarthy, Edwards, W. McIntyre.

After ten minutes' hard play, J. Guerin notched a goal for the Quakers from a corner kick. The Keene bunch then took the defensive and started to rough it with the result that at half time two of the Quakers' men were considerably used up, with the score remaining 1—0 in favour of the Quakers. The game started off after half time in real earnest, both teams playing good ball, but Keene again resorted to their former rough play, the score, however, still 1—0 in favour of the Quakers, until two minutes of full time when Keene scored their only goal, leaving the score 1—1. The Quakers played a clean game as was admitted by the referee and Keene supporters after the game, and conducted themselves in a most gentlemanly manner. The Quakers were considerably handicapped on account of the extremely small grounds both as to length and width. Referee Kelly gave entire satisfaction to both teams and certainly is an impartial man in this position.

DF. J. A. MORGAN.
President of the Midland Football League.

NOTES

Belleghem, in goal, proved to be in a class by himself.

Too bad that the goal Renton scored for the Quakers was not counted.

On account of the field being small and rough, the forward line had no chance of getting in their combination play.

Manager Sullivan has more confidence than ever in his team and considers they did well to hold the Keene bunch to a tie under the circumstances.

Mr. M. K. Kirn, president, and Mr. T. J. Grant, vice-president were amongst the fifty Quakers that accompanied the team to Keene.

Although the Quakers were considerably used up, they came home wearing "the smile that won't come off."

Full practice is called for to-night at the Oval in preparation for the game on Wednesday evening.—Com.

FOOTBALL.

The official scores in the games in the Midland Football League played Saturday were:

At Peterborough — Bridgenorth 1; Wanderers, 0.

At Keene—Quakers 1; Keene, 1.

At Norwood—Caughnawaga 3; Harwood 0.

• • • •

The Y.M.C.A. boys are requested to turn out for practice this evening on the Oval as they may have two games to play this week.

• • • •

Harwood went to Caughnawaga on Saturday and was beaten by 3—0 in a Midland League Game. Harwood took only ten men and the winners dropped a man to make things more even. Mr. C. McLaughlin was referee.

LACROSSE.

There are nine senior teams, in two districts, twenty-two intermediate teams divided into five districts, and sixty-two junior teams in thirteen districts in the C. L. A., this season or 93 teams altogether.

• • • •

About twenty members of the T. A. S. Lacrosse Club were out for practice Saturday and had a good work-out. The prospects are that a team of home-brews equal to that of last year will represent the T.A.S. this year.

RUSSIAN TROOPS IN FULL RETREAT

15,000 Troops are now Leaving Newchwang for Liaotung.

BANDITS DESTROY RAILWAY.

Russian Authorities Promise to Leave a Sufficient Rear Guard at Newchwang to Prevent Pillaging by Chinese Bandits—Chinese Indignant at Russian Methods of War—Jap Losses at the Yalu.

London, May 10.—The Tokio correspondent of The Daily Chronicle says that 15,000 Russians are retiring from Newchwang to Liaoyang.

The correspondent also says that Chinese bandits have destroyed the road to Tashichia and to Huicheng. The Russians are making a new road.

The correspondent adds that bandits have attacked and cut other parts of the railroad, and points out that the capture of Dalny will enable the Japanese to cut off Port Arthur's electrical supply.

Evacuation of Newchwang.

Shanhaikwan, May 10.—The evacuation of Newchwang continues. The Russian authorities have promised to leave a sufficient rear guard to prevent pillaging by the Chinese bandits, who are in the vicinity and awaiting an opportunity to get into the city.

Nothing further has been heard of the Japanese transports which were seen recently near Kaichau.

The Russians are commandeering cattle on the west side of the Liao River, and the Chinese are indignant at this procedure. Eight hundred head of cattle have been taken at Yinkow.

Evacuating Newchwang.

Che Foo, May 10.—Passengers arriving here on the Patriarch from Newchwang say that when they left Newchwang the Russians had commenced to evacuate. Some guns had been taken from the forts and many troops had already gone. In other respects Newchwang was quiet. The passengers understood before their departure that the Japanese had cut the railway, but they learned no particulars.

The Official Losses.

Tokio, May 10.—The official report of the Japanese casualties at the battle of the Yalu, May 1, shows that the guards lost one officer and twenty men killed and had seven officers and one hundred and twenty-two men wounded.

The second division lost one officer and eighty-four men killed and thirteen officers and three hundred and five men wounded.

The twelfth division had three officers and seventy-six men killed and five officers and two hundred and sixty-three men wounded.

Trying to Evade Jap Fleet.

London, May 10.—The Daily Telegraph's Seoul correspondent says:

"It is believed here that a portion of the Russian Vladivostock fleet has been successfully shut out, and is now in the Sea of Japan trying to evade the Japanese."

RUSSIA'S NEW FOE.

Urgent Call For Doctors to Stem Epidemic Diseases Among Troops.

New York, May 10.—An urgent telegram has been received from Mukden, asking for the immediate despatch of 100 doctors, says a despatch from St. Petersburg. Typhus fever, dysentery and smallpox have assumed an epidemic character among the Russian troops.

Food For Three Months Only.

Shanhaikwan, May 10.—A merchant here, who is in a position to have trustworthy information, has informed a correspondent of the Associated Press that at Port Arthur there is only coal sufficient to last the warships for six weeks, and that the food supply there will feed 8,000 men for three months only.

A Sensation.

Kharkoff, Russia, Sunday, May 8.—The order for the mobilization of the reserves, which is to take place to-morrow, has caused a sensation here.

Advanced 100 Miles.

Seoul, May 10.—The Japanese Consul at Gensan telegraphs that a force of Russians, number unknown, accompanied by Manchurian Mounted Bandits, crossed the Yalu far above Wiju, advanced southeast and occupied Changjin, 100 miles west of Songjin, May 5.

Jap Refugees.

Washington, May 10.—The State Department has received a cablegram from United States Commercial Agent Greener at Vladivostock stating the British merchant ship Ettrickdale had sailed from Vladivostock Saturday for a Japanese port with 326 Japanese refuges, who had been picked up at Korsakoff, on the Island of Sakhalin.

At Harbin Now.

St. Petersburg, May 10.—Viceroy Alexieff has telegraphed to the Emperor announcing the transfer of his headquarters to Harbin.

The Admiralty reports that Rear-Admiral Jessen's squadron is at Vladivostock.

Kuropatkin Will Stay.

St. Petersburg, May 10.—It is officially announced that General Kuropatkin's headquarters will remain at Liaoyang. He has no intention, at least for the present, of retiring from his position there.

Unfounded.

St. Petersburg, May 10.—It is semi-officially stated that the report that Viceroy Alexieff will be recalled at the instance of General Kuropatkin and Vice-Admiral Skrydloff is absolutely unfounded.

Typhoon Retarded Landing.

London, May 10.—A despatch to a news agency from Liaoyang, dated May 10, says: "An accident to a train from Port Arthur to Harbin occurred May 8, near Tieling. Thirty passengers were killed and fifty injured, and the permanent way was greatly damaged.

"It is reported that a three days' typhoon greatly retarded the Japanese landing at Pitsewo."

Death of Mr. Daniel Rose.

Toronto, May 10.—While sleeping peacefully at his home at 50 Avenue road, Daniel Rose of the firm of Daniel Rose & Son, printers 112½ Bay street, passed away early yesterday morning. He had gone to bed chatting brightly and evincing no sign whatever of illness. At 7.10 his wife went to call him and found that he was dead.

Born on March 11, 1835, in Wick, Caithness-shire, he came to America at the age of 26, and settled in Montreal, where he was apprenticed into the printing trade. He came to Toronto in '57, later returned to Montreal, and in 1877 he returned to this city and started in business with the Hunter, Rose & Co. Twelve years later he started in business alone. Deceased is survived by a widow, two sons and one daughter.

Hill's Big Gift.

Chicago, May 9.—A despatch to The Record-Herald from St. Paul, Minn., says: James J. Hill, president of the Northern Securities Company and the Great Northern Railroad, will supplement his many gifts to the Roman Catholic Church by a donation of $1,500,000, given jointly by himself and Mrs. Hill toward the erection of the new $3,000,000 cathedral. Two of the wealthiest parishes of St. Paul will join in its construction. The remaining $1,500,000 is already in sight and will be given by other wealthy citizens.

THE STREET RAILWAY.

Work to Begin on the Road This Week.

Mr. Robert Stuart and Mr. L. Richards, traffic manager, are in town to-day in connection with the Peterborough Radial Railway Company. Operations on the old road were delayed a few days until Mr. Stuart's arrival, but things will assume a decidedly lively aspect this week and work will begin at once, and the road fitted up for service just as soon as it is possible.

SUCCESSFUL SMOKER AT T. A. S. ROOMS.

Large Attendance Enjoyed a Splendid Programme Last Evening.

If the T.A.S. baseball club are as successful on the diamond this season as was the smoker held under their auspices last evening, they will surely capture the championship of the Kawartha League. The event was in every particular one of the best of its nature that has ever been held at the T.A.S. rooms and the promoters of it have every reason to feel gratified over the result. A full house greeted the performers and the programme was of such a nature as to highly please all present. Every number was good and there was a sufficient variety to keep the interest strong throughout the programme. The chairman was Mr. Jas. Hickey.

The programme opened with a well rendered piano selection by Mr. Fred Joyce after which Mr. Ted. Crowe rendered a solo and was enthusiastically encored. A euphonium solo by Mr. J. Parle was very popularly received, the excellent manner in which the triple-tongue scores were executed eliciting prolonged applause and an encore was demanded. A wrestling bout between Robt. Long and Wm. O'Toole resulted in a draw, each wrestler securing a fall in the second 10-minute period. Both young men exhibited considerable science in the art. Mr. John McDonough gave a splendid exhibition of bag-punching, proving himself to be an artist at this work. Mr. Eugene Hurtubise undertook to throw Mr. Wm. Meagher and Mr. Wm. Grady, one each inside of 15 minutes and he was successful in doing so. This number was one of the most enjoyable of the evening and the men were frequently applauded for their clever work. Mr. James O'Brien was very successful in his song a parody on "Stay in Your Own Back Yard," while Mr. J. Callaghan's buck and wing dancing was very cleverly done and was liberally applauded. A musical selection by Messrs. Cranfield, Tovey, Peters and Andrews closed a very enjoyable evening's entertainment and one which in every way was highly successful.

AN ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

To Mr. and Mrs. A. Gillespie at St. Andrew's Christian Endeavor Society Meeting Last Evening.

At a meeting of the Christian Endeavour Society of St. Andrew's church last evening a presentation and address were made to Mr. and Mrs. A. Gillespie who leave for Tweed where they will reside in future. Both have been valued members of the Endeavour society, Mr. Gillespie having held several important offices and their absence will be keenly felt. As a token of appreciation a presentation of a butter cooler was made by Miss Reid and the following address was read by Mr. F. E. Kerr.

To Mr. and Mrs. A. Gillespie:

As you are about to sever your connection with us, we, the members of St. Andrew's C. E., wish to place on record our high appreciation of your service to us.

We know at many times we all seem indisposed more or less to the Lord's service, but in our weak efforts we have realized in one another a determination to lead a Christian life and to be of service to God; not only in our church work but in all things that come to us day by day.

We deeply regret your departure from amongst us, but we do earnestly pray that God will bless you in your new field of labour.

As a slight tooken of our esteem for you, we ask you to accept of this "Butter Cooler", not for its value, but that you may have something to cast your eyes upon remembering St. Andrew's Society.

We all need appreciation of our services, as God does show His appreciation of our humble services day by day. May we always strive to do service that will be appreciated by our friends, but let us not forget that in order to receive appreciation from God, our services must be that of advancing and uplifting mankind.

May the Lord Bless you and keep you and when you are called to sever your connection with all friends here below, may you receive a grander token of respect and appreciation than any human being can give, that of "Well done, good and faithful servant, enter thou unto the joy of your Lord.

Signed on behalf of St. Andrew's Society,

J. S. FERGUSON,
E. KERR.

Miss Whittaker, a prominent club woman of Savannah, Ga., tells how she was entirely cured of ovarian troubles by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I heartily recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a Uterine Tonic and Regulator. I suffered for four years with irregularities and Uterine troubles. No one but those who have experienced this dreadful agony can form any idea of the physical and mental misery those endure who are thus afflicted. Your Vegetable Compound cured me within three months. I was fully restored to health and strength, and now my periods are regular and painless. What a blessing it is to be able to obtain such a remedy when so many doctors fail to help you. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is better than any doctor or medicine I ever had. Very truly yours, MISS EASY WHITTAKER, 604 39th St., W. Savannah, Ga."—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

HOT HOUSE GROWTH IN FAR MANITOBA.

Wheat Blades one Inch High on May 7th

The Wheat can Almost be Seen Growing.

Winnipeg, May 7.—"There is practically hothouse growth wherever seeding has been done, and that is well under way all along the line," said Hon. J. H. Agnew, Provincial Treasurer, who has just come back from Virden. "In some places, where the seed has been in the ground only one week the blade is over an inch and one can almost see it growing. Weather conditions have been so far ideal. The warm sun, after a little shower, seems to force the grass and grain right out. The Assiniboine River is still rising, and much land near Virden, in the valley is under water and will not likely be sown this summer. The same thing occurred two years ago, but seeding had been done and the grain was washed out. The result was that last year, when there was no flood, this land yielded as much as 50 bushels to the acre. Floods on the Assiniboine seem to have similar effects to those along the Nile."

Reports from various points indicate that on the average spring operations will not be far behind other years. The weather continues very favourable.

A Somerset correspondent says that wheat will all have been sown by to-night. The average will be considerably in excess of last year, on account of the large amount of land prepared for seed last fall. At Letellier seeding will be completed May 15.

FIRST DREDGE ON FRASER RIVER

Manufactured by the Wm. Hamilton Co., Peterborough-

The Fore-runners of Many Simular Orders

The Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company, of Peterborough, recently completed the construction of a gold dredge to be used on the Fraser River. This dredge, which is the first to be used on this river, has been sold to the Lillooet, Iowa Dredging Company, and its working is eminently satisfactory.

The Daily Ledger of Vancouver, B. C., contains an interview with Mr. Robert Hamilton on the matter. The Ledger says:

Mr. Hamilton courteously gave the Ledger such information as he felt himself at liberty to do, but stated that he did not wish to be quoted as in any way booming the dredging industry but, he added significantly, the Hamilton Manufacturing Co. already has dredging contracts enough ahead for the next two or three years.

"The dredge," Mr. Hamilton stated," is now raising 2,000 yards per day and will, when everything is working smoothly and in good ground, raise and properly take care of 4,000 cubic yards in 24 hours.

"The ground all prospects," said Mr. Hamilton. "I have panned hundreds of pans along the Fraser and never one without finding colours at least. So far as I can judge, the ground we have so far handled has run nearly $1 per cubic yard."

"It is true," he stated," that we have worked the gravel to a depth of 48 feet and all prospects, so far as we can judge, about the same. It is good everywhere in the river bed."

PROBATION.

Memento of Mrs. Chas. (Dr.) Ormond.

While the happy birds are singing,
Drop the curtain, close the door!
While the vernal grass is springing,
All the bells of nature ringing,
Softly May is bending o'er,
Outward pass, to come no more,
Dear kind neighbor, friend of yore!

Long, how long, the journey given!
Mile-stones many mark'd her way;
But the golden bowl is riven,
Cord of silver worn away.
White flowers deck the bier to-day,
As we see her borne away.

All the testing-time is over;
Diamond pen records no more.
Christ, Creator, Saviour, Lover,
Thou hast trod this path before!
Draw the curtain, close the door,
We shall meet on earth no more.

'Tis a wondrous thing, this living,
Not for paltry, selfish gain.
Even nature joins in giving
Lessons full, and free and plain,
(Heralding each year again)
So this living be not vain.

All the way He mark'd;—our Jesus
Leaving tinge of Heaven below,
By His love, His death, which frees us
From the curse of sin's dark blow,
Which befel us long ago,
When pale death came in by sinning.
Pain and weeping entered too,
And the storm clouds overbrimming
Hid the pure cerulean blue.
Yea, the birds forgot to warble
When stern winter, white and chill
Drew a veil o'er plain and hill.

Nature now, in resurrection,
Bids her buried beauties live;
Emblem of that incarnation
Which for transient life, can give Lasting life that ever lives.
Now is but a time of sowing;
Harvest on the other shore.
Heavy sheaves are binding, growing,
Till the sowing time is o'er,
And angel-pen records no more.
Drop the curtain, close the door!
The common deeds of the common day
Are ringing bells in the far away!

"So live that when thy summons comes, to join
"The innumerable caravan that moves
"To the pale realms of shade, where each shall take
"His chamber in the silent halls of death,
"Thou go, not like the quarry slave at night,
"Scourged to his dungeon, but, sustained and soothed
"By an unfaltering trust, approach thy grave
"Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch
"About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

(The words of Bryant are strangely relevant.)

PENETANG REFORMATRY PASSES INTO HISTORY.

The Buildings are Being Converted into an Asylum for the Senile Insane.

The Penetang Reformatory has passed into history. One hundred Reformatory boys have been transferred to foster homes, and the Penetang institution, as a Reformatory, has ceased to exist. In this world things often go by extremes. From building a home for juveniles, the buildings will be devoted to sheltering the other extreme—old age. A busy staff of workmen are now engaged converting the buildings into an asylum for the insane—especially for aged women—called senile insane. It is expected that by the first of June or a little later in the month, a large number of senile patients will be removed from the other institutions to the Penetang Asylum. This will provide a perpetual accommodation at the other institutes for patients not otherwise provided for.

The council met in the Town Hall on Wednesday evening, April 27th, in accordance with the arrangement of the special meeting held in Peterborough on the previous Saturday. All the members were present, the Reeve, Mr. Jas. Madill in the chair.

An account was presented from Arnott Bros. for shovelling snow and from the Review Printing Co., on account, contract 1904. These accounts were referred.

The Reeve presented an application from R. A. Morrow to have Anne street graded as soon as convenient. This was referred to a committee consisting of the Reeve and Councillor Brown, who are to arrange for the gravelling for 1904.

The committee appointed at last regular meeting to examine the bridge on 13th concession and inspect the timber placed near the bridge for repairing it, reported that there are slight repairs necessary to be made to the bridge, which can be made to better advantage later in the season. The timber was inspected and found unsuitable for bridge repairing purposes.

It was moved by Messrs. Morrow and Brown that this report be received and adopted. This was carried.

The committee to whom was referred the matter of appointing one Road Commissioner for 1904, reported having given the matter careful consideration and had concluded that at the present time it was not advisable to appoint less than four commissioners in the township. The report was received and adopted.

It was moved by Messrs Morrow and Fowler, that Mr. Samuel Andrews in Div. No. 1; Mr. D. McRoberts in Div. No. 2; Mr. Geo. Moncrief in Div. No. 3; and Mr. D. Johnston in Div. No. 4 be appointed Road Commissioners for 1904. This was carried.

It was moved by Messrs. Morrow and Brown that a committee consisting of the Reeve and Councillors Smith and Fowler are hereby authorized to arrange any matters relating to the repairs to boundary roads under Joint municipalities for the year 1904. This was carried.

It was moved by Messrs. Smith and Fowler, that Mr. Brown is hereby authorized to take some measure as may be necessary to have Wm Kerr properly maintained. This was carried.

By-Law No. 534 to appoint Road Commissioners, Fence Viewers and Pound Keepers was then introduced and finally passed.

Council then adjourned until Court of Revision on May 26th in the Town Hall.

MR. H. J. PETTYPIECE, M. P. P.

Sees Premier Ross About Appointment of Railway Taxation Commission.

Toronto, May 10.—Mr. H. J. Pettypiece, M.P.P., consulted with Premier Ross yesterday morning respecting the appointment of the commission to investigate the various systems of taxing railways in the United States. A Cabinet Council will be held to-day, when the matter will be fully discussed with Mr. Pettypiece.

As to the composition of the commission, and whether one or more of its members will be railway experts, Mr. Pettypiece said that nothing had been decided. He thinks the inquiry will last about six weeks, and he is of opinion that it should include the effect on local railway rates of the different methods of taxation.

WESTERN RAILWAYS

The Settlers Are Now Left Without Seed or Supplies.

MR. SCOTT AGAINST MR. OSLER

Northwest M.P. Again Discusses the Affairs of the Qu'Appelle, Long Lake and Saskatchewan and Calgary and Edmonton Railway in Which Mr. Osler Is Prominently Identified—1885 Rebellion Claims.

Ottawa, May 10.—Yesterday was essentially a Northwest day in the House. Private members' business had precedence, and Mr. Walter Scott, immediately after routine, again brought to the attention of the House the grievances of the people along the line of the Qu'Appelle, Long Lake & Saskatchewan Railway, who have for some time been deprived of all railway communication, owing to the carrying away of a bridge at Saskatoon and the flooding of the track. The prolonged isolation of the settlements along the line has aroused fears that scarcity of seed and supplies may cause suffering among the settlers, unless prompt measures are taken to repair the railway. The matter has upon previous occasions been brought to the attention of the House, and it was pointed out that the company lacks means to properly maintain the road, which is leased and operated by the C.P.R. In the afternoon Mr. Scott again dealt with the exploitation of this and the Calgary & Edmonton Railway, with both of which Mr. E. B. Osler is prominently identified.

Hon. Clifford Sifton.

Hon. Mr. Sifton said that he had given his officials instructions to see that everything possible was done to protect the settlers along the line of this railway from suffering. He thought that the local officials of the railway were doing all in their power to give an efficient service, but when it was mentioned that three or four miles of the railway was under water it would be understood that the difficulty was no ordinary one. He had telegraphed his officials at Regina, asking for a further report.

Mr. Davis spoke till 8.40 and the matter then dropped.

Rebellion Claims.

Mr. T. O. Davis' motion for papers in connection with the payment of claims arising out of the 1885 rebellion, opened up an old topic of more than passing interest in the Northwest. He gave an interesting review of the methods of the claims commission, who, he asserted, recognized the claims of those who voted for the Conservative candidates in the election of 1887, and either cut down or rejected entirely the claims of those who voted for the Liberals.

Second Readings.

The following bills were given their second readings: To incorporate the Cedar Rapids Manufacturing & Power Company—Mr. Geoffrion. To incorporate the Vancouver Island Railway Company—Mr. Macpherson. To incorporate the Crawford Bay & St. Mary's Railway Company—Mr. Macpherson.

Re Newfoundland.

Replying to Mr. Sinclair, the Minister of Finance said that the Government had not thought it necessary to appoint a commercial agent in Newfoundland on account of the close business relations between the two countries. He promised, however, that the suggestion should be carefully considered.

Two Mountains Indian Reserve.

A motion by Mr. Leonard was carried after an hour's debate, for a return of correspondence in connection with the Two Mountains Indian reserve.

Mr. George Taylor, in moving for a return of the expenditure on the cheese cooling rooms at Brockville, Cowansville, Que., and St. Hyacinthe, Que., said that not only had the Minister of Agriculture spent large sums of money upon these rooms, but had, through the dairy commissioner, advocated the paraffining of cheese, with the result that the Englishmen would not buy it, and Canadian cheese had not realized nearly as good a price as last year.

Hon. Mr. Fisher regretted that the Woodstock cooling room had not been included in the motion, and Mr. Taylor at once amended his motion. Mr. Fisher pointed out that the cooling rooms were asked for by the cheese industry in consequence of the complaints made by those handling the cheese in the old country. It had been found by experience that the trouble with regard to Canadian cheese arose from the inability of the cheesemakers in Canada to control the temperature in the curing room, and the work was undertaken by the department as an experiment. The work has been an absolute success, so that the applications for accommodation at the cooling room were far greater than the capacity of the rooms. Although at first the English buyers were doubtful of paraffined cheese, subsequent experience had demonstrated that the treatment was productive of excellent results.

The House adjourned at 11.40 p. m.

Four Commissioners.

Ottawa, May 10.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier has given notice of an amendment to section 9 of the National Transcontinental Railway Act, so as to provide for the appointment of four commissioners of the Transcontinental Railway instead of three.

Militia Council Amendments.

Sir Frederick Borden has given notice of several more amendments to the Militia Act. The act is to come into force upon a date to be fixed by proclamation of the Governor-General.

Stubborn Skin Diseases.

Nothing is more discouraging than a case of eczema or salt rheum which refuses to heal. By using Dr. Chase's Ointment, however, you soon see that new skin is forming and the sore part is becoming smaller and smaller. The itching is entirely overcome after a few applications and you are given satisfactory evidence that a continuation of the treatment will bring a thorough cure.

Must Not Drag Skirts.

NEW FREIGHT TRAIN RUNS DAILY TO PORT HOPE

Leaves Here at 6 o'clock Evening, Returning Next Morning.

The Grand Trunk Railway Co. has benefitted the merchants of Peterborough and others by having a through freight running between Port Hope and Peterborough daily. Hitherto freight was taken to the Main line of the G. T. R. by the Belleville route, the last train leaving about noon, whereas under the new system which was in force yesterday for the first time, a freight leaves here every evening at six o'clock and returns in the morning, leaving Port Hope at six o'clock. This should prove of much value to Peterborough in many ways. The crew will take up residence here where they must spend most of the day time.

It is also possible that the proposed fast train between here and Toronto will be a reality in the near future. The flyer would make the journey to the Queen City in about two hours and a half, making but two or three stops along the way and would be a great convenience to the citizens of Peterborough.

CANADA'S GREAT GOLD PRODUCING LAND.

The Yukon Territory Graphically Described by Rev. Dr. Pringle.

A Most Interesting Address Given in St. Andrew's Church Hardships of Men who Hunt for Gold.

In his excellent address last night in St. Andrew's Church, Rev. Dr. Pringle, the Presbyterian Missionary to the Yukon Territory, gave an inside picture of life in the far north, and depicted some of the experience which he was called upon to undergo in his work in the interest of the Gospel in the land of gold. He corrected some misapprehension entertained by many with regard to the climate of the Yukon, when he stated that vegetables can be grown there equal, if not superior, to those grown in Ontario. The great wealth of the country may be imagined when it is known that in 6 years, from a tract of only 30 square miles, $125,000,000 in gold has been produced, and the Yukon territory comprised 200,000 square miles, all of which was gold producing. The rush for gold experienced in the year 1897 and 98, although it was characterized by many sad and pathetic incidents, had also its humorous side, and this was depicted by Dr. Pringle last night.

The address was one intensely interesting and the ladies of St. Andrew's, under whose auspices the address was given, are to be congratulated on the complete success of the evening's entertainment.

It is doubtful if a more entertaining address than that given last night by Rev. Dr. Pringle, in St. Andrew's church, has ever been heard by a Peterborough audience. The reverend doctor has spent six years in the Yukon Territory, and in his address last night at the annual reunion of the church congregation, told in an exceedingly interesting way of his remarkable experiences in that far north region. The church was filled and the entire audience was intensely interested in the address delivered. Dr. Pringle has a keen sense of humour, and splendid descriptive powers, and in his talk last night thoroughly ingratiated himself with his audience. He went to the Yukon during the rush of 1898, when thousands were on their way to that country in search of fortunes, and there were 18,000 men on the trail with Dr. Pringle, up the Stickeen River. He has seen the pathetic side of this mad rush for gold, and to this he referred briefly, stating that he had seen men die from starvation, scurvy and other diseases, and others who took their own lives, in fits of dispondency over ill-luck.

Rev. J. G. Potter occupied the chair at the meeting last night, which was arranged by the ladies of the congregation, and was attended by a number of the members of St. Paul's and the other churches in town. After the opening hymn had been sung Rev. W. J. Jolliffe, of Charlotte street church, offered prayer, and the choir sang "Now the Day is Over," Miss Miller and Mr. Glass taking obligato solos in it.

Following this the pastor, Rev. Mr. Potter gave a short address in the course of which he referred to the sermons preached on Sunday by the distinguished clergymen, and particularly thanked them for lending their services to the church for the Anniversary occasions. Miss Violet Smith then sang "Oh Divine Redeemer," and Miss Miller and Mr. Young sang, "Oh Saviour Draw me Nearer to Thee."

The subject of Dr. Pringle's address was "Home Missions in the North-west," and he introduced his subject by remarking that anyone could preach a sermon on home missions, and many could do it better than he could, but there was one thing he could do better than anyone else, and that was to tell his own story, which he proposed to do last night. He said that 29 years ago at a meeting of the General Assembly held in Montreal, just after he had graduated, he had been asked by Dr. Robertson and Dr. Black, whom he styled as the apostles of missions in the North-west, if he would three years hence go to Manitoba to act as a missionary. At that time Manitoba, to the people of Eastern Canada was a great frozen plain, to which only the offal of the population went, and which no one dreamed would ever develop into the great grain producing land that it has since become. It is now, or at least is destined to be, the "Granary of the Empire," and in the East manufacturers are extending their works to provide for the growing needs of the rapidly growing West.

Just as in earlier days, many people held erroneous ideas with regard to Manitoba, to-day the same ideas are entertained about the Yukon Territory. This is particularly true with reference to the climate, which he said, was for ten months in the year as fine as it is in any part of Canada. The cold blasts which originate in the Artic Circle, and which sweep undisturbed over the plains of Manitoba and the Territories, increasing in severity as they proceed, are unknown in the Yukon, which is a great valley between the Rocky Mountains and the Coast range, and the climate is tempered by the Pacific Ocean. The country, too, is densely wooded, the effect of which is to break the force of the high winds. There are two months of the year during which the weather is cold. From the middle of November to the middle of January, the sun is not visible, and there are during this period only about six or seven hours of daylight each day. The ground freezes to a depth of 210 feet, and no mining operations can be carried on during these two months, consequently business is rather dull.

Dr Pringle then gave a most interesting and instructive sketch of his life and work in the North. His travelling was all done on foot. "Some people," he said, "think that I sit on my sleigh, and allow my dogs to haul me." "Not much," rejoined Dr. Pringle, "because if I did I would soon become so stiff with the cold that I would not be able to walk when I wanted to."

In support, however, of his claim that it was not very cold in the Yukon, Dr. Pringle stated that during the first three years of his residence there he never wore an overcoat, and then he had one given him, which he wore.

"AN AGRICULTURAL FAIR IN THE YUKON."

People ask if the Yukon is an agricultural country, and to this he replies "no." No cereals are grown but vegetables and roots can be raised equal, if not superior to those grown in Ontario. Turnips were shown at the Agricultural Fair held in Dawson City, "Just fancy," said the speaker, which weighed 20 and 21 pounds.

But, while it is not, strictly speaking, an agricultural country, it is a great gold region. The Yukon country is over 200,000 square miles in extent, as large as all of Ontario. New Ontario included, but only about 30 square miles of it have been touched, and from these 30 square miles $125,000,000 worth of gold has been taken out in 6 years. Only about 1 per cent of the ground has been touched, but there is gold everywhere, and the construction of a railway through the country will result in its being thoroughly prospected. He believed that the source of the gold would yet be found in that country. Dr. Pringle said in making the statement above he did not want to say anything which would cause a stampede to the Yukon. He would rather stand with a shot gun and prevent one.

Speaking of the trade there, the speaker said that during the first three years 70 per cent. of the goods brought into the Yukon were American and only 30 per cent. Canadian. This was because the Canadians were too slow in exercising faith in their country and because the goods supplied were not up to the American standard. In the last three years, however, seventy per cent. of the trade was done by Canadian houses and only thirty per cent. by Americans, and in spite of this, in the port of Dawson in one year, $402,000 was collected in duty. A mining camp of 25,000 men is better for trade than a rural population of 100,000 people.

Speaking of his own experiences, Dr. Pringle said that he left Vancouver in 1898, for Wrangel, where he found 3,000 men ready to start up the Stikeen river and when he learned that 15,000 men had preceded him up the same river he said that at "The funnel" on this river which was frozen over, and upon which the winter trail was formed, one could see eight miles, and it was one unbroken string of men all tramping after gold. These men were going with all kinds of outfits, some walking, hauling their own sleighs, others with dogs, some with horses, and one with a horse and a Jersey cow hitched up. This trip, Dr. Pringle said, of 115 miles up the river to Cottonwood Island, was the hardest work he had ever done in his life. He learned a great many things on that trip, one of which was how to cook. He said he was a good cook before he made that trip, but he considered himself a very good cook now. "Why," he said, "I believe I can cook something which no lady in the audience would like to undertake. I can cook slum gullion." When he reached telegraph Creek he found that the only place in which he could hold a service was in a saloon. It was easy to preach the Gospel in that country because it was appreciated there. All one has to do to secure a hearing is to sing something about home and immediately all is attention. In one winter he walked 5,000 miles and saw scenes which he hoped would never be duplicated. Men died of scurvy and other diseases, and many shot themselves or took their lives in other ways.

He paid a high tribute to the splendid work done by Rev. J. J. Wright, son of Mr. Stewart Wright, Peterboro who, he said, was the leading citizen of White Horse, and was doing a splendid work there, helping men in every way possible.

"There is only one thing," said Dr. Pringle, "of which I am proud, in my work in that country, and that is that I was instrumental in building the first Presbyterian hospital in the Yukon territory." This was built at Dawson City, and there was a debt on it of $20,000, of which amount $15,000 had been provided for, and Dr. Pringle was making an effort to raise the remainder while on his trip in the east. That the address of Dr. Pringle was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience was evidenced by the hearty applause which followed its delivery.

Principal Gordon followed with a few words in which he eulogized Dr. Pringle's work in the north, and said that he was known there as "Dr. Greatheart," for his kindness and generosity.

A solo by Mr. Young and an anthem by the choir closed the evening's exercises.

PAINFUL ACCIDENT YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Master Gus Rose Fainted From Loss of Blood Caused by a Gash in his Thigh.

Shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon Gus Rose, son of Mr. A. J. Rose of Wolsely street, was the victim of a very unfortunate and painful accident. The boy, who is about 12 years of age, was playing on Dublin street and in some way cut himself with a pocket knife on the left thigh, inflicting a deep gash and penetrating a large artery and one of the smaller blood vessels. He at once started to run for a doctor, but upon reaching the corner of McDonel and Aylmer streets the little fellow fell in a faint, being weak from loss of blood which had been oozing from the wound as he was running. Drs. McFall and Brown were called and the wound was stitched and the flow of blood suppressed. The boy was very weak from the large quantity of blood lost but to-day was doing as well as could be expected and no serious results are feared.

BOARD OF EDUCATION LOOKING FOR A SITE.

A Committee Appointed to Look Into the Matter

And Report to the Board—Plans Will be Forwarded to Toronto for Inspection Last Evening's Special Meeting.

A special meeting of the Board of Education was held last evening when there were present Messrs. J. J. Hartley, chairman; W. H. Hill, V. Eastwood, H. Morgan, F. J. Jameson, W. Pringle, J. J. McBain, J. Crane, R. Fair, J. Stevenson, L. M. Hayes, H. P. Kennedy, W. H. Wrighton.

The chairman explained that in view of the fact that the Collegiate Institute bylaw had been passed, it was thought advisable to call a meeting to consider the question of securing options on some lots as sites for the new Collegiate Institute building.

Mr. Eastwood thought it would be advisable to advertise for tenders and receive offers for sites with plans of the lot area. The chairman thought that some definite area should be stated in regard to the size of the lot.

Mr. Hayes thought it would be advisable for the Board to meet jointly with the Town Council in considering the question of securing a site. Mr. Fair also spoke in favour of such an idea.

Mr. Hill said it was very important to secure a proper site. The The first step, thought Mr. Hill, was to appoint a select committee to look into the matter and report to the Board from time to time. They should go actively to work and look up a site as soon as possible. The work could be done much better by a committee than by the whole Board. Mr. Hill moved that there be a special committee to look after suitable lots and to take up the question of the revision of plans and that these plans be forwarded to Deputy Minister Miller, of Toronto, and he be asked to note any changes and to also have the advice of High School Inspectors South and Hodgson on the matter, and that the Committee report to the Board after carefully considering the question. He moved that the committee be composed of Messrs. Kennedy, Rogers, Ferguson, Hayes, Crane to act jointly with the chairman. Mr. Morgan seconded the resolution.

Mr. Stevenson moved an amendment that Messrs. McBain, Crane and Fair be the committee. Mr. Eastwood seconded the amendment.

Mr. Fair moved an amendment to the amendment, that Mr. McBain's name be added to Mr. Hill's motion. Mr. McBain, however, thought the committee was large enough already.

Mr. Jameson thought there was not much room for any more amendments and moved that the committee proposed by Mr. Hill and Mr. Stevenson, be a Joint Committee to act in the matter.

The motion of Mr. Hill was eventually carried by a considerable majority.

Mr. Hill made mention of the fact that there were often amendments moved in the Board in such a manner as to reflect upon those connected with the original motion, and upon the mover and seconder sometimes. This should not be the case. The members of the Board were all reliable and such as any member of the Board would trust on any Committee and there was too frequently objection where it was uncalled for. Mr. Eastwood said the Board was not a mutual admiration society, and that each member should express his views and not fall in with any resolution made. Mr. Stevenson also expressed his views and thought that the Committees were sometimes agreed upon previous to the meeting. After a little warm discussion the matter was dropped.

The chairman thought that before the plans of the proposed building were sent to Toronto the Board should have as near as possible an idea of what the building would cost and not have plans for a $50,000 building approved of if the building were to cost only $40,000. He thought it inadvisable to have plans approved of if they were too high in price.

Mr. Hill thought the plans could be sent up for approval without any cost and that it was not necessary to know the exact cost of the building previous to submitting these plans for inspection. The information received regarding these plans might be valuable to the Board even though the cost were higher than it was the intention to pay.

The chairman agreed that the plans should be sent for approval but thought it no use to send up $50,000 plans if a $40,000 building were required.

Mr. Stevenson was of the opinion that the Board should advertise for tenders to find out the cost. The Board should be very careful in taking steps along the line of accepting tenders. He thought the plans should be given more consideration, from some points of view they looked all right, but to him, the front, with the wings on each side look somewhat squatty. He thought a building such as that proposed could be built and furnished for $50,000.

Mr. Hill said that in Cobourg last year, a building somewhat smaller than Peterborough's new one would be, was built for $28,000, and Galt was to build one to cost $13,000, and he thought one could be built here for $50,000.

After some additional discussion the Board adjourned.

HEAVY FINES IMPOSED AT POLICE COURT.

Cases of Selling Liquor and Cigarettes to Minors This Morning.

There was a lucrative police court this morning and each one who appeared before the magistrate was taxed and taxed heavily. The first case was a charge against Ernest Meyette of being found drunk in a public place. He acknowledged his fault and was given ten days to pay it.

Jas. Dolan was charged with selling cigaretts to a boy under 18 years of age. The defendant pleaded not guilty, claiming that he was always very cautious in that respect and that he had no recollection of selling to boys. Percy Hartley was called and gave evidence to the effect that on three occasions, April 9th, 16th and 23rd, he had bought cigarettes from Mr. Dolan. The magistrate imposed a fine of $10 in each case with costs, amounting altogether to $38.45.

Patrick Hogan was charged with selling liquor to a minor, Jack Hogan. The evidence went to show that on May 5th four boys, Jack Hogan, Dave Quinlan, Wm. Warboy and Percy Hartley met in Ashburnham and proceeded to the old cricket grounds to have a game of baseball. Hogan inquired of his chums if any of them had money and Warboy replied that he had $1.25. He gave Hogan 25c and the latter, after a tin pail had been borrowed, went to P. Hogan's hotel and bought a pail of beer. The beverage was taken to the cricket grounds and disposed of by the four youths, the youngest of whom was 15 years old and the oldest 18 years. The beer evidently was relished for Hogan on two more occasions had the pail refilled, Warboy, the youngest of the quartette, putting up the cash. The pail, according to one of the witnesses, held about three quarts, so, by a mathematical calculation, the four boys disposed of nine quarts of beer amongst them. They were not drunk, but very sick, they said, and no wonder, Hogan confessed that he had got spirituous liquors on other occasions at this hotel, but it was the other boys' first experience and they did not want another. The magistrate imposed a fine of $40.00 and $4.10 costs. Mr. W. H. Moore appeared for the defence and Mr. R. E. Wood conducted the prosecution.

WE SHOULD BE CALM.

A British Paper's View of the G.T.R.'s Rate Increases New Education Measure—Canadian Herring Fishery.

London, May 8.—(C.A.P.)—The Financial Times, referring to the appeals made to the Railway Commissioners to intervene in the matter of the Grand Trunk Railway increased freight rates, says that apparently the good people of Ontario do not realize that railways were not built in Canada solely for the purpose of providing cheap transport for the inhabitants. The outside capital was put in for dividends, not for philanthropy. It declares it learns from a well-informed source that it is very unlikely the law authorities will intervene.

Gives a Free Hand.

London, May 10.—(C. A. P.)—The House of Lords gave a first reading to the Bishop of St. Joseph's Education Bill. The bill gives both sides a free hand touching the control of religious instruction. The Marquis of Londonderry declined to pledge the Government either way with regard to the bill.

Canadian Herring Fishery.

London, May 10.—(C. A. P.)—Herring steamer No. 33 of Yarmouth has been chartered by the Dominion Government with a picked crew to carry on experimental fishing work in Canadian waters and sailed for Canada. Capt. Anderson has taken on board 60 tons of coal for the voyage which he expects will last a fortnight.

Creates Vested Interests.

London, May 10.—(C. A. P.)—The Countess of Aberdeen presided at the executive committee meeting of the Women's Liberal Federation when resolutions were passed emphatically condemning the Licensing Bill on the grounds of its interference with the magistrate's powers, and that it creates for the first time vested interests in licenses.

Aliens' Bill Won't Interfere

London, May 10.—(C.A.P.)—W. E. Gordon has written The Times that the Aliens' Bill now before the House of Commons will not interfere with the business of shipping companies carrying transmigrants through England on their way to America or the colonies.

Britain's Wheat Acreage.

London, May 10.—(C.A.P.)—A reply to J. Pease, M. P., shows that the acreage under wheat in Great Britain was nearly 150,000 acres less in 1903 than in 1902.

THERE IS NOW A MASS OF PROOF

That Lumbago is Always Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Quebec Man Cured His Kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills, and his Lumbago Vanished.

Quebec, P.Q., May 9.— Special. — John Ball, a bricklayer, residing at 57 Little Champlain street, this city, has added his statement to the great mass of proof that lumbago is caused by disordered kidneys, and consequently easily cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills. Mr. Ball says:—

"I was troubled with lumbago for two years. I could not work. I had to get up at nights to urinate so often that my rest was broken. I read of cures by Dodd's Kidney Pills and made up my mind to try them. After the first box I could see and feel a change. Three boxes cured me completely."

Lumbago, like rheumatism, is caused by uric acid in the blood. Uric acid cannot stay in the blood if the kidneys are working right. Dodd's Kidney Pills make the kidneys work right.

Shamokin, Pa., May 9.—Rescuing parties are still at work in the Locust Gap Colliery, where five men are entombed, as a result of the fire in one of the slopes. The miners have been in the mine since Thursday, and all hope of seeing them alive have been abandoned. The fire is burning as fiercely as ever, making it impossible to penetrate the workings.

Death of "Deacon" Duggan.

Toronto, May 10.—Thousands will miss Joseph Duggan, whose appearance and David Harum twinkle in his eye, made him a notable character at the Woodbine race track. He died yesterday at 3 o'clock in the morning. He was once owner of the Woodbine track, belonged to one of the oldest families in Canada, and was within three months of being 71 years of age at the time of his death. He was born in Toronto, August 15, 1833.

An Open Letter.

From the Chapin, S. C., News: Early in the spring my wife and I were taken with diarrhoea, and so severe were the pains that we called in a physician, who prescribed for us, but his medicines failed to give any relief. A friend who had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand, gave each of us a dose and we at once felt the effects. I procured a bottle and before using the entire contents we were entirely cured. It is a wonderful remedy and should be found in every household. H. C. Bailey, Editor. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

Mr. Fitzpatrick at London.

London, May 10.—Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick, the Dominion Minister of Justice, arrived in the city yesterday morning. At noon he was entertained at the London Club, where he was the guest of George C. Gibbons, K.C.

MR. STEAD'S VIEW.

He Talks of Conditions in the African Colonies—Sig. Marconi Coming to America About Wireless.

London, May 9.—(C.A.P.)—W. T. Stead, who returned to London on Saturday, said that when a South African dealt with a Canadian or an Australian, England would have no trouble. The Boers were bilingual and their education was elaborated. The Board of Education at home was not working satisfactorily, but the English language was being used to secure the complete Anglicization of the children and the interests of the Church of England and the Dutch Reformed Church. The Dutch people were scraping together money to start schools of their own. Mr. Stead declared that despite Lord Milner's cancellation of the appointment with him, both were still on most cordial terms. Lord Milner was formerly Mr. Stead's sub-editor.

Bribery in Britain.

London, May 9.—(C.A.P.)—Saturday's sitting of the Bribery Commission met at Bourne when Sir Alexander J. Peacock was recalled and admitted handing £50 to Montague, who gave them to ex-Member Spiera, who accepted it as a contribution to his election expenses from Peacock from the party funds. Sir A. Peacock submitted to a severe cross-examination by Crown Prosecutor Finlayson, K.C.

Marconi on the Sea.

London, May 9.—(C.A.P.)—Marconi sailed from Liverpool to New York for four or five weeks' to supervise the American stations. Before returning he will visit Cape Breton.

Is Worth a Candle.

London, May 9.—(C.A.P.)—At the annual meeting of the shareholders of the North British and Mercantile Insurance Company a shareholder asked the ratio of profit made by American and Canadian business in seven or ten years. In view of the uneasiness felt at the frequent conflagrations the chairman declined to make the figures public, but stated that the game is worth a candle and the directors would not give up.

Lord Minto Writes.

London, May 9.—(C.A.P.)—Earl Minto writes to a Scotch correspondent that he hopes by autumn to be back in the borders again.

Laborers For Preference.

London, May 9.—(C.A.P.)—The Conservative Workingmen's Federation of Lancashire and Cheshire passed a unanimous resolution for preferential trading conditions with the colonies, as shadowed forth by Mr. Chamberlain. It alone would secure the permanent interests of labor and the Empire.

Two Prisoners Escape.

Hamilton, May 9.—Two prisoners escaped from County Constable T. J. Brown of Utterson at the Stuart street station Saturday evening. The constable arrested Louis Fish and William Skye, two Indians, at Caledonia, on a warrant charging them with breach of contract. On nearing Hamilton on the train, Fish disappeared. The constable and Skye went to look for him and Skye bolted. Neither of the fugitives have been seen since.

BLOOD DISEASE CURED.

If you ever contracted any Blood or Private Disease, you are never safe until the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. Don't be satisfied with a "patch up" by some family doctor. Our New Method is Guaranteed to Cure or No Pay. No Names Used without Written consent.

Cured When all Else Failed

"Could I live my early life over, this testimonial would not be necessary, though I was no more sinful than thousands of other young men. Early indiscretions, later excesses, exposure to contagious diseases all helped to break down my system. When I commenced to realize my condition I was almost frantic. Doctor after doctor treated me but only gave me relief—not a cure. Hot Springs helped me, but did not cure me. The symptoms always returned. Mercury and Potash drove the poison into my system instead of driving it out. I bless the day your New Method Treatment was recommended to me. I investigated who you were first, and finding you had over 25 years' experience and responsible financially. I gave you my case under a guarantee. You cured me permanently, and in six years there has not been a sore, pain, ulcer or any other symptom of the blood disease."

THE GENTLEMAN FROM INDIANA

By Booth Tarkington.

"Reckon the boys 'druther you stayed in town after dark," the other called back. "Well, come out and see us if you git any spare time from the judge's." He laughed loudly again in farewell, and the editor waved his hand as Bowlder finally turned his attention forward to the mare. When the flop, flop of her hoofs had died out, Harkless realized that the day was silent no longer; it was verging into evening.

He dropped from the fence and turned his face toward town and supper. He felt the life and light about him, heard the clatter of the blackbirds above him, heard the homing bees hum by, saw the vista of white road and level landscape framed on two sides by the branches of the grove, a vista of infinitely stretching fields of green, lined here and there with woodlands and flat to the horizon line, the village lying in their lap. No roll of meadow, no rise of pasture land, relieved their serenity nor shouldered up from them to be called a hill.

A farm bell rang in the distance, a tinkling coming small and mellow from far away, and at the lonesomeness of that sound he heaved a long, mournful sigh. The next instant he broke into laughter, for another bell rang over the fields, the courthouse bell in the square. The first four strokes were given with mechanical regularity, the pride of the custodian who operated the bell being to produce the effect of a clockwork bell, such as he had once heard in the courthouse at Rouen, but the fifth and sixth strokes were halting achievements, as, after 4 o'clock he often lost count in the strain of the effort for precise imitation. There was a pause after the sixth; then a dubious and reluctant stroke, seven; a longer pause, followed by a final ring with desperate decision —eight! Harkless looked at his watch. It was twenty minutes of 6.

As he crossed the courthouse yard to the Palace hotel on his way to supper he stopped to exchange a word with the bell ringer, who, seated on the steps, was mopping his brow with an air of hard earned satisfaction.

"Good evening, Schofields'," he said. "You came in strong on the last stroke tonight."

"What we need here," responded the bell ringer, "is more public sperrited men. I ain't kickin' on you, Mr. Harkless—no, sir; but we want more men like they got in Rouen. We want men that 'll git Main street paved with block or asphalt; men that 'll put in factories; men that 'll act—not set round like that old fool Martin and laugh and pollywoggle along and make fun of public sperrit, day in, day out. I reckon I do my best for the city."

"Oh, nobody minds old Tom Martin," observed Harkless. "It's only half the time he means anything by what he says."

"That's just what I hate about him," returned the bell ringer in a tone of high complaint. "You can't never tell which half it is. Look at him now!" The gentleman referred to was standing over in front of the hotel talking to a row of contless loungers, who sat with their chairs tilted back against the props of the wooden awning that projected over the sidewalk. Their faces were turned toward the courthouse, and even those lost in meditative whittling had looked up to laugh. Mr. Martin, one of his hands thrust in a pocket of his alpaca coat and the other softly caressing his wiry, gray chin beard, his rusty silk hat tilted forward till the brim almost rested on the bridge of his nose, was addressing them in a one keyed voice, the melancholy whine of which, though not the words, penetrated to the courthouse steps.

The bell ringer, whose name was Henry Schofield, but who was known as Schofields' Henry (popularly abbreviated to Schofields'), was moved to indignation. "Look at him!" he cried. "Look at him! Everlastingly goin' on about my bell! Well, let him talk. Let him talk!"

As Mr. Martin's eye fell upon the editor, who, having bade the bell ringer good night, was approaching the hotel, he left his languid companions and crossed the street to meet him.

"I was only oratin' on how proud the city ought to be of Schofields'," he said mournfully as they shook hands; "but he looks kind of put out with me." He hooked his arm in that of the young man and detained him for a moment as the supper gong sounded from within the hotel. "Call on the judge tonight?" he asked.

"No. Why?"

"I reckon you didn't see that lady with Minnie last night."

"No."

"Well, I guess you better go out there, young man. She might not stay here long."

CHAPTER II.

THE Briscoe buckboard rattled along the elastic country road, the roans setting a sharp pace as they turned eastward on the pike toward home.

"They'll make the eight miles in three-quarters of an hour," said Judge Briscoe proudly. He turned from his daughter at his side to Miss Sherwood, who sat with Mr. Fisbee behind them, and pointed ahead with his whip. "Just beyond that bend we pass through Six Crossroads."

Miss Sherwood leaned forward eagerly. "What did you mean last night after the lecture," she said to Fisbee, "when you asked Mr. Martin who was to be with Mr. Harkless?"

"Who was watching him."

Love is unequally yoked with sickness. Labor is lightened by love, but love cannot lighten pain or relieve it. Many a man looks on at his wife's suffering willing to do anything to aid her and able to do nothing.

Sometimes, however, the husband's attention is directed to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and its remarkable cures of womanly diseases. He may not have much hope of a cure, but he is led to try the medicine, with the result that in almost every case there is a perfect and permanent cure.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures irregularity. It dries the drains which weaken women, heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

As a tonic for women who are nervous, sleepless, worn-out and run-down "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled.

"In answer to your letter I will say my wife commenced to complain twenty years ago," writes Lewis A. Müller, ex Chief of Police of 33 Prospect St., Weissport, Pa. "We have tried the skill of twelve different doctors. She took gallons of medicine during the time she was ill, until I wrote to you and you told us what to do. She has taken eight bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and six of the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' She can do her own work now and can walk around again and is quite well."

"Favorite Prescription" has the testimony of thousands of women to its complete cure of womanly diseases. Do not accept an unknown and unproved substitute in its place.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate stomach, liver and bowels.

"Watching him? I don't understand."

"Yes; they have shot at him from the woods at night, and"—

"But who watches him?"

"The young men of the town. He has a habit of taking long walks after dark, and he is heedless of all remonstrance, so the young men have organized a guard for him, and every evening one of them follows him until he goes to the office to work for the night. It is a different young man each night, and the watcher follows at a distance, so that he does not suspect."

"But how many people know of this arrangement?"

"Nearly every one in the county except the Crossroads people, though it is not improbable that they have discovered it."

"And has no one told him?"

"No; he would not allow it to continue. He will not even arm himself."

"They follow and watch him night after night, and every one knows and no one tells him? Oh, I must say," cried the girl, "I think these are good people!"

The buckboard turned the bend in the road, and they entered a squalid settlement built raggedly about a blacksmith shop and a saloon. "I'd hate to have a breakdown here," Briscoe remarked quietly.

Half a dozen shanties clustered near the forge, a few roofs scattered through the shiftlessly cultivated fields, four or five barns propped by fence rails, some sheds with gaping apertures through which the light glanced from side to side, a squad of thin razorback hogs, now and then worried by gaunt hounds, and some abused looking hens groping about disconsolately in the mire, a broken topped buggy with a twisted wheel, settling into the mud of the middle of the road (there was always abundant mud here in the driest summer); a dim face sneering from a broken window—Six Crossroads was forbidding and forlorn enough by day. The thought of what might issue from it by night was unpleasant, and the legends of the Crossroads, together with an unshapen threat easily fancied in the atmosphere of the place, made Miss Sherwood shiver as though a cold draft had crossed her.

"It is so sinister!" she exclaimed. "And so unspeakably mean! This is where they live, the people that hate him, is it? The White Caps?"

"They call themselves that," replied Briscoe. "Usually White Caps are a vigilance committee in a region where the law isn't enforced. These fellows aren't that kind. They got together to wipe out grudges, and sometimes didn't need any grudge—just made their raids for pure devilment. There's a feud between us and them that goes back into pioneer days, and only a few of us old folks know much about it."

"And he was the first to try to stop them?"

"Well, you see, our folks are pretty long suffering," said Briscoe apologetically. "We'd sort of got used to the meanness of the Crossroads. It took a stranger to stir things up, and he did. He sent eight of them to the penitentiary, some for twenty years."

As they passed the saloon a man stepped into the doorway and looked at them. He was coatless and clad in garments worn to the color of dust. His bare head was curiously malformed, higher on one side than on the other, and though the buckboard passed rapidly and at a distance this singular lopsidedness was plainly visible to the occupants, lending an ugly significance to his meager, yellow face. He was tall, lean, hard, powerfully built. He eyed the strangers with affected languor and then, when they had gone by, broke into sudden loud laughter.

"That was Bob Skillett, the worst of the lot," said the judge. "Harkless sent his son and one brother to prison, and it nearly broke his heart that he couldn't swear to Bob."

When they were beyond the village and in the open road again Miss Sherwood took a deep breath. "I think I breathe more freely. That was a hideous laugh he sent after us."

The judge glanced at his guest's face and chuckled. "I guess we won't frighten you much," he said. "Young lady, I don't believe you'd be afraid of many things, would you? You don't look like it. Besides, the Crossroads isn't Plattville, and the White Caps have been too scared to do anything much except try to get even with the Herald for the last two years—ever since it went for them. They're laying for Harkless partly for revenge and partly because they daren't do anything until he's out of the way."

The girl gave a low cry with a sharp intake of breath. "Ah, one grows tired of this everlasting American patience! Why don't the Plattville people do something before they"—

"It's just as I say," Briscoe answered. "Our folks are sort of used to them. I expect we do about all we can. The boys look after him nights, but the main trouble is that we can't make him understand he ought to be more afraid of them. If he'd lived here all his life he would be. If they get him there'll be trouble of an illegal nature." He broke off suddenly and nodded to a little old man in a buckboard turning off from the road into a farm lane which led up to a trim cottage with a honeysuckle vine by the door. "That's Mrs. Wimby's husband," said the judge in an undertone.

Miss Sherwood observed that Mrs. Wimby's husband was remarkable for the exceeding plaintiveness of his expression. He was a weazened, blank, pale eyed little man, with a thin white mist of neck whisker, and he was dressed in clothes much too large for him. No more inoffensive figure than this feeble little old man could be imagined, yet his was the distinction of having received a hostile visit from his neighbors of the Crossroads. A vagabonding tinker, he had married the one respectable person of the section, a widow, who had refused several gentlemen at the Crossroads, and so complete was the bridegroom's insignificance that to all the world his own name was lost. The bride continued to be known by her former name as "Mrs. Wimby," and her spouse was usually called "Widder Woman Wimby's husband" or "Mr. Wimby." The bride supplied his wardrobe with the garments of her former husband, and, alleging this proceeding as the cause of their anger, the White Caps broke into the farmhouse one night, tore the old man from his bed and before his wife's eyes lashed him with sapling shoots till he was near to death. A little yellow cur that had followed his master on his wanderings was found licking the old man's wounds, and they deluged the dog with kerosene and then threw the poor animal upon a bonfire they had made and danced around in heartiest enjoyment.

QUOTATIONS ON THE WALL STREET MARKET.

The Fluctuations of the Leading Stocks

To-day was one of the slowest days on record on the New York stock exchange, the sales to noon being only 48,800 shares. There was practically nothing doing all morning and for long periods of time there were no quotations on the tape. C.P.R. opened rather strong at 117 1-2, but sold off to 117 1-8. Big gas over which so much litigation has been pending sold off very rapidly, falling from 205, its opening quotation, to 203. Yesterday gas sold as high as 208. A.C.P. was somewhat stronger, selling up as high as 181 1-4 on the strength of a rumour that Heinze has sold out to the Amalgamated Company. Metropolitan opened at 108 1-2, sold down to 108 1-4 and reacted by two o'clock to 108 5-8..

Messrs. McMillan and Maguire ('Phone 416) received the following gossip this morning:—

New York, N. Y., May 10, 1904.—Friends of Western crowd are showing more optimism than they have been for some time. This is probably due to the pronounced bullish attitude of Gates. It is said that the Western crowd are arranging to advance several specialties.

Schuyler assumed the conspicuous position in the steel crowd this morning and bought U.S. Steel pref'd.. His purchases were said to represent short covering. The street still is inclined to look for a reduction in the dividend rate.

The most that can be said of general sentiment this morning after a canvass of both professionals and the office element is that it is hopeful on balance, chiefly owing to the fact that there is no pressure on the market and that investment buying continues.

London was not a factor in the early trading here. The arbitrage had no business. In some quarters of the street the higher later London prices were regarded as being manipulated.

There was a bull tip on the floor this morning upon A.C.P. The story of peace with Heinze is still in circulation and is commented upon in gossip.—Financial Bureau.

A FIFTH WARD HEALTH NUISANCE.

Reported at Board of Health Meeting this Morning—Action Taken.

A meeting of the Board of Health was held this morning. There were present Messrs. Wm. Eyres, Dr. McNulty, G. Schneider, A. Parker.

Owing to the absence of the chairman, Mr. Eyres was appointed chairman of the meeting.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

Dr. Bingham, M.H.O., reported that the effluent of a cesspool in connection with the House of Providence in the Fifth Ward, had broken out at the surface of the ground and was flowing down the field towards the public highway. The neighbours complained that sometimes the stench from it was intollerable and in its present condition, Dr. Bingham considered it a very dangerous nuisance to the public and to the inmates of the Hospital in the vicinity.

Dr. McNulty said the Sisters had arranged to have a man and horse every day removing contents of the cesspool.

It was resolved that the secretary write the Town Council and call attention to the nuisance at the House of Providence which the Board considers dangerous and which can only be permanently removed by the construction of a sewer, and ask how soon it is probable a sewer will be constructed in that part of the town as it is urgently needed.

Mr. Eyres thought a committee should be appointed to visit the Hospital grounds and inspect the same and report at the next meeting. Mr. Parker moved that Mr. Eyres, Dr. McNulty and Dr. Bingham be a committee to look into the matter and see what could be done until a sewer was constructed. Mr. Schneider seconded the motion, which was carried.

Some accounts from the hospitals were presented, but were not dealt with. The Chief reported that in some of the cases, the parties were unable to pay for the treatment received and in other cases, the parties whom he had seen were not aware that they were obliged to pay, being under the impression that the hospitals were free. The Chief objected to being called upon to act as a collecting agency for the Board or for the hospitals.

Dr. Bingham thought the hospitals should appoint someone to do their collecting.

Mr. Eyres suggested that the matter of the accounts be left over until there was a full meeting of the Board and some definite arrangements should be made. Mr. Parker pointed out that should there be a serious epidemic of contageous disease and as has been the case in the past, many of the patients did not pay, the bills sent to the Board would be large and the town would be under considerable expense to meet them. He thought the patients should all be informed that they would be expected to pay for treatment received.

The Board adjourned to meet again next Monday morning at 9.30 o'clock.

THE TRIGGER.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Gun Club will be held tomorrow, Wednesday evening at 8 p. m., in Mr. Adam Hall's office, George street. All members and any others desiring to become members for the coming season are requested to be present. C. Wood, Secretary-Treasurer.

LATEST NEWS OF SPORT.

Prospects for a Fast Lacrosse Team in 1904—Football Game To-morrow Evening—Sprinting Gossip.

FAST LACROSSE TEAM FOR 1904.

The Peterboroughs will Enter the Intermediate Series with Strong Twelve.

The local C. L. A. Club is getting down to practice for the season's work, and from the material available the prospects are that a good fast aggregation will represent Peterborough in the Association this year. The team will be representative of the whole town since only on team from Peterborough will enter the C. L. A. Last year the team gave the lacrosse loving element of the town good, clean lacrosse, and this year the team will be in the intermediate series with a stronger dozen than that of last year. The men who have been out to practice have been showing up well, and it is certain that come great games will be seen this year. Orillia, the old-time rival of Peterborough, will be in the district with the team from this town, and this fact alone is sufficient guarantee that some exciting games will be played. The older residents of the town remember the rivalry which has existed between the lacrosse aggregations of Peterborough and Orillia, and this year, for the first time in some years, the teams will meet again in one district, and the result is bound to be an interesting series of games.

The boys are meeting the desire on the part of the many hundreds of persons in town who delight in clean, scientific lacrosse, and they feel that the record in the past has been such as to warrant them in asking for public support for the team this year. It is likely that the games will be played on the Murray street grounds which will be fitted up for the accommodation of the spectators.

The officers of the club will shortly make a canvass of the prominent men of the town for support for the team this year, and, as a considerable expense will have to be incurred in purchasing new uniforms and sticks etc., they hope to meet with a liberal response.

The other teams in the district will be Oshawa, Lindsay, Port Hope and Orillia. This will give some fast lacrosse in Peterborough this year.

BASEBALL.

A meeting of the Committee in charge of last evening's T.A.S. baseball club's smoker is called for Wednesday evening in the rooms.

• • • •

Montreal nearly won a game yestrday when Jersey City beat them by 8 to 7.

• • • •

The baseball season will be formally opened on Saturday when the Pirates of Toronto, meet the local club. The Midland League season opens two weeks from to-day and the fans will be much interested in the showing of the team next Saturday.

• • • •

The locals should have consistent batting practice for the next two weeks. Each team in the League promises to be strong in the pitching department and as hits mean runs, the boys must be strong in the swatting department to capture the pennant.

• • • •

The team committee of the Young Quakers Ball Club has picked the following as their team for the season: Pitcher and Centre Field, ...Quinlan
Catcher ... ...Heaslip
1st base ... ...Conroy
2nd base ... ...Wilson
3rd base ... ...McMillan
Short Stop, ...Gilman
Right Field, ...Welter
Centre Field, ...Morphet
Left Field and Pitcher, ...Swanston.
Spares, ...Guerin and Distin

• • • •

The members of Gerge street Guild baseball team will practice to-night at 6.45 at the Water street grounds. All members are requested to turn out.

• • • •

The Pirates, Toronto's Independent Baseball Team, will be here Saturday to play a game with the Peterboroughs and the season will open with a fast game. The game is called for 2.30 o'clock at the T.A.S. grounds.

TURF.

Joseph Duggan of Riverdale, Toronto, owner of the Woodbine race course, and one of the pioneer turfmen, of Canada, died yesterday at the age of 74 years. Last year Mr. Duggan leased Woodbine Park to the Ontario Jockey Club for a period of twenty-five years.

LACROSSE.

The meeting to arrange the schedule of games in Intermediate District No. 5, will be held in Lindsay Thursday night. R. M. Glover will represent the Peterborough team.

FOOTBALL.

The Wanderers have entered a protest against the game of Saturday with the Bridgenorth team, on the ground that the goal scored by the winning team was put in after the ball was out of play. A meeting of the Executive will be called at an early date to decide this protest.

• • • •

Mr. A. Noble will referee the game to-morrow night between Caughnawaga and Quakers.

• • • •

A good practice of the Y.M.C.A. football club was held at Central Park last night about twenty players being out. The boys are fast getting into condition and "doings" will be in order when they get to work. There is likely to be a game or two this week and steady practice will need to be indulged in All players who have signified their intention of playing with the "Y" should be on hand this evening at 6.15 sharp, as a practice will be held on the Oval.

• • • •

To-morrow evening at 6 o'clock sharp the Quaker and Caughnawaga teams will play at the Oval in the Midland League series. These teams have made the best showing of any in this district, and the game to-morrow night, which will be the first time for these teams to come together this season, will be an interesting one. The Quaker team will be practically the same as that which figured in Saturday's game with Keene. Walter Parnell will probably replace Patton on the halfback line. H. Quinn will be spare man. The game will be called at 6 o'clock by Mr. Arthur Noble, Vice-President of the League, who will referee

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mr. S. W. Laird, the popular manager of the Quaker Tug-of-War team, is in Chicago on a visit, and while there attended a smoker given under the auspices of the Amateur Baseball Association, of Chicago, of which Mr. A. R. Tearney, a personal friend of Mr. Laird, is President. There were a number of good sporting events and some singing and speech-making. The Amateur Athletics in the United States are not run on the same basis as Amateur Athletics in Canada, the amateurs there going into the sport with the intention of some time becoming professionals. Mr. Laird was called upon to make a speech pertaining to sport in Canada, and in a letter to the Examiner he said that he had the consolation of knowing that he cleared the hall, as he was the last on the programme. Among the entertainers of the evening were Captain Anson, the veteran captain of the Chicago team. Mr. T. H. Thompson, an ex-Alderman, and a number of other notable sportsman.

Mr. Laird states that he has made arrangements to secure the rules which governed the World's Tug-of-War contest, which was held during the Chicago World's Fair, in 1903, and he has also secured a picture of the Ingersol Packing House team. He adds that he is enjoying himself immensely.

RUSSIANS BOTH GLAD AND SORRY.

Communication With Port Arthur Re-Established,

BUT JAPS ARE VERY ACTIVE.

Russian Feelings are Consequently of a Mixed Order—Rapid Japanese Advance—Landing of Army at Takushan is Indicated—A Number of Skirmishes are Reported—Bombardment of Port Arthur.

London, May 11.—The Tokio correspondent of The Standard says under date of May 11 that the bombardment of Port Arthur was recommenced yesterday morning by the Japanese by angle firing and is still in progress.

Communication Re-Established.

St. Petersburg, May 11.—Viceroy Alexieff has telegraphed to the Emperor as follows: "During the night of May 9-10 railroad communication with Port Arthur was restored. The telegraph line is being repaired. As General Stoessel has not reported the investment of Port Dalny, the reports from abroad of its capture by the Japanese are naw disbelieved by the general staff.

Severe Engagement Reported.

Shanhaikwan, May 11.—It is reported that the first Japanese army corps, having followed the Russians retreating from the Yalu River, overtook them twenty miles south of Liaoyang yesterday and a severe engagement ensued.

Lt.-Gen. Zassalitch Killed.

Paris, May 11.—The Matin's St. Petersburg correspondent says it is persistently rumored that there has been a big fight near Maotienling Pass, between the Russians and General Kuroki's army. The Russians, he says, lost heavily, Lieutenant-General Zassalitch being among the killed.

Sobered By Official Despatches.

St. Petersburg, May 11.—The most important official news from the front up to this hour is that telling of the complete re-establishment of railroad and telegraphic communication with Port Arthur, though how it was brought about and whether a battle was necessary to accomplish it are mysteries which Viceroy Alexieff failed to clear up.

The elation of authorities, a natural consequence of this achievement, is sobered by official despatches showing the activity of the Japanese in Eastern Manchuria.

The people naturally wish for more details concerning the re-establishment of communication with Port Arthur. All they know definitely is that the railroad has been repaired, and that at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the first despatch passed over the reconstructed telegraph lines.

Japs Great Activity.

St. Petersburg, May 11.—The general staff has received a despatch from Major-General Karkevitch, dated May 9, which says:

"On May 5 our scouts discovered at Liaoyahampuzo, fourteen miles north of Takushan, on the left bank of Talinhe River, a Japanese detachment one regiment strong. During a fusillade with a line of Japanese sharp-shooters, one Cossack was killed.

"At Luanmyako, eight miles north of Takushan, on the same bank of the river, our scouts were subjected to firing from the right bank.

"On the same day they met on the main road from Fengwangcheng, four and a half miles from Salitzaipudsa, on the Talinhe River, and twenty-one miles north of Takushan, the extreme outposts of enemy's scouts, who hid in the mountains.

"On the following day Japanese scouts appeared at Handajou, six miles south of Salitzaispudza, and in the valley of the Sedseke River, near the mouth of Sedsekhoghto.

"According to Chinese information Japanese detachments numbering three infantry regiments in all, are in the mountains fifteen or twenty miles from Doyanche."

Japs in Three Divisions.

London, May 11.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Morning Post, under date of May 10, says that the Japanese army is advancing in three divisions—the first from Fengwangcheng, and the third from Sullencheng to occupy Kulienhsin with the object of severing communication with the rear of Liaoyang, where only small preparations for defence have been made.

Had Narrow Escape From Ditching.

St. Thomas, May 11.—No. 8 express on the Michigan Central had a miraculous escape from being ditched at Hagersville about 9.30 Monday night. The train had passed over the diamond crossing there, but left the rails at the "D" rail to the west. The engine, Atlantic type No. 428, rolled over into the ditch, and the buffet and smoking cars left the rails, but remained upright. Engineer Green and Fireman McPhail managed to escape uninjured, as did the passengers, the only injury reported being a slight bruise to the foot of Conductor D. Powers.

Boy Murders Sister.

Rosthern, N. W. T., May 11.—The body of Victorine Schuster, the young ten-year-old girl, murdered by her brother, John, aged twelve, at Dead Moose Lake, a month ago, was brought to Rosthern last Saturday afternoon. At the inquest on Monday John Schuster, father of the children, stated he knew nothing of the occurrence until told by his daughter, Margaret.

Chinamen Did Murder.

Victoria, B. C., May 11.—The jury in the case of Wongon and Wongow, charged with the murder of Manquong, manager of the Victoria Chinese Theatre, in January last, found the prisoners guilty yesterday morning. They were sentenced to be hanged July 22.

Henry J. Lawson, another company promoter, was also arrested yesterday in connection with the Hooley charge.

OBSTACLES TO CHURCH UNION.

Former Peterborough Clergymen in the Discussion at Montreal.

Rite of Baptism Bars Baptists, and Apostolic Succession, "Anglicans."

Montreal, May 10.—The proposed union of the Protestant Evangelical denominations was discussed at a meeting of the Protestant Ministerial Association yesterday, and as a result it was decided to hold a public meeting at an early date to further consider the matter.

The discussion was introduced by Rev. Hugh Pedley, of Zion Congregational Church, Toronto, who declared the proposal both desirable and practicable. At first the Anglicans and Baptists might be excluded.

Rev. J. L. Gilmour, pastor of the First Baptist Church, said that from the point of view of the Baptists, union was not practicable at the present time. The question of the rite of baptism would prove an insuperable barrier.

The Church of England was represented by Rev. Dr. Symonds. He said that the question that now separated the Congregationalists, Presbyterians and Methodists was practically the same as separated the high and low Church parties in the Church of England, viz., the apostolic succession of the ministry. He felt, however, that the Anglican Church had already made some steps towards union with the other denominations.

YANKEES AFRAID OF TRENT CANAL.

American Millers Looking Towards Peterborough as a Place of Location.

Completion of Waterway Would Divert Grain Track From Erie Canal—Benefits to This Country.

That the American Government is taking the Trent Waterway seriously is proved by the following despatch from Washington, D. C.:—

"Washington, May 8.—The danger that flour milling industries, if not the wheat-carrying trade, will be transferred from the United States to Canada, has again been brought to the attention of the department of commerce and labour by the discussion of the project to cut a canal from Georgian Bay to Lake Ontario.

"It is claimed that this could be done for $5,000,000, and that its effect would be to divert the wheat-carrying from the Erie Canal and the American railroads, to an all Canada route. American millers are rapidly interesting themselves in mills at Peterborough, which is on the line of the proposed canal route. Robert Stewart of Chicago, president of the American Cereal Company is among those interested."

The statements made above are warranted with the exception of that referring to the cost, which is a little high, as only $4,000,000 will be required to complete the canal. Port Hope has been giving the canal considerable advertising, and now it appears that Washington is going to help.

DEATHS DOUBLE WORK, TWO LIVES THE PRICE.

Two Sad Visitations in Dummer Township.

Deaths of Mrs. Jas. Greystock and Mrs. Robt. Hamilton.

On the morning of Thursday, April 28th there passed from time to the rest beyond Jemima L. Little, wife of James Greystock, a young farmer near Warsaw, in the 24th year of her age. The deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Little of Hall's Glen, being one of the younger members of a large family. On the Friday night before the sad event a little baby daughter came to the home and all appeared well until about noon the following day when the young mother complained of a pain in her head. This was followed by convulsions, which, in spite of the best medical skill, continued to increase, in violence for three days and nights, when pneumonia set it and ended life as above stated. The deceased lady was of prepossessing appearance and of a most amiable disposition and was greatly beloved by all who knew her.

The funeral, which was one of the largest ever seen in Dummer, took place from the home on Saturday afternoon to the Methodist church, of which deceased was a member, where a most beautiful and impressive service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. H. McDonald, and the remains were laid to rest in the Warsaw cemetery.

During last summer Mr. Greystock had erected a lovely new brick house on his farm, where the landiwork and artistic decorations of the departed are in evidence all around, and he is left with the little one to care for, as a reminder of the dear departed one. May the God in whom we trust stay near by.

Death of Mrs. Robt. Hamilton.

On the evening of Tuesday, 3rd inst., there departed this life, Jennie Little, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Little, of North Dummer, and wife of Robert Hamilton, a farmer in the neighbourhood of Hall's Glen, aged 33years, and like her cousin, Mrs. Greystock, she had given birth to a little daughter, a few days before the sad event. Her constitution never strong, appeared at this time to give away, but it was not [illegible] noon on the day before her death that the alarming symptoms appeared, heart failure having been given as the immediate cause of her death. The deceased was also mild and genial in disposition and was beloved by those who had the pleasure of her acquaintance. Her sorrowing husband is left alone with the babe named above and their first-born, a bright little boy of over two years.

The funeral, which was largely attended, took place on Thursday afternoon, service being conducted by her pastor, Rev. H. McDonald, who spoke words of comfort and consolation to all concerned in the sad bereavement. The deceased lady was also a member of the Methodist church. Her remains were laid to rest at the Warsaw cemetery, to await the resurrection of the just. May the God of all grace bless and comfort the bereaved in this sad and disconsolate hour.

ESCAPE FROM DEATH WAS A MIRACLE.

Station Agent's Daughter at Newtonville, Struck by a Train.

Kathlene Buller, the three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Buller, Newtonville, had a miraculous escape from death on Saturday afternoon last.

Mr. Buller is agent at the Newtonville station, and his residence being very near at hand it is difficult to keep the children away from the track.

It was about 3.14 on Saturday afternoon and the little tot was gathering stones from the railway track. A shrill whistle told of an approaching train, and the servant girl at Mr. Buller's as she does on all occasions rushed to the door to see if the children were safe; she was horrified to find the little girl standing in the centre of the track and hurried to remove her, at the same time calling for her to come. It was no use, the little one could not move any faster, and the train was drawing nearer and nearer. Finally she managed to pull her tiny feet over the rail but she was then confronted by the high platform. Any further move on her part meant death, and there she stood on the end of the tie about ten inches from the tracks. Mr. Moses, a G. T. R. painter, who was a short distance away and seeing the affair, hurried to the assistance and arrived at the little one just a few seconds before the train. He grabbed her up, but before he could place her on the platform, the buffer struck her on the hip throwing her against the platform and bruising her head and arm. Mr. Moses was also struck on the arm but only slightly injured.—Port Hope Guide.

ELECTRIC WIRING COMPANY TO PAY.

An Important Legal Decision Just Rendered in New York.

The Chronicle of Insurance and Finance contains a paragraph which should be of interest to all engaged in electric wiring. The Chronicle says:—

"The New York Edison Company has been condemned to pay the German-American Insurance Company $5,315 for damages caused to a building by defective instalment of wires at Third Avenue and 119th street, New York. The wires had been seen burning on the building. It is remarkable to find a company named after Edison, the famous electrician, convicted of carelessness in placing wires. The case ought to be a caution to all engaged in electrical installations."

MONTREAL WORKS CLOSE THIS WEEK.

C. G. E. Company Closing Their Montreal Shops.

A Presentation to the General Superintendent—Employees to Remain in Montreal.

The Montreal Gazette has the following:—

Mr. Hazen Ritchie, general superintendent of the Canadian General Electric Company, Montreal, was on Saturday the recipient of an address from the members of the Montreal branch, on the occasion of the parting of six of the foremen from the company's employ, owing to the closing of the Montreal factory, which takes place immediately. A photograph was taken of the heads of the departments. Among these are several who have been connected with electric industries for more than 20 years, and it was an occasion of profound regret that the management had seen fit to close up the factory, and in doing so break up companionships of so long standing. All the employees will remain in Montreal. Following is the address:—

Mr. Hazen Ritchie, general superintendent Canadian General Electric Company, Montreal:

Owing to the consolidation in Peterborough of the manufacturing interests of the Canadian General Electric Company, the foremen of the Montreal factory realize that they will very soon be obliged to sever their connection with you as general superintendent.

Previous to the severance of the business relationship existing between us as superintendent and foremen, we take this opportunity to express our appreciation of the uniform kindness and courtesy with which you have always treated us during the last three and one-half years.

We wish you every success in your future career.

Permit us also to hope for ourselves that it may be our good fortune to be always guided by so able and genial a head.

The address was signed by a number of the employees.

It will be seen from the above article that the statement contained in the Examiner some time ago, that the Montreal works would be closed, and which was subsequently denied in a local paper, was correct.

HUNDREDS WITNESS REGIMENT AT DRILL.

Regular Weekly Drill of 57th Last Night at Central Park.

A great many persons evidently expected another march-out of the 57th Regiment last night, as the streets were crowded. They were not entirely disappointed, however, for the 57th Band turned out and marched from their hall to the drill grounds, where the whole Regiment went through the exercise of trooping the colours, before a large crowd of interested expectators.

Apparently more public interest is being manifested in the regiment this year than in the past, and the result is that the members of the organization are turning out to drill in large numbers and the ranks are almost at their full strength.

At the close of last night's drill the following Regimental orders were read:—

Headquarters, Peterborough.
May 10th, 1904.

Orders by Lieut.-Col. J. W. Miller, commanding 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers.

No. 1.—Detail of duty for week ending May 17th, 1904: Officers for the week, Capt. Hounsell; next for duty Capt. McWilliams.

No. 2.—By District Order No. 3, the Commanding Officer is instructed to notify the men under his command that a company of Royal Canadian Engineers, Permanent Corps has been authorized for service in Canada. The establishment is published in general order No. 163 of 1903. Applications for enlistment will be received by the D.O.C. and forwarded to headquarters with certificates of character and qualifications as soon as received. The following trades will be required: For N.C.O.'s 4 of whom will be sent to Aldershot, England, to take engineering courses: 5 skilled plumbers; 5 skilled carpenters; 5 skilled masons; 5 skilled electricians. For Sappers: Plumbers and labourers; carpenters and carpenter labourers; mason builders, labourers for same; electricians and telegraphers.

No. 3.—The following extracts from District Order No. 18, May 5th, 1904, is promulgated for the information and attention of the regiment.

"The attention of commanding officers is called to the fact that a large number of N.C.O's and men are wearing long hair. This is directly contrary to King's Regulations, paragraph 660, and steps must be taken at once to have the regulation strictly adhered to by all ranks. "A number of soldiers have been observed in the streets wearing part uniform and part plain clothes. This practice must be stopped at once as it is most irregular and tends to lessen the pride and esteem which should be characteristic of all who are privileged to wear the king's uniform.

No. 4.—The use of Nicholls Oval has been secured for the Trooping of the Colours by the regiment on Victoria Day.

No. 5.—The following are taken on the strength of the regiment: D.Co. Ptes. Murray and Waterman.

No. 6.—The respective companies will parade at the drill hall on Thursdays at 8 p.m. for company drill.

No. 7.—The commanding officer has been pleased to make the following promotions: B Co., to be Sergeant, Corporal H. Stanton; vice-sergt. G. Payne resigned; D. Co., to be Corporal, provisionally, Pte. B. Caniff; to be Sergeant, Sergt. Waterman; E. Co., to be Corporal, provisionally, Pte. C. Rubidge vice, Abbot and Pte. Morrison to complete company establishment.

By order,
D. WALKER,
Capt. and Adjutant.

To Revivify Royal College.

Kingston, May 11.—The Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons is to be revived, with Senator Sullivan, one of the charter members, as president. This corporation has a royal charter, issued in 1866. Since the Queen's Medical College resumed its relation with Queen's the Royal College has been dormant. It is now proposed to revive it and utilize its examining powers, in granting fellowships and the degree of F.R.C.P.S. This degree can only be secured on examination of a high standard and a thesis by doctors of five years' standing. Since 1892 the Royal College has conferred one or two degrees, but now it is proposed to thoroughly reorganize it and make it a live corporation.

Capt. Richardson Dead.

Victoria, B.C., May 11.—Capt. Richardson, Secretary of the Provincial Bureau of Mines, died suddenly of heart failure yesterday morning. He was formerly private secretary to Lieut.-Governor Dewdney. He held a captain's commission in the 35th Regiment of Infantry of the British Army, and saw service in several campaigns.

Strike at Power Works.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 11.—The strikers are the rock-drillers and helpers, the steam engineers and the hoist runners. An officer of one of the unions says "our hundred men are out, but contractors claim that not nearly so large a number have struck. The drillers, engineers and hoist runners demand thirty cents per hour. They are getting 25. The drillers' helpers are getting 20 cents an hour and demand 23. The men began to quit on Saturday and Monday morning the strike was in full force. The laborers are all at work yet, but they may go out for an increase from 15 to 17½ cents per hour. That would mean trouble

Brazilians Rout Peruvians.

New York, May 11.—A despatch from Manaos announces that an important battle has been fought between Brazilian forces and the Peruvians near the River Chandless. The Peruvians were completely routed. The Brazilian troops, under Gen Meldiros, started from Nanaos, going directly to the front.

Died a Pauper.

San Francisco, Cal., May 11.—Henry Fuchs, who made a fortune by the invention of barbed wire and formerly was a partner of John W. Gates, has died in the poorhouse.

What Mexico Proposes.

Ottawa, May 10.—The Mexican representatives, Senors Mendez and Armendaris held conference yesterday with the Minister of Trade and Commerce.

Their proposition is that Canada and Mexico shall grant a subsidy of $50,000 a year each for a line of steamers from Halifax to Mexico, and a similar subsidy of $100,000 equally apportioned for a steamship line between Vancouver and Mexican ports on the Pacific.

IS THE BEET SUGAR INDUSTRY FEASIBLE?

The Globe Thinks Ontario Especially Adopted to Grow Beets.

The Production and Quality of Cane and Beet Sugar Company.

The latest results from the beet sugar industry in Ontario show that the Province is exceptionally suited to its development. During the past year the beets consumed in the Berlin factory have averaged, by analysis, over fifteen per cent. of sugar. This is the highest average yielded by beets in any part of the world, with the exception of the Irrigated lands on the Pacific slope. There the control of moisture by the irrigation ditches enables the cultivators to regulate the growth of their crop, while the alternation of cold nights and warm days is favourable to the production of sugar. But even this crop, though showing a higher percentage of sugar by analysis, does not make as good a yield as the beets grown in Ontario. The relative purity more than counteracts the higher percentage of sugar in western beets when both are submitted to the practical test of the factory. The average yield last year in the Berlin factory was 246.6 pounds of sugar per ton. The total output of the factory was about 7,000,000 pounds of sugar from 28,240 tons of beets, these being purchased at prices, according to sugar contents, averaging over $5 per ton.

The extent to which the beet has superseded the cane in sugar production speaks well for the future of the industry, especially when the soil and climate of Ontario are so well adapted for producing the raw material. It is roughly estimated that about 75 per cent. of the sugar used in Canada is from the beet. In 1903 the raw cane sugar imported largely for refining in Canadian factories aggregated about 68,800 tons, which is far below the total import of raw beet sugar from Germany alone. The beet-sugar imports for refining were about 98,000 tons, and this, with the domestic production, makes up the bulk of our sugar supply. By chemical analysis the crystalized or granulated sugar from cane and beet are identical. In the coarser or raw products the cane can be better utilized for domestic purposes, and comparisons instituted are apt to be misleading. The chief use of the by-products of beet-sugar factories is found in cattle-feeding, and already there is a demand from stock-owners greater than the factories can meet. There were naturally an array of unforeseen difficulties to be overcome in the establishment of beet-sugar factories in Ontario. But, with all the natural conditions favourable, the industry should fulfil all the hopeful predictions of its foundera.

TO PUT EDITOR IN JAIL.

Ed. Dunlop Protests Against Editorial Comparison of His Expenses.

Toronto, May 10.—E. A. Dunlop, M.P.P., for North Renfrew, seeks to commit Rev. J. A. Macdonald, editor of The Toronto Globe, to jail as a result of certain editorial comments made on Friday in that paper in regard to Dunlop's election expenses. Application was made yesterday at Osgoode Hall by Barrister Hellmuth for an order of committal. The Court of Appeal seemed in doubt as to the procedure. It is requested that the committment be made on the grounds of contempt of court. Mr. Hellmuth pointing out that the statements would have a tendency to prejudice the election protest against his client in September.

Chief Justice Moss said judgment would be given to-day. Mr. Macdonald was not present.

DEATH OF M. PLESKE.

Late Russian Minister of Finance Succumbs to Accident.

London, May 10.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company from St. Petersburg announces the death of M. Pleske, late Minister of Finance.

M. Pleske, who was born in 1852, was the son of a Russian general of German extraction. He entered the Ministry of Finance when twenty years of age, and was credited with being a disciple of M. De Witte, whom he succeeded as Minister of Finance. In December last M. Pleske became seriously ill as the result of an injury to his spine in a carriage accident some time previously. He was then transferred to the Council of the Empire.

VERY FINE PICTURE OF RUGBY CLUB

On Exhibition at Macdonald's Drug Store—Mr. Roy's Fine Work.

In the window of McDonald's Drug Store is exhibited a very fine picture of the Peterborough Rugby Football Club of 1903. The team, it will be remembered was not successful in landing the intermediate O.R.F.U. championship, but nevertheless put up a good fight and won several games. The picture is the work of Mr. R. M. Roy and is in perfect keeping with the usual very excellent work of this artist. Each individual player in football costume has been splendidly photographed as also the officers of the club. The picture has been greatly admired today by passers-by. The playing members in the group, Ford, Lee, Graham, Dillon, Noble, Rickey, Crowley, Hurtubise, Desmarais, Meagher, Cameron, Burnham, Craig, Morgan, Marshal, Thornton and Grough. The officers are Messrs. R. A. Morrow, Hon. President; E. S. Clarry, President; F. A. Clarke, Vice-President, and C. G. Graham, Secretary-Treasurer.

INSURANCE COMPANIES RAISE FIRE RATES.

Mercantile and Manufacturing Risks Have to Pay Higher Premiums.

The Former Raised 15 Cents and the Latter 20 per Cent—Increase went into Effect May 9th.

The owners of property in Peterborough will have to face an advance in the rate of fire insurance held on their property. The Canadian Fire Underwriters' Association has just issued a new tariff, and in it the rates in all but a few of the larger cities are raised. In Peterborough the increase amounts to 15c on mercantile risks and 20 per cent. on manufacturing risks.

This action on the part of the Underwriters' Association has been made necessary by the many serious fires throughout Canada recently, and Peterborough property owners have the satisfaction of knowing that other towns are in similar or even less enviable positions.

This is a general increase, with the exception of some of the larger cities which have been specially dealt with, and which have to pay a much higher rate in their business sections.

All agents in Peterborough of companies controlled by the association have received the new tariff of rates.

There are a few companies with agencies in town, which are not in the association. These companies may still accept risks at their old rates should they wish to do so, but in the majority of cases these companies follow the rates fixed by the companies in the Underwriters' Association.

In the increases noted above and which came into effect May 9th, there are two or three exceptions: Saw mills, of which there are two here, and buildings equipped with sprinkler system. There are four of these here: The Cereal Works; Cordage Works, Auburn Woollen Mills and Canadian General Electric Works.

It is explained in justifying this increase in the rate that the Insurance Companies have lost this year already more than the premiums for the whole year amount to, and the year has only nicely started. The large companies doing business in this country have not paid on an average more that two per cent. dividends to shareholders, which record is not one to tempt investors to take stock in fire insurance companies. In England the losses are much smaller than they are in Canada, because the buildings generally are more substantially constructed, and greater care is taken by the companies to prevent fire spreading. If the same precautions were taken here the losses would be much smaller and as a result the rates would be much lower.

It will be learned with pleasure, no doubt, that there will be no increase in the rate for residences.

RECITAL WAS A GREAT SUCCESS.

A Delightful Programme was Furnished Last Evening

In the Y. M. C. A. Hall—Artists Showed Rare Talent—Rev. Dr. Pringle Gave a Short Interesting Address at the Close.

A fairly large number of the music lovers of Peterborough were present at the recital in the Y. M. C. A. last evening given by Miss Georgie Dennistoun and Miss Alice Roger and Mr. J. Laurence. From a musical standpoint, the affair was a rich treat and the audience, which was a most appreciative one, was highly delighted with the artistic work of the three musicians who are certainly a credit to the musical circles of our town. It was a pleasure indeed to be privileged to listen to a programme of such excellent merit by local talent, and it went to show that for high-class piano playing and vocal music of the same type we have not to leave our own town. More recitals of this nature should be given that the public may have further opportunity of appreciating the talented ability of Peterborough's artists.

The two lady pianists showed themselves to be thoroughly equipped to appear in recital and their playing, whether in solo or in duo numbers, was worthy of every laudation. The technique displayed last evening by each of the artists was quite brilliant the touch was delicate and elastic and the runs were executed with a remarkable precision and evenness of tempo. The attack was firm and tone production steady. Each player displayed a fine musical temperament and the selections were tastefully shaded, the pedal being used very effectively to add to the expression and successful manner of interpretation. The duo numbers were remarkable for the sympathy of execution displayed and the general effect was very pleasing. The solo numbers were enthusiastically received and were well deserving of the applause. Miss Dennistoun's interpretation of Bethoven's sonata, "Moonlight," Op. 27, No. 2, was quite brilliant and her execution was in masterly style. This number, it will be remembered, was played by M. Rensted, who appeared here with Muriel Foster and those who heard it last evening again were strongly of the opinion that it did not suffer from comparison. Miss Rogers' solo numbers were also very fine, and after playing a trio of selections she was forced to respond to an enthusiastic demand for an encore. Every selection was a treat and the audience gave expression to their pleasure in an enthusiastic manner.

Mr. J. Laurence, the popular tenor, added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening by his delightful vocal numbers. Mr. Laurence was not in the best of voice last evening owing to a cold, but he, nevertheless, scored a pronounced success in his solos. His voice is one of remarkable purity and sweetness and he used it to the best of advantage. A very pleasing feature of his singing is his perfect enunciation and very refined mode of expression, which, combined with the fine tenor quality of his voice, makes his singing of a most popular nature. Mr. Laurence's interpretation of Scotch songs is superb and he is also very successful in ballad singing. Two of his numbers last evening were compositions of Miss Alice Roger. Mr. Laurence was encored upon each appearance.

The programme was as follows:

Pianoforte Duo,—
Improv. on a Gavotte by Gluck, op 125 Reinecke
Misses G. Dennistoun and A. Roger.

Misses G. Dennistoun and A. Roger.

After the recital, Rev. Dr. Pringle gave a short address. He had been delighted with the music he had listened to and thought it appropriate to say something along this line in reference to the Yukon Territory, where he had spent so many years. Music was not lacking in that far away territory, and among the gold seekers there were some very fine musicians. In Glenora, he had heard the finest music he ever expected to hear in this world; there was an organist, late of one of the largest churches in the North of England, a tenor, formerly leading soloist in the Abbey Choir at Dumfermine; one of the finest sopranos in Western Canada, and another, also a soprano, who was soloist in the Westminster Quartette in Seattle and at present in a large church in Boston. At Atlin, where Dr. Pringle preached in a large tent to hundreds of willing hearers, was a cornet player whose playing would in the evening often attract a crowd of 1200 people, nearly all men, who would join heartily in singing. The speaker gave a description of his tent where he preached, a milk box being used for a pulpit; on preaching once along the Ottawa river, the speaker found a brandy box as the top of a pulpit. The singing of the congregation which gathered in this tent was an inspiration to him, the volume of sound being immense. There would be on the average six or seven hundred people within the tent and as many outside, unable to gain admission. These people were above the average as regards intelligence, and in morality were fully up to the standard of the East.

Dr. Pringle also spoke briefly upon the gold fields in the Klondyke, which was the district, about 30 miles square, between the Indian River, about 28 miles above Dawson City, and the Klokdyke River, which runs into the Yukon at Dawson. In six years, $125,000,000 worth of gold had been mined. The speaker explained the method of securing the gold from the creeks, and the process of cleaning it. He had great hopes for the future of that territory.

BICYCLISTS IN TROUBLE AT POLICE COURT.

They Must not ride on Hunter St. Bridge Sidewalk.

Fines Imposed for Wheeling on Sidewalk and not Carrying a Bell—A Vag Remanded.

Bicycles are a great thing, but they sometimes prove a little more expensive than is the calculation. The Chief of Police likes to ride and himself and likes to see others improving their health by doing likewise, but the Chief always has a loud sounding bell on his handle bars, never rides too rapidly and last but not least has never been seen riding on the sidewalk which is more than a great many other bike artists can say. And as the Chief does not think it just the right thing for others to be enjoying the luxury of a spin on the sidewalk if he cannot do the same, he proceeds to summon those to court who do so, for the simple reason that there is a bylaw prohibiting riding on the sidewalk and calling a for all wheelmen to carry a bell.

The other day the Chief happened to be in Ashburnham and he noticed Pennington Alexander riding across the Hunter street bridge, but instead of keeping to the roadway, which is smooth enough for any bicycle the rider resorted to the passage-way for pedestrians and was consequently riding on the sidewalk. He appeared before the Magistrate at the Police Court this morning and the usual fine of $2.00 was imposed.

It is understood that bicyclists frequently take the sidewalk while crossing the Hunter street bridge and as the walk is quite narrow it is difficult and even dangerous to pass people walking. The roadway is plenty smooth enough for bicyclists and those who have occasion to cross this bridge should take warning that it will cost them $2.00 or more if they don't keep clear of the sidewalk. A word to the wise is sufficient.

If all who transgress the bylaw against sidewalk wheel riding were fined $2 each there would be a larger amount in the town treasury than is paid by the 600 dogs in town whose owners have not bought tags.

As the question of bicycle riding on the sidewalk was to be considered this morning, it was thought appropriate to have a case of a bellless bicycle also, so a man named Bell was charged with riding a wheel on which was no bell. The defendant claimed there was a bell on the bicycle, which he claimed was not his own, but was simply borrowed for a few minutes, but the Magistrate ruled that the bell must be one that would ring and he imposed a fine of $2.00 and costs, or $4.60 altogether. This is the first bell case this season and it should be the last.

Thomas Stewart was charged with vagrancy and was remanded to jail until next Saturday.

NO VICTORIA DAY PICNIC AT LAKEFIELD,

Rev. Father Phelan will not Hold the Annual Picnic This Year.

In answer to a question as to what would be the programme at his Lakefield picnic this year Rev. Father Phelan said he had decided that there would be no picnic in Lakefield on Victoria Day this year. This will be something of a disappointment to many who have greatly enjoyed these picnics in former years.

HYPERBOREAN TROUT FISHING.

A Peterborough Party Tempts Trout in Lake St. Peter.

On Friday last a party left Peterborough for the north country—Lake St. Peter, about 30 miles north of Bancroft. The party which was the guest of the Bancroft Club, consisted of Mr. W. H. Meldrum, Alderman Stewart, Toronto; S. Harnot, Hastings county; J. M. Brooks, Arthur Blade and others.

To reach the fishing grounds required a drive of 30 miles north from Bancroft, rib-wrecking roads over rocks, to which the rocky roads to Dublin would be an asphalt pavement. But there is splendid trout fishing which makes the journey well worth while. However, the luck was with the fish and not the fishers—it was rather too early in the season. Mr. Meldrum came home this morning, but the rest of the party remained waiting for the "speckled beauties" to get ready to rise to the fly.

PRETTY WEDDING ON CHAMBERLEN STREET.

Miss Mary Booth United in Marriage to F. A. Thomas of Liverpool

On Tuesday evening, May 10th, a very interesting wedding was celebrated at the residence of Mr. Jas. Booth, 62 Chamberlain street, when his eldest daughter Mary, was united in marriage to Mr. F. A. Thomas, of Liverpool, England. While the wedding march was being played by Master Ernest Hutel, the bride entered the room leaning on the arm of her father, the bridal party standing under an arch draped with the Union Jack. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. H. Brace, of the Park street Baptist church, of which both are members. The bride, who looked charming, wore a suit of pearl grey voile over blue and a white silk waist, and carried a bouquet of white roses. She was assisted by her sister, Miss Sarah, who was similarly dressed and carried pink and white carnations. Little Miss Eva Booth acted as flower girl and in her little silk costume, looked like a fairy carrying the ring embedded in a bouquet of flowers. The groom was assisted by his brother, Mr. S. L. Thomas.

The bride was the recipient of many handsome and costly presents, among which was a china tea set from the young ladies of the lamp department of the C. G. E. Co. as well as a very beautiful lamp, a celery and fruit set combined, the gift of the groomsman. After congratulations were over the party retired to the dining room where supper was served to about forty-five guests.

Those invited from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas and Miss Sarah Liverpool, Eng.; Mr. and Mrs. W. Booth and Miss Annie, of Green River; Mr. and Mrs. A. Booth, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. J. Stiner, of Uxbridge; Mr. and Mrs. J. Stiner and Miss Lillie, of Uxbridge; Miss Margaret Oldham, of Montreal; Miss Eva Beckett, of Ferne, B. C., and Mr. J. S. Booth, of Mt. Albert.

THE EXPLORER DEAD

Pleurisy Claims the Man Who Found Livingstone.

STANLEY CONSCIOUS TO END

Sir Henry Able to Recognize His Wife, and He Made a Request About His Burial Before He Passed Away—Wonderful Career of Man Who Explored the Dark Continent.

London, May 11.—Sir Henry M. Stanley, the African explorer, passed away peacefully shortly after six o'clock yesterday. He was quite conscious to the last and was able to recognize his wife.

Before he died Sir Henry expressed a wish to be buried at his country seat, Furze Hill, Pirbright, Surrey. The question, however, is being discussed of burying him beside Livingstone, in Westminster Abbey.

Stanley's Career.

Sir Henry Morton Stanley, the most famous of modern explorers, was born of poor parents near Denbigh, Wales, in 1841, and at first bore the name of John Rowlands. When about fifteen he worked his way as cabin boy to New Orleans, where he was employed by a merchant named Stanley, whose name he assumed. He served in the Confederate army in the Civil war, contributed to several journals, and in 1867 began his connection with The New York Herald. As its special correspondent he accompanied Lord Napier's Abyssinian expedition, and the first news of the fall of Magdala was conveyed to Britain by The New York Herald. Stanley next went to Spain for his paper, and in October, 1869, received from Mr. Gordon Bennett the laconic instruction, "Find Livingstone." But first he visited Egypt for the opening of the Suez Canal, and traveled through Palestine, Turkey, Persia and India. In January, 1871, he reached Zanzibar, and in March marched into the heart of Africa. On the 10th November he "found" Livingstone at Ujiji. The two explored the north of Lake Tanganyika, and settled that it had no connection with the Nile basin. In March, 1872, Stanley set out for the coast. On his arrival in England he was awarded the medal of the Royal Geographical Society, and his book, "How I Found Livingstone" had an enormous sale. An expedition under Stanley, who had followed the Ashanti campaign for The New York Herald, was fitted out jointly by The Herald and The Daily Telegraph to complete Livingstone's work, and in August, 1874, he left England for Bagamoyo. Thence he made for the Victoria Nyanza, circumnavigated the lake, formed a close friendship with King Mtesa of Uganda, next determined the shape of Lake Tanganyika, passed down the Lualaba to Nyangwe, and by a ten months' journey from Nyangwe traced the course of the Congo to the sea. Having published "Through the Dark Continent" in 1878, in 1879 he again went out to found, under the auspices of the King of the Belgians, the Congo Free State. He took part in the Congo Congress at Berlin in 1884-5, and lectured in Great Britain and America on his African work. In 1886 he was summoned from America to take command of the expedition for the relief of Emin Pasha. In March he, his officers, Soudanese soldiers, etc., landed at the mouth of the Congo. On the 15th of June the expedition had reached Yambuya, on the Aruwimi, where he left a part of his 650 men under Major Barttelot, and with 388 men marched into the forest. Disaster overtook the rear column, but after long delay news came that Emin and Stanley had joined hands on the shores of the Albert Nyanza. The return journey was made overland to the east coast, and Bagamoyo was reached in December, 1889. In 1890 he received in London a reception almost royal in its splendor. The Geographical Society gave him a special gold medal, and Oxford, Cambridge, Edinburgh and Durham conferred on him honorary degrees. That same year he married the clever artist, Miss Dorothy Tennant. In 1891-2 he lectured in America and Australia. He was naturalized as a British subject in 1892, and stood unsuccessfully for North Lambeth in the Unionist interest; he was Member for Lambeth in the general election of 1895. Among his published books mentioned are a novel, "My Kalulu" (1873), "Comassie and Magdala" (1874), "The Congo" (1885), "In Darkest Africa, or the Rescue of Emin" (1890), "My Dark Companions and Their Strange Stories" (1893), and "My Early Travels in America and Asia" (1895).

FAILURE IN FALL WHEAT.

Wellington County Alone Gives Relief From the Gloomy Outlook.

Toronto, May 11.—From detailed reports received, coming from districts practically representing the present arable capacity of the Province, it will be seen that farmers all over have been hit hard with their winter wheat. From only one section—Wellington—does there come any relief to the prevailing gloom, and there present indications point to a splendid yield from a good average acreage.

There is substantially unanimity as to the cause of this unfortunate position of affairs this year. All agree that the young plants were killed through the formation of thick ice sheets close to the ground and the consequent smothering of the wheat. The passing of the snow found the wheat fields in bad color, and as they did not pick up, many farmers have already plowed them down and replanted with spring wheat, oats or barley.

In some quarters this pessimistic outlook is not fully concurred in. Many farmers persist in taking a more hopeful view of the situation, and are confident that the plants will actually make their appearance. Time alone will decide how much of truth there is in this more hopeful talk, and there will be a general hope that it may be justified in the early future. Meantime the recent high prices have tempted farmers to dispose of their last year crop, and the small yield now expected, unless it materially improves, will find them unprepared for the emergency.

RESTORING THE MONEY.

Mail Robbery Case Heard at Regina—Lawyer Bangs as Crown Witness.

Winnipeg, May 11.—Lawyer Bangs, released on bail in connection with the Wilcox trial, gave sensational evidence at the hearing in Regina Monday. He appeared as a witness for the Crown, and admitted receiving money which he knew to be stolen, Wilcox, the accused, telling him where to find the hiding place of the Bank of Hamilton bills. At the conclusion Wilcox was committed for trial.

Given the protection of the Crown, Bangs said he had gone to a certain place to get the money. He was told by Wilcox the money was there and to go and get it. He heard of the loss of the money afterwards. He gave Wilcox $200. He knew he needed it for he had asked for it. He had no special authority to invest the money. Wilcox instructed him to get it changed. The amount that remained in the witness' control would be obtained and restored. Wilcox told the witness that the money was stolen when he directed him to the place where the money was.

No defence was offered, and accused was committed.

THE GENTLEMAN FROM INDIANA

By Booth Tarkington.

The man recovered, but that was no palliation of the offense to the mind of a hot eyed young man from the east who was besieging the county authorities for redress and writing brimstone and saltpeter for his paper. The powers of the county proving either lackadaisical or timorous, he appealed to those of the state, and he went every night to sleep at a farmhouse the owner of which had received a warning from the White Caps, and one night it befell that he was rewarded, for the raiders attempted an entrance. He and the farmer and the farmer's sons beat off the marauders and did a satisfactory amount of damage in return. Two of the White Caps they captured and bound, and others they recognized. Then the state authorities hearkened to the voice of the Herald and its owner. There were arrests, and in the course of time there was a trial. Every prisoner proved an alibi—could have proved a dozen—but the editor of the Herald, after virtually conducting the prosecution, went upon the stand and swore to man after man. Eight men went to the penitentiary on his evidence, five of them for twenty years. The Plattville brass band serenaded the editor of the Herald again.

There were no more raids, and the Six Crossroads men who were left kept to their hovels, appalled and shaken, but as time went by and left them unmolested they recovered a measure of their hardiness and began to think on what they should do to the man who had brought misfortune and terror upon them. For a long time he had been publishing their threatening letters and warnings in a column which he headed "Humor of the Day."

When the Briscoe buckboard had left the Crossroads far behind and had come in sight of Plattville Mr. Briscoe's visitor turned to Fisbee with a repetition of the shiver that the laughter of Mr. Skillett had caused her and said half under her breath, "I wish—I half wish—that we had not driven through there." She clasped Mr. Fisbee's hand gently. His eyes shone. He touched her fingers with a strange, shy reverence.

"You will meet him tomorrow," he said softly.

She laughed and pressed his hand. "I'm afraid not. I was almost at his side last night when Minnie asked him to call on me. He wasn't even interested enough to look at me."

* * * * * * *

Something over two hours later, as Mr. Tom Martin was putting things to rights in his domain, the Dry Goods Emporium, previous to his departure for the evening's gossip and checkers at the drug store, he stumbled over something soft lying on the floor behind a counter. The thing rose and would have evaded him, but he put out his hands and pinioned it and dragged it to the show window, where the light of the fading day defined his capture. The capture shrieked and squirmed and fought earnestly. Grasped by the shoulder, he held a lean, fierce eyed, undersized girl of fourteen clad in one ragged cotton garment, unless the coat of dust she wore over all might be esteemed another. Her cheeks were sallow, and her brow was already shrewdly lined, and her eyes were as hypocritical as they were savage. She was very thin and little, but old Tom's brown face grew a shade nearer white when the light fell upon her.

"You're no Plattville girl," he said sharply.

"You lie!" cried the child. "You lie! I am! You leave me go, will you? I'm lookin' fer pap, and you're a liar!"

"You crawled in here to sleep after your seven mile walk, didn't you?" Martin went on.

"You're a liar!" she screamed.

"Look here," said Martin slowly, "you go back to Six Crossroads and tell your folks that if anything happens to a hair of Mr. Harkless' head every shanty in your town will burn, and your grandfather, and your father, and your uncles, and your brothers, and your cousins, and your second cousins, and your third cousins will never have the good luck to see the penitentiary. Reckon you can remember that message? But before I let you go to carry it I guess you might as well hand out the paper they sent you ever here with."

His prisoner fell into a paroxysm of rage.

"I'll git pap to kill ye!" she shrieked, striking at him. "I don't know nothin' 'bout yer Six Crossroads, ner no papers, ner yer Mr. Harkels neither, ner you, ye razorbacked ole devil. Pap 'll kill ye! Leave me go! Leave me go! Pap 'll kill ye! I'll git him to kill ye!" Suddenly her struggles ceased, her eyes closed, her tense little muscles relaxed, and she drooped toward the floor. The old man shifted his grip to support her, and in an instant she twisted out of his hands and sprang out of reach, her eyes shining with triumph and venom.

"Yahay, Mr. Razorback!" she shrilled. "How's that fer high? Pap 'll kill ye Sunday! Ye'll be screechin' in hell in a week, an' we 'ull set up an' drink our applejack an' laff!"

Martin pursued her lumberingly, but she was agile as a monkey and ran dodging up and down the counters and mocked him, singing, "Gran'mammy, Tipsy Toe." At last she tired of the game and darted out of the door, flinging back a hoarse laugh at him as she went. He followed, but when he reached the street she was a mere shadow flitting under the courthouse trees. He looked after her forebodingly, then turned his eyes toward the Palace hotel on the corner. The editor of the Herald was seated under the wooden awning, with his chair tilted back against a post, gazing dreamily at the murky red afterglow in the west.

"What's the use of tryin' to bother him with it?" old Tom asked himself. "He'd only laugh." He noted that young William Todd, the drug, book and wall paper clerk, sat near the editor, whittling absently. Martin chuckled. "William's turn tonight," he murmured. "Well, the boys 'll take care of him." He locked the doors of the Emporium, tried them and dropped the keys in his pocket.

As he crossed the square to the drug store, where his cronies awaited him,

"I'll git pap to kill ye!"

he turned again to look at the figure of the musing journalist. "He ought to go out there," he said and shook his head sadly. "I don't reckon Plattville's any too spry for that young man. Five years he's be'n here. Well, it's a good thing for us, but I guess it ain't exactly high life for him." He kicked a stick out of his way impatiently. "Now, where'd that imp run to?" he grumbled.

The imp was lying under the courthouse steps. When the sound of Martin's footsteps had passed away she crept cautiously from her hiding place and stole through the ungroomed grass to the fence opposite the hotel. Here she stretched herself flat in the weeds and took from the tangled masses of her hair, where it was tied, with a string, a rolled up, crumpled slip of greasy paper. With this in her fingers she lay peering under the fence, her fierce eyes fixed unwinkingly on the editor of the Herald.

The street ran flat and gray in the slowly gathering dusk straight to the western horizon, where the sunset embers were strewn in long, glowing, dark red streaks. The maple trees were clean cut silhouettes against the pale rose and pearl tints of the sky above, and a tenderness seemed to shimmer in the air. The editor often vowed to himself he would watch no more sunsets in Plattville. He thought they were making him morbid. Could he have shared them it would have been different.

His long, melancholy face grew longer and more melancholy in the twilight, while William Todd patiently whittled near by. Plattville had often discussed the editor's habit of silence, and possibly the reason Mr. Harkless was such a quiet man was that there was nobody for him to talk to; but his hearers did not agree, for the population of Carlow county was a thing of pride, being greater than that of several bordering counties.

A bent figure came slowly down the street, and William Todd hailed it cheerfully. "Evening, Mr. Fisbee."

"A good evening, Mr. Todd," answered the old man, pausing. 'Ah, Mr. Harkless, I was looking for you." He had not seemed to be looking for anything beyond the boundaries of his own dreams, but he approached Harkless, tugging nervously at some papers in his pocket. "I have completed my notes for our Saturday edition. It was quite easy, sir. There is much doing."

"Thank you, Mr. Fisbee," said Harkless as he took the manuscript. "Have you finished your paper on the earlier Christian symbolism? I hope the Herald may have the honor of printing it." This was a form they used.

"I shall be the recipient of honor, sir," returned Fisbee. "Your kind offer will speed my work; but I fear, Mr. Harkless, I very much fear, that your kindness alone prompts it, for, deeply as I desire it, I cannot truthfully say that my essays appear to increase our circulation." He made an odd, troubled gesture as he went on: "They do not seem to read them here, although Mr. Martin assures me that he carefully reperuses my article on Chaldean decoration whenever he rearranges his exhibition windows." He plodded on a few paces, then turned irresolutely.

"What is it, Fisbee?" asked Harkless.

Fisbee stood for a moment as though about to speak; then he smiled faintly, shook his head and went his way. Harkless waved his hand to him in farewell and, drawing a pencil and a pad from his pocket, proceeded to injure his eyes in the waning twilight by the editorial perusal of the items his staff had just left in his hands. He glanced over them meditatively, making alterations here and there.

The last one Fisbee had written as follows:

Miss Sherwood of Rouen, whom Miss Briscoe knew at the Misses Jennings' finishing school in New York, is a guest of Judge Briscoe's household.

Fisbee's items were written in ink. There was a blank space beneath the last. At the bottom of the page something had been scribbled in pencil. Harkless vainly tried to decipher it; but the twilight had fallen too deep, and the writing was too faint, so he struck a match and held it close to the paper. The action betokened only a languid interest. But when he caught sight of the first of the four subscribed lines he sat up straight in his chair, with a sharp ejaculation. At the bottom of Fisbee's page was written in a dainty feminine hand of a type he had not seen for years:

'The time has come," the walrus said,
"To talk of many things—
Of shoes and ships and sealing wax
And cabbages and kings."

He put the paper in his pocket and set off rapidly down the village street. At his departure William Todd looked up quickly. Then he got upon his feet, with a yawn, and quietly followed the editor. In the dusk a tattered little figure rose up from the weeds across the way and stole noiselessly after William. He was in his shirt sleeves, his waistcoat unbuttoned and loose. On the nearest corner Mr. Todd encountered a fellow townsman who had been pacing up and down in front of a cottage crooning to a protestive baby held in his arms. He had paused in his vigil to stare after Harkless.

"Where's he bound fer, William?" inquired the man with the baby.

"Briscoes'," answered William, pursuing his way.

"I reckoned he would be," observed the other, turning to his wife, who sat on the doorstep. "I reckoned so when I see that lady at the lecture last night."

The woman rose to her feet. "Hi, Bill Todd!" she said. "What ye got on to the back of yer vest?" William paused, put his hand behind him and encountered a paper pinned to the dangling strap of his waistcoat. The woman ran to him and unpinned the paper. It bore a writing. They took it to where the yellow lamplight shone out through the open door and read:

der Sir—FoLer harkls aL yo ples an gaRd him yoR best venagens is closteR harkls not Got 8 das to live we come in wite.

"What ye think, William?" asked the man with the baby anxiously. But the woman gave the youth a sharp push with her hand. "They never dast to do it!" she cried; "never in the world! You hurry, Bill Todd. Don't leave him out of your sight one second."

It Scares People

Who come of a consumptive family when they begin to cough and the lungs are painful. But it is a fact beyond disproof that consumption is not and cannot be inherited. The microbe which breeds disease must absolutely be received by the individual before consumption can be developed.

Men and women who have been afflicted with obstinate coughs, bronchitis, bleeding of the lungs, emaciation and weakness, have been perfectly and permanently cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It cures the cough, heals the lungs, and builds up the body with solid flesh.

$3000 FORFEIT

Will be paid by the World's Dispensary Medical Association, of Buffalo, N. Y., if they cannot show the original signature of the individual volunteering the testimonial below, and also of the writers of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing, thus proving their genuineness.

"When I commenced taking your medicines, eighteen months ago, my health was completely broken down," writes Mrs Cora L. Sunderland, of Chaneyville Calvert Co., Md. "At times I could not even walk across the room without pains in my chest. The doctor who attended me said I had lung trouble, and that I would never be well again. Altogether I have taken eighteen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and five vials of 'Pellets.' I am now almost entirely well, and do all my work without any pain whatever, and can run with more ease than I could formerly walk."

Can Consumption be cured?

Science says "Yes." Science also says that Cod Liver Oil, Iron and Phosphorus are the remedies which must be used if a cure is to be effected.

Ferrol is the only preparation combining these remedies. Fortunately Ferrol is pleasant to take and easy to digest. Send for tasting sample to

QUOTATIONS ON THE WALL STREET MARKET.

Prices Ruled a Little Firmer in New York.

The Fluctuations of the Leading Stocks

The Wall street Market was again this morning rather dull and uninteresting, although there was a slight increase in the volume of business over that of yesterday. Sales to noon to-day were 74,100.

Metropolitan was a rather strong issue, at the opening coming out at 109 1-2 and running up to 109 7-8. However it soon reverted to its opening quotation. Rig Gas was another strong issue, opening at 103 1-2 and advancing to 107. The remainder of the list was featureless.

The market sold off until a few minutes before the close, when a strong rally occurred, copper taking the lead and touching 49.

Sales to noon 74,100

Messrs. McMillan and Maguire this morning received the following:—

The stock market is still extremely dull but the volume of trading increases immediately whenever the market develops any tendency. There was a little weakness late yesterday afternoon, prices during the half hour declined probably 1 1-2 per cent. all round. The dealing during the last hour were practically equally to the aggregate of the previous four hours. At mid-day business was purely nominal with only 11,000 shares for the first hour's record. Not much importance can be attached to the day's liquidation. The heaviest trading was in Con Gas. The technical situation of which remains unchanged. There was nothing authorative from Albany all day, although it was almost universally believed that the Remsen bill either had been or would be voted. The expectation of a poor government crop report was quoted as a nominal influence and that is all that it was. The money market is stationary on the basis of 1 1-4 per cent. Easy money rates rather than the rule of requiring—a reserve, is at the bottom of the additional withdrawals of trust companies from the New York clearing house.

TAPE.

To Messrs. McMillan and Maguire:—New York, N. Y., May 11.—Attention is called to the fact to-day that the crop conditions along the lines of the roads west of the Mississippi river are better than elsewhere, particularly in the north half of the section mentioned, and some buying of the grangers stock will be sure under these circumstances, according to our information.

FIN BUREAU.

New York, May 11, 1904.—Stocks acted better than might have been expected from the opening and traders were in two minds whether to follow what looked like fairly active lead in places. The two houses most prominent in buying of Con. Gas are credited with good deal of standard oil business. N.Y.C. was heavy but inactive although the expected new financing accounts in some measure for recent selling. Some short covering was reported in Metropolitan.

D. J.

BAND OF OLDEST SCOTTISH REGIMENT.

Black Watch Band to Tour Canada During Coming Summer.

Toronto, May 11.—The Black Watch Band, which will sail for Canada on August 18th, belongs to the oldest Scottish regiment in the Army. The Black Watch was formed in the early days of Scotland to guard the border and was subsequently merged into the British Army early in the Eighteenth Century. The Regiment was subsequently entitled the 42nd Highlanders, but has always preserved its historic name. Its history is as glorious as any in the annals of the Army and there is no great war since Britain was known as such in which the Black Watch has not taken a heroic and distinguished position. On their forthcoming visit to Canada the Band will be accompanied by a commissioned officer in the person of Major Rose. Both the brass and the pipe bands will cross the Atlantic and in spite of many requests from the United States the tour will be confined to Canada, and will be under the direction of Mr. Stewart Houston, of Toronto.

BUY SEPTEMBER WHEAT

We believe purchases of Sept. wheat below 80c will show ten points profit before the option expires. With existing conditions cash wheat is not likely to fall below 90c during 1904 and Sept. is cheap at present prices. We buy wheat in lots of 1 M bush. and upwards on three cent margins for Sept. or 5 for July.

LATEST SPORT

FOOTBALL.

This evening at 6 o'clock sharp at the Nicholl's Oval, for the first time this season, the Quakers and Caughnawaga football teams will meet in a Midland League game. These teams have both made a good showing in the games in which they have participated. On Saturday Caughnawaga defeated Harwood 3-0, and Quakers played a tie game with Keene, having all the best of the play. It looks as if the district winner would be either Caughnawaga or Quakers and this game between these teams is bound to be exceedingly interesting. The game to-night will be refereed by Mr. Art Noble, vice president of the League.

• • • •

The Caughnawaga team judging from the manner in which they trimmed Harwood on Saturday, must know a few things about the game and will put up a great struggle against the strong Quaker team this evening.

• • • •

There will be one game in town on Saturday when Harwood plays the Quakers. The Y.M.C.A. team goes to Omemee on that date.

• • • •

When a man shoots on goal and his shot hits the post with the goal-keeper at the opposite end of the goal, the man who made the shot feels like saying a few nice things.

• • • •

Some players have the idea that a punch in the breathing apparatus is worth two kicks in the shins.

• • • •

The way some players bat the ball about with their craniums is a cause of wonderment to many spectators who consider the weight of a mosquito almost unbearable, especially if the hair has a tendency to be absent.

• • • •

Nothing makes a player feel so cheap as to haul off and miss the ball at a critical moment and a chance for a goal in sight.

• • • •

Some players would rather knock the daylights out of an opponent and receive a cheer from his team's supporters than make the pass which resulted in a goal for his side. A player's worth is not judged by his ability to "knock" his adversary.

• • • •

Players should practice shooting low on goal, for too many shots go over the posts.

• • • •

Many players try to get too close to the goal before shooting and then they aim straight at the goal-keeper as though to knock him clean through the goal. More goals will be scored by shooting at the vicinity of the posts.

• • • •

The Quakers will fire up in their game with the Coughnawagas to-night as follows:—Goal, E. Belleghem; backs, B. Simpson, J. Doris; half-backs, H. Fitzgerald, W. Parnell, M. Guerin; forwards—centre, J. Guerin; right wing, W. Perdue, L. Brooks; left wings, C. Fitzgerald, E. Renton.

GOLF.

The first match of the season will be played to-morrow afternoon on the links. This is to be a handicap round open to all members of the Ladies' Golf Club and all who wish to enter should be at the club house at three o'clock. After the match there will be tea, to which all members of the Peterborough Golf Club are invited.

LACROSSE.

A copy of the Examiner printed 28 years ago contains an item which may prove of interest to the sport-loving element of to-day. The gentlemen who are mentioned are still active supporters of Canada's national summer game.

The Examiner says:—

Social Hop.

A social hop under the auspices of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, took place in Bradburn's Hall on Wednesday evening of last week. Between seventy and eighty couples were present, and a pleasant and enjoyable time was spent. We are pleased to know it was a financial success as well. The officers of the Club and the Committee have reason to congratulate themselves on the success attending their first effort in this line.

Gymnasium and Club Rooms.

A meeting of the members of the Club was held on Monday evening in the "Oriental" House, at which a goodly number were present,—the President, Mr. H. LeBrun, in the chair. After reading minutes of former meeting, the Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. R. H. Fortye, presented a report from the "hop" Committee, showing a handsome balance in favour of the funds of the Club; also a report of the past season's transactions, which was very satisfactory. The institution of club-rooms and gymnasium was discussed, and a committee appointed to make the necessary enquiries and to report to an adjourned meeting to be called by the President. The Club's record during the past season has been an extremely favourable one, and it is hoped that next year they will be able to show an equally clean sheet.

LAWN TENNIS.

The B.A.C.-A.F.F. Tennis Club will meet to-night at the Y.M.C.A. at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to be present as important business is to be transacted.

BASEBALL.

The George Street School put the North Ward School out of the running for the School League championship, by defeating them on Saturday in a very close contest by the score of 20-19. The winners lined up as follows:—H. Harrison, c; S. Borrodaile, p; C. Roy, 1 b; R. Wilson, 2 b; C. Nicholls, 3 b; R. Little, r. f.; A. Wade, l. f. The feature of the game was the fine playing of Borrodaile and Roy.

• • • •

Manager Whitcroft will place one of the strongest teams that have represented Peterborough for some years on the field in Saturday's game with the Toronto Pirates.

• • • •

George Street Guild Baseball team will practise to-night at 6.45 at the Water street grounds.

• • • •

Lindsay has already won the game on the 24th with Peterborough — in their minds. The Post says:—It seems a long time to wait for oysters, doesn't it. But we will put Peterborough in a stew on May 24th.

HAPPY MOTHER'S TOUCHING STORY

Of Baby's Dreadful Suffering from Eczema.

CURED BY CUTICURA.

Now His Skin is as White as a Snow Flake.

"A terrible rash broke out on Charlie's poor little face and spread to his neck, chest and back. I had never seen anything quite like it before," writes Mrs. Helena Rath of 821 10th Ave., N. Y. City. "The skin rose in little lumps, and matter came out. My baby's skin was hot, and how he did suffer. He wouldn't eat, and night after night I walked the floor with him, weak as I was. Often I had to stop because I felt faint and my back throbbed with pain. But the worst pain of all was to see my poor little boy burning with those nasty sores. At last I was persuaded by a friend across the street to try the Cuticura Remedies. She gave me some Cuticura Ointment—I think the box was about half full—and a piece of Cuticura Soap. I followed the directions, bathing Charlie and putting that nice Ointment on the sores. Little by little, but so surely, Charlie and I both got more peace by day and more sleep by night. The sores sort of dried up and went away, and now Charlie is cured completely."

"Yes, that fat little boy by the window is Charlie, and his skin is as white as a snow flake, thanks to the Cuticura Remedies. I think everybody should know about the Soap and Ointment, and if it is going to help other mothers with sick babies, go ahead and publish what I have told you."

Cuticura Resolvent, Liquid and in the form of Chocolate Coated Pills, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Soap are sold throughout the world. Depots: London, 27 Charterhouse Sq.; Paris, 5 Rue de la Paix; Australia, R. Towns & Co., Sydney; Boston, 137 Columbus Ave. Potter Drug & Chemical Corp., Sole Proprietors.

Send for "All About the Skin, Scalp and Hair."

When the goal-tender makes a right hand swing with his fist at the ball and accidentally lands on the jaw of an adversary who is about to body check him into the middle of next week, the goal tender feels that he has saved his life and the other fellow doesn't feel anything at all,—that is, for about nine minutes.

THE JAPANESE STILL ADVANCING.

Steadily Moving Toward Port Arthur and Liaoyang.

TO CUT OFF VLADIVOSTOCK.

Skirmish at Anju—Force of Cossacks was Driven off by Japanese—Report From Tokio Gives Rise to a Rumour That the Russians are Destroying Their Port Arthur Fleet.

St. Petersburg, May 12.—Gen. Kuropatkin has telegraphed to the Emperor as follows:

"Reconnaissances between Salitzaipudza and Fengwangcheng failed to discover Japanese troops.

"A Japanese column of considerable strength advanced from Fengwangcheng May 8 in the direction of Haicheng.

"Pulancheng station is occupied by our frontier guards, and the damage to the railway by the Japanese as far as Sanchilipu has been repaired. All the work was carried out under the supervision of Lieut.-Col. Spiridonoff of the 4th Railway Battalion. This gallant officer undertook to get through to Port Arthur a train full of ammunition, which arrived at Liaoyang after the landing of the Japanese at Pitsewo. Every preparation was made to blow up the train in case of necessity in order to prevent its falling into the hands of the Japanese.

"The task was carried out and the self-sacrifice of the men of the 4th Railway Battalion was crowned with complete success.

"Shortly after 4 o'clock in the afternoon the train arrived at Jinchau station, forty miles from Port Arthur, where it was handed over to Gen. Jokoff, who immediately despatched it under proper protection to Port Arthur. Lieut.-Col. Spiridonoff returned on a locomotive.

"After landing at Pitsewo, the Japanese began marching toward Kinchau. On the night of May 10 their forward guard, consisting of about two regiments of infantry, passed the night on the heights above Sanchilipu, on the railroad about 60 miles from Port Arthur.

"About thirty Japanese vessels are lying north of Cape Terminal, on the east coast of the Liaotung Peninsula, below Pitsewo."

Marching Toward Haicheng.

St. Petersburg, May 12.—Lieut.-Gen. Sakharoff sent a despatch to the general staff yesterday, communicating a report of Lieut.-Gen. Zassalitch, dated May 10, as follows:

"Troops which appeared to be a division of the Japanese guard have been advancing for the last two days from Fengwangcheng westerly in the direction of Haicheng.

"It is reported that a Japanese force consisting of about a division of infantry intended to march on Saimadza with 40 guns and 1,500 cavalry.

"From reports received from the River Dazaw, it may be concluded that the Japanese army is concentrated in three groups, the two southern groups being on the lower section of the River Tayang at Hondouhanya, on the left bank of the river at Dayan and at Donamyo, in the same locality, and the northern group opposite Habalina, on the road from Fengwangcheng to Salidza, 14 to 16 miles from Fengwangcheng.

"It is difficult to obtain information from the local Chinese. In one case we discovered that the Chinese had warned Japanese troops of an ambuscade which had been arranged by Cossacks."

Small Brush at Anju.

Tokio, May 12.—Details of the attack by Russian Cossacks at Anju, Corea, Tuesday morning, were received here yesterday. The Russian cavalry numbered 200 men, and their attack was spirited. The Japanese garrison, resisted stoutly and succeeded in driving off the enemy. Later, Japanese reinforcements arrived from Pingyang.

Indications point to the presence of a Russian force at Yonghyang, between Anju and Unsan, but it probably is small. The Japanese report of the fighting at Anju does not give any losses.

To Cut Off Vladivostock.

Possiet, Siberia, May 12.—A Japanese torpedo boat made its appearance in the roadstead two days ago, and suspicious lights have been seen. Everything is quiet here, but all is in readiness to meet any landing of the enemy, whose probable purpose is the cutting off of Vladivostock.

Blowing Up Port Arthur Fleet.

Tokio, May 12.—Admiral Togo reports that since May 6 many explosions have been heard coming from the vicinity of Port Arthur, but their cause has not been ascertained. The impression here is that the Russians, despairing of their ability to defend Port Arthur, are destroying their ships before evacuating the place.

Unofficial Report.

Che Foo, May 12.—An unofficial Japanese despatch has been received here to the effect that the Russians have destroyed their fleet in Port Arthur.

Linger Near Newchwang.

Shanhaikwan, May 12.—The Russian troops are lingering in the vicinity of Newchwang, and some of them are returning to the city. The Russian artillery is ready for instant transportation. The reports of fighting at Liaoyang have not been confirmed. It is reported here that the Japanese are creeping closely to Port Arthur.

Battle of the Yalu Death List.

Antung, May 12.—An official report of casualties at the battle of the Yalu River shows a list of thirty-one Japanese officers killed and twenty-nine wounded, one hundred and sixty men killed and six hundred and sixty-six wounded. On the Russian side, 1,262 men were found dead on the field, four hundred and seventy-five wounded are in Japanese hospital, and one hundred and thirty-eight men were taken prisoners. Most of the Russians who surrendered at Hamatan, west of Chiulencheng, where the Japanese charged the Russian rear guard, were wounded.

Japs Only British Protectors.

London, May 12.—Earl Percy, Under Foreign Secretary, replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday, said the British Consul at Newchwang had not asked for a gunboat for the protection of British interests there, in view of the possibility of an attack by brigands. Newchwang being in the theatre of war, His Majesty's Government some time ago took the only step possible in requesting the belligerents to safeguard the interests of British subjects. The Russian Government promised that all precautions would be taken. Should the Russians retire from Newchwang, the Secretary did not suppose there would be any protection for British life or property against brigandage until the entry of the Japanese into the town.

Oldest K.C. Dead.

Toronto, May 12.—In the death of David Breakenridge Read, which occurred at an early hour yesterday morning at his residence, 40 Bread-albane street, the oldest K.C. in Ontario passed away, he having been given the title in 1858. Mr Read was in his 81st year. In November, 1902, he was stricken with apoplexy, since which time he was confined to his home. Mr. Read was born in Merrickville, Grenville County, in 1823 and he was an active figure in the municipal life of Toronto 15 years ago. He was the author of several Canadian historical works.

MAD ASSINIBOINE

More Than Forty Buildings Are Already Under Water.

FEARS FOR RAILWAY BRIDGES

River Has Not Been As High in Twenty Years—Butchers Having a Terrible Time—Sheep and Swine Drowned and Others in Precarious Positions—Settlers in the Danger Zone.

Minneapolis, May 12.—The Journal has the following from Brandon, Man.: Not in twenty years has the Assiniboine been as high as now. It rose over three feet in twelve hours, and is still rising steadily and rapidly. Already over forty buildings are under water, as well as all slaughter houses and barns in the low-lying districts of the city.

The roadways on First and Eighteenth streets leading to the north side of the river are under water, and fears are entertained that the bridges on both highways will be washed away. Men employed by the city are on both bridges keeping the piers clear of driftwood.

Three of the leading butchers have feeding barns on the flats, and the buildings are under water almost to their roofs. Knight & Fairar had 50 hogs and 15 sheep washed away. Burchell & Howey succeeded in liberating their imprisoned stock, while James Donaldson has about 150 hogs and sheep in the loft of his barn. They are safe as long as the barn stands, but the water is running at a terrific rate, and the building may be lifted from its foundations at any time.

Settlers in the Danger Zone.

All residents, principally Galicians, living in what was considered the danger zone, were moved out of their houses, but the water rose higher and early yesterday others had to make hasty retreats. The banks of the river are lined with household goods. In some instances everything had to be left and some citizens had to take to the roofs of their dwellings and there dress.

Across the dam of the Assiniboine, known as the Syne, are small bridges leading to an isle in midstream. These have been washed away, and also all small structures on this side.

The railway bridge is so weakened that trains cannot cross. In Hanbury near a saw mill were piled huge heaps of slabs. These have all been washed away, as has the summer's supply of wood, gathered by the poor foreigners who lived on the flats.

Many old settlers predict that the worst is not yet. Hundreds along the bank of the river are watching the rapid rise of the water, which has risen so high that the waterworks pumphouse is out of business and the city is without fire protection.

SEVERE SENTENCES.

Young Men Convicted of Assault Go to the Penitentiary.

Toronto, May 12.—To the Penitentiary at Kingston:

Frank Duffy, age 26, 10 years.

Edward Duffy, age 19, 7 years.

Thomas Whitesides, age 20, 7 years.

The above sentences were passed on the three young men who were found guilty of outraging Mrs. Barrible. Although the jury asked for leniency, Justice Anglin could find no excuse for granting it, on account of the evidence. His Lordship, in sentencing the prisoners, said he could not conceive a more gross or brutal crime. This was Justice Anglin's first criminal trial, and those who come before him can form an idea as to the penalties he will impose.

In the Sessions Court, William Bray, who was charged with criminally assaulting Lizzie Smith, a 12-year-old girl, was honorably acquitted.

THE TWO RAILWAY BARGAINS

Two bargains have been made for construction of transcontinental railways. The Conservative party is responsible for one and the Liberal party is making itself responsible for the other. How do they compare? The Canadian Pacific Railway, says the Globe, was not so extensive a project as the Grand Trunk Pacific. In the former case the Government only stipulated a railway from Lake Nipissing to the Pacific coast, 2,542 miles; in the latter the bargain calls for some 3,240 miles of railway.

In money or money's worth there was granted to the Canadian Pacific Railway by the Government of Canada at least $135,000,000, as follows—

Completed railway lines	$ 35,000,000
Cash	25,000,000
Lands	75,000,000
Total	$135,000,000

The estimated value of the lands is put a very low figure, namely $3 an acre. The average proceeds of the first four million acres sold was $2.36 an acre. Since that the average has kept steadily increasing. In 1890 the average was $3.76; in 1891, $4.05. It is no stretch of probabilities to believe that much of the remaining lands will sell at from $7 to $10 an acre. It will be conceded, therefore, that a valuation of $75,000,000 errs on the moderate side. In addition to these princely gifts, the following important provisos were yielded by the government: Exemption from taxation; (2) the right to import rails, equipment and supplies free of duty; (3) practical non-control over the freight or passenger rates; (4) protection from competition in the west by the prohibition of the construction of lines to the United States border. To secure an abrogation of the latter clause the Government had again to put its hand in the treasury to the extent of $15,000,000. That may fairly be added to the sum stated above, making a total of $150,000,000 granted to this railway. In addition to this, the Government frequently came to the company's aid in financing the project by extending the invaluable advantage of the credit of the Dominion in raising money at low rates of interest. After the last dollar of these munificent gifts had been conferred not one particle of ownership or control remained in the people, who had actually granted it more in money or money's worth than the whole cost of construction. Even the control over rates, which is a species of public ownership, was not preserved in the case of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

How does this compare with the bargain now before Parliament?

Completed railways	none
Lands	none
Remitted interest (about)	$15,000,000

Its property will be subject to taxation; its rates will be absolutely controlled by Parliament; it will have no monopoly; and at the end of 50 years the people of Canada will have the right to do what they please with the portion of the road from Winnipeg to Moncton—either to continue the lease to the Grand Trunk Pacific or to take it over and operate it as a public property. Fifty years may seem a long time. How long is it in the life of a nation? The child born to-day will be still a hale man when he will have the opportunity, if he is so disposed, of voting in favour of Government operation. In the meantime, during the years when consummate business ability will be indispensable the country will have had the advantage of the supreme talents for organization and combination of men of the stamp of W. C. Van Horne or C. M. Hays—the Bonapartes of the railway world.

There is no intention to leave out of view the enormous benefit that accrues to the project through its practically obtaining the borrowing powers and credit of the Government. That is, however, another branch of the case and can best be argued separately. The Opposition, it is true, calculate the sum which we have placed at $15,000,000 at a much greater figure, but they calculate it with pessimism supplying a large factor in their arithmetic. They throw every possible chance into the scale against us. Because at the moment money is dear, the calculations of the Opposition are are that it will be dear during the whole period of the construction of the railway. That is surely looking at the dark side of the shield. They anticipate that we will have to pay interest at the rate of three and one-half per cent. for our money, although we have not paid more than three for many years. We borrowed $3,000,000 in 1867 at two and one-half per cent., the securities fetching 91, the actual rate of interest being 3.86. Will such conditions not return again during the next four or five years? If they do, the sum in the above table would have to be reduced. If they remained in the existing condition, although they are worse than they have been in years, it would have to be increased, but not beyond the point where it would still show a bargain many times better than that with the Canadian Pacific Railway.

And who of all men in the house has been chosen to prove that the bargain under discussion is a bad one? Mr. Osler, the member for West Toronto, a director of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and, indeed, a member of its executive committee. If the gentleman, or even his party, had had even a rudimentary sense of humor we would probably have been spared this grotesque sight. If the Grand Trunk Pacific bargain is a bad one, what about that with the Canadian Pacific Railway? It must have been ten times worse. Is the Conservative party willing to admit that the legislation on which the party has prided itself for years was of this sort? We have contended and still contend that the C. P. R. bargain was an extravagant and improvident one. The single provision which virtually prevents the regulation of rates is enough to condemn it. But there is such an immense interval between it and the Grand Trunk Pacific bargain that there is absolutely no comparison between the two, and these would be no comparison if a Canadian Pacific Railway director did not invite it. Mr. Osler can scarcely hope that the people will lose sight of the fact that his company can hardly be expected to welcome a rival in the field, and a rival, too, that will have many advantages in carrying through traffic even from the first, and this opposition to the bargain and his support of the alternative plan which promises to be so profitable to his company, will be naturally set down to self-interest rather than public spirit.

Use Lever's Dry Soap (a powder) to wash woolens and flannels,—you'll like it. 32

ORILLIA POWER PLANT.

Rock Tunnel to be bored Fifteen Hundred Feet.

The town of Orillia has decided to restore the power plant at Ragged Rapids by boring a large tunnel in the granite rock some fifteen hundred feet long. This will entail a large expenditure but will be of such a permanent character that continuity of service will forever be insured and a large increase of power secured. The work may take three months to accomplish, but it will be pushed with vigour. Contractors are being invited to inspect the proposed works and submit tenders and specifications. The Canada Lime Works intends employing some four hundred men, and will commence building operations in a week or two.

A MAGAZINE OF SPECIAL INTEREST.

National Waifs Magazine for April Tells of the work of Dr. Barnardo.

The National Waifs' Magazine for the month of April is deeply interesting. In it, the Headmaster of Harrow contributes a very important testimony to the national value of the Homes founded by Dr. Barnardo, and still directed by him, in which over 7,300 Orphan and Waif Children of the destitute class are now maintained. Already 15,200 of these have, after training, been sent to the Colonies, where they have done excellently; and the April issue of the Magazine contains important references to the value of well-organized emigration for the young. Dr. Barnardo continues his personal narrative of the "Rescue of the Waif," and a very strong plea is also made on behalf of the new cottages still required to complete the Girl's Village Homes at Barkingside.

"Our Outlook" is filled as usual with stirring insidents, graphically illustrated from real life; and no thoughtful person can arise from the perusal of this statement of actual facts without realizing the immense value of the work that is being done throughout the kingdom by Dr. Barnardo's Homes.

A strong plea is made in the Magazine for the Waif Saturday Fund and also for a Sanatorium for consumptive girls to be erected at Ilford.

The National Waifs' Magazine, which only costs 2d., will be sent, post free, to anyone who sends name and address to the Honourary Secretary of the Institution, Mr. Geo. Code, at 18 to 26 Stepney Causeway, London, Eng.

CAUGHNAWAGA.

Caughnawaga, May 10.

Mr. Joseph McNulty, of Toronto, spent Saturday and Sunday under the parental roof.

A number of our farmers are already through sowing their grain.

Mr. and Mrs. M. English visited friends in Hastings during the past week.

Mr. Thomas Shopton visited our hamlet during the past week.

A number from this locality went to Norwood to see the Midland League football match between our team and Harwood. The game was a good exhibition during the first half when the score was 1—0 in favour of Caughnawaga. During the second half Harwood was forced to play a defence game and their goal was in danger at all times. Harwood had only ten players and Caughnawaga dropped a man to even up. This is their first league game and if they keep this pace up they will keep the other teams guessing about the championship.

The Caughnawaga's lined up as follows:—

Goal, W. Prest; backs, James Lonergan, T. A. Coughlan; half backs, A. Kempt; M. English, C. McNicholl; forwards, B. Crowley, Jos. Lonergan, R. Pearce, J. Doherty.

Referee, C. McLaughlin; goal umpires, G. Howson and W. A. Johnson; time keeper, Dr. Patterson.

Mr. Joseph Bouvi had the misfortune to lose his house and out buildings by fire last Friday.

Mr. John Coulter had a very narrow escape. His team ran away, but fortunately all the damage that was done was a few cans of milk spilled and his wagon slightly broken up.

Mr. John D. Clarke lost a very valuable horse last week.

Mrs. Kelly, of Perrytown, is visiting at the home of Mr. A. Sanderson.

Mrs. Richards of Montreal, is visiting her sister, Mrs. McIndoo. We are sorry to report she is very low at the present time.

We are pleased to see Miss Jennie Cathcart out again. She had a very hard fall off her wheel last Saturday.

We are pleased to see Mr. and Mrs. Ruth in the choir.

An enjoyable social was held for the junior members of the Y.P.S.C.E. on Saturday afternoon. Games were played in the church grounds, after which refreshments were served in the basement.

Arbor Day, on Friday was spent in the usual manner in cleaning and beautifying the streets. The villagers turned out in goodly numbers to rake up dead leaves, stones, etc., and planted several trees. The school grounds also were improved in several ways by the pupils.

THE FREIGHT RATES

Railway Commission Appointed to Deal With Them.

STATEMENT BY THE PREMIER

Reply to Some Opposition Complaints on the Recent Grand Trunk Increase—Amendments to the Transcontinental Railway Bill Discussed and Defeated—Private Bills Introduced—Others Read a Third Time.

Ottawa, May 12.—The House returned to railway matters yesterday and spent a busy day, making fairly satisfactory progress. The opening discussion was on the recent increase in freight rates by the Grand Trunk, which Mr. Hays has sought to justify. Mr. Broder of Dundas, brought the matter up and asked for action by the Government, but Sir Wilfrid Laurier pointed out that such matters were now in the hands of the Railway Commission, and it was not reasonable to interfere with their work until they had had a fair trial. Several Opposition members spoke strongly against the increase in rates. The Transcontinental Railway bill was then taken up in committee. Several of the Opposition amendments proposed were debated and defeated, the members of the Government justifying the main features of the bill in short speeches.

Private Bills Introduced.

The rules were suspended for the reception of petitions for the following private bills:

Respecting the Lake Erie & Detroit River Railway—Mr. Sutherland (Essex.)

Respecting the British America Assurance Company, and respecting the Western Assurance Company—Mr. McCarthy. In connection with the latter two Mr. McCarthy explained that they were made necessary by reason of the recent fire at Toronto, the company desiring to issue new stock.

Mr. Calvert introduced a bill respecting the Tillsonburg, Lake Erie & Pacific Railway Company.

Sir William Mulock informed Mr. Brodeur that Chief Inspector Ross had held an investigation at the Kingston postoffice in February, but that J. L. Renton, the clerk charged with opening letters in transit, had not been suspended or dismissed, but was absent on vacation, and since on sick leave.

Increased Freight Rates.

Before the orders of the day were called Mr. Broder (Dundas) moved the adjournment of the House to draw attention to the freight rates increase by the Grand Trunk Railway in Ontario, which Mr. Hays had recently sought to justify in a letter to the Railway Committee. He said there had been no doubt exceptional expenditure for the railways during the recent winter; still, the people had suffered more than the railways, and the business interests of the Province of Ontario had suffered very much more. The railways were to some extent public highways, and the people should have some voice in the rates charged. He questioned the right of the railway to make use of exceptional circumstances to raise the rates, and then make them comparatively permanent. The railways of Canada had received public aid to the extent of $2,587 a mile on the 19,000 miles in Canada. The increase in rates would be a serious drawback to farmers who had to ship bulky products. He had just heard of a farmer in western Ontario who had shipped one hundred barrels of apples somewhat damaged. The Grand Trunk got $75 out of it and the poor farmer $25. He knew that local freight rates were almost prohibitory in many parts of the country. He hoped the Prime Minister would take the matter up.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied: "I have to remind my hon. friend that Parliament last year, after many years of agitation, passed a law creating a commission for the very purpose of dealing with such questions as he has just now brought to the attention of the House. The commission is now in operation, and I understand that their time is very fully occupied. I understand that cases of that nature are all the time coming before them. It would not be advisable for the Government to interfere, and perhaps it would be premature entirely to do so, until we have had some experience of what measure of success the people of Canada may receive from the commission which has been established. My hon. friend will agree that at the present time Parliament can do no more than to give the commission a fair trial, to see how far abuses of this nature can be successfully remedied by the commission.

The debate was continued by Dr. Sproule, Messrs. Pope, M. K. Richardson, Robert Johnston, Cochrane, Donnelly, Robinson, Lennox and Ingram.

Evening Sitting.

The evening sitting of the House was devoted to consideration of the Opposition amendments to the Grand Trunk Pacific contract. Four of them were argued and voted down. The first was to provide that the G.T.P. shall have an absolute and unencumbered title to the rolling stock, upon which the Government is to have a first mortgage as security for the operation of the eastern division by the company.

The second provided for the payment by the Grand Trunk Pacific of 3 per cent. upon the Government section between North Bay and Winnipeg, taken over for use by the company previous to the completion of the eastern division.

The third declared that the expression "working expense shall not include any tolls or rents for rolling stock."

The fourth was that in case of goods shipped over the G.T.P., and not specially routed, the rate shall not be higher to Canadian than to a foreign port.

Private Bills.

The following private bills were passed through committee this evening and given their third reading: Respecting the North American Telegraph Company—Mr. Morrison.

To incorporate the Walkerton & Lucknow Railway Company—Mr. Henderson.

Respecting the Trans-Canada Railway Company—Mr. Girard.

That Yukon Case.

Ottawa, May 12.—The Public Accounts Committee yesterday morning investigated the question of a payment by the Government of $5,000 to Leighton McCarthy's law firm in connection with services rendered in the Yukon royalty case. The Deputy Minister of Justice declared that he had initialed the account, which he claimed was for Mr. Osler. Mr. McCarthy's partner affirmed that the member for North Simcoe was not a participant in the amount. In cross-examination by Mr. Barker, Mr. Osler persisted in this.

Whooping Cough.

"In the spring of 1901 my children had whooping cough," says Mrs. D. W. Capps, of Capps, Ala. "I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with the most satisfactory results. I think this is the best remedy I have ever seen for whooping cough." This remedy keeps the cough loose, lessens the severity and frequency of the coughing spells and counteracts any tendency towards pneumonia. For sale by all druggists.

Increased Seeding Area.

Winnipeg, May 12.—Reports from 90 points on lines of the C.P.R. in Manitoba and the Territories indicate that there will be an increase in seeded area of 12 1-3 per cent. None of the points reported on show a falling off, though in several of them the area is the same as last year. The Prince Albert and Manitoba and northwestern branches show the highest percentage of increase. Seeding has practically been completed in the whole of the district named, and the weather throughout is considered most favorable. In several districts the grain is well sprouted, and is beginning to show above ground. Despite the lateness of the season the farmers are well pleased with the prospects.

A Handsome Sign.

One of the best executed professional signs in town, has been placed in position in front of Dr. Wightman's new dental offices, Bank of Commerce Building, Hunter street. The design is in good taste and the execution quite skilful. It was supplied by the firm of Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons, who have a rising sign artist on their staff.

Mrs. Morrow's Chorus Class.

There was a large attendance at the rehearsal last evening and much progress was made with the selections to be studied for this season. During the evening solos were sung by pupils and these were very much enjoyed by those present. Miss Margaret Bryce, of Keene, sang "Rejoice" from the "Messiah;" Miss Evelyn Chasty, Miss Ruth Dawson, Mrs. Greenslade and Miss Bessie Sperry also contributed to the enjoyment of the evening. Mrs. Morrow desires that members re regular and prompt in attendance and hopes to have the full number out at each rehearsal.

If you're feeling warm, drop in and have a "Hiawatha," "David Harum" or a "Crushed Fruit Sundae" at HOOPER'S.

INTERESTING LOCAL SOCIAL EVENT.

Miss Blanch Metcalf Married to Mr Joseph Stewart.

Last night at the residence of Mr. William Metcalf, 891 Water street, a very pretty wedding took place. His daughter, Blanch was united in marriage to Mr. Joseph Stewart, of the B. F. Ackerman, Son & Co's staff in the presence of a large number of the friends of the contracting parties. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. P. Wilson, B.A., and took place in the beautifully decorated drawing room. The bride was very tastily attired in blue silk, as was also the bridesmaid, Miss Alice Campbell, cousin of the bride. Mr. W. E. Green acted in the capacity of groomsman.

At the close of the ceremony a sumptuous wedding dinner was served, and a very pleasant evening was spent in a social way.

The bride was the recipient of a large number of very handsome presents, evidences of the esteem in which she is held by her many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will reside in town.

PRETTY WEDDING IN CATHEDRAL.

Miss Dorris Des Laurier Married to Mr. John Rouille.

On Monday morning at 10 o'clock, at St. Peter's Cathedral the wedding of Miss Dorris Des Laurier and Mr. John Rouille was solemnized by Rev. Father John O'Brien. The bride, who was attired in white silk organdie, was attended by Miss Louise Rouille, sister of the groom, who was dressed in a white canvass cloth gown. The groomsman was Mr. Victor Des Laurier, brother of the bride. After the ceremony a dinner was served at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. Elliott, McDonnel street. Mr. and Mrs. Rouille will reside at 79 Lake street.

FOURTEEN HUNDRED DELEGATES ATTENDING.

Convention of Y. M. C. A. at Buffalo Largely Attended.

An Associated despatch comes from Buffalo on the convention of the International Y.M.C.A., now being held there. Mr. G. H. Williamson, general secretary of the Association here, and Mr. B. F. Ackerman, of the Board of Directors, are attending from Peterborough. The despatch says:—

"Fourteen hundred delegates, representing 600 city associations, 700 student associations, 200 railroad and a number of miscellaneous associations, were present to-day at the opening session of the Young Men's Christian Association of North America. The report of the International Committee presented this afternoon reviews at great length the work of the association. The increase in the strength and efficiency of the State and Provincial organizations has been steady. The associations have found their chief field among the young men of the cities, but as they enter upon the new century there is a beginning of growth strongly accentuated in two directions, first, among boys, and second, among young men in country districts.

A GENTLE HINT TO THE TOWN COUNCIL.

Streets Should be Kept Cleaned and Cattle Might be Better Controlled.

Residents of Water street who, in an endeavour to beautify their residences by removing fences, are anxious that the council should see that cattle are not driven down that street, or that if they are driven, they are properly controlled. At present large droves of cattle are driven along this street, and because of the fact that there are usually not sufficient men to drive them they tramp over the lawns and even trespass on the beautiful Victoria gardens. If they were driven down Aylmer, or even George street, there would not nearly be as much danger of property being injured. Some attention should also be paid to the general appearance of the streets of the town. There is even more waste paper flying arbund this year than there was last year, and nothing gives visitors such a bad impression of a town as to see the streets littered with paper.

THE SOCIAL WORLD.

Interesting Personal Items Gathered by Reporters.

Mrs. Cahill, of town, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. J. English in Hastings.

Mrs. R. E. Wood, left to-day for Kansas City, where for some time she will be the guest of her niece, Mrs. Waddell, who will, at the end of Mrs. Wood's visit, return with her to Peterborough.

Miss Violet B. Smith left this morning, for Kingston, where she was called on account of the illness of her nephew, the little son of Prof. Shortt, who was very severely injured by being run over by a street car.

Mr. Ernest M. Best leaves this evening for Lindsay, where he will represent the Peterborough Lacrosse Club at the district meeting to draw up a schedule for the season. His friends will wish him a safe journey.

Rev. J. G. Potter, of St. Andrew's church, is in Toronto attending the sessions of the Presbyterian Synod, of Toronto and Kingston, and, in moving the adoption of the report on Young People's work, urged the establishing of Young Men's Guilds. He said they would not interfer with Christian Endeavour work, and would be a great means of good among young men.

To-night in the Salvation Army Barracks, a musical festival will be given under the direction of Lieut.-Colonel Pugmire. The other members of the Knights of the Red Cross, are Staff-Captain Harry Morris, cornet; Adjutant Arnold, violinist; adjt. Gillespie, 'cellist. ; Adjt. Florence Eastin, pianist. These ladies and gentlemen will arrive by the 7.30 train to-night, and the band of the S.A. will meet them. During the evening the local band will play "The Vesper Hymn March," and "The Vital Spark."

FOY SUED FOR BALANCE OF WAGES.

Mr. Edward Archer had to Pay Herbert Foy $31.95

On Monday, May 2nd, before Judge Weller, a case of suit for wages was heard. Herbert Foy, a young man entered a suit against Edward Archer, of Smith, for balance of wages due him. He sued for $38.95, which is the amount plaintiff claims was due him, while the defendant stated that he owed Foy only $22.00. After hearing the case judgment was given Foy for $31.95, the difference between that sum and the amount claimed by him being represented by sums paid out by him on account of Archer, for which he could not produce receipts. The defendant was ordered to pay the costs. D. O'Connell appeared for the plaintiff and E. B. Edwards for the defendant.

Editor World: Where are we drifting to? The special to the Toronto World, dated May 5th, under heading of "Peterborough's By-laws," is indeed an answer. A vote taken in that town for the raising of $50,000 for the erection of a new collegiate institute was carried. A vote taken at the same time to authorize the town to guarantee bonds for a sugar company was defeated. Keep right along on these lines. Educate our young men and young women so that they will be fitted to fill positions in the United States, and "build up Canada" by knocking out any proposition that will give employment to people in our own country and keep our people here. STREET RAILWAY NEWS —OPERATIONS COMMENCED.

Work has Begun at the Car Sheds—Old Cars to be Re-fitted.

Operations in connection with the street railway have commenced. Yesterday work was started in repairing the car sheds on King street, where the electric cars have stood for years patiently awaiting the time when they would be called upon to again spin about our town, and prove a convenience and a pleasure to the citizens generally. There are eight cars at the sheds, three open and five closed, besides the sweeper. All are showing the effects of time, and of course the woodwork looks somewhat shabby, the iron work rather rusty, the seats slightly dusty, and a few window panes are broken, but these will soon be repaired, and inside of a few weeks the cars will have the appearance of those just turned out from the car works. The task of repairing and refitting these cars will commence in a day or so. At present men are engaged in repairing the building, which had to some extent fallen into a state of decay, and when this is completed the cars will be tackled. It is pleasing to note that the work has begun and rapid strides towards the completion of the road may be expected from this time on.

LATEST NEWS OF SPORT.

Quakers Won From Caughnawaga in Close Game—The Lacrosse Meeting in Lindsay To-night—Other Sports.

QUAKERS WON A GOOD GAME.

Defeated Caughnawaga at the Oval by 2-1 Last Evening

In a Midland League Game—Play was Fast and Clean—All the Scoring was done in First Half.

The Quaker football team took another stride towards winning the Stratton Cup last evening, when they defeated the Caughnawaga football team, fresh from their glowing victory over Harwood, by the close score of 2—1. The match which was witnessed by about 150 spectators, was well worth seeing and the quality of football for so early in the season was first class. The weather conditions were fine for football, the slight west wind that was blowing having practically no effect on the play.

The teams were about as evenly matched as one could desire, and it was nip and tuck from the blow of the whistle. The home team had a slight advantage in the play all things considered, but the boys with that long name were always in the hunt and were liable to shoot the ball through the posts with very little warning. The play was fairly fast and comparatively clean, roughly conspicuous by its absence. The teams were as yet up to the highest standard in regard to combination play, but some very pretty work was done at frequent intervals and with a little more practice, both teams should be strong in this very important feature of the game. The greatest trouble with the forwards on each team was a tendency to bunch too much towards the centre of the field, the result being that when the leather was kicked to the wings, there was often no one there to receive it. The wings were perfectly justified in bunching towards the centre when in the immediate vicinity of the goal, but otherwise they should hold to their positions for this is the only way to effect a combinational rush. Both teams passed fairly accurately and stood the pace well, which was quite speedy at most times, in view of the amount of training undergone.

The match was a very enjoyable one from the spectators' standpoint, the play being clean and the quality of football first class. The appearance of the players made a very pleasing spectacle, the Quakers with their red jerseys with natty white trimmings and knickers of the same colour, and the Caughs. with their catchy green jersey with white trimmings and knickers, making a pretty combination. Such contests as that of last evening should popularize the game in town.

The Quakers presented a fast and well balanced aggregation who play the game in a heady manner and they should give their opponents a hard game. They have plenty of weight but use it only when required and play for the ball as a general rule. Last evening the team to a man played good football and their victory was a creditable one. Belleghem stopped everything stoppable and saved a score on many occasions. Simpson was always a prominent feature in breaking up the opposing combination and he was very effective throughout. Doris was also a stumbling block, his checking and kicking being of high order. The halves were all in fine shape. N. Fitzgerald at centre was a tower of strength to the defence; Guerin played a careful and steady game and his work was of much assistance to the team. Parnell was always in the thick of it and he played splendidly, rarely missing an opportunity to make an effective run, kick or check. On the forward line J. Guerin played a most useful game at centre. Brooks and Perdue on right wing did some neat and telling work and gave the opposing defence all kinds of trouble while C. Fitzgerald and Renton were always conspicuous by their good work, the latter playing especially well in the first half, making several long runs and feeding the centres well. The forwards, as was stated above, had a tendency to bunch too frequently. Their shooting on the whole, was good.

The visitors put up a strong argument and played good football. Their defence were all good kickers while the forwards worked with a will and frequently their rushes very nearly resulted in scores. They played aggressively and were always dangerous. Kelly and McNicholl were quite prominent on the defence while the forwards all did good work. The players were a gentlemanly lot and created a very favourable impression.

The teams were:

Caughnawaga—Goal, W. Prest; backs, J. Lonergan, J. Kelly; halfbacks, C. McNicholl, A. Kemp T. Coughlin, Capt.; forwards, J. Doherty, M. English, R. Pearse, Joe Lonergan, P. Crowley.

Quakers—Goal, E. Belleghem; backs, P. Simpson, J. Doris; halfbacks, Guerin, N. Fitzgerald, W. Parnell; forwards, J. Brooks, W. Perdue, J. Guerin, E. Fitzgerald, E. Renton.

Referee—A. Noble; goal umpires, Shortell and Fallon.

The game was started about 6.20 o'clock and the play was quite even at the start, each goal being attacked in turn, but there was nothing doing in the scoring line. The visitors once got through the Quakers' defence and Belleghem made a fine stop of a difficult shot. The Quakers then rushed matters and made things warm for the Caugh's goal-keeper. After a pretty piece of combination play, N. Fitzgerald scored in 17 minutes by a neat shot.

About one minute later Brooks got a free kick from a foul. He shot directly on goal and one of the defence men, standing in the goal, headed the ball but it glanced off between the stakes and the score was 2—0.

After about five minutes of close checking by both teams, the visitors suddenly rushed the ball up the field and Crowley got a clear shot on goal. Belleghem made a pretty stop but Crowley ran in and swiped it through—and there was joy in the visitors' camp.

There was no more scoring in the first half. The visitors started rushing matters when ends had been changed and Simpson was called upon to relieve the situation quite frequently. Both the Fitzpatrick boys were temporarily disabled. Towards the close the Quakers had the advantage and secured several corner kicks but could not score and the score remained Quakers, 2— Caughnawaga 1.

BODY-CHECKS.

Had the visitors allowed that foul kick go unheeded through the goal, the score would not have been counted. The rules are to the effect that the ball must touch some player, other than the one kicking the foul before passing through the goal.

Mr. Noble gave general satisfaction as referee. He is gaining quite a reputation in this respect.

Those Quakers will bear some watching. They play good football and will make any eleven go some to beat them.

Renton had all kinds of speed and was a hard man to check.

ADVANTAGES OF GAS FOR FUEL.

Increasing Number of Ranges in use in Peterborough.

In these times when the question of summer fuel becomes an exceedingly difficult one to solve, chiefly because of the increasing scarcity and high price of wood, careful housekeepers are casting about for some fuel which will meet their needs, and apparently the solution of the problem has been reached. A representative of the Examiner called upon the manager of the Peterborough Light and Power Company and learned that gas for fuel is rapidly coming into general use in Peterborough. This is attested to by the fact that while in 1902 there were in Peterborough only 127 gas ranges, and there were in 1903 no less than 245 in use, this number has increased to 275 for 1904, up to this date. Speaking of the cost it was learned that it averaged from 25 cents to $1 per week, according to the size of the range and the economy in its use. It will thus be seen that gas as a fuel is extremely cheap, for as a housekeeper remarked significantly last night, "You can't buy much wood at the present high prices for 25c." Other advantages which the use of gas affords are that it is clean, cool and convenient.

CANADIAN CATTLE EMBARGO.

Glasgow Chamber of Commerce and the Montreal Resolution.

London, May 11.—(C.A.P.)—At a meeting of the Glasgow Chamber of Commerce there was read the resolution passed by the Montreal Chamber of Commerce asking support in the urging of the Government to remove the unfair interdiction on Canadian cattle. Sir David Richmond, ex-Lord Provost, said the corporation had been knocking at the door of the Government continually for that purpose. He wanted the resolution supported, but some members urged delay for further discussion and it was referred to the committee on home affairs.

That ninety per cent. have Indigestion or Dyspepsia in some one or other of its stages. Captain Lacey says:

Editor Must Show Cause.

Toronto, May 11.—The Court of Appeal yesterday ordered that Rev. J. A. Macdonald, editor of The Globe, should appear at Osgoode Hall on Monday at 11 o'clock and show cause why he should not be committed to jail for contempt for publication of an editorial commenting upon the expenses of E. A. Dunlop in the bye-election in North Renfrew. It was also directed that Mr. Macdonald should pay the costs of and incidental to the application and order.

An Open Letter.

From the Chapin, S. C., News: Early in the spring my wife and I were taken with diarrhoea, and so severe were the pains that we called in a physician, who prescribed for us, but his medicines failed to give any relief. A friend who had a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy on hand, gave each of us a dose and we at once felt the effects. I procured a bottle and before using the entire contents we were entirely cured. It is a wonderful remedy and should be found in every household. H. C. Bailey, Editor. This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

May Not Be So Bad.

Toronto, May 12.—C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, stated yesterday that he thought the official reports of the crops of spring wheat in Ontario would not be as disappointing as some that have already gone into circulation. He admitted, however, that the season was a bad one, and the crops could hardly be expected to be as good. It will be next week before the official reports are received from correspondents.

MR. OSLER EXPLAINS

Only Acted As Financial Agent For the Railways.

PERSONALITIES WERE MANY

Debate Which Did Not Tend to Elevate the Tone of the House—Western Members Refuse to Accept the Explanation of Mr. E. B. Osler—Sir Frederick Borden's Militia Resolutions Reported.

Ottawa, May 11.—Northwest matters again monopolized the attention of the House for the greater part of the day, yesterday. Mr. E. B. Osler gave an explanation of his connection with the Calgary & Edmonton and Qu'Appelle, Long Lake & Saskatchewan Railway Companies, and reiterated his statement of last year, that his interest in the companies was limited to that of a financial agent, and was purely on a business basis. He resented the statements by Messrs. Scott and Davis, and said he would rather hunt a small animal with stripes on its back, which in his boyhood days on the farm he had learned was unsavory, than the man who read anonymous letters. He also made a reference to coyotes, who snapped and yapped at the tail end of a pack of hounds.

Mr. Scott twitted Mr. Osler with making not sweet-smelling references to the acquaintances of his boyhood days, demanded an apology from Mr. Osler, and declared that unless Mr. Osler could produce a better explanation of the financial transactions of the companies it would not be satisfactory to the people. Mr. E. F. Clark defended Mr. Osler, and Mr. T. O. Davis reiterated the questions, "Where have the money and the land grants gone to?" The debate was marked by personalities and bristled with points of order.

Artillery Association Bill.

Sir Frederick Borden introduced a bill to incorporate the Canadian Artillery Association, which, he explained, confers similar powers to that enjoyed by the Dominion Rifle Association, enabling it to hold property without the intervention of trustees.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's motion to adjourn over Thursday, which is a religious holiday in Quebec Province, was unanimously agreed to.

The Militia Resolutions.

The House took up Government business, first considering in committee the militia resolutions, which were not previously disposed of.

Mr. Ingram pointed out that there was no provision for increased pay for non-commissioned officers.

Sir Frederick Borden said the Government contemplate increase on a rather generous scale, and that point would be considered when the bill itself reached committee. Sir Frederick said the increase for privates would be advanced in three years from 50 cents at enlistment to 70 cents, 85 cents and $1 a day.

Lieut.-Colonel Thompson thought the increase should be retroactive to the extent of giving experienced men of the present day the benefit of the increase for their past services.

After some further discussion Sir Wilfrid Laurier proposed an amendment, which provided that the pay of the privates should commence at 50 cents and be increased by regulations approved by Orders in Council, but not to exceed $1 per day.

The resolutions were reported as amended and read a second time.

The resolution providing that the salary of the Director-General of Ordnance should be $3,200, was amended by changing the title to Master-General.

The resolution providing that the pay and allowances of the officers of the general headquarters and district staffs, respectively, not provided for in the bill respecting the militia of Canada, shall be fixed by the Governor in Council, was also reported.

The Inspector-General.

The resolution authorizing the appointment of an Inspector-General of the militia, at a salary not exceeding $6,000 per annum, was adopted, after a brief explanation by Sir Frederick Borden that such an appointment was in accordance with the general plan of reorganization of the Imperial Army. He had given notice of a resolution authorizing the appointment of an officer to the military command of the militia, but it was not intended in time of peace to fill both offices, therefore there would under ordinary circumstances be no increase in the number of officers. If the English system were adopted, and Sir Frederick Borden favored such a course, there would be an Inspector-General instead of a general officer commanding in time of peace. He favored the appointment to that office of an Imperial officer of standing and experience.

In reply to Mr. E. F. Clarke, Sir Frederick stated that the Minister would then be at the head of the militia, surrounded by the military Council, with a chief of staff who would correspond to the general officer commanding, and the powers of the district officers commanding will be enlarged.

The resolution was reported and the House adjourned at 10.45.

His Only Hope.

Ottawa, May 12.—James McGee, captain of Rough Riders, who was injured by being thrown from his horse on Tuesday, has not recovered consciousness, and grave doubts are expressed as to the outcome. He has a strong constitution, in which lies the only hope for recovery.

Petrel's First Capture of the Season.

Port Stanley, May 12.—Captain Dunn of the Dominion Government cruiser Petrel seized one hundred and eighteen gill nets Tuesday, illegally set in Canadian waters in Lake Erie by Americans. The nets were confiscated and sold here yesterday.

SKULL WAS FRACTURED.

Accident at Fort William Results in William Hamilton's Death—Several Other Fatal Accidents.

Port Arthur, May 11.—A fatal accident occurred at Fort William yesterday afternoon in which Wm. Hamilton, carpenter contractor of that place, came to his death. He, with three other men, were driving to the west of the Fort, when a car came along. A dog belonging to Hamilton ran on the track and the motorman rang his bell to scare it. The horse took fright and made a bound, its head going through the glass in front of the car. The carriage was thrown and the men hurled out of it. Hamilton's head went under the car wheels. The motorman had put on the brakes, but the man was dragged along a number of feet. When taken from under the car his skull was fractured. Death was instantaneous. The coroner did not deem an inquest necessary.

Three Fatal Accidents.

Hamilton, May 11.—Within 24 hours three men have been killed in railway accidents. William F. Baker, brakeman, was killed in Brantford Monday night while coupling cars on the T. H. & B. Yesterday morning at an early hour another Hamilton trainman, Charles Buckler, 555 York street, a G.T.R conductor, met a horrible death near Stony Creek. It is supposed that while walking over the top of his freight train he stumbled, fell, and was run over. A man believed to be A. Langham, 201 Spadina avenue, Toronto, judging from a letter found in his pocket, was cut in two by the 11.15 G.T.R. train for Toronto yesterday morning. As the train was pulling out of the station he ran after it, seized the hand-rail on the front of the rear coach, stumbled, and was thrown under the wheels.

Brakeman Killed.

Beeton, May 11.—A. E. Early, G. T.R. brakeman, while shunting at Beeton yesterday, accidentally fell off a car and was dragged a hundred yards beneath the car. The car passed over his right leg above the knee, almost severing it. He died shortly afterwards.

Killed By Stray Bullet.

Calgary, N.W.T., May 11.—Ruth Harley, a little girl 10 years of age, playing in the yard back of her father's home on Saturday morning, was suddenly and without warning shot in the neck. The ball severed the jugular and she died about midnight Monday night. The person who fired the shot is unknown. The girl was shot by a rifle, and it is thought the bullet must have traveled a considerable distance, and was just about spent.

Cigarmaker Drowned.

Toronto, May 11.—A man, whose name is supposed to be Jeanceau, was drowned at the foot of Sherbourne street yesterday afternoon. He fell out of his boat. He is supposed to have been employed by Milligan & Son, cigar manufacturers, 7 East Wellington street. He was a French-Canadian and came to Toronto from Montreal, or Brockville, where his parents reside.

Plunged Down Embankment.

New York, May 11.—Two men were killed early yesterday, when the Adams express section of the Federal Express, on the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad left the tracks while crossing the Byram River bridge at Port Chester. After leaving the bridge and running about 40 feet, the locomotive and tender and two express cars plunged down a 77-foot embankment.

Lost Part of Hand.

St. Thomas, May 11.—Robert Jones, contractor, who lives at the corner of East Erie and Second avenue, lost part of his right hand Monday night about 11 o'clock by being run over by a street car.

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD.

Why not join with nature and rejoice at the coming of spring? There is a means at hand whereby you can overcome the feelings of langour and fatigue and make spring the time for renewing health and vigour, instead of giving way to weakness and despondency.

Everybody needs a spring restorative to enrich the blood and build up the system after the debilitating effects of artificial winter life.

Experience has proven that there is no preparation extant so well suited to these needs as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

It is only reasonable that this great food cure, which has been endorsed by tens of thousands of people on this continent, should be superior to the prescription of an ordinary doctor, hastily written and hastily filled at the drug store.

Headache, sleeplessness, irritability stomach troubles, loss of energy, ambition and the ability to apply oneself to the task in hand are among the indications of an exhausted condition of the system.

A month's treatment with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food will do wonders for you.

Besides the benefit you feel, you can prove that new flesh and tissue is being added by noting your increase in weight.

CHAPTER III.

THE street upon which the Palace hotel fronted formed the south side of the square and ran west to the edge of the town, where it turned to the south for a quarter of a mile or more, then bent to the west again. Some distance from this second turn there stood, fronting close on the road, a large brick house, the most pretentious mansion in Carlow county. And yet it was a homelike place, with its red brick walls embowered in masses of cool Virginia creeper and a comfortable veranda crossing the broad front, while half a hundred stalwart sentinels of elm and beech and poplar stood guard around it. The front walk was bordered by geraniums and hollyhocks, and honeysuckle climbed the pillars of the porch. Behind the house there was a shady little orchard, and back of the orchard an old fashioned, very fragrant rose garden, divided by a long grape arbor, extended to the shallow waters of a wandering creek, and on the bank a rustic seat was placed beneath the sycamores.

From the first bend of the road, where it left the town and became (after some indecision) a country highway, called the pike, rather than a proud city boulevard, a pathway led through the fields to end at some pasture bars opposite the brick house.

John Harkless was leaning on the pasture bars. The stars were wan and the full moon shone over the fields. Meadows and woodlands lay quiet and motionless under the old, sweet marvel of a June night. In the wide monotony of the flat lands there sometimes comes a feeling that the whole earth is stretched out before one. Tonight it seemed to lie so, in the pathos of silent beauty, passive and still, yet breathing an antique message, sad, mysterious, reassuring. But there had come a divine melody adrift on the air. Through the open windows it floated. Indoors some one struck a peal of silver chords, like a harp touched by a lover, and a woman's voice was lifted. John Harkless leaned on the pasture bars and listened with upraised head and parted lips.

"To thy chamber window roving, love hath led my feet."

A woman's voice singing Schubert's "Serenade" came to him.

The Lord sent manna to the children of Israel in the wilderness. Harkless had been five years in Plattville, and a woman's voice singing Schubert's "Serenade" came to him at last as he stood by the pasture bars of Jones' field and listened and rested his dazzled eyes on the big white face of the moon.

How long had it been since he had heard a song or any discourse of music other than that furnished by the Plattville band? Not that he had no taste for a brass band. But music that he loved always gave him an ache or delight and the twinge of reminiscences of old gay days gone forever. Tonight his memory leaped to the last day of a June gone seven years to a morning when the little estuary waves twinkled in the bright sun about the boat in which he sat, the trim launch that brought a cheery party ashore from their schooner to the casino landing at Winter Harbor, far up on the Maine coast.

Tonight he saw the picture as plainly as if it were yesterday. No reminiscences had risen so keenly before his eyes for years. Pretty Mrs. Van Skuyt sitting beside him—pretty Mrs. Van Skuyt and her roses—what had become of her? He saw the crowd of friends waiting on the pier for their arrival, the dozen or so emblazoned classmates (it was in the time of brilliant flannels) who sent up a volley of college cheers in his honor. How plainly the dear old, young faces rose up before him tonight, the men from whose lives he had slipped! Dearest and jolliest of the faces was that of Tom Meredith, clubmate, classmate, his closest friend, the thin, redheaded third baseman. He could see Tom's mouth opened at least a yard, it seemed, such was his frantic vociferousness. Again and again the cheers rang out, "Harkless! Harkless!" on the end of them. In those days everybody, particularly his classmates, thought he would be minister to England in a few years, and the orchestra on the casino porch was playing "The Conquering Hero Comes" in his honor and at the behest of Tom Meredith, he knew.

There were other pretty ladies besides Mrs. Van Skuyt in the launch load from the yacht, but as they touched the pier, pretty girls or pretty women or jovial gentlemen, all were overlooked in the wild scramble the college men made for their hero. They hailed him forth, set him on high, bore him on their shoulders, shouting "Skal to the Viking!" and carried him up the wooded bluff to the casino. He heard Mrs. Van Skuyt say: "Oh, we're used to it. We've put in at several other places where he had friends!" He remembered the wild progress they made for him up the slope that morning at Winter Harbor—how the people looked on and laughed and clapped their hands. But at the veranda edge he had noticed a little form disappearing around a corner of the building, a young girl running away as fast as she could. "See there," he said as the tribe set him down; "you have frightened the populace." And Tom Meredith had stopped shouting long enough to answer: "It's my little cousin, overcome with emotion. She's been counting the hours till you came—been hearing about you for a good while. She hasn't been able to talk or think of anything else. She's only fifteen, and the crucial moment is too much for her. The great Harkless has arrived, and she has fled."

But the present hour grew on him as he leaned on the pasture bars. It had been a reminiscent day with him, but suddenly his memories sped, and the voice that was singing Schubert's "Serenade" across the way touched him with the urgent personal appeal that a present beauty had always held for him. It was a soprano and without tremolo, yet came to his ear with a certain tremulous sweetness. It was soft and slender, but the listener knew it could be lifted with fullness and power if the singer would. It spoke only of the song, yet the listener thought of the singer. Under the moon thoughts run into dreams, and he dreamed that the owner of the voice, she who quoted "The Walrus and the Carpenter" on Fisbee's notes, was one to laugh with you and weep with you, yet her laughter would be tempered with sorrow and her tears with laughter.

When the song was ended he struck the rail he leaned upon a sharp blow with his open hand. There swept over him a feeling that he had stood precisely where he stood now on such a night a thousand years ago; had heard that voice and that song and been moved by the voice and the song and the night just as he was moved now. He had long known himself for a sentimentalist. He had almost given up trying to cure himself. And he knew himself for a born lover. He had always been in love with some one. In his earlier youth his affections had been so constantly inconstant that he finally came to settle with his self respect by recognizing in himself a fine constancy that worshiped one woman always. It was only the shifting image of her that changed. Somewhere (he dreamed, whimsically indulgent of the fancy, yet mocking himself for it) there was a girl whom he had never seen who waited till he should come. She was everything. Until he found her he could not help adoring others who possessed little pieces and suggestions of her—her brilliancy, her courage, her short upper lip, "like a curled rose leaf," or her dear voice or her pure profile. He had no recollection of any lady who had quite her eyes. He had never passed a lovely stranger on the street in the old days without a thrill of delight and warmth. If he never saw her again and the vision had only lasted for the time it takes a lady to cross the sidewalk from a shop door to a carriage he was always a little in love with her because she bore about her somewhere, as did every pretty girl he ever saw, a suggestion of the faraway divinity. One does not pass lovely strangers in the streets of Plattville. Miss Briscoe was pretty, but not at all in the way that Harkless dreamed. For five years the lover in him that had loved so often had been starved of all but dreams. Only at twilight and dusk in the summer, when strolling he caught sight of a woman's skirt far up the village street, half outlined in the darkness under the cathedral arch of meeting branches, this romancer of petticoats could sigh a true lover's sigh and, if he kept enough distance between, fly a yearning fancy that his lady wandered there.

Ever since his university days the image of her had been growing more and more distinct. He had completely settled his mind as to her appearance and her voice. She was tall, almost too tall, he was sure of that; and out of his consciousness there had grown a sweet and vivacious young face that he knew was hers. Her hair was light brown, with gold lusters the reveled in the gold lusters on the proper theory that when your fancy is painting a picture you may as well go in for the whole thing and make it sumptuous), and her eyes were gray. They were very earnest, and yet they sparkled and laughed to him companionably, and sometimes he smiled back upon her. The Undine danced before him through the lonely years, on fair nights in his walks and came to sit by his fire on winter evenings when he stared alone at the embers.

And tonight, here in Plattville, he heard a voice he had waited for long, one that his fickle memory told him he had never heard before. But, listening, he knew better—he had heard it long ago, though when and how he did not know, as rich and true and ineffably tender as now. He threw a sop to his common sense. "Miss Sherwood is a little thing" (the image was so surely tall), "with a bumpy forehead and spectacles," he said to himself, "or else a provincial young lady with big eyes to pose at you." Then he felt the ridiculousness of looking after his common sense on a moonlight night in June; also, he knew that he lied.

Fuel economy is an important feature in a range. Almost as important as good cooking facilities. Every housewife wants to do good cooking but she doesn't want it to cost her too much in fuel. The good cooking qualities of the are enhanced by its great fuel economy. The big scuttle of coal of other style ranges is replaced in Imperial Oxford homes by a smaller scuttle less often used.

The fire-box is evenly proportioned to the size of the oven, so there is no more fire needed than the size of range demands—no waste heat. The arrangement of flues and drafts concentrate the heat in the stove—it doesn't lose itself up the chimney.

THE FIRSTBORN.

Why is it that the firstborn child is so often the healthiest of a family of children? The reason seems to suggest itself. As child follows child the mother has less and less vitality; often not enough for herself and none, therefore, for her child.

Expectant mothers who use Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription find that it keeps them in vigorous health. They eat well, sleep well and are not nervous. When baby comes its advent is practically painless, and the mother is made happy by the birth of a healthy child. If you would be a healthy mother of healthy children use "Favorite Prescription."

"I will be very glad to say a few words for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Mrs. F. S. Douglas, of Mansonville, Brome Co., Quebec. "During the first four months, when I looked forward to becoming a mother, I suffered very much from nausea and vomiting, and I felt so terribly sick I could scarcely eat or drink anything. I hated all kinds of food. At this time I wrote to Dr Pierce and he told me to get his 'Favorite Prescription' and a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I got a bottle of each, and when I had taken them a few days, I felt much better, and when I had taken hardly three parts of each bottle I felt well and could eat as well as any one, and could do my work without any trouble. I could not do anything before. I feel very thankful to Dr. Pierce for his medicine, and I tell all who tell me they are sick, to get these medicines, or write to Dr. Pierce."

Those who suffer from chronic diseases are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

An ideal remedy for Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Neuralgia, Hot Flashes, Sick Headache, Mental Despondency and all other ailments resulting from impoverished nerves through lack of blood. The Rev. Father Lord Sr., of Montreal, Canada, says: "I had been a sufferer for 20 years with organic heart disease, and used a number of remedies, both in France and America, but could not even obtain temporary relief. I tried Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart, and was indeed surprised at the immediate relief I obtained. I am firmly convinced that there is no case of heart disease that it will not cure."

CAUGHNAWAGAS ENTERTAINED.

After the game the Quaker team entertained their visitors to a sumptuous supper in the dining room of the National Hotel. They then adjourned to one of the sitting rooms where speeches and songs were indulged in, Mr. John Sullivan, manager of the Quaker team, officiating as chairman, to the delight of those present. Messrs. Art. Noble, Alex. Kemp, P. Fitzgerald, T. Coughlan and E. E. Shortell made short speeches, each paying compliments to the manner in which the game had been played, and the good fellowship which prevailed throughout the game. Songs were rendered by Messrs. W. Prest, and Jas. Doris, and a quartette consisting of Messrs. W. Prest, A. Kemp, R. Pearce and Chas. McNichol, entertained the audience with popular selections, all of which were heartily encored.

Mr. M. English was called on and gave a step dance, and showed the boys how it should be done. He is certainly an expert.

The best of good feeling prevailed and after spending an hour's good time together the teams parted after singing God Save the King.

The Caughnawaga management wished the Examiner to express through its columns, their appreciation of the manner in which they were entertained by the Quakers, and a good time is assured them on their visit to Norwood in the near future.

MIDLAND FOOTBALL LEAGUE ANNUAL.

A Creditable Publication Issued dy the League.

The Midland Football League has just issued its first annual, and copies are now being sent to the secretaries of the different clubs in the League. The book is a very creditable publication of 32 pages, and, in its make-up, is in keeping with the dignity of the League, which this year, the second of its existence, is the largest independent football organization in the province. Half-tone cuts of the officials and also one of the Stratton Cup, representing the League Championship and donated to it by Hon. J. R. Stratton, adorn the pages of the annual.

The schedule of games for 1904, secretaries of the different clubs, constitution of the League and laws of the game are also included in the publication, which is put up in an attractive form.

FOOTBALL.

The Quaker-Harwood game on Saturday will commence at two o'clock sharp.

• • • •

The Y.M.C.A. Football Club will practice at the oval this evening at 6.15 o'clock; all players are urgently requested to be on hand. The team will likely be picked to-night for the game at Omemee on Saturday. A meeting will be held in the Y.M.C.A. parlours at 8.30 sharp. All players and those interested should be on hand.

• • • •

There are three Midland League games scheduled for next Saturday. The Y.M.C.A. will play their first game of the season at Omemee, and the champions will endeavour to demonstrate that they are as good as ever. Dr. Keith will referee the game. The Harwood team will be here to play the Quakers, the referee being J. W. Kelly of Bridgenorth. Bridgenorth goes to Norwood, and R. Pearce of Caughnawaga, will handle the whistle.

LACROSSE.

Fred Dobbin, formerly of Peterborough, and who played between the flags for Oshawa last season, has turned out with the Chippewas of Toronto.

• • • •

The Toronto Lacrosse Club will not be represented in the N. A. L. U.

• • • •

The executive in the Midland Lacrosse League will meet in the Oriental Hotel on Friday morning when a schedule will be drawn up and districts arranged.

• • • •

The Toronto Telegram says:—Dr. Henry, of Oshawa, who was in the city yesterday, denies emphatically all reports to the effect that lacrosse is dead in Oshawa. "Dead," he exclaimed, "why we have got no less than six teams playing the game from the little so-highs up. We will only play intermediate in the O.L.A. this year, but the time will come when Oshawa will be back into senior lacrosse to stay. We could support a senior team right now if we could be sure of them all playing square. But just wait till we develop a few players of our own. Then we'll fill up from the outside and go at it again."

• • • •

Keane and Harwood will probably play their proposed game on May 24th at Harwood.

BASEBALL.

Toronto's pitching staff and outfield look to be about the strongest in the league, and with a little strengthening in the infield, the Canucks should win most of their games.

• • • •

The fans will see some fast ball on Saturday when the Pirates, one of the best city teams will go up against Manager Whitcroft's bunch of dandies.

• • • •

The members of George street Guild Baseball team are asked to turn out for practice to-night at 6.45.

• • • •

Montreal came very close to winning its first game of the season yesterday, when Providence beat them by 3—2 only.

• • • •

In the Public School Baseball League a game was played between the Fifth Ward and South Central Teams, resulting in a win for the former, the score being 14—10. The teams were:

Fifth Ward — Gillespie, Clitheroe, Quartermaine, Coughlin, Chrowe, Evans, Miller, Geale, Bradley.—14.

South Central. — Nichols, White, Winch, Pilling, Wilson, Dunford, Dobson, Cummings, Harper.—10.

• • • •

Baseball seems to be demoralizing game. At a recent practice of the Peterboroughs one of the players deliberately and with apparent malice aforethought "stole" two bases. He was sorry afterwards and upon going to bat, made a "sacrifice" to atone for his misdeed. But he was cruel enough to catch a poor little harmless "fly" a little later. The pitcher then became reckless and "split the plate" with his "offerings" besides „burning the atmosphere" with his curves. One of the batters got wrathy and proceeded to "smash" the ball, which was "gobbled up" by an infielder. Then one of the twirlers became sympathetic and, noticing that the atmosphere was warm, proceeded to "fan" everything that appeared before him, but this did not last long and he "struck" a man out to conclude the game.

THE PIRATES FOR PETERBOROUGH

The Pirates, one of the strongest amateur teams in the city, will play in Peterborough on Saturday, with the Midland League team. Flaherty, the Peterborough pitcher, is touted as a wonder, but the Pirates have a twirler who is expected to do even better than the south-paw.—Toronto Star.

LAWN TENNIS.

Last evening the Anything-for-Fun and the B.A.C. Clubs, met in joint session in the Y.M.C.A. and discussed the question of lawn tennis. After a lengthy period of thoughtful deliberation it was moved emphatically by Mr. E. M. Best, that the club be known as the Hiawatha Tennis Club. This motion was seconded and carried very unanimously, to the great satisfaction of the mover. The president, Mr. S. S. Moore suggested the names of several of his lady friends as possible members, and these were voted upon. The club has secured courts at the Nicholls oval and expects a very prosperous season.

SPRINTING

Mr. Dave Belland, the sprinter, returned last night from Quebec, where on Monday last he won a 100 yards race from Colson of Halifax. Belland won by about 3 yards, the time being 10 1-5 seconds. This is the second time that Belland has defeated Colson, the first being in Halifax about two years ago, in the College games. Dave will remain here this summer and may play lacrosse.

DESPERATE EFFORTS TO PREVENT LANDING

Russians Blew up the Whole City of Port Dalny.

DESTROYED DOCKS AND PIERS.

Most Fully Equipped Modern City in the Far East now a Mass of Ruins—Japs Spreading out and Presenting a Wide Front—Movements of Three Japanese Armies.

St. Petersburg, May 13.—Viceroy Alexieff telegraphed early yesterday to the Czar announcing that the Russians have blown up the docks and piers at Port Dalny, Liaotung Peninsula, presumably to render more difficult a Japanese landing at that point.

Blew Up the Whole City.

Later telegrams received here indicate that the whole of Port Dalny has been destroyed by the Russians.

Commercial Emporium.

Port Dalny, on Talienwan Bay, on the east coast of the Liaotung Peninsula, was intended by Russia to be the chief commercial emporium of its eastern dominions. Fully equipped with all modern improvements, docks, warehouses and railroad facilities, it was opened to commerce in December, 1901.

Talienwan Bay is one of the finest deep-water harbors on the Pacific. It is free from ice in winter. Five large piers had been constructed, each supplied with numerous railroad tracks and immense warehouses and elevators, and a large breakwater was being constructed. Docks extended between the piers and along the shore for two miles. There were two first-class dry docks, one intended for ordinary ocean steamers, and the other designed to accommodate the largest vessels of war or commerce.

Japs Spreading Out.

London, May 13.—Information yesterday came mostly from Russian sources, and appears to relate to the movements of three Japanese armies—that which crossed the Yalu River, another which landed in the neighborhood of Takushan on the east coast of the Liaoyang Peninsula and the third which occupied Pitzewo almost midway between Takushan and Port Arthur.

From their general tenor it appears probable that the Japanese are advancing northward and eastward on various lines and presenting a wide front, having as an objective the line of the Manchurian Railway. More than the usual amount of mystery hangs around, the Japanese plan of campaign, and the action of the Pitzewo force, who were admittedly in possession of the railway at Polandieu in retiring without apparently attempting to damage it is inexplicable. That the situation is regarded as serious by the Russian authorities is evident by the abandonment of Dalny and the blowing up of the docks.

Japs Pursuing the Russians.

Tokio, May 13.—Later details of the Russian attack on Anju last Tuesday state that the fighting lasted all day. Japanese reinforcements arrived from Pingyang at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The Russians retired Wednesday morning with the approach of further Japanese reinforcements from Kosen. The Japanese are pursuing the Russians in the direction of Kaichong.

Clearing Harbor Entrance.

New York, May 13.—The World, quoting the St. Petersburg correspondent of The London Daily Express, says: "I learn from official sources that so far from blowing up their warships, which would be done only at the very last extremity, the garrison at Port Arthur is engaged in clearing the entrance of the harbor, which was more or less completely blocked by the stone-laden ships sent in by the Japanese for that purpose."

Russians Lost 50.

Tokio, May 13.—According to an official report the Russian casualties in the fighting at Anju on May 10 amounted to over 50 men. One officer and 12 men were killed, the others were wounded. The Russians engaged numbered 700, and were from the 15th Cossack Regiment. They reached Liaoyang by train and marched thence to Anju. "A majority of the enemy disliked fighting the Japanese," the official report says, "and their morale is low."

Battle Rumors.

St. Petersburg, May 13.—Rumors are widely current here that fighting is in progress at Port Arthur, but there is no official news confirming the reports. The Russians still hold Newchwang.

The Jap Purpose.

Shanhaikwan, May 13.—The main force of the Japanese army is said to be concentrated near Port Arthur with siege guns, and their intention is believed to be to attempt a repetition of the strategy of the naval and military forces of the United States before Santiago, and to drive the Russian fleet out to battle.

Firing South of Newchwang.

Shanhaikwan, May 13.—Firing is reported to have been heard to-day south of Newchwang.

Alexieff Drew Long Bow.

Tokio, May 13.—Official inquiry shows that Viceroy Alexieff's report, that railroad communication with Port Arthur has been restored since Monday, is untrue.

Junk Heard Explosions.

Seoul, May 13.—A junk that has arrived at Chemulpo brings a report that heavy explosions were heard at sea early yesterday morning. It is believed that these explosions occurred either at Port Arthur or Dalny.

Telegram That Failed.

St. Petersburg, May 13.—An attempt to send a response to a private telegram from Port Arthur, received yesterday (May 12), failed, the postoffice officials refusing to accept it.

Japan As Before.

Ottawa, May 13.—The following cablegram was received at the Japanese Consulate at 2.30 yesterday afternoon from Tokio:

"All transportation services in Japan, whether on land or sea, are being carried on without interruption. There has been a considerable influx of visitors into Japan recently, but the hotel accommodation in all the principal cities is quite ample. In other words, the condition of affairs in Japan to-day is perfectly normal. Since the war broke out peace and order have been absolutely maintained, there have been no disturbances, and intending visitors to Japan need fear neither danger nor inconvenience."

THIBETAN SOLID SHOT.

Bombard British Camp at Distance of Six Furlongs.

Gyangtse, Thibet, May 10.—(Delayed in Transmission.)—The Thibetans have taken the offensive against the British mission camp here. From a fort about six furlongs away they are steadily bombarding the camp with a half dozen guns carrying solid cannon balls of a pound weight.

Another large gathering of Thibetans is reported from the Rong Valley, and although the British communications in the rear are still open, the mission is practically besieged.

London, May 13.—Indian Secretary Brodrick informed the House of Commons yesterday that the Government had decided that recent events in Thibet made it inevitable that the British mission must advance to Lhassa, the capital, unless the Thibetans consented to negotiate at Gyangtse within a given date.

DEATH OF EX-MAYOR ROACH.

One of Hamilton's Oldest and Most Prominent Residents.

Hamilton, May 13.—George Roach, ex-mayor and prominent citizen of Hamilton, died at 1 o'clock this morning. He was 86 years of age and was a native of the Isle of Wight. On Saturday he was taken ill with pneumonia, which terminated fatally.

Mr. Roach took up residence in Hamilton in 1847, after two years in New York and four years in other parts of Canada. He was for several terms an alderman and was mayor in 1875-6.

He was actively identified with the commercial and financial affairs of Hamilton, and was a director of the Bank of Hamilton from its commencement. He also held many other offices of a public nature. For years he was a noted breeder of swine, and at the World's Fair in Chicago exhibited four loads of his best stock, and won many prizes.

MR. STRATTON'S VISIT.

Inspected New Asylum at Penetanguishene—Banquet in the Evening.

Penetanguishene, May 13.—Thirty people attended a banquet at the Canada House here last night given by D. Davidson, M.P.P., in honor of the visit of Hon. J. R. Stratton, who came up to inspect the new asylum. Among the guests were: Thos. McCrossin, Esq., J. B. Tudhope, M.P.P., Orillia; Rev. S. Card, chaplain of the reformatory, and some of the friends of the Ontario Government.

SEALING STEAMER ERIK.

Steamer Will Convey Stores For Capt. Bernier's Expedition.

St. John's, Nfld., May 13.—The Canadian Government has chartered the sealing steamer Erik to proceed to Hudson Bay in July next with supplies for the steamer Neptune, now with the Canadian expedition sent for the purpose of enforcing the Canadian laws against American whalers.

The Erik will also convey stores to the north for the steamer Gauss, recently purchased from the German Government by Canada, in which ship Capt. Bernier will proceed to the north and annex a number of Arctic islands for the British crown, and will then attempt to reach the North Polo.

Steamers For Mexico.

Ottawa, May 13.—Senator Amendez, the Mexican Government delegate, who was here conferring with the Government in regard to the establishment of a steamship line between Canada and Mexico, left yesterday for St. Louis, where he will represent his Government at the Exposition. He has practically finished his business here, although he will return before going to Mexico. All the arrangements for a line of steamships on the Atlantic and Pacific with Mexico have been endorsed by both parties to the bargain. The prospects of trade between the two countries are bright. In regard to penny postage, the subject is one for negotiation between Sir William Mulock and the Mexican Government direct. The principle has been endorsed and all that remains to be done are the details.

Lost a Foot.

Kingston, May 13.—Howard Reynolds' saw mill at Verona was the scene of an accident yesterday that resulted in Sidney Keech losing a foot.

Toronto to Lake Huron.

Montreal, May 12.—The Canadian Pacific Railway will soon have an independent connection between Toronto and Lake Huron, it being the intention of the company to construct almost immediately a line from Guelph to Goderich, a distance of eighty miles.

No Sale of Canada Atlantic.

Ottawa, May 13.—"I authorize you to give the report a flat denial." This was the answer made last night by Mr. J. R. Booth, when his attention was directed to a fresh rumor that an agreement was to be signed by him for the sale of the Canada Atlantic Railway. "There has been no sale," continued Mr. Booth, "and no offer to purchase has been made."

"Have any overtures been made by Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann looking to the purchase of the Canada Atlantic Railway?"

"None, and I am told that Messrs. Mackenzie & Mann were in town for two days this week. They did not come to see me, and I heard nothing from them. The report that the Canada Atlantic is to be sold is started every time any railway officials come to Ottawa."

Gould Sent For Trial.

Toronto, May 13.—Joshua Gould must stand trial for alleged incendiarism. He entered no evidence for defence before the magistrate yesterday, but intimated an alibi. The fire occurred in his store, 227 Yonge street, at 3 o'clock on the morning of April 20, while the firemen were fighting the conflagration. Gould was allowed bail in two $500 sureties.

Big Land Sale.

Winnipeg, May 13.—It is rumored that the Local Government have disposed of 256,000 acres of Provincial lands to a Duluth company. The price is said to be over $1,600,000, and the sale is regarded as fairly satisfactory in price, and as showing the continued confidence of the American investors in values of Manitoba farm lands.

Forts on U.S. Border.

New York, May 13.—The Journal has the following from Halifax: Captain Nash of the Royal Engineers is in Ottawa preparing plans for new fortifications, some of which will be along the American border.

International Park.

Brockville, May 13.—Hon. Mr. Sifton with Major Walsh went up the St. Lawrence yesterday to lay plans for wharves, etc., for the proposed Intercolonial Park.

—The Court of Revision had a short session last evening. The business transacted was not of public interest.

ELEVATOR B BURNED

A Two Million Dollar Fire at Fort William, Ont.

THE MOST WIERD OF SCENES

Fire Burned Rapidly, But Rain and Firemen and Citizens Jointly Saved the Town From a Great Conflagration—800,000 Bushels of Wheat Went Into the River—A Mass of Flames.

Port Arthur, May 13.—A heavy rainfall was all that saved Fort William from one of the worst conflagrations in the history of the west. A pile of debris is all that remains of elevator B of the C.P.R. system. About 12.45 p.m. yesterday an employe discovered fire in the eastern portion of the elevator. He gave an immediate alarm, elevators and locomotive whistles pealed forth warning notes and some hundreds of citizens hurried to the scene. At first only a faint glow of fire could be seen, but as the raging element gained headway the whole interior of the building became a fiery furnace and burst through the roof, shooting hundreds of feet into the air, resembling a volcano. It was one of the most wierd scenes imaginable.

The brigade turned out in quick order, but in five minutes after the alarm it was plainly seen that the great structure was doomed to destruction. By 1 o'clock the elevator was a mass of flames. As the collapse occurred fiery brands were hurled hundreds of feet, and only the great work of the firemen and citizens saved the town from a great conflagration.

Rain Prevented Spread.

Incipient fires sprang up in the vicinity, and if it had not been for a heavy downpour of rain, which had drenched everything, the result would have been terrible. Citizens worked like trojans throughout the night, and finally the fire was beaten back.

The collapse of the cupola and walls of the building sent up a mass of flames, and the wind increasing in strength sent sheets of flames across to Simpson street, breaking windows in stores and driving the spectators to shelter.

It was feared during the fire that the boilers would explode. To prevent the spread of the flames to the steel elevator adjoining the cement subway through which the conveyer belt runs was broken through and the subway filled with earth. If the fire had ever reached this, the city would have been demolished. The building collapsed about 4 o'clock, the debris falling into the tracks of the company and for hours congesting traffic, which was cleared off in the morning.

In the elevator were stored five hundred thousand bushels of wheat, most of which went into the river. The loss will be two million dollars.

FIRE IN PAPER BOX FACTORY.

The Telfer M'f'g. Co., Toronto, Will Lose $18,000.

Toronto, May 13.—The Telfer Manufacturing Company's premises, corner Duncan and Pearl streets, was badly gutted by fire last night. The place is of three storeys and basement, and was built about two years ago. The firm moved in on July 1, 1902. The Telfer Company were manufacturers of paper bags and boxes. The contents were very inflammable.

The firm is composed of G. E. Shaw and Robert Northey. Mr. Shaw said that they were fully covered by insurance, on the building $13,000, and $22,000 on the plant and stock. The firm carried about $12,000 in stock, and valued the plant at $12,000. The building cost $18,500, and the loss to it is estimated at $8,000. It is thought the loss to stock will be $10,000. The plant is not damaged to any extent.

GREAT INCREASE IN ACREAGE.

4,300,000 Acres of Wheat will be Sown in Manitoba This Year.

A special despatch to the Toronto News from Winnipeg states that: The Canadian Pacific Railway issued its first report on the acreage under crop in the western wheat belt for 1904. The figures are extremely favourable. Reports from railway agents generally show an increase in acreage that averages 15 per cent., while advices from the Prince Albert branch, which has been the objective of a very heavy American influx already this season, are astonishing. In the Saskatoon district, on this branch, the increase reported is 100 per cent., and that for the whole averages 65 per cent. Allowing the reports to be a fair indication of the whole North-west, the total acreage under wheat this year is estimated conservatively at 4,300,000. The weather is everywhere favourable.

A prominent club woman, Mrs. Danforth, of St. Joseph, Mich., tells how she was cured of falling of the womb and its accompanying pains and misery by

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Life looks dark indeed when a woman feels that her strength is fading away and she has no hopes of ever being restored. Such was my feeling a few months ago when I was advised that my poor health was caused by prolapsus or falling of the womb. The words sounded like a knell to me, I felt that my sun had set; but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound came to me as an elixir of life; it restored the lost forces and built me up until my good health returned to me. For four months I took the medicine daily and each dose added health and strength. I am so thankful for the help I obtained through its use."—MRS. FLORENCE DANFORTH, 1007 Miles Ave., St. Joseph, Mich.

A medicine that has restored so many women to health and can produce proof of the fact must be regarded with respect. This is the record of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which cannot be equalled by any other medicine the world has ever produced. Here is another case:—

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For years I was troubled with falling of the womb, irregular and painful menstruation, leucorrhœa, bearing down pains, backache, headache, dizzy and fainting spells, and stomach trouble.

"I doctored for about five years but did not seem to improve. I began the use of your medicine, and have taken seven bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, three of Blood Purifier, and also used the Sanative Wash and Liver Pills, and am now enjoying good health, and have gained in flesh. I thank you very much for what you have done for me, and heartily recommend your medicine to all suffering women."—MISS EMMA SNYDER, 218 East Center St., Marion, Ohio.

"FREE MEDICAL ADVICE TO WOMEN."

Women would save time and much sickness if they would write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice as soon as any distressing symptoms appear. It is free, and has put thousands of women on the right road to recovery.

Mrs. Pinkham never violates the confidence thus entrusted to her, and although she publishes thousands of testimonials from women who have been benefited by her advice and medicine, never in all her experience has she published such a letter without the full consent, and often by special request of the writer.

$5000 FORFEIT if we cannot forthwith produce the original letters and signatures of above testimonials, which will prove their absolute genuineness.

ECCENTRIC FAULT-FINDING.

It is a pity that in the desire to get at Mr. Osler the two members should have made an attack upon the railway (the Qu'Appelle, Long Lake and Saskatchewan Railway) facilities in their own constituencies. They both pretend that these facilities are so bad that it is idle for settlers to go into that part of the country. It is to be hoped that the people of the west will remember the public effort made by these politicians to warn off settlers and to drive them elsewhere—Mind and Empire.

The organ uses blind logic. Will the people of the West approve of a policy, such as the Mail and Empire seems to endorse, of inducing settlers to locate under false representations? If we want the world to come to our North-west we must adopt an honourable policy of presenting the advantages of the country. Settlement is not a matter of a day but of years, and we must keep faith. It would be unwise for the sake of temporary advantage—of getting a few settlers this year—to take a course of deception which would have a bad effect in the future, the honest way in the better way. The country itself is all right; too much can hardly be said in its praise. Nature has done its share, but the question is whether we should allow man to neutralize the advantages Nature has provided by permitting the public money and lands to be wasted on transportation services so rotten and oppressive as to be prohibitory of settlement. The members criticised by the Mail are simply doing their duty to their constituents and acting in the best interests of the country. The railway criticised has been a pensioner on the public bounty to a large amount. The company to build the line, got a land grant which at $2 an acre represented a gift of between two and three million of dollars. The road, it is stated, was aided altogether to the extent of $22,000 per mile, and only cost $11,000 per mile. There is no competition, and the line is run in a way to prevent development and settlement. It is represented to be in a bad condition, in ill repair, and passenger rates are five cents per mile, while the freight rates are so high that it is said they are more costly than haulage by team. In every way, according to statements made in Parliament, the line has all the evil conditions usually attached to a monopoly. Under these circumstances the members in question were right in their denunciation; they did not decry the country, but denounced conditions of human creation which retard the development and settlement of the country. The Mail and Empire, for political purposes, is extremely ready to resent what it erroneously conceives to be disparagement of the country. It was never known to denounce the leader of the Opposition, who, speaking in Massey Hall, Toronto, described New Ontario as "the land of the stunted poplar." Now it is willing to defend undesirable railway conditions for the purpose of shielding a political friend. Transportation is the key to development and national progress, and no corporation or political considerations should stand in the way of providing it, under the most favourable conditions to the public.

GRAIN ROUTE TO THE OCEAN

Mr. F. D. Kerr Writes to the Montreal Papers on Trent Waterway.

What Its Completion Would Mean to Canadian Transportation Interests—West Requires Greater Facilities.

Mr. F. D. Kerr, of Peterborough, addressed a letter to the Montreal Herald, the subject being that of the Trent Waterway. Mr. Kerr, in his letter, which appeared on Saturday, May 7th, gives evidence of a thorough study of the situation, and a deep knowledge of Canada's transportation problem. The letter is as follows:

Sir, — The greatest problem that is facing the people of Canada to-day is the transportation problem, and to no portion of the Dominion is it of greater importance than to the people of Manitoba and the Northwest.

The West requires not only greater facilities for carrying the traffic, but also a greater and more real competition by the carrying agencies. The West must have not only more routes to the sea, but also reduced freight rates. To every Canadian, be he from the East or from the West, the question must be brought home: "How is the great West to be unshackled from all restrictions? And how is Canadian trade to be developed along Canadian lines and through Canadian channels? Is there any efficient means at hand capable of being made use of within a reasonable time and by a reasonable expenditure of money?"

The days of canals and waterways have not passed away, but have rather just arrived. The facts are that with every increase of railway traffic there is a corresponding increase in the traffic by water. The traffic through the Sault Ste. Marie Canals shows an increase from some 3,356,628 tons in 1885 to some 35,861,146 tons in 1903. (The figures are for both Canadian and United States canals.)

The value of these cargoes in 1903 reached the enormous amount of $358,306,300. These figures, great as they now are, will seem small by the comparison with the figures that will be reached when the Canadian West is more developed. Practically half a continent is now for the first time being opened up, and with the gigantic strides Manitoba and the western portions of the Dominion are making. It is not a dream but a reality we are face to face with, when it is stated that the present lake traffic is only a beginning.

Thirty-one million bushels of Western grain were brought to the shores of Georgian Bay by the water route, and thence to Montreal by rail in 1903. This grain sought the shortest route to the sea via Montreal, viz., across Ontario to the St. Lawrence River (or Lake Ontario), and as the great American engineer, William H. Burr, now a member of the Isthmus of Panama Canal Committee, pointed out to the Canal Committee of New York State when presenting the arguments for the extension of the Erie Canal from Buffalo to Albany: "Another feature of this situation which must be reckoned with, and reckoned with seriously, is the competition of the Canadian canals."

The Trent waterway, cutting across, comparatively speaking, a narrow strip of country, connects the Georgian Bay with the St. Lawrence, and brings the western wheat fields that much nearer to the ocean ports.

This waterway is not really a canal, but an inland chain of deep lakes and rivers—the whole waterway from Georgian Bay to Trenton on Lake Ontario is but 203 miles, and of this only twenty miles is actual canal as compared with the Erie Canal with 350 miles of actual canal work. To-day 160 miles of the Trent route is navigable from end to end (will be during this summer) and seventeen miles of canalizing will complete the remaining forty-three miles. The engineers state that an expenditure of only $5,000,000 and two years' time will complete this great work. For this small sum a waterway of the greatest national importance will be completed from end to end.

This waterway will not only be capable of handling an immense through traffic, but will act as an ever-present regulator of railway freight rates. The development of this waterway not only means decreased railway rates, but additional and better service by the railways to meet the competition. To-day's papers even now announce a reduction in railway rates to meet the competition of the water routes in the Mississippi River and New Orleans.

The experts of the American Cereal Works at Peterborough, the manufacturers of Quacker Oats, claim that by this route grain can be brought from Fort William to Montreal at from 2c to 3 1-2c per bushel. It is an indisputable fact that this route will greatly lower the rates for grain shipments and this will result in the railways as well meeting the competition by a reduction on the grain carried by rail as well.

The State of New York has just voted $101,000,000 to increase the capacity of the Erie Canal, which, when completed, will be an inferior route to the Trent. The present Erie is sailed by barges less than one-third the capacity of the Trent barges, and even after the above enormous expenditure will only have a depth of ten feet and a barge capacity of 1,000 tons, as compared with the Trent route of eight feet depth and a barge capacity of 800 tons. The Trent will, however, always have the advantage on the Erie, as it is being nearly all a natural waterway, the barges in tow can steam at full speed, and in addition to that it is so much shorter that a round trip will be made on the Trent in less time than a single trip on the Erie.

The present Erie Canal barges have only a capacity of 240 tons, while the Trent barges will have a capacity of 800 tons. These barges will be loaded at Midland and will be taken in tow by a steam barge and through sheltered inland waters without breaking bulk after leaving Midland until they reach Montreal and the ocean steamers. One tow of barges will carry 120,000 bushels of wheat—equivalent to five railway trains of thirty cars each. It will thus be seen that the canal, though not a deep waterway, will have a large carrying capacity and will be a great factor in transportation. One small tow of cheap and inexpensive barges propelled by a cheaply constructed steam barge does the work of five railway trains of thirty cars each.

The huge freight boats of the Great Lakes would, as now, steam at full speed through the open lakes to the mouth of the canal at Georgian Bay and there the barges would be loaded and taken directly through to Montreal and unloaded into the ocean steamers—the barges acting as a floating elevator. The round trip will be made on the Trent in less than will be required on the Erie, to go one way.

The Trent waterway should be completed because it will have an immediate effect not only in relieving the congestion of traffic, but will also have an immediate effect in regulating the railway rates as well. The Trent will put the West into close touch with water navigation and all that that implies. An improved water route from the West means an ever present force in the competition for traffic and whatever may be said for other routes this great fact stands out: The Trent waterway alone is in such a state of advancement as to be seriously considered at the present time. Two years' work and an expenditure of $5,000,000 will complete this great permanent water connection between the East and West.

The completion of the Trent means much from a local standpoint, but more will its effect be felt by the citizens of our western prairies. The way is almost open and only a united national voice is required to induce the Government to complete a route that will prove an immediate force in securing for Canada the traffic of half a continent. The Trent waterway is in truth the Canadian national highway for all water traffic and lies on the direct and shortest routes to the sea. A study of the maps, a study of the canal development of other countries, will make the dowbter an honestly convinced advocate of this great Canadian water route from the western grain fields to the British market.

HAVELOCK.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

April 10th, 04.—A very enjoyable time was spent at the "at home" given by the Foresters last evening in the lodge room.

Messrs. Wm. and Geo. Mathison had a very narrow escape last Wednesday evening. They were driving to the dams where the electric light power house is situated and noticed a limb of a tree bending down so as to touch the wires. Mr. Geo. Matheson climbed the tree with the intention of removing the obstacle, which, which by some accident had caused the two line wires to touch, burning them in two. An end dropped down, striking the horse Mr. Matheson was driving, knocking it down. However as it was stillmoving Mr. Matheson drove it out of reach and the wire did no serious damage. The breaking of th line was the cause of having no lights in the village Wednesday evening.

Mr. Harry Joyce is erecting a new building between his present building and M. Swain's tailor shop. It will be occupied by Mr. E. White, barber.

Mr. W. Alger, ledger keeper in the Sovereign Bank, is leaving town on account of being transferred to a higher position on the bank staff in Stouffville where he will act as teller. Mr. Alger has been in the town for some months and everyone who has had the pleasure of knowing him is expressing regret at his being being transferred, and everyone wishes him success in Stouffville.

Mr. Wm. Webster spent Saturday and Sunday in Toronto.

Mr. Wm. Cooper, who has been laid up for the past two weeks is able to be out and around again.

Mr. Norman McLeod, C.P.R. store keeper here, left last Friday evening after getting a month's leave of absence, for Montreal where he will then proceed to Ottawa to spend a couple of days at his home before he goes to Temiscaming. He intends clearing the farm granted him for service in the South African Campaign.

Mr. Robt. Gillies of Port Hope, a former school teacher here is renewing old acquaintes in town.

Mr. L. J. Boyle has suspended business for an indefinite period.

A very pleasant surprise was experienced by a great number of the young men of the village receiving an invitation as follows: "The bachelor maids of Havelock request the pleasure of your company at a leap year "at home" on Thursday, May 5th, in the town hall from 8 to 2 o'clock. It turned out to be a grand success, about fifty couples being present. The ladies had the place decorated to a nicety, cosy corners, easy chairs and bunting, with flowers of all descriptions distributed around the hall. The dancing and music were superb, all-round dancing being a specialty. The bachelor maids are to be complimented on the success of their "at home."

Master Roy Fanning had the misfortune to have his head very badly cut by a stone thrown by another young lad of the town on Monday.

While practising lacrosse on the grounds on Monday evening Mr. H. T. Andrews had the misfortune to have his nose broken by accidentally running foul of a stick.

The lacrosse club has accepted the challenge of the Marmora club to play there on May 24th.

The park and pleasure grounds have been improved by the holes being covered over with dirt.

The baseball boys are out every afternoon for the same purpose.

Mr. O. Mollet and men who have been wiring the village have been called away to resume work on construction for the C.P.R.

OMEMEE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Seeding is about completed.

Kennedy's saw mill was burned Wednesday night last, the cause of the fire being unknown. This will be a great loss as the mill carried but little insurance.

The sudden death of Jas. Johnston from pneumonia and a weak heart cast a gloom over our village. The deceased was a familiar figure on our for Victoria Day celebration. We disposition. He was 67 ears of age and leaves a family of five sons and two daughters to mourn his loss.

Omemee is making preparations streets and was of kind and cheerful will have coloured character, military parades, sports on land and water, and we hope to see as large a crowd from Peterborough as will go there from here to attend the 12th of July celebration.

There is a strong probability of the Methodist church and Presbyterian church here uniting, as neither one is very strong. This will, perhaps, be one of the first places to take the initiative as regards church union.

There is considerable regret and disappointment manifest here at the sugar beet by-law not being carried in Peterborough, as many of our farmers had decided upon raising beets, while others had purchased shares in the company.

The Anglican church here is making rapid strides along musical lines. They now have a surpliced choir of twenty voices, also a pipe organ costing $1,000, notwithstanding the fact of a debt on the church of over $1,000. This shows great enthusiasm and unselfishness on the part of the pastor, Rev. Mr. Teeney.

OTONABEE COUNCIL.

The regular meeting of the Otonabee Council was held on Monday, with the Reeve in the chair.

On motion the Court of Revision will be held on Monday the 30th of May, and advertised in the Review and Examiner.

Messrs. Chas. Edwards, P. Doherty, M. Heffernan and R. Miller were present, requesting that the 8th line be opened and made fit for travel north of the Base Line.

Robert Carey was present in the afternoon, after the other deputation left, asking that he be allowed to go through lot 18, where there is an established road, to his lot on the 8th concession.

The Clerk was instructed to notify Chas. Edwards that the Act provides that no Council shall close up any road allowance, whereby any person will be excluded from ingress and egress to and from his lands, unless the Council, in addition to compensation also provides for the use of such person some other convenient road or way to access to said lands. Therefore the Council will not open the 8th line unless he, R. Carey, is guaranteed to be allowed to go through said lot 18 as in the past, as the 8th line would not be a convenient road for him.

A bylaw was passed empowering and authorizing overseers and pathmasters of highways to call out persons liable to perform statute labour to keep the roads open in their respective divisions during the season of sleighing, and give to persons so employed certificates of having performed statute labour to the amount of the day's work done, or in lieu of said certificate make a return to the clerk of the work done. Such persons shall be allowed for such work in their next season's statute labour, or if there be no statute labour, being in a commuted division, then the overseer shall make a return to the clerk and the treasurer shall pay such persons the amount for such labour as the Council shall direct.

A petition was received from the ratepayers of Keene to commute their statute labour at 75c. per day. The clerk was instructed to prepare a bylaw.

The Treasurer reported that he had received $109.00 from the Treasurer of the Town of Peterborough, Ashburnham's portion for repairing the boundary between Otonabee and Ashburnham.

The following accounts were passed:—St. Joseph's Hospital, $10, for one of Valois children, a diphtheria patient; R. P. Carey, cedar for Dickson's bridge, $25.20; Jas. Boyce and R. J. McManus, $240.06, for material and work repairing Town Hall; $60 of it to be paid by Keene.

Council adjourned to meet at Court of Revision on the 30th May.

TALK TO UNIONISTS

Mr. Chamberlain Throws Banner of the Empire High.

A COMMERCIAL FEDERATION

Advocates Such Between the Mother Country and Her Colonies—Says He Cannot Understand Devonshire and Rosebery in This Connection—His Own Work He Believes to Be First at Home.

Birmingham, May 13.—At the annual meeting of the Unionists yesterday, Mr. Chamberlain prefaced his speech by a reminder that the day of the Empire had come. Let them hold the banner high and plenty would come to their standard. What higher ambition could they have than to unite the Empire. They must have federation with the sister States or sink into no account in the history of the world. Rising colonies would not hang forever on the skirts of our indecision. The great colonies had decided with a unanimous voice that the question of union could best be approached from the commercial side. They had made concessions and were ready to make more. He would not call them sacrifices, because they were mutually beneficial in order to secure a self-sustaining Empire, interchanging of products more freely and the strengthening by ties of interest the sympathies already existing, thus paving the way for the consummation of the highest ideal which the nation can reach of evolving from the loose assemblage of several States a great Imperial organization preserving for all its members local independence, but uniting against all the world when the interests or honor of any of its members was attacked.

He was at a loss to understand how the Duke of Devonshire and Lord Rosebery could treat the offer of the colonies as not existing. They doubted its faith and went about assuring their countrymen the colonies would give them nothing worth acceptance, and, on the other hand, demanded a sacrifice they could not afford to make. If any reasonable proof they could ask was afforded these statesmen would they then give favorable consideration to these proposals for preferential mutual trade within the Empire and authorize whatever Government was in power to enter into negotiations with the colonies to secure the great object.

He had received in recent months an invitation from the Government of Australia and important representative organizations in Canada to visit them, but he had replied he must convince his own people first. When the mandate is given he or another will go to Canada and Australia and claim from them the same patriotism found in our own people, and we will unite the Empire. He wanted to arrange taxation so as to promote free exchange among his own people. He would prefer to take everything from his own Empire which would produce everything within its own boundaries. Every penny we pay for our own purchases would secure not only our wants, but divert to the colonies the trade with foreign countries, which was falling off. Disaster was only staved away by an increase of trade with the colonies.

The decline of trade with foreign countries was certain to continue. The colonies would not continue to present the policy of Montreal. A preference alone would keep their good-will. He was in full sympathy with the present large proportion of trade with the colonial brethren. He wished free trade statesmen to declare definitely what assurance, either from Government, Legislature or individuals in the colonies will assure them that our children across the seas were earnestly and unselfishly desirous for a closer union. Would a referendum be taken in Britain he believed a large majority would favor his proposals.

Within the Empire.

London, May 13.—(C.A.P.)—Sir Vincent Caillard, reading a paper on an Imperial preference and the cost of food, at the Compatriots' Club, declared that the whole supply of corn we need can be produced under competitive conditions within the Empire. The supplies of meat and wheat in Canada were capable of great development, but Australia would ultimately take the place of Canada as a wheat producer. Refrigeration worked wonders, and a preference would give her a decided superiority.

Canadian Cattle Embargo.

London, May 13.—(C.A.P.)—At a meeting of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce it was resolved to remit a letter asking the assistance of the Chamber to bring about a removal of the restrictions upon Canadian cattle from the Montreal Chamber of Commerce to the Manchester and Salford Butchers' Association for consideration and report.

Hutchinson, who was about 40 years old, had been melancholy for some time.

OF ELECTRIC ROADS.

Hon. A. G. Blair Talks of the Railways That Are to Come and of the Commission's Work.

Toronto, May 13.—Hon. A. G. Blair of the Railway Commission was in two yesterday on business connected with the Commission. Before leaving for Ottawa at 10 o'clock last night, he stated that the business accumulating for the Commission was quite beyond offpectation. He had not had time to pay any attention to the House in Ottawa, but believed it would be the end of June at least before Parliament rose. The appointment of a sub-committee of the Ontario Council had no connection, he said, with the Railway Commission, and, he supposed, would be occupied with the railways directly under the Ontario Government.

Mr. Blair forsees a great career for electric railroading, but not in the immediate future.

"One thing that will tend to protract the period before the adoption of electric power, is the enormous investment of capital in the present system. The companies could not afford to relegate their locomotives to the scrap-heap until it has been clearly shown that greater profits can be acquired by new machinery. A good deal is being accomplished in an experimental way, but something more than experiment is necessary."

Enquired of about the Grand Trunk's hoist on freight rates, the result of threatened taxation and other causes.

"My position in regard to matters of that kind is judicial," Mr. Blair replied, "and I can say nothing about special cases. The Commission has power, of course, to fix rates for the railways, which they must not exceed, but each case must be settled on its merits. The railways must understand that they only injure themselves by making rates which discourage traffic.

"But the whole question is an exceedingly complicated one and full of difficulties."

THE MARK OF CAIN.

Canmore, Alta., May 13.—One of the most cold-blooded murders that have ever occurred in Alberta has just come to light here. About 5.30 Wednesday morning, Francois Marret, a Frenchman, went to his brother's ranch near here, and, it is believed, murdered his brother John. The murderer used an axe, while John was asleep, and his brains were scattered all over the bed. From evidence secured by the police, it appears that Francois, after killing his brother, threw the body out of the window and then carried it to a near-by creek, where he threw it into three feet of water with the face downwards. He then returned to the house and turned the mattress upside down. The body of the murdered man was found in the creek by Mine Physician Richardson, who immediately started the officers on the trail. The supposed murderer was found in a town hotel, and is now locked up in the barracks.

Pitiful Helplessness

Victims of nervous diseases are the most to be pitied, because their ailment usually terminates in mental or physical helplessness. Paralysis, locomotor ataxia and insanity can only be avoided by building up the nervous system at the first sign of trouble and there is no preparation so well suited for the purpose as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, the great nerve restorative.

BUNYAN RELIC.

Original Warrant Which Committed Him to Bedford Jail.

On April 28, 1661, there took place the coronation of Charles II., and as a mark of royal clemency prisoners for every offence short of felony were that day released, those awaiting trial dismissed at discretion.

On the 243rd anniversary of that day—a day on which John Bunyan would have been released from Bedford jail after his first three weeks' confinement had it not been for the perversity of the authorities, who chose to regard him as a legal conviction, rendering it necessary that a pardon should be sued for—there will be offered for sale at Sotheby's, London, the original warrant under which, in 1674, he was for a third time incarcerated, although, owing to the intervention of the Bishop of Lincoln, in whose diocese Bedford then was, for a period of six months only.

The warrant, signed by thirteen J. P.'s—six baronets and seven esquires—is addressed to the constables of Bedford, and charges Bunyan with having preached or taught at a conventicle meeting or assembly, under the color or pretence of the exercise of religion, in manner other than according to the liturgy or practice of the Church of England. Nonconformity is somewhat freer nowadays!

Rarities by the "tinker . . . who strove to mend men's souls as well as kettles and pans" are to-day the object of extraordinarily eager competition in the sale-rooms. It is worthy of note that apart from important monuments of early printing, such as the Fust and Schoeffer Psalter of 1459, a copy of which on vellum brought in 1884 £4,950, the highest amount ever paid at auction for a book, and examples by our own Caxton, no printed work save one has realized anything like as much under the hammer as "The Pilgrim's Progress."

It has a wider circulation than any book except the Bible, has been translated into 104 languages, and in 1901 the Nash copy of the first edition, Part I., with the perhaps unique frontispiece of Bunyan dreaming, realized £1,475, as compared with an issue value of 1s. 6d.

As has been said, one other work only, apart from those printed in the fifteenth century, has realized as much at auction. This is the First Folio edition of Shakespeare, whose "record" is £1,720.

The sale of the Bunyan warrant promises to be one of the most interesting auction-room events of 1904.—London News.

Fagin's Kitchen.

At the bottom of Great Saffron hill, London, is situated what at one time was one of the most hideous and dangerous slums. It is part of a ruinous old tenement, exactly answering to the description of the infamous den to which the Artful Dodger led Oliver Twist as a new pal for a visit to "Greenland." The den had several ominous looking staircases leading into dark and ill-smelling passages and had plenty of cupboards available for thieves' booty.
